The Calendar,

AND INFORMATION CONNECTED THEREWITH.

PRELIMINARY OBSERVATIONS ON THE KALENDAR.

THOUGH the Astronomical portion of Oliver & Boyd's Edinburgh Almanac is specially designed for popular use, it may, in the absence of the Nautical Almanac, be found serviceable to the Astronomer and the Navigator.

All the computations are adapted to Greenwich mean time. If we subtract 13 m.* from the time in the tables, the remainder is Edinburgh mean time. Mean Time is that which is shown by a well-regulated clock; Apparent Time, that indicated by a sundial. The column called Equation of Time shows the difference between mean and apparent time: when it is headed "Clock before Sun," the mean is earlier than the apparent noon; and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be subtracted from the mean time: when the column is headed "Clock after Sun," the mean is later than the apparent noon, and to obtain apparent time, the equation must be added to the mean time. To reduce apparent into mean time, add the equation when the clock is before the sun; subtract it when the clock is after the sun.

The rising and setting of the centre of the sun are calculated for the latitude of Edinburgh, at the level of the sea, allowance being made for parallax and refraction. The declination, parallax, semi-diameter, right ascension, and logarithmic distance of the sun, the equation of time, and the places of the principal planets, are computed for the instant of mean noon.

The semi-diurnal arcs of the planets are used in ascertaining the times of their rising and setting: thus, to find the approximate time of rising, subtract the arcs from the times of southing; and to find that of setting, add the arcs to the times of southing.

The time of high water at Leith is computed from manuscript tables deduced from recent observations on the Tides in the Firth of Forth, and the depth from FORMULÆ investigated in the second and fifth volumes of the Mécanique Céleste of La Place. The depths are computed for the Albert and Edinburgh Docks at Leith; the depths for the Victoria Dock will be obtained by subtracting 2 feet from them; and for the Old Dock by subtracting 8 feet 4 inches. The times, though calculated for Leith, will be found sufficiently correct for the other ports on the Firth of Forth, as well as for Berwick, Dundee, Holy Island, and London Bridge, as the winds frequently cause a wider difference than that which exists between the times at those places and Leith; but when greater accuracy is required, recourse should be had to the table at page 29.

The time of high water at Granton may be assumed the same as at Leith; the depth of high water at the Victoria Jetty will be obtained by subtracting 1 foot 10 inches from the depths calculated for Leith; at the two upper jetties by subtracting 4 inches; and at the end of the pier by adding 2 feet.

The rising and setting of the moon, corrected for parallax and refraction, are computed for Edinburgh, at the level of the sea; and her Semi-diameter, Horizontal Parallax, Right Ascension, and Declination, which are given for each day at noon, afford the means of making many useful and interesting Nautical and Astronomical calculations.

All the results have been carefully checked by means of differences and by frequent independent calculations, so that it is hoped no error of importance will be found.

NOTE.—When the time is between noon and midnight, it is indicated by the letter a. or A.; and when between midnight and the following noon, by the letter m. or M.

* The exact difference of longitude between Edinburgh and Greenwich is 12 min. 43.6 sec.,—and the latitude of Edinburgh is 55° 57' 23.2" N.

ASTRONOMICAL TERMS.

- Aberration.—Apparent displacement of the celestial bodies from their true position, arising from the motion of the earth in its orbit.
- Altitude (L. altitudo, height).—The height of a celestial body above the horizon.
- Amplitude.—Distance of a heavenly body, at the time of its rising or setting, from the east or the west point of the horizon.
- Aphelion (Gr. apo, from; helios, the sun).—That point in a planet's orbit at which it is at its greatest distance from the sun.
- Apogee.—The greatest distance of any heavenly body from the earth.
- Apparent Motion.—Apparent change in a body's position, arising from a change in the position of the observer.
- Apsides (Gr. apsis, bend of an arch).—The two points in a planet's orbit when it is at its least and greatest distance from the sun.
- Azimuth (Arab. al samt, tract).—Azimuth of a heavenly body is the angle measured along the horizon between the north or south point, and the point where a circle, passing through the zenith and the body, cuts the horizon.
- Conjunction.—When two celestial bodies are on the same meridian, they are in conjunction; when on the opposite meridians, they are in opposition.
- Day—Sidereal: Time taken by the earth to make one complete rotation on its axis. Solar: Time which elapses from the sun's being on a meridian until its return to the same. Common: A average of the Solar days throughout the year.
- Declination.—Distance of a star north or south from the equinoctial.
- Eclipse.—The entire or partial obscuration of one heavenly body by another.
- Ecliptic.—The great circle in which the sun appears to move. Eclipses always happen in this line.
- Ecliptic, Obliquity of.—The inclination of the plane of the ecliptic to that of the equator, modified by the attraction of the other planets.
- Emersion.—The reappearance of one heavenly body from behind another.
- Equinoctial (L. æquus, equal; nox, night).—A circle round the heavens equidistant from both poles. When the sun crosses this line on March 20 and Sept. 22, day and night are equal over the world.
- Hour-Circle.—A great circle of the celestial sphere, passing through the poles of the sky, and cutting the equinoctial at right angles. They are the planes of our meridians extended to the heavens.
- Immersion.—The disappearance of one heavenly body behind another, or within the shadow cast by another during an eclipse.
- Meridian.—The circle of the sphere which passes through the poles of the heavens and the zenith of the spectator, to whom it is mid-day when the sun is on this line.
- Nadir.—The point of the heavens directly opposite to the zenith, which see and is consequently a prolongation of the vertical.
- Node (L. nodus, a knot).—The point where the orbit of a planet intersects the ecliptic. The intersecting line is called the line of the nodes. The point at which a planet crosses to the north side of the ecliptic is termed the ascending node; the descending node, the point at which it crosses to the south.
- Nutation (L. nutare, to nod).—The oscillatory motion of the earth's pole backwards and forwards as it moves round the pole of the ecliptic.
- Occultation.—See Eclipse. Applied to the eclipse of a fixed star by the moon.
- Parallax (Gr. parallaxis, aberration).—Apparent change of place in a heavenly body on account of being viewed from different points.
- Penumbra (L. pene, almost; umbra, a shade).—The partial shade observed on the margin of the perfect shade in an eclipse.
- Perigee (Gr. peri, near; gē, the earth).—The point of the moon's orbit nearest the earth.
- Perihelion.—That point in a planet's orbit at which it is nearest the sun.
- Precession of the Equinoxes.—The slow retrograde motion of the equinoctial points from east to west, changing the position of the equinoxes every year.
- Right Ascension.—Distance of a star, measured eastward upon the equinoctial, from the first point of Aries to the point where a great circle drawn through the star, and perpendicular to the equinoctial, intersects it.
- Solstice (L. sol, sun; sto, I stand).—That point in the ecliptic where the sun is at its greatest distance from the equator, and seems stationary for a time. It is the longest day in northern regions when the sun is at the first point of Cancer, the shortest when he reaches the first point of Capricorn.
- Southing.—Motion to the S.; the passage of a heavenly body over the meridian.
- Zenith.—The point of the heavens over the head of the observer. It is called the "pole" of the horizon, being 90° distant from every point of that circle.
- Zodiac (Gr. zodia, animals).—An imaginary belt round the heavens, extending about 8° on each side of the ecliptic, in which all the larger planets move.

* In using this Table take from the Kalendar the time of High Water at Leith; add to it the time opposite the place required when the sign + is prefixed; subtract it when the sign - occurs. Thus the time of High Water at Leith on the morning of January 1 is 2h. 36m.; the time in this table opposite Liverpool is - 3h. 7m.; and by subtracting this from the former, there is obtained 11h. 29m. Mean Time at Liverpool for the evening tide there on the preceding day.

In January the constellations Canis Major and Minor, Gemini, and Cancer are on or near the meridian at midnight, with Orion and Taurus to the west, and Leo to the east.

The cluster Præsepe in Cancer and the "Great Nebula" in Orion can be easily seen with the naked eye on moonless nights. Rigel ( $\beta$  Orionis) is a 1 magnitude star with a small companion. The "Crab" nebula is situated a few degrees N. E. of  $\zeta$  Tauri. There are several fine clusters and nebulae in the region east of Sirius; one of the latter looks like a nebulous star in small telescopes. Another easily resolvable cluster is situated  $4^\circ$  south of Sirius.

In March the constellations Ursa Major, Leo, Virgo, and Corvus are on or near the meridian at midnight, Cancer and Gemini being in the west, and Bootes and Corona Borealis in the east.

The fine double star  $\gamma$  Leonis consists of a 2 mag. star of golden-yellow colour and a 3.5 mag. of a greenish-red, the distance between them being about 3". The components revolve around one another in about 400 years.

On dark moonless nights the nebulae near  $\beta$  Ursæ Majoris should be looked for. One, a fairly brilliant elongated nebula with a star in the centre, another, a planetary nebula, showing a uniform light, are situated 2° south-east of  $\beta$ .

A large nebula will be found about 4° south-east of  $\epsilon$  Leonis, near the point of the "sickle." Several others in the neighbourhood of  $\beta$  Ursæ Majoris.

In May the constellations Scorpio, Libra, Serpens, Hercules, Corona Borealis, Bootes, will be on or near the meridian at midnight, with Lyra and Cygnus to the east, and Canes Venatici and Leo to the west.

The three stars  $\beta$ ,  $\gamma$ , and  $\alpha$  Bootis form an interesting triangle about  $5^\circ$  east and a little higher than  $\eta$  Ursæ Majoris.  $\gamma$  and  $\alpha$  are doubles, the components of the former being  $4\frac{1}{2}$  and  $7\frac{1}{2}$  mag.; while  $\alpha$  is a 4 mag. greenish-white star, with a small bluish companion.

$\epsilon$  Bootis is a beautiful double star, the components of which are of 3 mag. and 6 mag., and strongly contrasted colours, the larger being yellow and the smaller blue.

There is a fine star cluster in Serpens, with a very brilliant centre, and easily resolvable with a moderate-sized telescope into stars of 12 mag. to 15 mag. It lies  $8^\circ$  from the point midway between  $\alpha$  and  $\epsilon$  Serpentis, and on the line joining that point with Spica.

In June the constellations Ophiuchus, Hercules, Lyra, Draco, are on the meridian at midnight, with Bootes and Virgo in the west, and Cygnus in the east, Aquila being south-east.

In the end of May and beginning of June the "fiery red" star Antares ( $\alpha$  Scorpii) will be visible in the south at midnight. It has a close companion, green in colour, and of 7 mag., so near as to be involved in the rays of the primary.

A star cluster in Hercules, situated between the stars  $\eta$  and  $\zeta$ , one-third the distance from the former, is visible to the naked eye on clear dark nights as a light cloud. A small telescope will resolve all of it but the centre into stars.  $\zeta$  Herculis is a remarkable binary, the companion, a  $6\frac{1}{2}$  mag. star, revolving round the primary (a 3 magnitude) in about 35 or 36 years.

In July the constellations Aquila, Cygnus, Lyra, are on the meridian at midnight, with Pegasus and Andromeda in the east, and Hercules, Corona, and Bootes in the west.

The interesting multiple star  $\epsilon$  Lyrae will be found about  $2\frac{1}{2}^\circ$  from Vega in a direction a little north of east. It consists of two close binaries, with three small stars, two of which are very minute, lying between them.

The ring-nebula in Lyra lies between  $\beta$  and  $\gamma$ ,  $\frac{1}{2}$  the distance from  $\beta$ . Its spectrum consists of bright lines, showing it to be composed of incandescent gas.  $\beta$  Lyrae is a variable star with three small companions.

$\beta$  Cygni is one of the finest double stars in the heavens. One of its components is a 3 mag. star of golden-yellow colour, the other is a 5 mag. and blue in colour.

The "Dumb-bell" nebula in Vulpecula may be found by drawing a line from  $\gamma$  Lyrae through  $\beta$  Cygni, and producing it as far as the distance between these two stars.

In August the constellations Capricornus, Aquarius, Pegasus, Cygnus, and Cepheus are on or near the meridian at midnight. Lyra and Hercules are west, Andromeda and Perseus east.

$\alpha$  Capricorni consists of two stars of the 3rd and 4th magnitudes respectively, each of which is itself double. The larger component has a companion of the 10th mag., the smaller one a companion of the 8th mag.

The components of 61 Cygni are of the 5th and 6th magnitudes. This star was the first whose distance from our Sun was measured. To find it, complete the parallelogram having  $\alpha$ ,  $\gamma$ , and  $\delta$  Cygni for three of its angles. 61 will be found at the angle opposite  $\gamma$ , and nearly east of that star.

In September the constellations Pisces, Pegasus, Andromeda, Cassiopeia, and Cepheus are on or near the meridian at midnight, with Cygnus and Aquila to the west, and Perseus and Taurus east.

In Cepheus there is an irregular star cluster, with a distinct orange star in it. A line from  $\alpha$  Cassiopeiae through  $\beta$ , and produced a little further than the distance between these stars, will pass a little north of the cluster.

Between the stars  $\varrho$  and  $\sigma$  Cassiopeiæ there will be found a splendid cluster consisting of a very large number of moderately sized stars.

$\delta$  Cephei is a fine pair, the larger component being of the 3rd mag. and yellow, the smaller of the 5th mag. and blue.

♂ Aquarii is a binary star with two nearly equal components of the 4th mag., and both greenish-white.

In October the constellations Cetus, Pisces, Aries, Andromeda, and Cassiopeia are on the meridian at midnight, with Pegasus west, and Taurus, Orion, and Gemini east.

Six somewhat conspicuous star clusters will be found scattered amongst the bright stars of the constellation Cassiopeia. Perhaps the most notable one lies a little south of the line between  $\delta$  and  $\epsilon$ , and nearly midway between these stars. It contains a ruby star of the 8th mag.

The "great nebula in Andromeda" may be seen with the naked eye on fine moonless nights, about a degree west of  $\nu$ . It is irresolvable even in the largest telescopes, but still it is believed to be a cluster of stars, its spectrum showing no gaseous lines.

In November the constellations Eridanus, Taurus, and Perseus are on the meridian at midnight, Andromeda and Pegasus being in the west, Gemini east, and Orion south-east.

The two large star-clusters in the "sword handle" of Perseus form together one of the most splendid telescopic objects in the heavens. The line drawn from  $\gamma$  through  $\delta$  Cassiopeiae, and produced about double the distance between these stars, passes a little to the north of the clusters.

$\beta$  Persei (Algol) is an interesting variable star. It decreases in brightness from a 2nd to a 4th mag. star in about  $4\frac{1}{2}$  hours, increases again to a 2nd mag. in about the same time, and remains of this magnitude for about  $2\frac{1}{2}$  days.

VENUS sets 3 hours after the Sun in the latter part of the month, three-fourths of her disc being illuminated.

MARS souths about midnight in the middle of this month, being in opposition to the Sun on the 11th.

JUPITER, in the constellation Leo, rises before midnight.

SATURN is a morning star this month. In conjunction with Uranus on the 28th.

URANUS is a morning star, in Libra.

NEPTUNE is in opposition to the Sun on the 10th. It will be found about 5° west of ζ Tauri.

In December the constellations Orion, Taurus, Gemini, and Auriga are on or near the meridian at midnight, with Perseus, Aries, Andromeda, and Pisces west, and Cancer, Hydra, and Leo east.

$\alpha$  Tauri (Aldebaran) is a red star of the 1st mag. If looked for with attention a companion of the 12th mag. may be seen in moderate telescopes.

The Great Nebula in Orion is the most conspicuous object of this class visible from northern latitudes. It is easily seen with the naked eye, and even the smallest telescope will show something of its details.  $\delta$  Orionis, a quadruple star, encloses a dark patch near the densest part of the nebula.

In the portion of the constellation Auriga lying  $5^{\circ}$  to  $8^{\circ}$  north of the star  $\beta$  Tauri several clusters and nebulae will be found. One of them is a beautiful cluster with a brilliant star in the centre, and contains several doubles.

GARDENER'S KALENDAR.

January.—When the frost is not severe, trench, manure, and turn up in ridges all vacant ground, and prepare hotbeds. In open and dry weather, sow in mild exposures, for a succession, a few early-frame pease, common beans, short-topped radishes, lettuces, carrots, onions, spinach, and curled parsley, protecting them from the frost by mats or straw; and, in hotbeds, sow cauliflowers, melons, cucumbers, small salading, early cabbages, and kidney-beans. Plant, prune, and train standard and wall fruit-trees, gooseberry, raspberry, and currant bushes. Edge beds, form new flower-gardens, and shelter from frost tender evergreens, tulips, ranunculuses, &c. Pot choice dahlias, placing them in a stove or hotbed. Air and keep dry carnations and stage auriculas. Plant snowdrops, crocuses, irises, &c.

February.—Make ready all the ground intended for early crops; and, when the weather is favourable, continue to sow every fortnight pease, beans, onions, spinach, savoys, lettuces, celery, cauliflowers, carrots, parsnips, and radishes, as directed in the kalendar for the preceding month. Start and cut early kidney-potatoes for seed, and put them into the stove or hotbed in order to planting out. Clean shrubberies, roll walks and lawns, and plant out evergreens and shrubs of all kinds, particularly roses. Put cuttings into rich light soil in well-sheltered borders, and plant stocks of the common wild rose for standards on which to bud the Chinese and other fine varieties. Protect all tender plants from the effects of frost, and air greenhouse and stage auriculas and polyanthus frames. Top-dress all fine auriculas and polyanthus in pots or boxes. Strike dahlias from roots in hotbeds, and sow balsams, cockscombs, tricolors, amaranths, sensitive and ice plants, as well as other tender annuals. Plant carnations layers, ranunculuses, anemones, and bulbous roots, and divide the roots of herbaceous plants.

March.—The principal crops of vegetables should be put into the ground this month. Sow asparagus, celery, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, beets, broccoli, spinach, onions, Dutch turnips, carrots, pease and beans, savoys, parsnips, and turnip-rooted radishes. Plant red cabbage, sea-kale, kidney-beans, and cauliflowers from frames; and sow cucumbers and melons in hotbeds. Finish pruning; dress borders and strawberry beds. Strike verbenas, calceolarias, heliotropes, senecias, petunias, scarlet geraniums, fuchsias, salvias, Chinese chrysanthemums, &c. Plant gladioluses. This is the best time to graft fruit-trees, and the China, perpetual, moss, and noisette roses, on the common brier or blush China rose, and to propagate them by layers. Pot dahlias that have pushed, and also cuttings from the offsets, placing them in a moderate heat. Protect tender plants and blossoms, and sow polyanthus, auricula, and almost every kind of perennial, biennial, and annual seeds.

April.—Sow whatever was omitted last month, and plant out such of the pot-herbs as are ready for that purpose. Continue to sow broccoli, asparagus, nasturtiums, sea-kale, Dutch turnips, German greens, and savoys, and plant out rhubarb, artichokes, sea-kale, German greens, and small salading. Earth up pease, tie up lettuces, and in very dry weather water seedling beds. Finish the grafting of fruit-trees, and train and clean walks and edgings. Sow annuals, biennials, and perennials. Plant evergreens, and propagate, by cuttings, jasmine, lavender, sage, rosemary, rue, &c., and all the woody kitchen shrubs. Sow dahlias, carnations, pinks, hollyhocks, Cape, Brompton, and German stocks, China asters, and all kinds of hardy annuals. Pot the flowers struck last month. Destroy the green-fly on roses, and preserve the bloom of stage auriculas from sun and rain. Top-dress all flowers in pots by removing withered leaves, and put in fresh earth. Hoe and rake gravel-walks, cut box-edgings, and mow grass-plots.

May.—Sow capsicums, cauliflowers, carrots, lettuces, spinach, pease, cucumbers, red beet for pickling, and a full crop of kidney and French beans. Transplant cabbages, winter-greens, lettuces, cauliflowers, and celery. Hoe and stake pease, water newly-planted crops, and propagate aromatic plants by slips or cuttings. Plant out the flowers sown last month, if there be no appearance of frost; and protect from wind and rain choice tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. Propagate herbaceous plants by dividing the roots; wallflowers, sweetwilliams, lychnis, and rockets, by slips; and China roses, mimuluses, &c., by cuttings. Put out into the open border pelargoniums, with other greenhouse plants; also Neapolitan violets, and such other hardy annuals as were sown last month. Sow biennials and perennials, if formerly omitted.

June.—Continue sowing the vegetables directed last month, and also turnips for autumn use. Plant out broccoli, cabbages, savoys, celery, cauliflowers in shady borders, leeks, lettuces, cucumbers for pickling, and kidney-beans. Watering is requisite in dry weather both evening and morning; and also the hoeing of potatoes, cabbages, and pease. Thin out onions, carrots, parsnips, and early turnips. Gather and preserve kitchen-herbs. Shade and air melon-plants, and strike, by cuttings, double-wallflowers, rockets, scarlet lychnis, and stocks. Transplant annuals, biennials, and perennials, and seedling pinks into a bed. Lift all hyacinths, tulips, and other bulbs that have ceased flowering. Cut off the foliage an inch above the stem, and, before putting by, lay them in sand a fortnight. Re-pot auriculas, polyanthus, &c. Mow and roll grass walks and plots once a fortnight during this and the other summer months.

July.—In this month prepare all unoccupied plots of ground for autumn and winter crops. Continue to sow turnips, lettuces, and radishes. Plant out brocoli, cauliflower, savoys, leeks, and winter cabbages, and earth up celery. Lift full-grown winter onions, and prepare mushroom spawn. In fine weather, gather medicinal flowers and sweet herbs when in bloom, dressing them in the shade for winter use. Divest wall-trees, espaliers, and standards, of all superfluous shoots. Continue to water in dry weather, and gather all kinds of seeds as they advance to maturity. Propagate evergreens, roses, and other shrubs, by laying the young wood. Inoculate flowering and othershrubs, bud roses in cloudy weather, and divide the roots of double primroses, polyanthuses, and auriculas. Lay or pipe carnations and pinks, take up anemones and ranunculuses, and put in cuttings of pansies, calceolarias, dahlias, geraniums, &c.

August.—Sow onions, early cabbages, savoys, German greens, and parsley, for the succeeding year; and lettuces, spinach, and cauliflowers, to stand the winter. Earth celery; hoe and thin turnips; transplant brocoli, savoys, and cauliflowers, and the principal crop of celery into trenches for blanching. Cut those herbs which are adapted for distillation or for winter use. Make mushroom-beds, propagate kitchen-herbs by slips, and take up all onions, garlic, and shalots that are withered in the stem. Continue to bud on fruit-trees, roses, and bushes, so long as the bark rises freely and the weather is cloudy. To obtain new varieties, sow auricula, polyanthus, and anemone seeds, and mignonette to blow in winter; as also the seeds of tulips, hyacinths, irises, and all the other bulbous-rooted flowers. Support and thin dahlias to improve their bloom. Shift tender exotics and hardy greenhouse plants into fresh pots. Keep the ground clear of weeds, and continue to water plentifully.

September.—Sow vegetable seeds for a spring-crop, and plant savoys, German greens, lettuces, celery, and perennial aromatic and pot herbs. Hoe winter-spinach and turnips, earth up celery and cardoons, weed cauliflowers and young onions, prick out cabbage-plants, gather ripe seeds, and make mushroom-beds. Plant cuttings of gooseberries, currants, raspberries, and also strawberries, taking out old stools when necessary. Make cuttings of verbenas, calceolarias, heliotropes, senecias, petunias, scarlet geraniums, fuchsias, salvias, Chinese chrysanthemums, &c., and keep them in boxes during the winter. Continue to divide and transplant biennial and perennial flower-roots; lay almost every kind of shrubs; and put in cuttings of evergreens, China roses, and flowering shrubs. Crocuses, snowdrops, Persian irises, dog's-tooth violets, fritillarias, crown imperials, narcissuses, and most of the other bulbous roots, may now be planted. All the rooted pinks and carnations may be planted out. Sow hardy annuals to stand the winter, and trench up ground in which to plant tulips and hyacinths during October or November.

October.—Plant horse-radishes, lettuces, early cabbages, and other greens neglected last month, in sheltered situations; also cauliflowers, mint, and tarragon in frames, for winter use. Earth up savoys and cabbages as high as the leaves. Take up carrots and parsnips, cut off their tops, and bury them in dry sand. Crop the tops of parsley, to make fresh leaves for winter. Plant all deciduous trees and shrubs. Commence pruning, taking the vertical branches in fruit-trees, and cutting obliquely to prevent rain from lodging; also roses, honeysuckle, and other flowering shrubs. Protect dahlias, young carnations, and layers from sudden frost; and, about the end of the month, begin to plant hyacinths, tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. In favourable weather, transplant hardy fibrous-rooted plants, intermixing them in the borders, to keep up a succession in the flowering season.

November.—Although hazardous, early pease and beans may be sown in a warm border; if neglected, most vegetables recommended in the last two months may still be planted, earthed up, &c., taking care to protect them from frost. Force sea-kale, rhubarb, and asparagus. Prune and plant fruit-trees and bushes; and finish flowering shrubs and trees. Transplant seedling stocks, and suckers taken from the roots of the pear, codling, plum, and quince trees, to prepare them for budding or grafting different fruits upon; also stocks of the tree-rose, for budding upon them the garden and Chinese varieties. Shelter choice flowers. To make the colours of the tulip distinct, the compost ought to be changed every alternate year; an operation which should be performed this month. Tulip-soil should be one-third of fresh, light, turfy loam; one-third of fine sand; and one-third of sandy peat, or leaf-mould. Take up dahlia roots whenever the bloom is nipped by frost, and keep them in sand free from damp.

December.—Prepare for future operations, by digging, manuring, or trenching vacant ground, and collecting dung, leaves, and turf, to make compost. In mild weather, a few early pease and radishes may be sown in a warm border, and small salads and cucumbers in hotbeds. Cover with fern, straw, litter, or mats, all such plants as are likely to be injured by frost, either in the open ground or in frames, admitting free supplies of air when the weather is favourable. Plant and prune all kinds of trees and bushes, taking care to stake the trees that are newly planted. In pruning roses, remove the old wood, curtail the young straggling branches, adding good store of decayed manure. Fine auriculas, polyanthuses, and carnations must now be treated with great care.

FAIRS HELD ACCORDING TO OLD STYLE.

The Publishers beg to call attention to the great inconvenience occasioned by reckoning Fair or Market Days according to Old Style. As in some places the Old Style is believed to be ELEVEN, and in others—and that correctly—to be TWELVE, days later than the New, it is impossible for persons at a distance to know with certainty on what day a Fair computed by the Old Style is to be held. The Publishers would therefore earnestly urge upon those in whose hands the remedy lies the necessity of adopting the New Style instead of the Old in all such computations.

FAIRS, CATTLE-MARKETS, AND TRYSTS IN SCOTLAND.

Fairs held according to Old Style are distinguished by the letters o s placed after the day indicated. See note regarding Old Style on preceding page.

N.B.—When the appointed day happens to fall on Saturday, Sunday, or Monday, the fair is sometimes deferred till the Tuesday following.

As the dates of Fairs are constantly being changed, the Publishers do not hold themselves responsible for any inaccuracies that may occur in the following lists. They will feel greatly obliged by having their attention called to any such inaccuracy.

Information in Commerce, Agriculture, Law, Chronology, and Statistics.

SECTION I.—USEFUL TABLES.

MONETARY SYSTEM OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The integer of account is the pound, divided from a remote period into 20 shillings, each of 12 pence; and the circulating medium consists of coins of gold, silver, and bronze, and of bank notes convertible into gold, which is the metallic basis of the monetary system; the silver and bronze coins being available only for small money or change.

COINS.

Gold: Sovereign (or pound) and half-sovereign, coined at the rate of 1869 sovereigns from 40 lbs. troy of the standard fineness of 22 carats, or 916 $\frac{2}{3}$  milliemmes; being minted at 77s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per troy ounce. The full weight of the sovereign is 5 dwts. 3·274 grains; but it is a legal tender when 5 dwts. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  grains, and is received at par by the Bank of England at the "current weight" of 5 dwts. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  grains. Gold pieces of the value of two and five pounds have been coined, but are in limited circulation.

Gold has long been the principal medium of large payments, and since 1816 the sole standard and legal tender. Under the Act 56 Geo. III. c. 68, the mint is open to the public for gold coinage, and standard bullion is converted into an equal weight of sovereigns; but in practice, the bullion is sold at the fixed rate of 77s. 9d. to the Bank of England, in exchange for coin (or its equivalent) at 77s. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per oz., the difference of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per oz. being compensation to the Bank for delay in coinage.

Silver: Crown of 5s., half-crown, double florin 4s., florin 2s., shilling, and pieces for 6d., 3d., 2d., and 1d.; but the last two, called maundy money, are not in circulation. All are coined at the rate of 66s. from 1 lb. troy of the fineness of 11 oz. 2 dwts., or 925 milliemmes; and the full weight of the shillings is 3 dwts.

15 $\frac{1}{2}$  grains. Silver is thus minted at 5s. 6d. per oz., an over-valuation at the present value; but the coins are not a legal tender for more than 40s. at one time.

Bronze: Penny, halfpenny, and farthing, coined at rates greatly exceeding their intrinsic value, but not legal tender beyond one shilling.

The Remedy of the Mint is, for gold coins 12 grains per lb. in weight, and  $\frac{7}{8}$  carat in fineness; for silver 1 dwt. per lb. in both weight and fineness.

In England the pound represented at first a Saxon pound of silver, but the coins were successively degraded to about one-third of their original values. The earliest, save the Saxon styca and skeatta, was, A.D. 725, the silver penny, often broken into fourth-things or farthings. Gold was not coined until 1257, and copper not until the 17th century. Of the old gold coins, the chief were the merk of 13s. 4d.; the noble of 6s. 8d.; and later the guinea, valued after 1717 at 21s.

Scots currency was, when abolished, 1707, of only 1-12th the value of sterling, and £100 Scots = £8, 6s. 8d. sterling, or £1 Scots = 1s. 8d. sterling. The merk = 13s. 4d. Scots, and the plack = 2 bodles = 4d. Scots.

Irish currency, abolished 1826, £108, 6s. 8d. Irish = £100 sterling.

PAPER MONEY AND BANKS OF ISSUE.

Public banks were introduced shortly after the Revolution of 1688. The earliest and greatest, the Bank of England, founded 1694, advanced its capital, then £1,200,000, to the Government, and acquired important privileges. It was immediately, 1695, followed by the Bank of Scotland, of less pretension, but which led the way to a system which, from its economy and usefulness, especially in attracting and utilizing deposits, and supplying a stable currency, has more than any other cause contributed to the extension and excellence of modern banking. The Bank of Ireland was formed in 1783, on the model of the Bank of England.

The note circulation of the Bank of England was well supported, and save during a short period in 1696, its convertibility into coin was maintained until 1797, when, under adverse circumstances, aggravated by war, the Bank was relieved by Parliament from making specie payments. The notes then became depreciated; but under arrangements consequent on "Peel's Act" of 1819, the exchange of notes for gold was resumed in 1821.

The concessions to the Bank of England from time to time included a restriction, in 1708, of the number of partners in other English banks to six, which limitation continued until 1826, when joint-stock banks of issue were allowed to be formed in places beyond the metropolitan district; and in 1833, when the Bank charter was renewed, and one-fourth of its capital repaid by Government, non-issuing joint-stock banks were also permitted to be established within the metropolitan district itself. The monopoly of the Bank of Ireland was similarly broken up in 1824. The joint-stock banks established in England and Ireland were mainly constituted upon the well-tried Scottish system. No other material change occurred until the introduction of the existing banking regulations in 1844.

Existing Regulations.

The bank issues in England consist of notes for £5 and upwards of the Bank of England (which monopolizes the circulation within 65 miles of London), and of numerous provincial banks; and in Scotland and Ireland of notes for £1 and upwards, all so regulated as to conform to a gold currency. The notes of the Bank of England are legal tender in England, except at the Bank. New banks of issue have been prohibited; and existing banks are limited in their issues except against specie, as in the cases of the Scotch and Irish banks, of which specie one-fifth may be silver; while the publication is required of their circulation and coin, and an annual return of partners for reference and publication.

By the Companies Amendment Act of 1879 it is enacted that banks of issue registered as limited companies shall not be entitled to limited liability in respect of their notes.

The Bank of England has been, from August 31, 1844, divided into two entirely separate departments of issue and banking, and notes for £16,450,000 have been transferred from the former to the latter, against special securities, including £11,015,000 due by the nation to the Bank, all bearing interest. Beyond this £16,450,000 no notes can be issued, except against coin or bullion lodged in the issue department. The profit on the note issue beyond £16,450,000, however, goes to the Government. The actual circulation averages £28,500,000, issued about two-thirds from London, and one-third from 11 branches. Notes may be demanded from the issue department in exchange for gold bullion at the rate of 77s. 9d. per oz., and they are payable in coin at the mint rate of 77s. 10½d. per oz. Payment of those issued in London can be demanded there only; but branch notes are payable either at the London office or at the branches where issued. The notes are a legal tender, except in Scotland and Ireland.

The English Provincial Banks of issue have a maximum circulation fixed at the average of the twelve weeks to April 27, 1844. The issues must be at certain licensed places, and no union can take place between a joint-stock bank and a private bank, or between two joint-stock banks of issue, without one of them, at least, losing its circulation. The opening of new branches of issue is also restrained. The aggregate fixed issues, originally £8,648,853, have declined to £4,742,573, and the average actual circulation is only about £2,500,000, spread over 71 private and 37 joint-stock banks. The specie held is not published, for the notes are payable in Bank of England paper, and no power is possessed to issue against specie in excess of the fixed circulation.

In Scotland, banks of issue are confined to those which existed in the year to May 1, 1845; and the issue of each is restricted to the amount of its average circulation in that year; and of the specie held at its head office, where the notes are payable. Should two banks join, the united banks may issue to the amount of their joint circulation. The aggregate authorized circulation, originally £3,087,209, is now £2,676,350. The average amount of specie held is about £4,776,000, and of actual circulation about £6,400,000, issued by ten joint-stock banks, with nearly 1000 branches.

In Ireland, the authorized circulation is arranged as in Scotland; the issues of two banks which unite are also given to the united banks; but if any bank discontinues its issue, and circulates notes of the Bank of Ireland, the circulation of the latter may be to an equal amount increased. The notes are demandable in gold at the branches where issued; but the specie held against the circulation in excess of that authorized must be held at the head office, or certain licensed places. The total authorized circulation is still, as at first, £6,354,494. The average specie held is nearly £3,000,000, and of actual circulation about £6,000,000, issued by six joint-stock banks.

Under four distinct arrangements, a general system is thus established which gives to all these banks a collective action analogous to that of a single national bank, with a privilege of issue limited upon securities, but expansive upon bullion. Placing together the fixed issues gives—

Bank of England, . . .	£15,750,000
English Provincial Banks, . . .	6,063,389
Scottish Banks, . . . . .	2,676,350
Irish Banks, . . . . .	6,354,494

In all . . . £30,844,233

The authorized issues were adjusted with the knowledge that they must decline; but to the extent fixed, the use of the precious metals (or capital) is economized; while, from the fact of all farther issues being represented by specie,* the whole circulation is rendered conformable to a metallic currency. The actual circulation averages about 44 millions, which, with the metallic circulation, estimating 110 millions for gold and 13 millions for silver and bronze, makes an aggregate of 167 millions.

IMPERIAL MEASURES.

This system, introduced 1826, continued the old legal measures of extension and weight, but superseded numerous corn and liquid measures by the “Imperial gallon,” a new measure of capacity. The standards fixed were:—

1. Extension.—The “Imperial Standard Yard,” or brass “standard yard of 1760,” bearing the proportion of 36 inches to 39·1393 inches, the length of a pendulum vibrating seconds in the latitude of London at 62° Fahrenheit, and in a vacuum at the level of the sea.

2. Capacity.—The “Imperial Standard Gallon,” containing 10 lbs. avoirdupois, or 277·274 cubic inches of distilled water at 62° Fahr., the barometer being at 30 inches.

3. Weight.—The Old Troy Pound of 1758, containing 5760 grains; one cubic inch of distilled water at 62° Fahr., the barometer being at 30 inches, weighing 252·458 grains; and 7000 of such grains were declared to be equal to the avoirdupois pound.

In 1834 those standards were accidentally destroyed; and a scientific commission having reported in favour of their restoration from material copies rather than by experimental reference to natural constants, the provisions for the latter were repealed in 1855. A standard yard and a standard avoirdupois pound were then constructed from authentic copies of the old standards, and deposited in the Exchequer—copies being at the same time lodged at the Mint, the Royal Observatory, the Royal Society, and the Palace at Westminster.

The following tables exhibit the usual multiples and divisions of these standards, with their equivalents in the metrical system of France:—

I.—LENGTH.†		Metres.	40 Poles = 1 Furlong 201·16437
12 Inches = 1 Foot		0·30479	8 Fur. or } = 1 Mile. 1609·31493
3 Feet = 1 Yard		0·91438	1760 Yards }
2 Yards = 1 Fathom		1·82877	The hand = 4 inches; ell = 45 inches;
5½ Yards = 1 Pole or } Perch }		5·02911	pace = 5 feet; fathom = 6 feet. The
4 Poles = 1 Chain		20·11644	degree = 20 leagues. = 60 nautical miles, or 69·121 statute miles.

* This is a prominent feature of the Act of 1844; and it is usually held that the notes of the Bank of England are specially secured by the specie, &c., in the issue department of the Bank. This is not, however, clear (Bank Report, 1857, p. 220); and, as respects all other banks, the specie held is not more applicable to their notes than to their deposits and other liabilities.

I.—GENERAL MEASURES OF SOLIDITY.

		Cub. Metre.
1728 Cubic inches	= 1 Cub. foot	0·028315
27 Cubic feet	= 1 Cubic yd.	0·764513
The ton measurement	= 8 barrel bulk, or 40 cubic feet.

II.—MEASURES FOR LIQUIDS, CORN, ETC.

		Litres.
8·665 Cubic in.	= 1 Gill	0·142
4 Gills	= 1 Pint	0·568
2 Pints	= 1 Quart	1·136
4 Quarts	= 1 Gallon	4·543
2 Gallons	= 1 Peck	9·087
4 Pecks	= 1 Bushel	36·348
8 Bushels	= 1 Quarter	290·781

The peck, bushel, and quarter are used for dry goods only: 1 last = 10 quarters.

Besides the gallon and its divisions, various other liquid measures, multiples of the gallon, are used for different commodities, as shown under TRADE MEASURES, ETC., NOW OR FORMERLY IN USE.

IV.—WEIGHT.

I.—A VOIR DU POIS WEIGHT.

24 Grains	= 1 Pennyweight	1·555
20 Dwts.	= 1 Ounce	31·103
12 Ounces	= 1 Pound	373·242

Troy weight is chiefly used for gold and silver. At the Mint, the troy ounce is divided decimally into 1000ths.

In Jewellery, the ounce is divided into 600 pearl grains, and 151½ diamond carats.

GOLD AND SILVER STANDARDS, ETC.

The fineness of gold is expressed in carats, the unit of reference being divided into 24, and its quality denoted by the number consisting of pure or fine gold. The carat is divided into 4 grains. The British standard for gold coin is 22 carats, i.e., 22 parts are fine, and 2 parts alloy. The fineness of silver is similarly denoted by the number of ounces and pennyweights fine in 1 lb. troy; and the money standard is 11 oz. 2 dwts., i.e., 222 parts are fine, and 18 parts alloy. These standards, often now expressed decimally in 1000th parts or milliemes, as in France, are 916½ and 925 respectively.

Plate, excepting small articles, &c., is of regulated fineness. The standards for gold until 1854 were 22 carats and 18 carats; but, to meet the competition of foreign jewellers, it is now also stamped of 15, 12, and 9 carats (17 & 18 Vict. c. 96). The standards for silver are 11 oz. 2 dwts. and 11 oz. 10 dwts.; the latter, called “new-sterling,” is almost in disuse. Provisions are likewise made for five “marks” of verification:—

1. The Standard mark, for plate of the fineness of coin, is, in England, a lion passant; in Scotland, a thistle (6 and 7 Will. IV. c. 69); in Ireland, a harp crowned. But in England, since 1844, gold of 22 and 18 carats is separately distinguished by a crown (7 and 8 Vict. c. 22); the lower standards of 15, 12, and 9 carats bear only the numbers denoting their fineness in carats and milliemes. Silver of 11 oz. 10 dwts. has a Britannia. Articles of all standards likewise bear—2. The Maker's mark or initials; 3. The Date mark, a variable letter; 4. The Hall mark, or device of the district assay office—that of the London Goldsmiths' Company being a leopard's head crowned, of Birmingham an anchor, of Sheffield a crown, of Edinburgh a castle, of Glasgow the city arms, of Dublin a Hibernia; 5. The Duty mark, of the Sovereign's head.

The date letter of the London Goldsmiths' Company commenced in May 1716 with A in Roman capitals, reckoning on to 20 letters or years, omitting J, and ending with U. Small Roman is then used; next old English capitals; then small Roman: again commencing with a Roman A in May 1796; a small a in 1816; an old English capital in 1836; small old English in 1856; and Roman capitals in 1876.

* In the British Pharmacopœia (1864), the oz. Troy of 480 grains has been abolished, while the lb. avoirdupois of 7000 grains, and the oz. avoirdupois of 437½ grains, have been adopted.

The assay cuttings are kept, in each assay office, in the Pix or Diet Box, to await the Trial of the Pix, an ancient usage which also exists at the Mint.

OLD MEASURES SUPERSEDED BY THE IMPERIAL SYSTEM.

ENGLAND.—Wine Measure.—Denominations same as imperial, and 1 wine gall. = 83311 imp. gall. or 6 wine galls. = 5 imp. galls. nearly.

English Ale Measure.—54 galls. = 6 firkins = 3 kilderkins = 1½ barrel = 1 hhd. 1 ale gallon = 1'01704 imp. gall.; or 59 ale galls. = 60 imp. galls. nearly.

English or Winchester Dry Measure.—Denominations same as imperial, and 1 Win. bushel = 7'75558 imp. galls.; whence 32 Win. bush. = 31 imp. bush.

IRELAND.—11 Ir. miles = 14 imp. miles. 30½ Ir. acres = 49 imp. acres.

SCOTLAND.—Measures of Length.—5920 feet = 1920 ells = 320 fells = 8 furlongs = 1 mile = 5929'568 imp. feet; or 10 Scots miles = 11½ imp. miles nearly.—Chain of 100 links = 74'120 imp. feet.

Scottish Measure of Surface.—5760 ells = 160 fells = 4 roods = 1 acre = 1'261183 imp. acre, or 6104 square yards nearly; and 23 Scots acres = 29 imp. acres nearly.

Scottish Troyes or Dutch Weight.—4096 drops = 256 oz. = 16 lbs. = 1 stone = 17'391885 lbs. avoird. The meal boll contained 8 stones, or 139'135 lbs.

avoird., but reckoned at 140 lbs., and the Dutch or Lanark stone at 17½ lbs.

Scottish Liquid Measure.—128 gills = 32 mutchkins = 16 chopins = 8 pints = 1 gallon = 3'00651 or about 3 imp. galls.

Linlithgow or Standard Corn Measures.—4 lippies or forpits = 1 peck; 4 pecks = 1 firloft; 4 firlots = 1 boll; and 16 bolls = 1 chaldier. Two sets were used; the wheat firloft (used also for pease, beans, rye, and salt) = '998256 imperial bushel; and the barley firloft (used also for oats and malt) = 1'4562794 imperial bushel. The barley measure is merely the ancient heaped measure reduced to a definite standard by the Scots Act of 1618. The Linlithgow standards represented precisely those of the counties of Edinburgh, Haddington, Linlithgow, Lanark, Dumfries, Peebles, Perth, and Wigtown, as fixed by the Sheriff-juries under 5 Geo. IV. c. 74, § 18. Elsewhere the measures varied, —though in Berwick, Fife, Kinross, Forfar, Inverness, Ross, and Sutherland, only slightly,—from the Linlithgow standards.

METRIC OR DECIMAL SYSTEM (ACT 27 and 28 VICT. c. 117, 1864).

The Metric system, instituted in France, 1795, is founded on the estimated distance from the pole to the equator, the ten-millionth part of which, or Metre, is the unit of length, and equal 39·37079 imp. inches. The Are, unit of surface, = 100 square metres,—the Litre, unit of capacity, = 1 cubic decimetre,—and the Gramme, unit of weight, weighs 1 cubic centimetre of water, or 15·4323487

imp. grains.—The multiples of these units are denoted by prefixing to them the Greek derivatives deca, ten,—hecto, hundred,—kilo, thousand,—and myria, ten thousand; and their subdivisions by the Latin prefixes deci, tenth of,—centi, hundredth of,—milli, thousandth of. Thus the kilometre = 1000 metres, and the decimetre = 1-10th metre.

\* In the French import markets, sugar, coffee, rice, and other kinds of tropical produce, are sold at a price per 50 kilogs.—a weight precisely equal to the German Customs centner of 100 union pounds or half-kilogrammes, which is also used in Holland, Switzerland, &c., and equal 110 $\frac{1}{2}$  lbs. avoird. Being thus only  $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. less than the British cwt., it may in approximate estimates be accounted equal to it; while 1000 kilogrammes may in like manner be taken approximately at 1 ton.

This Table is readily available for rates which are one-half or double those specified. Thus, for a 3½ per cent. stock take one-half, and for a 15 per cent. stock double the sum shown as applicable to a 7½ per cent. stock.

The accrued interest, usually included in the price of stock, may be computed for deduction at the rate of 1s. 8d. per month, or 4½d. per week, for each 1 per cent. of the dividend.

SECTION II.—FIARS-PRICES OF SCOTLAND.

STATE OF THE FIARS-PRICES

OF THE SEVERAL COUNTIES OF SCOTLAND FOR THE CROPS AND YEARS FROM 1888 TO 1894 INCLUSIVE.

The Fiars are the average prices, yearly ascertained by the Sheriff, with the help of a jury, of the several kinds of grain of the growth of his county, in the preceding crop. Their origin is obscure; it has been referred to the year 1627, when, it is said, they were for the first time ascertained in the county of Haddington; but they appear to have been struck in some other counties in the end of the previous century. The forms of procedure are regulated by the Acts of Sederunt, 21st December 1723, and 29th February 1728.

The Tables have been prepared from official documents in the Teind-Office. The average is that of the period of Seven Years; but in a few cases, distinguished by an asterisk, that of Six Years only. Where blands of more than one year occur, no average is stated, the Fiars not having been regularly struck.

The Grain is computed by the Imperial Quarter; the Meal by the Boll of 140 Imperial Pounds.

INLAND RATES OF POSTAGE AND CONDITIONS OF TRANSMISSION.

LETTERS.

The rate of postage to be prepaid on

Inland (United Kingdom) Letters is—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. .... 1d.

Exceed. 1 oz. but not exceed. 2 oz. 1½d.

.. 6 .. .. 8 .. 3d.

.. 8 .. .. 10 .. 3½d.

.. 10 .. .. 12 .. 4d.

.. 12 .. .. 14 .. 4½d.

and so on at the rate of ½d. for every additional 2 ozs. Unpaid Letters are charged double, and deficient postage double the deficiency.

Letters may not exceed in size 18×9×6 inches, unless to or from Government offices.

No charge is made for re-directing letters or postal packets, whether done by a Post Office official, or by an agent of the addressee after delivery, provided the letter or packet is re-posted not later than the day following delivery, and that it does not appear to have been opened. If posted later, unpaid rates will be charged.

LATE LETTERS, posted at the provincial offices, are received till within 5 minutes of the despatch of the mails on being prepaid the too-late fee, and posted in the proper box, or handed over the counter. For letters posted at Edinburgh, see p. 97.

Letters, when once posted, cannot be given back upon any pretence whatever, but must be forwarded to the person to whom they are addressed.

Letters containing articles of a perishable or dangerous nature, or anything that might prove injurious to the other letters, are not forwarded, but sent to the Returned Letter Office.

REGISTRATION.—Any letter, book-packet, parcel, etc., can be registered on payment of the registration fee in addition to the postage. The fee for registration, which also secures compensation in the case of loss or damage, is 2d. for £5, 3d. for £10, and 1d. additional for every £5 up to £50. Compensation to the extent of £2 only will be given in the case of a letter containing coin whatever may be the amount of coin in the letter. Such letter or packet requires to be handed over the counter (and a receipt obtained) half-an-hour before the closing of the box for ordinary letters by the same mail. Too-late fee, 4d. It is recommended that all letters of value should be registered; any letter discovered unregistered in course of transit, supposed to contain coin, watches, or jewelry, is registered, and charged 8d. on delivery. A letter marked "registered" put into a letter-box, instead of being presented for registration, is also charged 8d., any additional stamps on it above the postage being allowed for off that amount.

If it be desired to obtain compensation for damage, the letter must bear the words "Fragile, with care" on the face of the cover. Compensation will in no case exceed the value of the article lost, or damage sustained.

The Postmaster-general may, if he think fit, reinstate the contents of a letter instead of giving pecuniary compensation.

NEWSPAPERS.

All newspapers registered at the General Post-Office, London, printed and published in the United Kingdom at intervals not exceeding seven days, may be sent by post, singly or in a packet, within the United Kingdom, for a postage of one halfpenny for each newspaper, but a packet containing two or more registered newspapers is not chargeable with a higher rate than a book-packet of the same weight. A packet posted unpaid is charged double rate, and if insufficiently paid with double the deficiency. Supplements to newspapers must be of a like nature to that of the newspaper. The title and date of every publication must be printed at the top of the first page, and the whole or part on subsequent pages. It must either have no cover, or be in a cover open at the ends. It must contain no enclosure, except the supplement belonging to it. No newspaper must bear on any part of it words of the nature of a letter. No packet of newspapers must exceed 14 lb. in weight, 2 feet in length, and 1 foot in width or depth.

BOOK POST.

The rate of postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or fraction thereof.

If not sufficiently paid, double the deficiency will be charged; and if sent unpaid, a double rate is charged. All letters or sealed enclosures in a book packet are forbidden. (Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, etc., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.)

A book packet may contain any matter wholly printed on paper or substance ordinarily used for printing books and other publications, and any other written or printed matter, not being in the nature of a letter, drawings, photographs, engravings on paper, maps, plans, etc., and the binding or mounting of any article such as is generally used for such purposes.

Also the following documents, whether containing matter in the nature of a letter or not, provided they conform to the conditions relating to the same, viz. :—

Invoices, orders for goods, credit notes, way-bills, bills of lading, re- ceipts, statements of accounts, prices current, and market reports.—That the only writing on the document shall be the dates, names, and addresses of the parties, particulars and prices of goods, particulars of sums of money relating to the document, and the mode of consignment of the goods or money.

Manuscript for press, and printed proofs with corrections and instructions.—That any written or printed matter, not forming part of the document itself, refers solely to the arrangements, correction of the type, or execution of the work.

Examination papers, with corrections and instructions.—That the matter refer solely to the questions put or the answers thereto.

Circulars, that is, printed notices and letters.—That the circular may be corrected in writing, and give the date of dispatch and name and address and description of sender, and the name of the addressee. When the circular is a notice of meeting or appointment, the place, date, and hour, and in the case of a meeting the objects of such may be inserted in writing. When the circular is a polling card the name and address of the voter and his number on the register may be written.

Deeds, agreements, proposals and policies of assurance, powers of attorney, proxy papers, certificates and licences.—That nothing appear in the document which does not form part of it as a legal instrument.

Notices, reports, returns, and certificates issued, made, or given by officers of a court of justice, or other public officers in the discharge of their duties, and returns or reports made to public offices or bodies.—That the document consists of a printed form, and that any written matter on such document consist of information appropriate to the form.

In the foregoing definition expressions referring to print or printing shall be taken to refer to any species of type-writing easy to recognise, and to include lithography, hand stamping, or any mechanical process ordinarily used to produce a number of identical copies, but not to include type-writing or imitations thereof. Expressions referring to writing shall be taken to include type-writing or any mechanical process ordinarily used to produce a single document.

A packet may be posted either with or without a cover, or in an unfastened envelope, but in any case can only be so closed as not to prevent the contents being easily withdrawn for examination.

Should the conditions of the Book Post not be complied with, the packet will be treated as a letter if under 8 oz. in weight; and if above that weight, as a parcel in addition to a fine of 1d.

A book packet in dimensions must not exceed 6 in.  $\times$  9 in.  $\times$  18 in. and 5 lb. in weight.

PRINTED PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS.

—Postage same as the Book Post rate, but there is no limitation as to weight. Packets must be in covers open at the ends. The words "Parliamentary Proceedings" must be written or printed on the cover of the packet. Prepayment is optional. Petitions and addresses forwarded to her Majesty pass free. Members of Parliament may receive petitions and addresses to her Majesty, or petitions to either House, free, if not exceeding 2 lb., and sent without covers, or in covers open at the ends.

PARLIAMENTARY NOTICES. — The words "Parliamentary Notice" must be written or printed on the face of the letter. The postage is at the letter rate, and a registration fee of 2d. must be paid on each letter.

PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

The rate of postage is for 4 oz. 1d., 6 oz. 1½d., 8 oz. 2d. Limit of weight 8 oz.; and the dimensions 12  $\times$  8  $\times$  4 inches.

If posted unpaid a packet is charged double postage, and if insufficiently prepaid, double the deficiency.

The Pattern and Sample Post is restricted to bona fide trade patterns and samples of merchandise. No article sent for sale, or in execution of an order, or from one private party to another, is admissible.

The Patterns and Samples must be sent in wrappers (marked "Pattern Post" or "Sample Post") entirely open at the ends, or in an unfastened envelope, so that they may be easily withdrawn for examination. But samples of seeds, etc., which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in boxes, bags of linen, or other like material, yet admitting of easy examination.

It is obligatory that the name, address, and trade of the sender be in all cases printed or conspicuously stamped on the outside of the wrapper or label. Should the rule not be complied with, the packet will be charged double the deficient postage at letter rate. No glass in any form, liquid, semi-liquid, or greasy matter, no powder or anything of offensive smell, nor any living creature can be sent. Samples of scissors, knives, and such like must be completely packed and guarded, and at the same time admit of easy examination.

PARCEL POST.

Parcels are conveyed at the rate of not exceeding 1 lb., 3d.; 2 lb., 4½d.; 3 lb., 6d., and so on at the rate of 1½d. for every additional pound up to 11 lb.

In dimensions a parcel must not exceed 3½ feet in length, or 6 feet in length and girth combined.

Parcels may be registered, and compensation in the case of damage or loss obtained as in the case of letters (see under "Registration"), but no compensation is given in the case of damage or loss of coin or money contained in a parcel.

Subject to regulations attending the posting of a parcel, the Post Office will allow compensation to the extent of £2 for loss or damage on an unregistered parcel. When a parcel is registered a receipt should be obtained for it.

Parcels are liable to charge at the usual rate of postage for each redirection, except in cases where the original and the corrected addresses are within a delivery from the same Post Office.

EXPRESS DELIVERY.

Letters and parcels are sent out for special delivery at the following rates, viz., for 1 lb. 3d. per mile or part thereof, and for every additional lb. or part thereof 1½d. If the sender wishes a cab to be used, the fare in addition must be prepaid.

Single Post Letters by Railway. — An agreement exists between the Post Office and certain railway companies for the conveyance of letters not exceeding 1 oz. in weight at a charge of 2d. in addition to the postage of 1d. The postage must be prepaid in stamps, and 2d. in cash paid to the railway company. When the letter reaches the terminal station it will be posted at the nearest Post Office receptacle for collection and delivery in due course of post.

POSTAGE AND TELEGRAPH STAMPS, WRAPPERS, ENVELOPES, ETC.

Postage labels are of the respective values of ½d., 1d., 1½d., 2d., 2½d., 3d., 4d., 4½d., 5d., 6d., 9d., 10d., 1s., 2s. 6d., 5s., 10s., and £1. Stamped telegraph books, 10s.; interleaved, 2d. extra.

Inland Post Cards (thin) are 5½d.

and (thick) 6d. for 10, Reply Cards at double rate, Foreign Post Cards 1d., Reply 2d. each;  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. newspaper wrappers at the rate of 7 for 4d., and 1d. wrappers 8 for 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. The public can also obtain these wrappers and post cards uncut (reply cards excepted) in  $\frac{1}{2}$  reams of 120 sheets (each sheet consists of 14 wrappers or 42 post cards) by making special application at any post-office.

Private Cards bearing adhesive half-penny stamps may also be used as post cards. They must be composed of ordinary cardboard not thicker than the material used for official post cards. The maximum size must correspond as nearly as may be to the size of the inland official post card, and the minimum size must not be less than  $3\frac{1}{2}$  by  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inches.

Stamped Envelopes are made of four sizes, embossed with 1d. stamp—viz.,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 3$  in. 6 for 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., commercial 10 for 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.;  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in. (square shaped), 5 for 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.; embossed with 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. stamp

$5\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{8}$  in. 5 for 1s. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.;  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{8}$  in. 5 for 1s. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Book Post.—Embossed Envelopes, Commercial 10 for 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., Foolscap 10 for 6d.

REGISTRATION-LETTER Envelopes, including the registration fee of 2d., are of 5 sizes, and sold thus—viz., F,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$  in., and G,  $9 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in., at 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. each, or 2s. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. for a packet of 12; H,  $8 \times 5$  in., and H2,  $9 \times 4$  in., 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. each, or 2s. 7d. per packet; K,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 6$  in., 3d. each, or 2s. 10d. per packet. The postage must be paid by affixing the necessary stamps.

Any embossed or impressed stamp cut out or otherwise separated from any cover, paper, or card, on which it was embossed, cannot be used for postage. Postage stamps are purchased from the public at the Money Order Office, G.P.O., Branch Offices, and the Sub-Offices, at a charge of  $\frac{1}{2}$ d. on the value of 1s. 8d. and under, and 1d. on 3s. 4d. value, and so on, being at the rate of 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  per cent.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN POST, GENERAL REGULATIONS.

A letter posted unpaid or insufficiently prepaid for any country to which prepayment is compulsory, is returned to the sender.

Letters not directed by a particular route are, as a rule, forwarded by the first mail despatched.

Letters to or from places abroad, posted unpaid, are charged double rate; and partially prepaid, double the deficiency.

Letters containing coin, jewelry, articles of value, or anything liable to customs duties, are in most cases not permitted to circulate in countries comprised in the Postal Union. Jewelry, if sent to Spain and Victoria, is dutiable and liable to confiscation. In the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, and Queensland, jewelry and precious articles, if dutiable, are liable to detention until the duty is paid. Anything relating to foreign lotteries is prohibited in the Cape of Good Hope, Italy, Servia, and the United States, and bound books to Italy and Roumania. In Russia, printed matter in the Russian language is prohibited. Photographs and Christmas Cards are liable to duty, though a single photograph may be sent. All letters or packets containing prohibited or dutiable articles of any kind are confiscated.

FOREIGN POST CARDS are issued under the same regulations as for inland circulation, and are transmissible to all parts of the world.

NEWSPAPERS AND BOOKS.—Articles which may be sent to places abroad under the book post regulations are of two classes, viz., "Commercial papers" and "Printed papers."

COMMERCIAL PAPERS comprise documents written or drawn by hand (except letters or communications of the nature of a letter), documents of legal procedure, deeds drawn up by public functionaries, copies of or extracts from deeds under private seal, way bills, bills of lading, invoices, and such like of a commercial character, documents of insurance and other public companies, all kinds of manuscript music, and of books and literary works.

PRINTED PAPERS include newspapers, periodicals, books, sheets of music (printed), proofs of paintings, engravings, etc. On printed circulars manuscript corrections and insertions may be made as to names of travellers, dates of journey, names of persons invited to meetings, place, date, and object of same. Books, etc., may have a dedication inscribed on them, and the invoice relating to the packet may be enclosed. To the United States there is a customs duty of 25 per cent. on all books and printed matter, but exception is given to newspapers and periodicals already exempt from duty, and also to photographs and printed papers other than books sent in such small quantities as to suggest that they are for personal use and not for sale.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN POST.—The Pattern and Sample Post is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

Patterns or samples, when practicable, must be sent in covers open at the ends, and so as to be easy of examination. But samples of seeds, drugs, and such like articles, which cannot be sent in covers of this kind,—but such articles only,—may be posted enclosed in boxes or in bags of linen or other material, fastened in such a manner that they may be readily opened.

Samples of saleable value must not be sent to any foreign country or British possession comprised in the Postal Union.

There must be no writing or printing upon any packet for a non-union country, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender, a trade mark or number, and the price of the articles, the weight or size, and the quantity to be disposed of, or such as may be necessary to indicate the place of origin or the nature of merchandise.

A sample packet for a Postal Union country may contain printed papers and also commercial papers, if paid the latter rate.

REGISTRATION OF LETTERS, ETC.—

Letters, Newspapers, Book and Pattern Packets may be registered to the colonies and to most foreign countries for a fee of 2d. under the same regulations as for inland letters, etc. To countries in the Postal Union an acknowledgment of delivery may be obtained on payment of 2½d. at the time of posting.

RE-DIRECTION.—Re-directed letters, post cards, book packets, newspapers, and sample packets, are not subject to an additional charge unless re-posted later than the day following delivery, Sundays and public holidays excepted, after which they become liable to the same conditions as when first posted.

Book packets, post cards, newspapers, and sample packets to or from a country in the Postal Union are forwarded free, unless the full postage in the first instance has not been paid.

LETTERS FOR PASSENGERS ON BOARD MAIL PACKETS.—Letters for passengers by the Peninsular and Oriental packets sailing from Brindisi for India, China, Australia, etc., and by the Orient packets from Naples for Australia, and Brazilian packets calling at Lisbon, or for the American packets calling at Queenstown, and the packets for Canada calling at Londonderry, must be registered, and addressed thus:—"Mr —, on board the mail packet for —, care of the commander of the packet."

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN RATES OF POSTAGE.

To all destinations outside the United Kingdom, the Postage is at the following uniform rates:—

For Letters .....	2½d. every ½ oz.
„ Post Cards (each) .....	1d.
„ Newspapers, Books, and printed Papers generally .....	½d. every 2 oz.
„ Patterns and Samples .....	½d. every 2 oz., but with a minimum charge of 1d.
„ Commercial Papers ( i.e. , Documents not of the nature of personal corre- spondence) .....	½d. every 2 oz., but with a minimum charge of 2½d.

The above-named rates should in all cases be prepaid.

Note.—No packet of Newspapers, Printed Matter, or Commercial Papers for transmission to Countries of the Postal Union must exceed 18 inches in length, or 1 foot in width or depth, but if in the form of a roll,  $30 \times 4$  inches; and no such packets for other places abroad must exceed 2 feet in length or 1 foot in width or depth; the extreme limit of weight is 4 lb. for a single packet for countries in the Postal Union, and 5 lb. for other countries. Pattern and Sample Post Packets for countries in the Postal Union must not exceed 12 inches in length, 8 inches in width, 4 inches in depth,—but if in the form of a roll,  $12 \times 6$  inches,—or 8 oz. in weight, except those for the Argentine Republic, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Congo Free States, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, France, Greece, Guatemala, Hawaii, Holland, Honduras (Republic), Hungary, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Luxemburg, Mexico, Persia, Peru, Portugal, Roumania, Salvador, Servia, Siam, Spain, Switzerland, Tunis, United States, and Venezuela, the limit in weight for which is 12 oz.

FOREIGN AND COLONIAL PARCEL POST.

The sender of a parcel is required to fill up a Custom House declaration, giving an accurate statement of the contents and value, date of posting, and sender's name and address. The net weight of the various articles in a parcel should, if possible, be given, and any other particulars which would facilitate the assessment of Customs duty which is collected on delivery.

In addition to Customs duty, a charge of 6d. is made on all dutiable parcels entering Cape Colony and Natal, 1s. for British Bechuanaland, and 1s. 6d. for the Bechuanaland Protectorate, Mashonaland, Orange Free State and Transvaal. In Mexico the charge is 5 cents for 1 lb., and 1 cent. for every 4 oz. additional.

Dimensions.—For countries in Europe the dimensions must not exceed 2 feet in any direction; Canada, length 2 feet, depth or width 1 foot; other British Colonies or Possessions, also Egypt and Constantinople, length 3 feet 6 inches, length and girth combined 6 feet.

Articles in parcels must be carefully packed. Moreover such is taken into account in dealing with claims for compensation, and all parcels must be sealed.

POST-OFFICE MONEY ORDERS, POSTAL ORDERS, ETC.

INLAND MONEY ORDERS.—The rates are :—

On sums not exceeding £1. ....	2d.
Above £1 and not exceeding £2..	3d.
„ £4 „	7.5d.
„ £7 „	10..6d.

No order issued above £10.

Telegraph money order transactions are made between all offices authorised to transact telegraph and money order business at a charge of double the inland rates, and a minimum cost of 9d. for the official telegram.

The remitter of a money order has full control over the money until it is paid by the Department. A money order must be presented for payment before the end of the twelfth month, otherwise the order becomes void, nevertheless it may be paid after that period, subject to a certain deduction, on good reason being shown for the delay in presenting it. Printed forms for making application in case of miscarriage or loss of an order, or when it is desired to stop payment, or when alteration in the name of the payee is required, or transfer of payment to another office, or repayment may be obtained at any money-order office.

The charge for a duplicate order is, not exceeding £5—1s.; above £5 and not exceeding £10—2s.

Money orders not exceeding £50 are issued free of charge in favour of "The Commissioners of Inland Revenue" if for Income Tax, Inhabited House Duty, Land Tax, Excise Duties, or Legacy and Succession Duties.

FOREIGN MONEY ORDERS.—The regulations are the same as for inland orders. Money orders are issued on the undermentioned Foreign countries, British Possessions, Agencies, and Colonies, at the following rates of commission, viz.:—For sums not exceeding £2—6d.; £5—1s.; £7—1s. 6d.; £10—2s. The charge for a duplicate is the same as for an inland order. For stoppage of payment, a commission at inland rates :—

Foreign Countries.—Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Cameroons and Togo, Chili, Congo Free State, Denmark, Danish W. Indies, Dutch E. Indies, Egypt, France, German Empire, Hawaii, Holland, Hungary, Iceland, Italy, Japan, Luxemburg, New Guinea (German Protectorate), Norway, Orange Free State, Portugal (including Madeira and Azores), Roumania, Siam, Sweden, Switzerland, Transvaal, Tunis, United States.

British Agencies.—Adrianople, Beyrout, Constantinople, Panama, Salonica, Smyrna, Tangiers, and several places in Asia Minor and the Levant.

British Possessions and Colonies.—Australia, Bermuda, British Bechuanaland, Columbia, Guiana, and Honduras, Cape of Good Hope, Canada, Ceylon, Cyprus, Falkland Islands, Gambia, Gibraltar, Gold Coast, Hong-Kong (with agencies at Shanghai, Amoy, Canton, Foochow, Hankow, Hoihow, Swatow, and Ningpo), India, including Burmah, and agencies at Aden, Bagdad, Bunder, Abbas, Bushire, Bassorah, Guadur, Jask, Labuan, Linga, Muscat, and Zanzibar, Lagos, Malta, Mauritius, Mombasa and Lamu, Natal, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, New Zealand, N. Borneo, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, St Helena, Sarawak, Seychelle Islands, Sierra Leone, Straits Settlements, Tasmania, West Indies.

POSTAL ORDERS.—Postal orders are issued at all Money-Order Offices for fixed sums, for which a poundage is made, viz.:—

Order.	Poundage.
1s. and 1s. 6d.....	$\frac{1}{2}$ d.
2s., 2s. 6d., 3s., 3s. 6d., 4s., 4s. 6d., 5s., 7s. 6d., 10s., and 10s. 6d.....	1d.
15s. and 20s.....	$\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Amounts to the extent of fivepence may be made up by affixing postage stamps to the face of any one order. Perforated stamps are not accepted.

Payment of postal orders can also be obtained at Constantinople, Gibraltar, Hong-Kong, India, Malta, Newfoundland, and Straits Settlements.

Postal orders are liable to an additional poundage for every three months they remain unpaid from the date of issue.

posits of one shilling (or 12 penny stamps on an official form), or any number of pounds and shillings, from any depositor, provided the sums deposited do not exceed £50 in any year, ending 31st December, and the total amount standing in the depositor's name does not exceed £200 inclusive of interest. Subject to the limit of £200 a depositor may, besides depositing £50 in the year, make deposits for the purpose of replacing any one withdrawal previously made in the same year. Interest at the rate of £2, 10s. per cent. per annum allowed on every complete pound. When any depositor's principal and interest exceeds £200, interest will only be allowed on the sum of £200. A depositor wishing to withdraw the whole or part of his deposits should fill up a withdrawal form (procurable at any post-office savings bank), and transmit it to the Postmaster-General, who will send him a warrant by post, payable at the post-office named in his application.

Withdrawals or payments may be made by telegraph, particulars regarding which can be learned at any Telegraph Savings Bank Office. Regulations as to details are printed in the deposit-book.

INVESTMENTS IN GOVERNMENT STOCKS.—Any depositor in a savings bank who desires to invest a certain sum in Government stock must send to the Controller of the savings bank an application, signed by him on a form to be obtained at any Postal savings bank. The sum invested shall not be less than 1s., and shall not exceed £200. The whole amount of stock credited to any one account shall not exceed £500 stock. All dividends in respect of stock credited to a depositor in a savings bank shall be carried to the deposit account in like manner as interest on deposits. Any depositor desiring to sell the stock standing to his credit, or part of the stock, must send to the Controller of the savings bank, together with his deposit book and investment certificate, an application signed on a proper form. A depositor in a savings bank may obtain a stock certificate, with coupons annexed. The amount of stock for which any one stock certificate is obtainable is £100, or a multiple of £100, in the case of two and three-quarters per cent. stocks, and either £50, or a multiple of £50, in the case of other stocks. The commission chargeable on investment, including the receipt of dividends and on the sale of stock, is 9d. for stock not exceeding £25, and 6d. for every additional £25 up to £100, for £200, 2s. 9d., and for £300, 3s. 3d.

INSURANCE AND ANNUITIES.—The Act 27 and 28 Vict. c. 43, empowers the Postmaster-General to insure the lives of persons of either sex between the ages of fourteen and sixty-five for not less than £5, or more than £100; and for children between the ages of eight and fourteen for not more than £5; and also to grant immediate or deferred annuities of £1 to £100 on the lives of persons of either sex, not under five years of age. All money order offices transact insurance and annuity business. See Post towns, p. 114. For Table of Annuities and Assurance, see p. 89.

POST-OFFICE TELEGRAMS.

The charge for a telegram throughout the United Kingdom is sixpence for twelve words and under, including the names and addresses of sender and receiver; and if exceeding twelve words, one halfpenny for every additional word. Figures are counted at the rate of 5 to a word, and figures and letters combined as two words—thus 1d. is two words, and in the case of fractions the charge is made according to the number of figures employed, and one figure is added for the mark of division. In groups of figures a stop or oblique stroke is counted as a figure.

The symbols  $\frac{1}{2}$ , a/c, b/l, and c/o are each counted as one word.

Copies of a telegram directed to more than one firm or person in the same free delivery will be delivered separately at an additional charge of twopence per copy, in addition to a halfpenny for each word in the address of the copy.

The amount paid for transmission of a message covers the cost of delivery within one mile or within the town postal delivery of that office, if it is a head office, but when not a head office the message is delivered within one mile only, and when the addressee is beyond the free delivery portorage is charged at the rate of sixpence per mile or any part thereof provided the distance does not exceed three miles from the boundary of the free delivery. If beyond three miles portorage is charged at the rate of 1s. per mile for mounted messenger, except in Ireland, where the rate is usually 8d. per mile, being reckoned from the office door. If a telegram is addressed to a ship, a deposit for boat hire is required unless the ship be alongside a wharf or pier.

An abbreviated or arbitrary address can be registered for £1, 1s. a year.

A telegram may be posted at a pillar or wall letter box, and the hour at which it reached the office will be considered as the time at which it was handed in.

Redirected telegrams if retransmitted are liable to the full inland rate, but if redirected to an address in the same town delivery a charge of 6d. is made.

A list of post-towns in Scotland, with telegraph offices indicated, will be found at p. 114.

FOREIGN TELEGRAMS.

Foreign telegrams are charged for at so much a word, the maximum length of which, in ordinary European telegrams, is 15 letters, and in extra European telegrams 10 letters—any additional letters being charged for as extra words. Foreign telegrams are of two kinds, viz., plain and secret language. Those in secret language are of two classes, viz., code and cypher. In code telegrams words of more than 10 letters are not allowed, nor proper names except in their natural sense. Only English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, and Latin may be employed, but words of any or all of those languages are allowed in the same telegram. Cypher telegrams are groups of figures having a secret meaning. Telegrams of groups of letters are not accepted unless denoting trade marks in the midst of plain or preconcerted language, and are then charged for as figures. The name and address of the receiver of a message is charged, and must not consist of less than 2 words. The sender's name is also charged if sent; but if not sent, the form must be signed.

RATES OF FOREIGN TELEGRAMS.

III. STAMP AND LEGACY DUTIES, ETC.

The following is a list of Stamp Duties according to the schedule of the Stamp Act, 1891 (54 and 55 Vict. c. 39), which came into operation on 1st January 1892, with those on Patent Medicines. Generally, the items are given in the words of the schedule, and except where otherwise referred to are those of the Act. Items relating solely to England and Ireland are omitted. The duties on certain instruments under the Conveyancing Act, 1874, are given below.* In the same session was passed the Stamp Duties Management Act, 54 and 55 Vict. c. 38. Separate tables of Estate, Legacy, and Succession Duties follow.

Except where express provision is made to the contrary, all duties are to be denoted by impressed stamps only.—§ 2.

Instruments are to be so stamped that the stamp may appear on the face of the instrument, and cannot be applied to any other instrument written upon the same piece of paper.—§ 3 (1.) Every instrument on the same piece of paper is to be separately stamped.—§ 3 (2.)

Instruments relating to several distinct matters are to be separately stamped in respect of each.—§ 4 (a.) An instrument liable to ad valorem duty, if made for any other valuable consideration, is to be charged in respect of it, as if it were a separate instrument for such.—§ 4 (b.)

All the facts and circumstances affecting the liability of an instrument to ad valorem duty, or the amount of it, are to be fully and truly set forth. If not, fine on person who executes and on person concerned in the preparation, £10.—§ 5.

Every condition of sale framed to preclude objection or requisition upon ground of insufficiency of stamp upon instrument executed after 16th May 1888, and every contract, arrangement, or undertaking for assuming liability on account of insufficiency as follows:—(1.) If brought to be stamped within one year after date, £10; (2.) If so brought after one year, and within five years after date—For every complete year, and also for any additional part of a year elapsed since the date, £10; (3.) In every other case, £50.

BILL OF EXCHANGE—Payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation.....1d.

a AS TO BANK NOTES, BILLS OF EXCHANGE, AND PROMISSORY NOTES.

Interpretation of terms.—§ 29. For the purposes of Act “banker” means any person carrying on the business of banking in the United Kingdom; and “bank note” includes:—

(a.) Any bill of exchange or promissory note issued by any banker, other than the Bank of England, for the payment of money not exceeding £100 to the bearer on demand; and

(b.) Any bill of exchange or promissory note so issued which entitles or is intended to entitle the bearer or holder thereof, without endorsement, or without any further or other endorsement than may be thereon at the time of the issuing thereof, to the payment of money not exceeding £100 on demand, whether the same be so expressed or not, and in whatever form, and by whomsoever the bill or note is drawn or made.

Bank Notes may be re-issued.—§ 30. A bank note issued duly stamped, or issued unstamped by a banker duly licensed or otherwise authorized to issue unstamped bank notes, may be from time to time re-issued without being liable to any stamp duty by reason of the re-issuing.

Penalty for issuing an unstamped bank note, £50.—§ 31. (1.) If any banker, not being duly licensed or otherwise authorized to issue unstamped bank notes, issues, or permits to be issued, any bank note not being duly stamped, he shall incur a fine of £50.

For receiving, penalty £20.—(2.) If any person receives or takes in payment or as a security, any bank note knowing the same to have been issued unstamped contrary to law, he shall incur a fine of £20.

Meaning of “bill of exchange.”—§ 32. For the purposes of the Act the expression “bill of exchange” includes draft, order, cheque, and letter of credit, and any document or writing (except a bank note) entitling or purporting to entitle any person, whether named therein or not, to payment by any other person of, or to draw upon any other person for, any sum of money; and the expression bill of exchange payable on demand includes:

(a.) An order for the payment of any sum of money by a bill of exchange or promissory note, or for the delivery of any bill of exchange or promissory note, in satisfaction of any sum of money, or for the payment of any sum of money out of any particular fund which may or may not be available, or upon any condition or contingency which may or may not be performed or happen, and

(b.) An order for the payment of any sum of money weekly, monthly, or

BILL OF EXCHANGE of any other kind whatsoever (except a bank note) and PROMISSORY NOTE of any kind whatsoever (except a bank note)—drawn, or expressed to be payable, or actually paid, or endorsed, or in any manner negotiated in the U.K., where the amount or value of the

at any other stated periods, and also an order for the payment by any person at any time after the date thereof of any sum of money, and sent or delivered by the person making the same to the person by whom the payment is to be made, and not to the person to whom the payment is to be made, or to any person on his behalf.

Meaning of "promissory note."—§ 33. (1.) For the purposes of this Act, the expression "promissory note" includes any document or writing (except a bank note) containing a promise to pay any sum of money.

(2.) A note promising the payment of any sum of money out of any particular fund which may or may not be available, or upon any condition or contingency which may or may not be performed or happen, is to be deemed a promissory note for that sum of money.

The penny fixed duty may be denoted by adhesive stamps.—§ 34. (1.) The fixed duty of 1d. on a bill of exchange payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation, may be denoted by an adhesive stamp, which, where the bill is drawn in the United Kingdom, is to be cancelled by the person by whom the bill is signed before he delivers it out of his hands, custody, or power.

Ad valorem duties on foreign bills and notes to be denoted by adhesive stamps.—(2.) The ad valorem duties upon bills of exchange and promissory notes drawn or made out of the United Kingdom are to be denoted by adhesive stamps.

§ 35 (1.) Every person into whose hands any bill or note drawn or made out of the United Kingdom, comes in the United Kingdom before it is stamped shall, before he presents for payment, or indorses, transfers, or in any manner negotiates or pays the bill or note, affix thereto a proper adhesive stamp or proper adhesive stamps of sufficient amount, and cancel every stamp so affixed thereto.

Provisoes for the protection of bona fide holders.—(2.) Provided as follows:—

(a.) If at the time when any such bill or note comes into the hands of any bona fide holder there is affixed thereto an adhesive stamp effectually cancelled, the stamp shall, so far as relates to the holder, be deemed to be duly cancelled, although it may not appear to have been affixed or cancelled by the proper person.

(b.) If at the time when any such bill or note comes into the hands of any bona fide holder there is affixed thereto an adhesive stamp not duly cancelled, it shall be competent for the holder to cancel the stamp as if he were the person by whom it was affixed, and upon his so doing the bill or note shall be deemed duly stamped, and as valid and available as if the stamp had been cancelled by the person by whom it was affixed.

Not to relieve any other person.—(3.) But neither of the foregoing provisos is to relieve any person from any fine or penalty incurred by him for not cancelling an adhesive stamp.

Bills and notes purporting to be drawn, etc., abroad to be deemed to have been so drawn, etc.—§ 36. A bill of exchange or promissory note purporting to be drawn or made out of the United Kingdom is, for the purpose of determining the mode in which the stamp duty thereon is to be denoted to be deemed to have been so drawn or made, although it may in fact have been drawn or made within the United Kingdom.

Terms upon which bills and notes may be stamped after execution.—§ 37. (1.) Where a bill of exchange or promissory note has been written on material bearing an impressed stamp of sufficient amount but of improper denomination, it may be stamped with the proper stamp on payment of the duty, and a penalty of 40s. if the bill or note be not then payable according to its tenor, or of £10 if the same be so payable.

(2.) Except as aforesaid, no bill of exchange or promissory note shall be stamped with an impressed stamp after the execution thereof.

Exemptions.—Various, including:—

(2.) Draft or order by a banker in U. K. upon another banker in U. K., not payable to bearer or to order, and used solely for the purpose of settling or clearing any account between such bankers.

(3.) Letter written by a banker in U. K. to any other banker in U. K., directing the payment of any sum of money, the same not being payable to bearer or to order, and such letter not being sent or delivered to the person to whom payment is to be made, or to any person on his behalf.

(4.) Letter of credit granted in U. K. authorizing drafts to be drawn out of U. K. payable in U. K.

(6.) Warrant or order for the payment of any annuity granted by the National Debt Commissioners, or for payment of any dividend or interest on any share in Government or Parliamentary stocks or funds.

(7.) Bill drawn by any person under the authority of the Admiralty, upon and payable by the Accountant-General of the Navy.

(8.) Bill drawn (according to a form prescribed by Her Majesty's orders by any person duly authorized to draw the same) upon and payable out of any public account for any pay or allowance of the army or auxiliary forces, or for any other expenditure connected therewith.

(9.) Draft or order drawn upon any banker in the United Kingdom by an officer of a public department of the State for the payment of money out of a public account.

(10.) Bill drawn in U. K. for sole purpose of remitting money to be placed to any account of public revenue.

(11.) Coupon or warrant for interest attached to and issued with any security, or with an agreement or memorandum for renewal or extension of time for payment of a security.

[(12.) Coupon for interest on a marketable security, being one of a set of coupons, whether issued with the security or subsequently issued in a sheet—57 and 58 Vict. c. 39, § 40.]

[Indian prize money orders for any sum less than 40s.—29 and 30 Vict. c. 47, § 8, exempt.]

Penalty for issuing, etc., any unstamped bill or note, £10; and the bill or note to be unavailable.—§ 38. (1.) Every person who issues, indorses, transfers, negotiates, presents for payment, or pays any bill of exchange or promissory note liable to duty and not being duly stamped, shall forfeit the sum of £10; and the person who takes or receives from any other person any such bill or note either in payment or as a security, or by purchase or otherwise, shall not be entitled to recover thereon, or to make the same available for any purpose whatever.

Proviso as to the fixed duty.—(2.) Provided that if any bill of exchange, payable on demand, or at sight, or on presentation, is presented for payment unstamped, the person to whom it is so presented may affix thereto an adhesive stamp of one penny, and cancel the same as if he had been the drawer of the bill, and may thereupon pay the sum in the bill mentioned, and charge the duty in account against the person by whom the bill was drawn, or deduct the duty from the said sum, and the bill is, so far as respects the duty, to be deemed valid and available.

Not to relieve from penalty.—(3.) But the foregoing proviso is not to relieve any person from any fine or penalty he may have incurred in relation to such bill.

One bill only out of a set need be stamped.—§ 39. When a bill of exchange is drawn in a set according to the custom of merchants, and one of the set is duly stamped, the other or others of the set shall, unless issued or in some manner negotiated apart from the stamped bill, be exempt from duty; and upon proof of the loss or destruction of a duly stamped bill forming one of a set, any other bill of the set which has not been issued or in any manner negotiated apart from the lost or destroyed bill may, although unstamped, be admitted in evidence to prove the contents of the lost or destroyed bill.

a Meaning of "conveyance on sale."—§ 54. For purposes of Act the expression "conveyance on sale" includes every instrument, and every decree or order of any court or of any commissioners, whereby any property, or any estate or interest in any property, upon the sale thereof, is transferred to or vested in a purchaser, or any other person on his behalf or by his direction.

How ad valorem duty to be calculated in respect of stock and securities.—§ 55. (1.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of any stock or marketable security, the conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the value of the stock or security.

(2.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of any security not being a marketable security, such conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the amount due on the day of the date thereof for principal and interest upon the security.

[§ 6. (1.) (a.) Money in foreign or colonial currency, or (b.) stock or marketable security.—Duty to be calculated on value at date of instrument of money in British currency at current rate of exchange or of stock, etc., at average price thereof.]

How consideration, consisting of periodical payments, to be charged.—§ 56.

(1.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically for a definite period not exceeding twenty years, so that the total amount to be paid can be previously ascertained, the conveyance is to be charged in respect of that consideration with ad valorem duty on such total amount.

(2.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically for a definite period exceeding twenty years, or in perpetuity, or for any indefinite period not terminable with life, the conveyance is to be charged in respect of that consideration with ad valorem duty on the total amount which will or may, according to the terms of sale, be payable during the period of twenty years next after the day of the date of the instrument.

(3.) Where the consideration, or any part of the consideration, for a conveyance on sale consists of money payable periodically during any life or lives, the conveyance is to be charged in respect of that consideration with ad valorem duty on the amount which will or may, according to the terms of sale, be payable during the period of twelve years next after the day of the date of the instrument.

(4.) Provided that no conveyance on sale chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of any periodical payments, and containing also provision for securing the payments, is to be charged with any duty in respect of such provision, and no separate instrument made in that case for securing the payments is to be charged with any higher duty than 10s.

How conveyance in consideration of a debt, or subject to future payment, etc.

Council, corporation, or company, may enter into agreement with Commissioners, if Commissioners in their discretion think proper, for delivery of an account showing nominal amount of stock and funded debt, or to be charged.—§ 57. Where any property is conveyed to any person in consideration, wholly or in part, of any debt due to him, or subject either certainly or contingently to the payment or transfer of any money or stock, whether being or constituting a charge or encumbrance upon the property or not, the debt, money, or stock is to be deemed the whole or part, as the case may be, of the consideration in respect whereof the conveyance is chargeable with ad valorem duty.

Property conveyed in separate parts, but sold for one price for the whole.—§ 58. (1.) Where property contracted to be sold for one consideration for the whole, is conveyed to the purchaser in separate parts or parcels by different instruments, the consideration is to be apportioned in such manner as the parties think fit, so that a distinct consideration for each separate part or parcel is set forth in the conveyance relating thereto, and such conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of such distinct consideration.

One price and purchase for two or more persons.—(2.) Where property contracted to be purchased for one consideration for the whole by two or more persons jointly, or by any person for himself and others, or wholly for others, is conveyed in parts or parcels by separate instruments to the persons by or for whom the same was purchased for distinct parts of the consideration, the conveyance of each separate part or parcel is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the distinct part of the consideration therein specified.

Where several instruments, the principal instrument only to be charged with ad valorem duty.—(3.) Where there are several instruments of conveyance for completing the purchaser's title to the property sold, the principal instrument of conveyance only is to be charged with ad valorem duty, and the other instruments are to be respectively charged with such other duty as they may be liable to, but the last-mentioned duty shall not exceed the ad valorem duty payable in respect of the principal instrument.

Sub-sales before conveyance.—(4.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance thereof, contracts to sell the same to any other person, and the property is in consequence conveyed immediately to the sub-purchaser, the conveyance is to be charged with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration moving from the sub-purchaser. (5.) Where a person having contracted for the purchase of any property, but not having obtained a conveyance, contracts to sell the whole or any part or parts thereof to any other person or persons, and the property is in consequence conveyed by the original seller to different persons in parts or parcels, the conveyance of each part or parcel is to be charged with ad valorem duty, in respect only of the consideration moving from the sub-purchaser thereof, without regard to the amount or value of the original consideration.

Sub-purchaser obtaining a conveyance from original seller in addition to conveyance from first purchaser.—(6.) Where a sub-purchaser takes an actual conveyance of the interest of the person immediately selling to him, which is chargeable with ad valorem duty in respect of the consideration moving from him, and is duly stamped accordingly, any conveyance to be afterwards made to him of the same property by the original seller shall be chargeable only with such other duty as it may be liable to, but the last-mentioned duty shall not exceed the ad valorem duty.

Certain contracts or agreements on sale chargeable as conveyances on sale.—§ 59 (1.) Any contract or agreement, with or without clause of registration, for the sale of any equitable estate or interest in any property whatsoever, or for the sale of any estate or interest in any property, except lands or heritages, or property out of United Kingdom, or goods, wares, or merchandise, or stock, or marketable securities, or any ship or property therein, shall be charged with ad valorem duty to be paid by the purchaser, as if it amount paid up, and immediately thereafter an account shall be delivered, and a like account half-yearly in each year. (2.) Agreement to specify officer by whom accounts are to be delivered. (3.) There shall be charged on aggregate amount in every half-yearly account for every £100 and fraction thereof, 6d. Transfers of such stock and funded debt, and share warrants or stock certificates relating thereto, exempt. (4.) Duty not paid on delivery of account to be a debt to Her Majesty. (5.) In case of wilful neglect to deliver account, or pay the duty, County Council, etc., liable to pay 10 per cent. on duty, and a like sum monthly after first month while neglect continues. (6.) Where agreement entered into, County Council, etc., may, in addition to fee for registration, require payment of an amount not exceeding amount of duty payable if no agreement has been entered into. Second Schedule, First Part. (1.) Account to be in such form and contain such particulars as Commissioners require. (2.) Every account to be a full and true account of stock and funded debt existing at delivery of account, and of amount in respect whereof payment has been made if whole sums in respect thereof have not been paid. (3.) In case of company or corporation formed within United Kingdom having register abroad, account not to include stock or funded debt for time being registered abroad. (4.) In case of colonial or foreign company or corporation having register in United Kingdom, only stock or funded debt registered therein to be entered in account. (5.) When first half-yearly account delivered between two half-yearly days, duty to be charged on proportion of period. (6.) Accounts to be delivered to Commissioners within seven days before 1st February and 1st August in each year, were an actual conveyance on sale of the estate, interest, or property contracted or agreed to be sold. (2.) Where purchaser pays such duty, and before obtaining a conveyance, contracts or agrees to sell same, if consideration is in excess of original price, the agreement to be liable to ad valorem duty on such excess, and in any other case with 10s. or 6d., according as it has or has not a clause of registration. (3.) Where such ad valorem duty paid, the conveyance to purchaser or sub-purchaser, or any person by his direction, is not chargeable with any duty, and the payment of the ad valorem duty may be denoted thereon, or the duty may be transferred from the agreement to the conveyance. (4.) Provided that when contract or agreement stamped with 10s. or 6d., as case may require, the contract or agreement shall be regarded as duly stamped for the mere purpose of proceedings to enforce specific performance or recover damages for breach thereof. (5.) Provided also that where contract, etc., stamped with said fixed duty and a conveyance in conformity therewith presented within six months after first date of contract, etc., or such longer period as Commissioners think reasonable, it may be stamped with the ad valorem duty. This proviso not to alter law as to stamping conveyance after execution thereof. (6.) Provided also that the ad valorem duty on such contract, etc., shall be repaid in case it be afterwards rescinded, or not substantially performed or carried into effect so as to operate as or be followed by a conveyance.

As to the sale of an annuity or right not before in existence.—§ 60. Where upon the sale of any annuity or other right not before in existence such annuity or other right is not created by actual grant or conveyance, but is only secured by bond, warrant of attorney, covenant, contract, or otherwise, the bond or other instrument, or some one of such instruments, if there be more than one, is to be charged with the same duty as an actual grant or conveyance, and is for the purposes of this Act to be deemed an instrument of conveyance on sale.

Property vested by private Act or purchased under statutory powers.—Where (a) property is by Act vested by way of sale. Queen's printer's copy of Act or some instrument relating to vesting, duly stamped, to be produced to Commissioners of Inland Revenue within three months of passing of Act. (b.) a. Marketable Security: Definition.—§ 122. The expression "marketable security" means a security of such a description as to be capable of being sold in any stock market in the United Kingdom, and see Texas Land and Cattle Company, Limited, v. Commissioners, 9th Nov. 1888, 16 R. 69.

Meaning of marketable securities for charge of duty.—§ 82 (1.) Marketable securities for purpose of charge of duty thereon include—

(a.) A marketable security, made or issued by or on behalf of any company or body of persons, corporate or unincorporate, formed or established in the United Kingdom; and

(b.) A marketable security by or on behalf of any foreign state or government, or foreign or colonial municipal body, corporation, or company (called a foreign security), bearing date or signed after 3rd June 1862—

(i.) Which is made or issued in the United Kingdom; or

(ii.) Which, though originally issued out of the United Kingdom, has been after 6th August 1885, or is offered for subscription, and given or delivered to a subscriber in the United Kingdom; or

(iii.) Which, the interest thereon being payable in the United Kingdom, is assigned, transferred, or in any manner negotiated in the United Kingdom: and

(c.) A marketable security by or on behalf of any colonial government which, if the borrower were a foreign government, would be a foreign security (called a colonial government security).

Meaning of "Mortgage."—§ 86. (1.) For the purpose of Act the expression "mortgage" means a security by way of mortgage for the payment of any definite and certain sum of money advanced or lent at the time, or previously due and owing, or forborne to be paid, being payable, or for the repayment of money to be thereafter lent, advanced, or paid, or which may become due upon an account current, together with any sum already advanced or due, or without, as the case may be: And includes—

- (a.) Conditional surrender by way of mortgage, further charge, wadset, and heritable bond, disposition, assignation, or tack in security, and eik to a reversion of or affecting any lands, estate, or property, real or personal, heritable or moveable whatsoever: and
- (b.) Any deed containing an obligation to infest any person in an annual rent, or in lands or other heritable subjects in Scotland, under a clause of reversion, but without any personal bond or obligation therein contained for payment of the money or stock intended to be secured: and
- (c.) Any conveyance of any lands, estate, or property whatsoever in trust to be sold or otherwise converted into money, intended only as a security, and redeemable before the sale or other disposal thereof, either by express stipulation or otherwise, except where such conveyance is made for the benefit of creditors generally, or for the benefit of creditors specified who accept the provision made for payment of their debts in full satisfaction thereof, or who exceed five in number: and
- (d.) Any defeazance, letter of reversion, back bond, declaration, or other deed or writing for defeating or making redeemable or explaining or qualifying any conveyance, disposition, assignation, or tack of any lands, estate, or property whatsoever, apparently absolute but intended only as a security: and
- (e.) Any agreement (other than an agreement chargeable with duty as an equitable mortgage), contract, or bond accompanied with a deposit of title-deeds for making a mortgage, wadset, or any other security or conveyance as aforesaid of any lands, estate, or property comprised in the title-deeds, or for pledging or charging the same as a security: and
- (f.) Any deed whereby a real burden is declared or created on lands or heritable subjects in Scotland.
- (g.) Any deed operating as a mortgage of any stock or marketable security.

Meaning of "Equitable Mortgage."—(2.) For purpose of Act "equitable mortgage" means an agreement or memorandum under hand only relating to deposit of title-deeds, or instruments constituting or being evidence of the title to any property whatever (other than stock or marketable security), or creating a charge on such property.

Security for stock to be charged as a sum equal to value of it.—§ 87. (1.) A security for the transfer or retransfer of any stock is to be charged with the same duty as a similar security for a sum of money equal in amount to the value of the stock; and a transfer, assignment, disposition, or assignation of any such security, and a reconveyance, release, discharge, surrender, re-surrender, warrant to vacate, or renunciation of any such security, is to be charged with the same duty as an instrument of the same description relating to a sum of money equal in amount to the value of the stock.

Security for repayment of a sum by periodical payments, mortgage for sum.—(2.) A security for the payment of any rent charge, annuity, or periodical payments, by way of repayment, or in satisfaction or discharge of any loan, advance, or payment intended to be so repaid, satisfied, or discharged, is to be charged with the same duty as a similar security for the payment of the sum of money so lent, advanced, or paid.

ferred or previous security.—(3.) A transfer of a duly stamped security, and a security by way of further charge for money or stock, added to money or stock previously secured by a duly stamped instrument, is not to be charged with any duty by reason of its containing any further or additional security for the money or stock transferred or previously secured, or the interest or dividends thereof, or any new covenant, proviso, power, stipulation, or agreement in relation thereto, or any further assurance of the property comprised in the transferred or previous security.

As to mortgage with conveyance of equity of redemption.—(6.) An instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty as a mortgage is not to be charged with any other duty by reason of the equity of redemption in the mortgaged property being thereby conveyed or limited in any other manner than to, or in trust for, or according to the direction of, a purchaser.

Security for future advances, where limited, to be charged on amount so limited.

—§ 88. (1.) A security for the payment or repayment of money to be lent, advanced, or paid, or which may become due upon an account-current, either with or without money previously due, is to be charged, where the total amount secured or to be ultimately recoverable is in any way limited, with the same duty as a security for the amount so limited.

If not limited, available for sum stamp will cover.—(2.) Where such total amount is unlimited, the security is to be available for such an amount only as the ad valorem duty impressed thereon extends to cover, but where any advance or loan is made in excess of the amount covered by that duty, the security shall, for the purpose of stamp duty, be deemed to be a new and separate instrument, bearing date on the day on which the advance or loan is made.

Advances for insurance not liable.—(3.) Provided that no money to be advanced for the insurance of any property comprised in the security against damage by fire, or for keeping up any policy of life insurance comprised in the security, or for effecting in lieu thereof any new policy, or for the renewal of any grant or lease of any property comprised in the security upon the dropping of any life whereon the property is held, shall be reckoned as forming part of the amount in respect whereof the security is chargeable with ad valorem duty.

agreed to be made, or is evidenced; and the expression "insurance" includes assurance.

SEA INSURANCE.—§ 92. (1.) For purposes of Act the expression "policy of sea insurance" means any insurance (including re-insurance) made upon any ship, or the machinery, tackle, or furniture of any ship, or upon goods, merchandise, or property on board of any ship, or upon the freight or other interest which may be lawfully insured in or relating to any ship, and includes insurance of goods, etc., for transit, which includes not only sea risk, but also any other risk incidental to the transit insured from commencement of transit to ultimate destination covered by insurance.

(2.) Where any person, in consideration of money paid or to be paid for additional freight or otherwise, agrees to take upon himself any risk attending goods, etc., while on board any ship, or to indemnify the owner of such goods, etc., from any risk, loss, or damage, such agreement shall be deemed a contract for sea insurance.

Contract to be in writing, time policy not to be for more than twelve months, etc.—§ 93. (1.) A contract for sea insurance (other than such insurance as is referred to in § 55 of Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862) not to be valid unless expressed in a policy of sea insurance.

(2.) No time policy to be for more than twelve months.

(3.) Policy not valid unless it specifies particular risk or adventure, names of subscribers or underwriters, and sum insured, and is made for not more than twelve months.

Policy for voyage and time, two duties.—§ 94. Where insurance made for a voyage and also for time, or to extend to or cover any time beyond thirty days after ship shall have arrived at her destination, and been there moored at anchor, the policy is to be charged with duty as a policy for a voyage, and also with duty as a policy for time.

Policy invalid unless stamped.—§ 95. (1.) Policy may not be stamped after being signed or underwritten by any one, except—

(a.) Any policy of mutual insurance having a stamp impressed thereon may, if required, be stamped with an additional stamp, provided that at the time when the additional stamp is required the policy has not been signed or underwritten to an amount exceeding the sum or sums which the duty impressed thereon extends to cover.

(b.) Any policy made or executed out of, but being in any manner enforceable within, the United Kingdom, may be stamped within ten days after it has been first received in the United Kingdom on payment of the duty only.

(2.) Provided that a sea policy shall, for the purpose of production in evidence, be an instrument which may be legally stamped after execution, and the penalty payable by law on stamping shall be £100.

Alteration of policies.—§ 96. Nothing in Act shall prohibit any lawful alteration in terms and conditions of a sea policy after it has been underwritten, provided alteration be made before intimation of determination of original risk, and that it do not prolong time covered by the insurance thereby made beyond six months in the case of a policy made for less than six months, or beyond twelve months in the case of a policy for a greater period than six months, and that the articles insured remain the property of the same person, and that no additional sum be insured.

Penalty.—§ 97 (1.) If any person—

(a.) Becomes an assurer, or contracts for sea insurance, or directly or indirectly receives or contracts or takes credit in account for any premium, etc., for sea insurance, or knowingly takes upon himself any risk, or renders himself liable to pay, or pays, any sum upon any loss, peril, or contingency relative to sea insurance, unless expressed in a duly stamped policy, or

(c.) Is concerned in any fraudulent contrivance or device, or is guilty of any wilful act, neglect, or omission, with intent to evade the duties on sea policies, or whereby the duties may be evaded, he shall for every such offence incur a fine of £100.

Penalty on broker transacting without stamped policy.—(2.) Every broker, agent, or other person negotiating or transacting sea insurance contrary to intent and meaning of Act, or writing a policy on material not duly stamped, shall for every such offence forfeit £100, and to have no legal claim to brokerage, etc., or for money expended by him, and any money paid to him in respect of any such charge shall be deemed to be paid without consideration, and remain property of his employer.

Penalty for making or issuing copy of unstamped policy.—(3.) Person making, or issuing, or causing to be made or issued, a document purporting to be a copy of a sea policy, and there is not at the time a policy duly stamped whereof said document is a copy, shall, in addition to other fine to which he may be liable, incur a fine of £100.

LIFE AND ACCIDENT INSURANCE POLICIES, Meaning of.—§ 98. (1.) For purpose of Act the expression “policy of life insurance” means a policy of insurance upon any life or lives, or upon any event or contingency relating to or depending upon any life or lives, except a policy of insurance against accident; and the expression “policy of insurance against accident” means a policy of insurance for any payment agreed to be made upon the death of any person only from accident, or violence, or otherwise than from a natural cause, or as compensation for personal injury, and includes any Notice or Advertisement in a newspaper or other publication which purports to insure the payment of money upon the death of or injury to the holder, etc., only from accident or violence, etc. [or payment to be made during the sickness of any person or his incapacity from personal injury.—58 and 59 Vict. c. 16, § 13.]

Penny adhesive stamp for policy other than sea or life.—§ 99. Duty of one penny on a policy, other than sea or life, may be denoted by adhesive stamp, to be cancelled by person by whom policy first executed.

Composition for stamp duty on accident policies.—§ 116. Where impracticable or inexpedient to require payment of duty of 1d. on each policy of insurance against accident, quarterly accounts may be rendered to Inland Revenue of sums paid in respect of premiums, and duty at £5 per cent. paid in respect thereof.

Penalty.—§ 100. Every person who—

(1.) Receives, or takes credit for, any premium, etc., for any insurance other than sea, and does not within one month thereafter make out and execute a duly stamped policy; or (2.) makes, executes, or delivers out, or pays, or allows in account, or agrees to pay or allow in account any money in respect of any policy not duly stamped, shall incur a fine of £20.

Assignment of life policy invalid unless duly stamped, and stamp duty and penalty to be a debt to Crown by person paying under unstamped assignment.

—§ 118. (1.) Assignment of life policy not to confer on assignee, etc., right to sue for or give a valid discharge unless duly stamped, and no payment to be made to person claiming under assignment not duly stamped.

(2.) If any payment made in contravention of this section, the stamp duty not paid on assignment, with the penalty for stamping, to be a debt to Her Majesty from person by whom payment made.

Instrument first executed abroad may be stamped within thirty days after being first received in the U. K., on payment of the unpaid duty only. — § 15 (3.) (a.)

(See Note a.)

Board may remit penalties. The Commissioners may, if they think fit, remit the penalty or penalties, or any part thereof. — § 15 (3.) (b.)

(See Note b.)

Unstamped or insufficiently stamped instruments produced in Court, if duty and penalty be paid to officer of Court, may be received in evidence.—

§ 14. (1.) Upon the production of an instrument chargeable with any duty as evidence in any court of civil judicature in any part of the United Kingdom, or before any arbitrator or referee, notice shall be taken by the judge, arbitrator, or referee, of any omission or insufficiency of the stamp thereon, and if the instrument is one which may legally be stamped after the execution thereof, it may, on payment to the officer of the court, whose duty it is to read the instrument, or the arbitrator or referee, of the amount of the unpaid duty, and the penalty payable on stamping the same, and of a further sum of £1, be received in evidence, saving all just exceptions on other grounds.

The provision applies to sea policies, but penalty is £100, and a further sum of £1, § 95 (2.)

The officer of the Court, etc., to account for duty and penalties.—(2.) The officer, arbitrator, or referee receiving the said duty and penalty shall give a receipt for the same, and make an entry in a book kept for that purpose of the payment and of the amount thereof, and shall communicate to the Commissioners the name or title of the proceeding in which, and of the party from whom, he received the duty and penalty, and the date and description of the instrument, and shall pay over to such person as the Commissioners may appoint, the money received by him for the duty and penalty.

Commissioners to stamp instrument.—

(3.) Upon production to the Commissioners of any instrument in respect of which any duty or penalty has been paid as aforesaid, together with the receipt of the said officer, the payment of such duty and penalty shall be denoted on such instrument accordingly.

ADJUDICATION.

DOUBTS AS TO SUFFICIENCY OF STAMPS
MAY BE REMOVED.

Commissioners may be required to express their opinion as to duty. Mode and effect of proceeding.—§ 12.

(1.) Subject to such regulations as Commissioners may think fit to make, Commissioners may be required by any person to express their opinion with reference to any executed instrument upon the following questions:

(a.) Whether it is chargeable with any duty:

(b.) With what amount of duty it is chargeable.

(2.) Commissioners to be furnished with an abstract of instrument, and such evidence as they deem neces-

a But policies of sea insurance made or executed out of the United Kingdom can only be stamped within ten days after being received in this country (95) (1.) (b).

b Instruments to have stamps impressed are received at the Cashier's Office, No. 4 Inland Revenue, Edinburgh, to be stamped, if within thirty (Agreements fourteen) days of the first date (the solicitor may in certain circumstances, and if not liable to ad valorem duty, receive them within thirty (or fourteen) days of the last date), on payment of the duty; if beyond that date, they are received at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5, and are stamped on payment of the duty and penalty. Persons applying will be furnished with a schedule to be filled up and presented along with the instrument. The amount of duty sought to be impressed is to be inserted in the schedule by the applicant before being presented, and the duty is to be paid at the time of the application.

nary to show whether facts and circumstances affecting liability to duty fully and truly set forth.

(3.) If the Commissioners are of opinion that the instrument is not chargeable with any duty, such instrument may be stamped with a particular stamp denoting that it is not chargeable with any duty.

(4.) If Commissioners are of opinion that the instrument is chargeable with duty, they shall assess the duty with which it is in their opinion chargeable, and if or when instrument is duly stamped in accordance with assessment of the Commissioners, it may be also stamped with a particular stamp denoting that it is duly stamped.

(5.) Every instrument stamped with the particular stamp denoting either that it is not chargeable with any duty, or is duly stamped, shall be admissible in evidence, and available for all purposes, notwithstanding any objection relating to duty.

(6.) Provided as follows:—

(a.) Instrument to be stamped according to opinion.—An instrument upon which the duty has been assessed by the Commissioners shall not, if it is unstamped or insufficiently stamped, be stamped otherwise than in accordance with the assessment.

(b.) Securities without limit not to be adjudicated.—Nothing in this section contained extends to any instrument chargeable with ad valorem duty, and made as a security for money or stock without limit, or shall authorise the stamping after the execution thereof of any instrument which by law cannot be stamped after execution.

(c.) A statutory declaration made for the purpose of this section shall not be used against any person making the same in any proceeding whatever, except in an inquiry as to the duty with which the instrument to which it relates is chargeable; and every person by whom any such declaration is made shall, on payment of the duty chargeable upon the instrument to which it relates, be relieved from any fine or disability to which he may be liable, by reason of the omission to state truly in the instrument any fact or circumstance as aforesaid.

Person dissatisfied may appeal.—§ 13.

(1.) Any person who is dissatisfied with the assessment of the Commissioners, may, within twenty-one days after the date of the assessment, and on payment of duty in conformity therewith, appeal against the assessment to H.M. Court of Exchequer, and may for that purpose require the Commissioners to state and sign a case, setting forth the question upon which their opinion was required, and the assessment made by them.

Mode of proceeding.—(2.) The Commissioners shall thereupon state and sign a case accordingly, and deliver the same to the person by whom it is required, and the case may within seven days thereafter be set down by him for hearing.

(3.) Upon the hearing of the case the court shall determine the question submitted, and, if the instrument in question is in the opinion of the court chargeable with any duty, shall assess the duty with which it is chargeable.

(4.) If it is decided by the court that the assessment of the Commissioners is erroneous, any excess of duty which may have been paid in conformity with the erroneous assessment, together with any fine or penalty which may have been paid in consequence thereof, shall be ordered by the court to be repaid to the appellant, with or without costs as the court may determine.

(5.) If the assessment of the Commissioners is confirmed, the court may make an order for payment to the Commissioners of the costs incurred by them in relation to the appeal.

(See Note a.)

a Instruments are received for adjudication at the Solicitor's Office, Inland Revenue Office, Edinburgh, on the same conditions as to duty and penalty as instruments to be stamped merely. The schedule (the duty to be impressed not being inserted), the instrument after execution, and an abstract giving the substance of the provisions, particularly dates and sums, and a reference to the part of the deed on which each commences, are to be left at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5, any day between 10 and 2 o'clock. Between 10 and 12 o'clock on Thursday following, a person, who can give explanation, must call, and he should be prepared to pay the proper duty and penalty, if any, to the Cashier, No. 3, Lobby. The Board of Inland Revenue have granted the privilege to the solicitors in Glasgow, Dundee, Aberdeen, Perth,

DENOTING STAMPS.

§ 11. Where the duty with which an instrument is chargeable depends in any manner upon the duty paid upon another instrument, the payment of the last-mentioned duty shall, upon application to the Commissioners and production of both the instruments, be denoted (upon the first-mentioned instrument) in such manner as the Commissioners think fit.

LICENSE TO SELL STAMPS.

Persons selling stamps must have a license from the Commissioners of Inland Revenue. License to specify full name and place of abode, and shop, etc., where stamps are to be sold. Security for £100 to be granted. If by Bond, etc., bond to be exempt from duty. One license and one bond for any number of persons in partnership, and license may be revoked at any time. Name and "licensed to sell stamps" to be painted in letters not less than an inch in length outside shop, etc. Penalty for selling without license, £20. On termination of license, licensee or his representatives may recover value of stamps less discount. Penalty for hawking stamps (whether person licensed or not), £20. Person in employment of Post Office may sell postage stamps at any place and in any manner. Discount to be allowed as Treasury direct.—(54 and 55 Vict. c. 38, §§ 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8.)

DISCOUNT ON THE PURCHASE OF STAMPS.

The following discounts are allowed on the purchase of stamps at the Inland Revenue Office, Edinburgh (54 and 55 Vict. c. 38, § 8).

On — (1.) Impressed penny Inland Revenue and impressed bills (not exceeding 1s. each) for a minimum purchase of £10 worth, or where material brought to be stamped—£20 worth—1s. for every complete £5 worth.

(2.) Impressed bills (exceeding 1s. each), foreign bills and deeds, for a minimum purchase of £50 worth, 1s. for every complete £5 worth.

(3.) Transfers (where forms are supplied by purchaser) to licensed vendors only, and for a minimum purchase of £50 worth, 1s. for every complete £5 worth.

Discount under head (1.) is also allowed at the office of a distributor or sub-distributor of stamps to licensed vendors only, and on purchases out of stock.

Discount is not allowed on—

- (a.) Stamps of £10 and upwards.
- (b.) Stamps to be impressed on appropriated forms (except cheques and certain bills of lading).
- (c.) Stamps to be impressed on executed instruments.

ALLOWANCE FOR SPOILED STAMPS.

STAMP DUTIES MANAGEMENT ACT, 1891
(54 and 55 Vict. c. 38).

Procedure for obtaining Allowance.

—§ 9. Subject to such regulations as the Commissioners may think proper to make, and to the production of such evidence by statutory declaration or otherwise as the Commissioners may require, allowance is to be made by the Commissioners for stamps spoiled in the cases hereinafter mentioned; (that is to say)—

- (1.) The stamp on any material inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled, obliterated, or by any means rendered unfit for the purpose intended, before the material bears the signature of any person or any instrument written thereon is executed by any party;
- (2.) Any adhesive stamp which has been inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled or rendered unfit for use, and has not in the opinion of the Commissioners been affixed to any material;
- (3.) Any adhesive stamp representing a fee capable of being collected by means of such stamp which has been a Instruments requiring to be impressed with the denoting stamp to render them valid may be lodged at the Solicitor's Office, No. 5 Inland Revenue, Edinburgh, any day between 10 and 2 o'clock. The principal instrument, as well as the subordinate instrument, must be lodged, and both must appear to be properly stamped.

Greenock, Stirling, Paisley, Dumbarton, Dumfries, Arbroath, and Elgin to forward instruments for adjudication direct to the Solicitor. Forms of schedule may be obtained at the offices of the Distributors of Stamps in these towns.

affixed to material, provided that a certificate from the proper officer is produced to the effect that the stamp should be allowed.

(4.) The stamp on any bill of exchange signed by or on behalf of the drawer which has not been accepted or made use of in any manner whatever or delivered out of his hands for any purpose other than by way of tender for acceptance.

(5.) The stamp on any promissory note signed by or on behalf of the maker which has not been made use of in any manner whatever or delivered out of his hands.

(6.) The stamp on any bill of exchange or promissory note which from any omission or error has been spoiled or rendered useless, although the same, being a bill of exchange, may have been accepted or indorsed, or, being a promissory note, may have been delivered to the payee, provided that another completed and duly stamped bill of exchange or promissory note is produced identical in every particular, except in the correction of the error or omission, with the spoiled bill or note :

(7.) The stamp used for any of the following instruments; that is to say—

(a.) An instrument executed by any party thereto, but afterwards found to be absolutely void from the beginning :

(b.) An instrument executed by any party thereto, but afterwards found unfit, by reason of any error or mistake therein, for the purpose originally intended :

(c.) An instrument executed by any party thereto which has not been made use of for any purpose whatever, and which, by reason of the inability or refusal of some necessary party to sign the same or to complete the transaction according to the instrument, is incomplete and insufficient for the purpose for which it was intended :

(d.) An instrument executed by any party thereto, which by reason of the refusal of any person to act under the same, or for want of enrolment or registration within the time required by law, fails of the intended purpose or becomes void :

(e.) An instrument executed by any party thereto which is inadvertently and undesignedly spoiled, and in lieu whereof another instrument made between the same parties and for the same purpose is executed and duly stamped, or which becomes useless in consequence of the transaction intended to be thereby effected being effected by some other instrument duly stamped :

(a.) That the application for relief is made within six months after the stamp has been spoiled or become useless, or in the case of an executed instrument after the date of the instrument, or, if it is not dated, within six months after the execution thereof by the person by whom it was first or alone executed, or within such further time as the Commissioners may prescribe in the case of any instrument sent abroad for execution, or when from unavoidable circumstances any instrument for which another has been substituted cannot be produced within the said period ;

(b.) That in the case of an executed instrument no legal proceeding has been commenced in which the instrument could or would have been given or offered in evidence, and that the instrument is given up to be cancelled ;

(c.) That in the case of stamps used for medicines or playing cards, the medicines or cards bearing the stamps are produced to an officer and the stamps are removed therefrom in his presence.

Allowance for Misused Stamps.—

§ 10. When any person has inadvertently used for an instrument liable to duty a stamp of greater value than was necessary, or has inadvertently used a stamp for an instrument not liable to any duty, the Commissioners may, on application made within six months after the date of the instrument, or, if it is not dated, within six months after the execution thereof by the person by whom it was first or alone executed, and upon the instrument, if liable to duty, being stamped with the proper duty, cancel and allow as spoiled the stamp so misused.

Allowance, how to be made.—§ 11.

In any case in which allowance is made for spoiled or misused stamps the Commissioner may give in lieu thereof other stamps of the same denomination and value, or if required, and they think proper, stamps of any other denomination to the same amount in value, or in their discretion, the same value in money, deducting therefrom the discount allowed on the purchase of stamps of the like description.

Stamps not wanted may be repurchased by the Commissioners.—§ 12. When any person is possessed of a stamp which has not been spoiled or rendered unfit or useless for the purpose intended, but for which he has no immediate use, the Commissioners may, if they think fit, repay to him the value of the stamp in money, deducting the proper discount, upon his delivering up the stamp to be cancelled, and proving to their satisfaction that it was purchased by him at the chief office or at one of the head offices, or from some person duly appointed to sell and distribute stamps, or duly licensed to deal in stamps, within the period of six months next preceding the application, and with a bonâ fide intention to use it.

ESTATE DUTY,

Including the Further or "Settlement Estate Duty," 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, Part I.

Estate duty is payable on the principal value of all property, heritable and moveable, and proceeds and investments thereof, settled and unsettled, which passes on the death of a person dying after 1st August 1894, either immediately or after an interval, or at a period ascertainable by reference to death, either certainly or contingently, and either originally or by way of substitutive limitation, including all property—

(a.) Of which deceased at his death was competent to dispose;

NOTE.—A person is deemed competent to dispose of property if he has such an estate or interest therein, or such general power as would, if he were sui juris, enable him to dispose of the property (including an institute or heir of entail in possession, whether sui juris or not); and the expression "general power," includes every power or authority enabling the donee or other holder thereof to appoint or dispose of property as he thinks fit, whether exercisable by instrument inter vivos, or by will, or both, including a general power to charge money on property, but exclusive of any power exercisable in a fiduciary capacity under a disposition not made by himself, or as mortgagee;

(b.) In which deceased or any other person had an interest, ceasing on death of deceased—to extent to which a benefit accrues thereby; except where the interest is as holder of an office or recipient of a charity;

(c.) Taken as donationes mortis causâ, or gifts inter vivos made within a year of death, or whenever made if immediate possession and enjoyment has not been assumed by donee, and thenceforth retained to exclusion of donor or benefit to him;

(d.) Which deceased has transferred to himself and any other person jointly, by disposition or otherwise, including a purchase or investment alone, or in concert with another, so that the beneficial interest therein, or in some

a The Inland Revenue Office, No. 10 Waterloo Place, Edinburgh, is open for the allowance of spoiled stamps every day except Saturday, from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M. (Saturday, 10 to 12). The distributors, most of the sub-distributors of stamps, and certain postmasters, also receive spoiled stamps for allowance.

A supply of forms of affidavit is kept at the Inland Revenue Office, and by the distributors of stamps, and by most of the sub-distributors and certain postmasters; and claimants may attend at the Inland Revenue Office and have the affidavits taken; or they may take the oath before a justice of the peace, and shortly afterwards lodge the affidavits and the stamps with any of the above officers. If not brought within ten days or a fortnight afterwards the stamp will not be allowed without a fresh affidavit. If the claim be lodged at Edinburgh, a ticket is issued stating that application is to be made for information as to the result of such claim after the next Monday, and within six weeks from the date of the ticket. If the claim be lodged with a distributor, or sub-distributor, or postmaster, a ticket is issued stating that application is to be made regarding such claim after a specified date, and within six weeks from the date of the ticket. If application not made within that time, the claim will be forfeited, and no excuse will be accepted.

The stamps must be presented for allowance within six months after being spoiled. In all cases the stamps must be delivered up to be cancelled.

part thereof, passes by survivorship to such other person ;

(e.) Passing under any settlement by deed or instrument not taking effect as a will, whether made for valuable consideration or not between settler and any other person, or any trust in writing or otherwise whereby an interest for life, or other period determinable by reference to death, is reserved expressly or by implication to the settler, or whereby he may have reserved the right, by the exercise of any power, to restore to himself, or to reclaim the absolute interest therein, or in proceeds thereof ;

(f.) Proceeds of life policies kept up by deceased for benefit of a donee, whether nominee or assignee, or part thereof in proportion to premiums paid by him, where partially kept up ;

(g.) Annuities (other than a single annuity not exceeding £25, or the first granted of two or more such), or other interest purchased or provided by deceased alone or in concert with any other, to extent of beneficial interest accruing by survivorship or otherwise on death of deceased ;

(h.) "Property comprised in any special assignation or disposition taking effect on death."

ENTAILED ESTATE.

Where an entailed estate passes on death of deceased to an institute or heir of entail, not entitled to disentail without obtaining one or more consents, or having those consents valued or dispensed with, Settlement Estate Duty [see p. 177], as well as Estate Duty, is payable ; but neither Estate Duty nor Settlement Estate Duty is again payable until such estate is disentailed, or until an heir of entail to whom it passes on or subsequent to the death of the institute or heir first mentioned, and who is entitled to disentail without obtaining consent or having the consent valued and dispensed with, dies.

An institute or heir of entail in possession of an entailed estate, not entitled to disentail such estate without obtaining one or more consents, or having those consents valued and dispensed with, paying estate duty, and afterwards disentailing, may deduct from the value in money of the expectancy or interest in such estate of the persons whose consents were granted or dispensed with, a proper rateable part of the duty paid by him.

PROPERTY ABROAD.

Charge confined to moveable property, of which the owner dies domiciled in United Kingdom, or to property in which deceased was interested for life, and which was subject of a British trust.

Property in a British Possession.—If duty in respect thereof also payable there, a sum equal to the amount may be deducted from the Estate Duty, provided that in such possession no duty is chargeable in respect of property situate in the United Kingdom, or allowance is made of any duty payable in the United Kingdom. This provision applies to such British possessions as are from time to time brought within its scope by order in Council.

EXCEPTIONS.

Trust property.—Not liable if held by deceased for another person under a disposition not made by deceased, or made by him more than a year before death, and possession and enjoyment bonâ fide assumed by beneficiary immediately on creation of trust, and thenceforth retained to entire exclusion of deceased or of benefit to him.

Bonâ fide purchase from person under whose disposition property passes, or determination of an annuity for lives—duty not payable where purchase made or annuity granted for full consideration in money or money's worth to vendor or grantor for his own use or benefit. Where purchase made or annuity granted for partial consideration, value of consideration to be allowed as a deduction from value of property for purpose of duty.

Estate duty not payable on the property of common seamen, marines, or soldiers, dying in Her Majesty's service ; nor

On any pension or annuity by Indian Government to widow or child of a deceased officer of such Government.

Treasury may remit duty on art, or scientific collections appearing to them of national, scientific, or historic interest, given for national purposes, or to a university, or county council, or municipal corporation.

Where husband or wife entitled, solely or jointly, to income of property settled by the other under a disposition taking effect before 2nd August 1894, and on his or her death survivor becomes entitled to the income of the property settled by such survivor, duty is not payable in respect of that property until the death of the survivor.

Estate duty is not payable on the deceased's death in respect of moveable property settled by a will or disposition made by a person dying before the 2nd August 1894, in respect of which property, inventory, or account duty has been paid, or is payable, unless in either case deceased, at the time of his death, or at any time since the will or disposition took effect, had been competent to dispose of the property.

[See also Limitation for Liability, p. 178.]

AGGREGATION—ESTATE BY ITSELF.

All property passing on a death to form one estate, on which duty to be levied at the proper graduated rate on principal value. Property to be aggregated, and duty thereon levied not more than once on the same death. Provided that property in which deceased never had an interest, or which, under a disposition not made by him, passes immediately on his death to some person other than wife, husband, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant of deceased, is to be an estate by itself, on which duty payable at proper graduated rate. But if any benefit under a disposition not made by deceased is reserved or given to wife, husband, lineal ancestor, or lineal descendant of deceased, such benefit to be aggregated for determining rate of duty.

Small estates not exceeding £1000 net.—Where net value of property, heritable and moveable, exclusive of property settled otherwise than by the will of the deceased, does not exceed £1000, such property is not to be aggregated with any other property, but is to form an estate by itself.

SETTLED PROPERTY—SETTLEMENT ESTATE DUTY.

Where property liable to duty is settled by will of deceased, or having been settled by some other disposition, passes under it on death of deceased to some person not competent to dispose thereof, a further duty, called Settlement Estate Duty, is payable on the principal value, except where the only life interest in such property after deceased's death is that of the husband or wife of deceased, or where the disposition took effect before 2nd August 1894. Property in which wife or husband of deceased takes an estate of Terce or Courtesy, or other like estate, is to be treated as property settled by will of deceased.

Provided—(a.) Estate Duty and Settlement Estate Duty are not payable twice under the same settlement, unless deceased at his death was, or at any time during continuance of settlement had been, competent to dispose of the property;

(b.) Where the interests of any person under the settlement fails or determines by reason of his death before it becomes an interest in possession, and subsequent limitations under the settlement continue to subsist, the property is not deemed to pass on his death;

(c.) Ad valorem stamp duty on settlement may be deducted from Settlement Estate Duty;

(d.) Settlement Estate Duty not payable where lands or chattels are so settled by Act of Parliament or royal grant that no one of persons entitled in succession can alienate the same;

(e.) Settled property does not include property held under entail.—See Entailed Estate, supra.

PERSONS LIABLE—HOW PAYABLE—LIMITATION OF LIABILITY.

Executor or Intromitter—Inventory.—Every person who, as executor, nearest of kin, creditor, or otherwise, intromits with, or enters upon the possession or management of, any personal property wheresoever situate, of which deceased, at his death, was competent to dispose, is to pay the duty thereon, on exhibiting and recording in the proper sheriff court, within six months of the death, an inventory (or additional or corrective inventory) of deceased's estate [Forms A, B, and D 1] and may pay, in like manner, the duty on any other property passing on such death, which, by virtue of any testamentary disposition of the deceased, is under his control, or in the case of property not under his control, if the persons accountable for the duty thereon request him to make such payment. He may state on inventory that he does not know amount or value of certain property which passed on the death, and undertake, as soon as ascertained, to pay duty thereon, and any further duty payable by reason thereof on the other property in the inventory.

Executor is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, to specify in appropriate accounts annexed to the inventory (Form A 1) all the property in respect of which duty is payable upon the death of deceased, whether he is or is not accountable for the duty thereon. He shall not be liable for duty in excess of assets received by him, or which, but for his neglect or default, he might have received.

Other persons liable.—Where executor not liable for duty, every person to whom any property passes for any beneficial interest in possession, and also, to the extent of the property actually received or disposed of by him, every trustee, tutor, curator, judicial factor, or other person in whom any interest in the property, or the management thereof, is at any time vested, and every person, in whom the same is vested in possession by alienation or other derivative title, is liable therefor, excepting one who acts merely as agent for another in the management.

A bond fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice is not liable for duty.

Limitation for liability.—The various limitations in favour of purchasers and mortgagees, etc., under 52 Vict. cap. 7, §§ 12-14, are made applicable to Estate Duty [See Succession Duty, p. 184]. After 20 years from the death Commissioners may, on application, remit any duty unpaid or interest thereon in whole or in part.

Account.—Duty, so far as not paid by executor, is collected upon an Account (Forms C 1, C 2, C 3, and C 4) setting forth the particulars of the property, to be delivered within six months after the death.

VALUE—DEDUCTIONS—REPAYMENT.

The principal value of property is the price which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, it would fetch if sold in the open market at the time of deceased's death. The value is to be ascertained by the Commissioners in such manner, and by such means, as they think fit. Permission to be given to person authorised by Commissioners to inspect property. Where Commissioners require valuation to be made by a person named by them, reasonable costs of such to be defrayed by them. Provided that in the case of agricultural property (including agricultural land, pastures, woodland, and such cottages, farm buildings, farm houses, and mansion houses, and such lands occupied therewith, as are appropriate to the property), where no part of the principal value is due to the expectation of an increased income, the principal value shall not exceed twenty-five times the annual value, as assessed under Schedule A of the Income Tax Acts, after making such deductions as have not been allowed in that assessment, and are allowed under the Succession Duty Act, 1853, and making a deduction for expenses of management not exceeding five per cent. of the annual value so assessed.

Cesser of an interest.—The value of the benefit accruing from the cesser of an interest in property by death of deceased is the principal value of the property, where the interest extended to the whole income of the property; but where it extended to less than the whole income it is the principal value of an addition to the property equal to the income to which the interest extended.

Crown entails.—Lands or chattels, so settled by Act of Parliament or royal grant that no one of persons successively entitled can alienate the same,—property passing on death of any person in possession is the interest of his successor, and to be valued as for succession duty.

DEBTS AND FUNERAL EXPENSES.

Allowance against the gross principal value is made for reasonable funeral expenses, and for debts and incumbrances (including debts secured on heritage) incurred or created by the deceased bond fide for full consideration in money or money's worth, wholly for his own use and benefit, and taking effect out of his interest.

No allowance can be made for any debt in respect whereof there is a right to reimbursement from any other estate or person, unless such reimbursement cannot be obtained.

An allowance is not made, in the first instance, for debts due from deceased to persons resident out of the United Kingdom (unless contracted to be paid in the United Kingdom, or charged on property situate within the United Kingdom), except out of the value of any personal property of the deceased situate out of United Kingdom on which duty is paid, and no repayment of duty is made in respect of any such debts, except to extent to which the personal property in foreign country or colony where creditor resided is insufficient for payment.

Repayment of duty in respect of such debts, so far as not allowed for in inventory, may be claimed within three years of recording inventory.

Overpayment of duty.—Where Commissioners satisfied that too much duty paid, excess to be repaid, and, if overpayment due to overvaluation by Commissioners, with interest at 3 per cent.

Foreign property—expenses.—Where Commissioners satisfied that any additional expense in administering or realising foreign property is incurred by reason of its being situate out of the United Kingdom, an allowance for such expense, not exceeding 5 per cent. on the value, is made.

Foreign duties.—Where Commissioners satisfied that by reason of deceased's death any duty in respect of foreign property is payable in the country where the property is situate, an allowance of the amount of that duty is made from the value of the property.

INTEREST IN EXPECTANCY.

Where an estate includes an interest in expectancy (including an estate in reversion, and every other future interest, vested or contingent, but not including reversions expectant on the determination of leases), duty in respect of that interest is to be paid, at the option of the person accountable, either with the duty on the rest of the estate, or when the interest falls into possession. If duty not paid with the duty on the rest of the estate, then for the purpose of determining the rate of duty in respect of the rest of the estate, the value of the interest is to be its value at the date of the death of the deceased. The rate of duty upon the interest, when it falls into possession, is to be calculated according to its value at that time, together with the value of the rest of the estate as previously ascertained.

Commutation.—The Commissioners, in their discretion, upon application by a person entitled to an interest in expectancy, may commute the duty which would become payable in respect of such interest for a sum to be presently paid, and for determining that sum they shall put a present value upon that duty, regard being had to the contingencies affecting the liability to, and rate and amount of, such duty, and interest being reckoned at 3 per cent.

Bonâ fide sale.—Where an interest in expectancy has, before 2nd August 1894, been bonâ fide sold or mortgaged for full consideration in money or money's worth, no other duty is payable by the purchaser or mortgagee when the interest falls into possession than would have been payable if Act had not been passed, and in the case of a mortgage, any higher duty payable by the mortgagor is to rank as a charge subsequent to that of the mortgagee.

WHEN DUE—ADDITIONAL DUTY—INTEREST.

Due.—The duty which is to be collected on an inventory or account is due on the delivery thereof, or at the expiration of six months from the death, whichever first happens.

Income.—Every estate is to include all income accrued upon the property down to the date of deceased's death.

Additional duty.—Duty is, in the first instance, calculated at the appropriate rate according to the value of the estate, as set forth in inventory or account, but if afterwards it appears that for any reason too little duty has been paid, the additional duty is payable, and is treated as duty in arrear, unless a certificate of discharge delivered.

Interest.—Interest at 3 per cent. per annum on the estate duty is payable from the date of death up to the date of delivery of the inventory or account, or the expiration of six months after the death, whichever first happens, and is to form part of the estate duty.

Small estates.—Interest not charged on fixed duty of 30s. or 50s. if paid within twelve months after death.

Heritable estate.—The duty upon an account of heritable property may, at the option of the person delivering the account, be paid by eight equal yearly instalments or sixteen half-yearly instalments, with interest at the rate of 3 per cent. from the date at which the first instalment is due, less income tax, and the first instalment is to be due at the expiration of twelve months from the death, and the interest on the unpaid portion of the duty is to be added to each instalment and paid accordingly; but the duty for the time being unpaid, with such interest to the date of payment, may be paid at any time, and, in case the property is sold, is to be paid on completion of the sale, and if not so paid, is to be duty in arrear.

Interest on arrears of duty is payable at 4 per cent.

Payment postponed.—Commissioners, when satisfied that duty on any property cannot, without excessive sacrifice, be raised at once, may postpone payment for such period, to such extent, and on payment of such interest, not exceeding 4 per cent. or any higher interest yielded by the property, and on such terms as they think fit.

CHARGE OF DUTY ON PROPERTY—FACILITIES FOR RAISING.

First charge on property.—Rateable part of whole duty, in proportion to value of any property not passing to executor, to be a first charge on property in respect of which duty chargeable—provided that property not to be so chargeable as against bonâ fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice.

Certificate of duty.—On application, submitting description of lands, stocks, funds, etc., and of debts and incumbrances allowed, Commissioners shall grant certificate of duty paid in respect of the property, and specify debts and incumbrances allowed, as well as the lands and other property. This is to be conclusive evidence that amount of duty is a first charge on the property subject to repayment of duty from want of title or existence of any debt for which allowance was not made or from any other cause: Provided such repayment to be made to person producing certificate.

Repayment of duty to executor.—Rateable part of duty, when occasion requires, to be repaid to executor by trustees or owners of property; duty in respect of heritable property may be repaid by the proper instalments and with proper interest.

Power to raise duty by sale, etc.—Accountable person to have power, whether property vested in him or not, to raise duty, interest, and expenses, by sale or mortgage of or a terminable charge on that property or any part thereof.

Limited interest in property.—One having such, and paying duty in respect of property, to be entitled to the like charge, as if duty in respect of it had been raised by means of a mortgage to him.

Settled property.—Money from sale of settled property, or to be laid out for the purposes of a settlement, may be expended in paying duty on property comprised in the settlement and held for the same trust purposes.

Application for order of sale, etc.—Any person paying duty, and in whom the property is not vested, if authorised to raise the duty by sale or mortgage of the property, may apply to Court of Session—

(a.) For an order of sale, and, if granted, it shall provide for payment of duty out of price, and for disposal of surplus; Court to give directions as to sale, and may order person in whom property vested to grant disposition to purchaser, and if he refuses, may authorise Clerk of Court to execute such disposition;

(b.) For an order ordaining person in whom property vested to grant bond and disposition in security over property in favour of person who paid duty, for the amount, and, if he refuses, Clerk of Court to execute such bond. Bond to be a first charge on property after any debt or incumbrance for which an allowance to be made under this Act for determining value of duty: Provided that summary diligence not competent thereon, and duty not recoverable under (a) or (b) earlier than if it had been recovered by direct action against person ultimately liable for duty.

APPEAL FROM COMMISSIONERS.

Appeal to Court of Session.—Person aggrieved by decision of Commissioners respecting repayment of excess of duty, or by amount of duty claimed, on ground of value, or rate, or otherwise, may, on payment of or giving security for duty claimed, appeal to Court of Session within time, and in manner directed by Court; and Court shall determine amount of duty, and if duty determined be less than that paid, excess shall be repaid.

Appeal from Court of Session not allowed except with leave of Court of Session or House of Lords.

Costs—repayment with interest.—Costs to be in discretion of Court, and Court may order excess of duty to be repaid with interest at 3 per cent. for such period as seems just.

Repayment with appeal without first making payment.—If satisfied as to hardship, Court may allow appeal without payment, or on part payment only of duty, and on security for the duty or unpaid portion; but in such case Court may order interest at 3 per cent. to be paid on unpaid duty, so far as it becomes payable under decision of Court.

Value of property not exceeding £10,000.—Appeal may be to Sheriff Court, to whom, for purposes of appeal, foregoing provisions are to apply.

County Council to appoint valuers for purposes of Act, and to fix charges of remuneration; Court may refer questions of disputed value in appeals to their arbitration, the costs to be part of the costs of appeal.

DISCHARGE FROM DUTY.

Certificate of discharge.—(1.) Commissioners, if satisfied that full duty paid, or will be paid, shall, if required, give certificate to that effect, which shall discharge from further claim the property shown on certificate; (2.) Where accountable person two years after death delivers and verifies a statement, to the best of his knowledge and belief, of all property passing on the death of the person entitled thereto, Commissioners may determine rate of duty in respect of property for which applicant accountable, and on payment of duty at that rate, that property, and the applicant so far as regards it, to be discharged from further claim for duty, and Commissioners to give a certificate of discharge.

Fraud, etc., after disclosure of estate.

—Certificate under (1) or (2) not to discharge any person or property in case of fraud or failure to disclose material facts, and not to affect rate of duty in respect of property afterwards shown to have passed on death; duty in respect of such property to be at such rate as would be payable if value thereof were added to value of property already accounted for.

Bond fide purchaser. — Provided that certificate purporting to be discharge of whole duty payable in respect of any property included in certificate shall exonerate bond fide purchaser for valuable consideration without notice, from duty, notwithstanding such fraud or failure.

COMPOSITION FOR "DEATH DUTIES."

Where from number of deaths on which property passed, or complicated interests of different persons therein, or other causes, it is difficult to ascertain amount of death duties (Estate, Inventory, Temporary Estate, Legacy, and Succession Duties), or to do so without undue expense, Commissioners on application, and all information being supplied, may assess such sum on the value of the property or interest as, in the circumstances, appears proper, and accept payment thereof in full discharge of all claims for death duties in respect of such property, and give a discharge accordingly. Discharge not to cover case of fraud or failure to disclose material facts.

APPORTIONMENT OF DUTY.

(1.) In case of property not passing to executor, rateable part of duty may be recovered by person who, being so authorised or required, has paid the duty in respect of any property, from the person entitled to any sum charged on such property (whether as capital, or an annuity, or otherwise), under a disposition not containing any express provision to the contrary.

(2.) Any dispute as to proportion of duty to be borne by any property or person may be determined, on application by any person interested, in manner directed by rules of Court of Session, or, when amount in dispute is less than £50, by Sheriff Court where applicant resides or property situate.

(3.) Any person from whom a rateable part of duty can be recovered shall be bound by the accounts and valuations as settled between the person entitled to recover the same and the Commissioners.

FORM OF INVENTORY, ETC.— PENALTIES.

Executor, or other accountable person failing to render all appropriate accounts and statements, renders himself liable to a penalty of £100, or a sum equal to double the duty unpaid for which he is accountable, according as Commissioners elect, with power to Commissioners to reduce penalty.

Forms.—All inventories, accounts, certificates, statements, etc., to be in such form and contain such particulars as may be prescribed, and, if so required by Commissioners, shall be in duplicate, and accounts and statements shall be delivered and verified on oath and by production of books. Any person wilfully failing to comply with this enactment to be liable to the penalty above.

RATES OF ESTATE DUTY AND SETTLEMENT ESTATE DUTY.

SETTLEMENT ESTATE DUTY.

The rate is one per cent.

Provided that for any fractional part of £10 over £10 or any multiple thereof, Estate Duty and Settlement Estate Duty are payable at the rate per cent. for the full sum of £10.

SMALL ESTATES.

(1.) Not exceeding £1000 net; (2.) not exceeding £500 gross :—

(1.) Where the net value of the property real and personal, on which duty payable on the death of deceased, exclusive of settled property, does not exceed £1000, and the fixed duty or ad valorem duty has been paid upon the principal value of that estate, the Settlement Estate Duty and the Legacy and Succession Duties are not payable under the will or intestacy of the deceased in respect of that estate.

(2.) Where the gross value of property heritable and moveable, on which duty payable on death of deceased, exclusive of property settled otherwise than by will of deceased, exceeds £100, but does not exceed £300, a fixed duty of 30s. may be paid, and where it exceeds £300 but does not exceed £500, a fixed duty of 50s. may be paid. Should the gross value have been wrongly stated as not over £300 or £500, as the case may be, the duty according to the correct value will be payable, and the 30s. or 50s. wrongly paid will be forfeited.

The following further provisions apply to inventories under (2.) :—

The executor nominated in the will, or other applicant for representation, may apply to the commissary-clerk or sheriff-clerk, who shall prepare and record inventory [Form B.], and expedite confirmation; the will and testamentary writing, where the deceased left such, being produced to the sheriff-clerk or commissary-clerk.

The commissary-clerk or sheriff-clerk may require such proof as he may think sufficient to establish the identity of the executor or other applicant for representation; and if he has reason to believe that the value of the whole estate exceeds £500, he shall refuse to proceed until satisfied as to the real value.

Commissary or sheriff-clerk to affix Seal of Court to any representation granted in England or Ireland, on same being sent to him with fee of 2s. 6d. Seal of English or Irish Probate Court affixed to confirmation containing English or Irish estate on payment of 2s. 6d. fee.

The fees payable for recording inventory and will, preparing bond of caution and expediting confirmation are, where estate exceeds £20, 5s.; and the further sum of 1s. for every £10, or fraction thereof, beyond £20, but the maximum fee to be 15s.

LIFE POLICIES—DECEASED DOMICILED ABROAD.

Notwithstanding provision in local or private Act, probate, administration or confirmation necessary to establish right to recover any part of estate and effects of deceased person situated in the United Kingdom. Provision not applicable to life policy effected with any insurance company by person dying domiciled out of United Kingdom (and duty held not payable thereon).—52 and 53 Vict. c. 42, § 19.

A. Form of Inventory for estates exceeding £500 in value.

A—1. Statement to be appended to A.

B. Form of Inventory where gross principal value of property, heritable and moveable, in respect of which duty payable on death of deceased, exclusive of property settled otherwise than by will of the deceased, does not exceed £500 in value, and, where duty, if payable thereon, is the fixed duty of 30s. or 50s.

B—1. Statement to be appended to B.

D—1. Corrective or additional Inventory.

NOTE.—Inventories and Statements appended thereto must be stamped before delivery at the Sheriff Courts.

C—1. Account of property which passed at the death, but duty thereon not paid on the Statement annexed to Inventory.

C—2. Account of Settlement Estate Duty.

C—3. Account for second and subsequent instalments of duty on heritable property.

C—4. "Estate by itself."

D—2. Corrective Account—Aggregate.

D—3. Corrective Account—Estate by itself.

The forms can be obtained at any Inland Revenue (Stamp) Office in the country, or at the Legacy and Succession Duty Office, Edinburgh.

Delivery of Accounts.—When the oath has been sworn, Accounts may be presented personally or by an agent at any of these offices for examination, and when passed the duty will be received and the Account stamped.

The stamped account is filed in the Legacy and Succession Duty Department, but, if a duplicate be furnished, a certificate of the payment of the duty, when paid, will be placed upon it.

LEGACY DUTY.

Legacies, Annuities, Residues, etc.

To Children or their descendants, or lineal ancestors.....£1 0

This duty not payable where inventory duty or account stamp duty under 44 Vict. c. 12, or estate duty under 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, paid.

Brother or sister, or descendants.....£3 0

Uncle or aunt, or their descendants.....5 0

Grand uncle or aunt, or descend.....6 0

All other relations or strangers.....10 0

The husband or wife of the deceased is not chargeable with duty. If the legatee's husband or wife is of nearer consanguinity than the legatee, duty is payable according to such nearer relationship (16 & 17 Vict. c. 51, § 11).

This duty is payable for every legacy out of the personal or movable estate, or out of any personal estate the deceased has power to dispose of, and (in the case of a deceased dying before 1st July 1888) upon every legacy out of or charged upon the real or heritable estate of the deceased, or out of any moneys to arise by the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of the deceased's real or heritable estate or any part thereof, or out of heritable estate subject to his power of disposal: Also for the clear residue (after deducting debts, funeral expenses, legacies, and other charges first payable thereout) of the personal or movable estate, whether the title to such residue shall accrue by virtue of any testamentary disposition, or upon a partial or total intestacy, and (in the case of a deceased dying before 1st July 1888) for the clear residue of the moneys to arise from the sale, mortgage, or other disposition of any real or heritable estate directed to be sold, mortgaged, or otherwise disposed of by any will or testamentary instrument. Such duties, in respect of real or heritable estate, to cease in the case of persons dying on or after the 1st July 1888, and in lieu thereof the duties payable under the Succession Duty Act, 1853, and the additional duty under the Act 51 Vict. c. 8, shall be payable (51 Vict. c. 8, § 21 [2]).

Annuities commencing to be payable on the death of persons dying after 19th May 1853 are valued for legacy duty according to tables annexed to the Succession Duty Act (16 and 17 Vict. c. 51); annuities commencing to be payable previous to that date, by the tables annexed to the Legacy Duty Act (36 Geo. III. c. 52).

Where the testator or intestate died before 1st June 1881, duty is not exigible on legacies or residues under £20; but if a legatee take two or more legacies, under any testament, which shall together be of the amount of £20, each shall be charged with duty, though each or either may be separately under that amount (see 44 Vict. c. 12, § 42). Also where the value of the whole of the personal estate of any person dying after 24th March 1880 does not amount to £100, no duty shall be chargeable in respect thereof, or of any portion thereof (43 Vict. c. 14, § 13).

The legacy duty presumptively payable upon an interest in expectancy may be commuted for a present payment (ib. § 11).

The Commissioners of Inland Revenue have power to accept a composition for legacy duty under a will (44 Vict. c. 12, § 43).

Duty on legacies and residues in arrear, interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent. is payable (31 and 32 Vict. c. 124, § 9).

Where a full and true account containing all material facts has been rendered, liability for duty to cease after six years from settlement of account (52 Vict. c. 7, § 14).

Estates not exceeding £300 and deceased dying on or after 1st June 1881. Payment of fixed duty of 30s. on inventory to be in full of claim to legacy duty on estate to which such inventory relates (44 Vict. c. 12, § 36).

Printed forms and regulations for payment of the legacy duty may be obtained gratis, on application at Legacy Duty Office, Inland Revenue, Edinburgh; and at the offices of distributors of stamps in the country.

SUCCESSION DUTY.

(16 and 17 Vict. c. 51, 51 Vict. c. 8, §§ 21 and 22, 52 Vict. c. 7, §§ 10-12, 14, and 15, and 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, § 18.)

The duty commenced on the death of persons dying after the 19th May 1853, and seems to be imposed on all property, both heritable and movable, passing by death, not liable to the duty on legacies and successions to personal estate upon intestacy—the duty imposed by the Legacy Duty Acts.

The duty on HERITABLE PROPERTY where successor competent to dispose thereof, is on the principal value after deducting Estate Duty, etc., and, where not competent to dispose, is on the annual value after allowance of the necessary outgoings, as an annuity for the life of the successor, to be valued by tables annexed to Act.

PERSONAL PROPERTY is liable to duty on the capital value, and money charged on heritage—heritable securities—is charged as personalty.

RATES OF SUCCESSION DUTY.

1. Successions to property on which Account Duty under 44 Vict. c. 12, § 38, or estate duty under 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, and Leaseholds; also any succession by a death before 1st July 1888, same rates as under the Legacy Duty Acts, supra.
2. In other cases, lineal issue or lineal ancestor of the predecessor, £1, 10s. per cent.

Note.—No succession duty payable by lineal issue, etc., where the estate has paid Account Duty under 44 Vict. c. 12, see § 41, or Estate Duty under 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30.

Brothers and sisters of the predecessor, and their descendants, £4, 10s. per cent.

Brothers and sisters of the father or mother of the predecessor, and their descendants, £6, 10s. per cent.

Brothers and sisters of a grandfather or grandmother of the predecessor, and their descendants, £7, 10s. per cent.

Any other person, £11, 10s. per cent.

See 51 Vict. c. 8, § 21 (1).

The husband or wife of the predecessor is not chargeable with duty (§ 18), and if the successor's husband or wife shall be of nearer consanguinity than the successor, duty is payable according to such nearer relationship.

The following are also exemptions from the Succession Duty:—

1. Succession from the same predecessor, passing on any death, not amounting in principal value to £100.

2. Legacies and personal property charged with legacy duty, in respect of the same acquisition.

The duty presumptively payable upon an interest in expectancy may be commuted for a present payment.

Interest on duty in arrear, at the rate of 4 per cent.

Liability of purchasers and mortgagees for duty limited to certain specified periods. Where full and true account containing all material facts rendered, liability in certain cases, etc., to cease in six years from settlement of account. Limitation of liability for duty where attested copy of document lodged (52 Vict. c. 7, §§ 12, 13, 14 and 15).

Note.—Forms of the accounts for Legacy and Succession Duties may be obtained at the Legacy Duty Office, Edinburgh, and at the offices of the distributors of stamps in the country.

CORPORATION DUTY.

(48 and 49 Vict. c. 51.)

Duty on Property of Bodies Corporate and Unincorporate.—In respect of all real and personal property which shall have belonged to, or been vested in, any body corporate or unincorporate during the yearly period ending on the 5th day of April 1885, or during any subsequent yearly period ending on the same day in any year, a duty at the rate of £5 per centum is chargeable upon the annual value, income, or profits of such property accrued to such body corporate or unincorporate in the same yearly period, after deducting therefrom all necessary outgoings, including the receiver's remuneration, and costs charged, and expenses properly incurred in the management of such property:—

Subject to exemption from such duty in favour of property of the descriptions following (that is to say)—

- (1.) Property vested in or under the control or management of the "Commissioners of Her Majesty's Works and Public Buildings" or the "Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods, Forests, and Land Revenues," or any department of Government.
- (2.) Property which, or the income or profits whereof, shall be legally appropriated and applied for the benefit of the public at large or of any county, shire, borough, or place, or the ratepayers or inhabitants thereof, or in any manner expressly prescribed by Act of Parliament.
- (3.) Property which, or the income or profits whereof, shall be legally appropriated and applied for any purpose connected with any religious persuasion, or for any charitable purpose, or for the promotion of education, literature, science, or the fine arts.
- (4.) Property of any Friendly Society or Savings Bank established according to Act of Parliament.
- (5.) Property belonging to or constituting the capital of a body corporate or unincorporate established for any trade or business, or being the property of a body whose capital stock is so divided and held as to be liable to be charged to Legacy or Succession Duty.
- (6.) Property acquired by or with funds voluntarily contributed to any body corporate or unincorporate within a period of thirty years immediately preceding.
- (7.) Property acquired by any body corporate or incorporate within a period of thirty years immediately preceding where legacy duty or succession duty shall have been paid upon the acquisition thereof.

The term "body unincorporate" includes every unincorporated company, fellowship, society, association, and trustee or number of trustees to or in whom respectively any real or personal property shall belong, in such manner or be vested upon such permanent trusts, that the same shall not be liable to legacy duty or succession duty.

The term "accountable officer" means any chamberlain, treasurer, bursar, receiver, secretary, or other officer, trustee, or member of a body corporate or unincorporate by whom the annual income or profits of property in respect whereof duty is chargeable under this Act shall be received, or in whose possession or under whose control the same shall be. Ib. § 12.

The duty to be under the care of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue. Ib. § 13.

The duty to be a first charge on property, and the parties accountable for the duty are the body corporate or unincorporate and every accountable officer. Ib. § 12.

(1.) Every body corporate or unincorporate chargeable with the duty hereby imposed shall, on or before the 1st day of December 1885, and on or before the 1st day of October in every subsequent year, deliver or cause to be delivered to the Commissioners or their officers a full and true account of all property in respect whereof any such duty shall be payable, and of the gross annual value, income, or profits thereof accrued to the same body in the year ended on the preceding 5th day of April, and of all deductions claimed in respect thereof, whether by relation to any of the before mentioned exemptions from such duty or as necessary outgoings.

(2.) The account shall be made in such form, and shall contain all such particulars as the Commissioners shall, by any general or special notice, require, or as shall be necessary or proper, for enabling them fully and correctly to ascertain the duty due; and every accountable officer hereinbefore made answerable for payment of duty in respect of any property chargeable under this Act shall be answerable also for the delivery to the Commissioners of such full and true account as aforesaid of and relating to such property. Ib. § 15.

Persons answerable may retain moneys for payment of duty. Ib. § 16.

The Commissioners may assess duty according to accounts rendered, or may obtain other accounts. Ib. § 17.

In the case of any proceeding in any Court for the administration of any property chargeable with duty under this Act, such Court shall provide out of any such property in its possession or control for the payment of the duty to the Commissioners. Ib. § 20.

IV. INHABITED HOUSE DUTIES.

[Acts 14 and 15 Vict. c. 36; 53 Vict. c. 8; and 54 and 55 Vict. c. 25.]

- (1.) On every inhabited dwelling-house of the annual value of £20 or upwards, occupied as a farm-house by a tenant or farm servant, or any shop or warehouse, being part of a dwelling-house, where goods are exposed for sale and sold in the front and basement storey, or any house licensed for the sale of liquors by retail, or occupied as a hotel, although not licensed for the sale of liquors, the following rates of duty are chargeable:—

Rent or annual value, . . .	£20 and not exceeding £40	2d. per £
" " " " " " " "	exceeding £40	4d. per £.
" " " " " " " "	£60	6d. per £.

- (2.) On other houses:—

Rent or annual value, . . .	£20 and not exceeding £40	3d. per £.
" " " " " " " "	exceeding £40	6d. per £.
" " " " " " " "	£60	9d. per £.

Where any dwelling-house chargeable to the second class of duties is occupied by a person for the main purpose of letting furnished lodgings as a means of livelihood, the occupier may, before the 1st of July, register his name in the list of lodging-house keepers kept by the clerk to the Commissioners, and, after such registration, and before the 1st of October, make application to have the rate of charge reduced from 9d. to 6d., or 6d. to 4d., or 3d. to 2d., according to the rate applicable to the rent or annual value.

Exemptions, etc.—A house or tenement is exempt when occupied solely for the purpose of trade or business, or of any profession or calling by which occupier seeks a livelihood or profit, and although a menial or domestic servant, or other person of a similar grade or description, not otherwise employed by the occupier, may dwell therein for the protection thereof. Where house let in different tenements, relief to be granted in respect of tenement occupied as above, or unoccupied, on notice being given to Surveyor of Taxes. A house is also exempt, if used for the sole purpose of providing separate dwellings, where the annual value of each dwelling does not amount to £20, provided the district medical officer under the Public Health Act, or another medical practitioner appointed by the Local Authority, certifies that the house affords suitable accommodation for each of the families or persons inhabiting it, and satisfies sanitary requirements. Where the annual value of each dwelling amounts to £20 but does not exceed £40, assessment will be confined to annual value exclusive of dwellings of annual value below £20 each, and rate will be reduced to 3d.

V. PROPERTY AND INCOME TAX.

[Acts 5 and 6 Vict. c. 35 and c. 80; 14 and 15 Vict. c. 12; 16 and 17 Vict. c. 34 and c. 91; 17 and 18 Vict. c. 24; 18 and 19 Vict. c. 35; 19 and 20 Vict. c. 80; 22 and 23 Vict. c. 18; 23 and 24 Vict. c. 14; 24 and 25 Vict. c. 91; 27 and 28 Vict. c. 18; 28 and 29 Vict. c. 30; 29 and 30 Vict. c. 36; 31 and 32 Vict. c. 28; 39 and 40 Vict. c. 16; 40 and 41 Vict. c. 13; 41 and 42 Vict. c. 15; 42 and 43 Vict. c. 21; 43 and 44 Vict. c. 19; 43 and 44 Vict. c. 20; 44 and 45 Vict. c. 12; 47 and 48 Vict. c. 62; 48 and 49 Vict. c. 51; 50 and 51 Vict. c. 15; 51 and 52 Vict. c. 8; 51 and 52 Vict. c. 62; 52 and 53 Vict. c. 42; 53 and 54 Vict. c. 8; 56 and 57 Vict. c. 2; 56 and 57 Vict. c. 7; 56 and 57 Vict. c. 39; 57 and 58 Vict. c. 30; and 58 and 59 Vict. c. 16.]

SCHEDULE A.—(Real Property.) On each 20s. of annual value of lands, tenements, and heritages, in respect of the property . . . . . 8d.

SCHEDULE B.—(Occupancy of Real Property.) On each 20s. of annual value of lands, tenements, and heritages (other than a dwelling-house separate from a farm), in Scotland, in respect of the occupancy . . . . . 3d.

SCHEDULE C.—(Public Funds.) On each 20s. of annual amount of profits from interest, annuities, dividends and shares of annuities, payable out of the public revenue . . . . . 8d.

SCHEDULE D.—(Trades and Profes- sions.) On each 20s. of annual amount of gains, profits, or returns, from trades, professions, employments, or vocations, or from personal or other property not included in Schedules A, B, C, or E.....8d.

SCHEDULE E.—(Public Salaries.) On each 20s. of annual amount of salaries, pensions, or annuities, paid out of the public revenue, or for public offices or employments.....8d.

Exemption and Abatement.—Persons whose whole incomes from every source do not exceed £160 a year are exempted. Persons whose incomes exceed £160 a year, but do not exceed £400, are entitled to an abatement equal to the duty upon £160 of their income; and if income exceeds £400 and does not exceed £500, the abatement is equal to the duty upon £100 of income.

Where the total joint income of a husband and wife does not exceed £500, and such total income includes profits of the wife derived from profession, employment, or vocation chargeable under Schedule D, or from any office or employment of profit chargeable under Schedule E, the profit derived by the wife from such profession, employment, or vocation is to be treated as a separate income for exemption or abatement as the case may be.—57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, § 34.

Deductions.—Deduction is allowed, when claimed, of any annual premium (not exceeding one-sixth part of the claimant's income from every source) paid for insurance, or deferred annuity, on the claimant's own or his wife's life, to any insurance company in existence on 1st November 1844, or registered pursuant to Act 7 and 8 Vict. c. 110; or of any annual payment made under Act of Parliament to a widows' or children's fund.

By 41 Vict. c. 15, § 12, provision is made for deduction for diminished value by wear and tear of machinery or plant used in any trade, manufacture, adventure, etc., the profits or gains of which are chargeable under the rules of Schedule D.

By the Act 19 and 20 Vict. c. 80, landlords in Scotland are entitled to relief (either by abatement or by repayment) from any amount of Income Tax which may be assessed upon them in respect of the annual value of such rates, taxes, assessments, and public burdens, as may be charged upon them and not charged upon landlords in England.

Occupiers of lands for the purposes of husbandry only are entitled, on proof to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, to an abatement of duty proportionate to the deficiency of their profits or gains.—13 and 14 Vict. c. 12; 16 and 17 Vict. c. 34, § 46; 43 and 44 Vict. c. 20, § 52.

Person sustaining loss in any trade or profession carried on by him, either solely or in partnership, or in farming of lands, may, on application to the Commissioners through the district surveyor of taxes within six months after the year of assessment, obtain repayment of so much of the Income Tax on his aggregate income as represents the tax on income equal to his loss.—53 Vict. c. 8, § 23.

In the case of an assessment on lands (inclusive of the farmhouse and farm buildings) the assessment is to be reduced by one-eighth part; and in the case of houses or buildings (not occupied with a farm of lands for the purpose of farming such lands) the assessment is to be reduced by one-sixth part, except where the tenant has undertaken to bear the cost of repairs.—57 and 58 Vict. c. 30, § 35.

CONVENTION OF ROYAL BURGHS.

CHAP. 6. To Amend the Convention of Royal Burghs (Scotland) Act, 1879. April 9, 1895.

(2.) [Amendment of Convention of Royal Burghs (Scotland) Act, 1879, sections 2 and 3.] The Convention may admit any Police Burgh in Scotland on like terms and under the same provisions as Parliamentary Burghs in Scotland are admitted under the Convention of Royal Burghs Act, 1879.

4. Short Title: Convention of Royal Burghs (Scotland) Act, 1879, Amendment Act, 1895. Act to be read as one with the Act of 1879.

SPEAKER'S RETIREMENT.

CHAP. 10. For Settling and Securing an Annuity upon the Right Honourable Arthur Wellesley Peel, in consideration of his eminent services. May 14, 1895.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

CHAP. 13. To Amend the Cruelty to Animals (Scotland) Act, 1850. May 30, 1895.

(1.) Short Title: Cruelty to Animals (Scotland) Act, 1895.

(2.) Definition of the word "animal" in section 11 of the Cruelty to Animals Act, 1850, amended so as to include "any game or fighting cock, or other domestic fowl or bird." A person incurs a fine of £5 who cruelly beats, ill-treats, abuses, or tortures a game or fighting cock or other domestic fowl or bird, or procures it to be so used, or who encourages, or assists at, a cock-fight, whether in a place kept for the purpose or otherwise.

LAW COURT FEES.

CHAP. 14. To Provide for the Regulation of Fees payable in the Courts of Law in Scotland. May 30, 1895.

(1.) Short Title: Courts of Law Fees (Scotland) Act, 1895.

(2.) The Lords of Justiciary, by Acts of Adjournment as to Justiciary Court, and the Lords of Council and Session, by Acts of Sederunt as to Court of Session and Sheriff-court, may, with approval of Treasury, regulate (a) the amount of fees payable, (b) the time and place of payment, and forms of books to be kept in their respective Courts or the offices thereof. But Acts of Parliament requiring the fees drawn from any office or department not to exceed its expenses receive effect.

(3.) All expenses found due by Justiciary Court, unless the amount is fixed by the Court, shall be taxed by Auditor of the Court of Session in same manner as expenses in Court of Session.

(4.) Treasury may, by warrant, alter or regulate the fees payable for Gazette notices under the Bankruptcy Act of 1856.

FINANCE.

CHAP. 16. To grant certain Duties of Customs and Inland Revenue, to Repeal and Alter other Duties, and to Amend the Law relating to Customs and Inland Revenue, and to make provision for the Financial Arrangements of the year. May 30, 1895.

PART I.—CUSTOMS AND EXCISE.

(1.) Tea: see CUSTOMS TARIFF, p. 129.

(2-5.) Additional duties on Beer imposed from 1st July 1894 to 1st July 1895, continued for another year: see CUSTOMS TARIFF, p. 129, and EXCISE DUTIES, pp. 134-35.

(6-8.) Spirits: see CUSTOMS TARIFF, p. 129, and EXCISE DUTIES, p. 135.

PART II.—STAMPS.

(9.) Receipt: see STAMP DUTIES, p. 162.

(10.) Repeal of duties imposed on admissions of persons to Degree of M.D. in Scotland.

(11.) See Letter or Power of Attorney, p. 155.

(12.) See Conveyance on Sale, p. 148 (note).

(13.) See Policies of Insurance for Sickness, p. 161.

(14.) Foreign Securities: see Mortgage, p. 157.

(15.) Repeal of section 15 of 1891 Stamp Act, so far as it limits time within which Commissioners of Inland Revenue may mitigate or remit penalties on stamping.

PART III.—INCOME TAX.

(17, 18.) Income Tax: see Property and Income Tax, pp. 186-188.

PART IV.—MISCELLANEOUS.

(19.) Scheduled Acts repealed.

POST OFFICE.

(1.) The Parish Council of a parish, or where there is no Parish Council, the parish meeting, shall have same powers as a Rural Sanitary Authority has under sect. 8 of Post Office Act, 1891, to guarantee Postmaster-General against loss sustained by providing postal and other facilities under that sect.; and the resulting costs may be defrayed as part of the expenditure under Local Government Act, 1894.

[This Act is not made effectively applicable to Scotland. See Almanac 1893, p. 186.]

COURT OF SESSION CONSIGNATIONS.

CHAP. 19. To make Provision in regard to the Consignation of Money in the Court of Session in Scotland; and for other purposes. June 27, 1895.

(1.) Short title: Court of Session Consignations (Scotland) Act, 1895. Applies to Scotland only.

(2.) "Consignation" includes sums of money, or vouchers therefor, deposited in bank under orders of Court or Act of Parliament, or received by Accountant of Court (hereinafter called the Accountant), or any Clerk of Court, for consignation in any cause, by order of Court or otherwise; sums of money lodged as caution or security in corroboration of bonds, and unclaimed dividends, special deposits, or unapplied balances in Bankruptcy proceedings.

(3.) [Substituted for section 35 of Judicial Factors Act, 1849, and sections 5 and 6 of Bill Chamber Procedure Act, 1857, which are repealed as to consignations.] All consignations made with clerks of Court after passing of Act shall be forthwith lodged by them with Accountant, who shall become sole custodian of all consignations. Fees payable to be prescribed by Lords of Council and Session with Treasury's sanction; and (4) book to be kept for entering consignations, which shall be open to all interested.

(5.) Within ten days of receiving a consignation in money, Accountant shall deposit it in bank. All consignation deposit receipts, whether lodged by Accountant or other persons, must be in name of Accountant and his successors, and must bear on their face the name of the party by or for whom they are lodged, and the cause or bond to which they relate.

(6.) Accountant is responsible for safe custody of all consignations, except in cases of failure of bank in which money is consigned; and he must account therefor, with interest, to parties in right thereof, subject to orders of Court.

(7.) On passing of this Act, Lord Ordinary in Exchequer Causes must, on representation of Queen's Remembrancer, inquire into, determine, and certify to Remembrancer amount of unpaid consignations (with a list thereof), made or deposited before 1st January 1889 with Accountant, clerks of Court, or in any bank, or otherwise in any cause or bankruptcy proceeding. Within a month after requisition from Queen's Remembrancer, the amount so determined shall be paid over to him, and he shall grant discharge therefor to Accountant, clerk of Court, or bank which makes the payment.

(8.) Six months after passing of Act, clerks of Court must lodge with Accountant detailed statement of consignations made with them after 1st January 1889, and not paid or accounted for at passing of Act, and shall pay over amount or deliver the vouchers, when required, to Accountant, who shall grant discharge and become responsible therefor.

(9.) On or before 1st April 1897 Accountant shall lodge with Lord President of Court of Session, and Queen's Remembrancer, a detailed return of all consignations not then paid or accounted for, made with him, his predecessors, or any clerk of Court during year ending 31st December 1889. Along with return, he shall pay over the amount thereof, with interest, or deliver vouchers therefor, to Queen's Remembrancer, who shall discharge him and become responsible therefor. On or before 1st April in each succeeding year, Accountant must lodge a like return of unpaid consignations, and make a like payment or delivery in respect of the year ending seven years before the previous 31st December.

(10.) [Substituted for section 153 of Bankruptcy Act, 1856, which is repealed so far as regards disposal of unclaimed dividends after twenty-five years from close of a sequestration.] Seven years after deposit, Accountant shall deliver the deposit receipts or other vouchers for unclaimed dividends, special deposits or unapplied balances of bankrupt estates received by him under above section to Queen's Remembrancer, who shall thereupon obtain payment from bank in which deposit was made. On or before 1st April yearly, such banks shall account to Remembrancer for preceding year's interest on unclaimed dividends deposited therein. (11.) Creditors for sums under £1 need not be entered in detail in Register of Unclaimed Dividends.

(12.) Queen's Remembrancer shall report breaches of the Act to Lord President. All consignment books and documents, and the Register of Unclaimed Dividends, shall be open to Remembrancer at all times.

(13.) Treasury may direct Remembrancer to pay to Exchequer such sums as they think fit, out of funds accumulated under this Act. (14.) If Remembrancer has not sufficient funds in hand for purposes of the Act, Treasury may make advances to him not exceeding sums so paid to Exchequer, out of Consolidated Fund, or growing produce thereof.

(15.) £50000 to be devoted out of money accumulated under this Act to improvements on Advocates' Library, and on Courts and offices at Parliament House, Edinburgh.

(16.) Act does not affect—(a) right of parties entitled to consignations to recover same from Remembrancer as from previous custodiers; (b) orders for payment thereof by Court in which consignment was made; (c) jurisdiction of such Court over same; or (d) rights of appeal regarding disputed consignations.

(17.) Definition: "Clerk of Court" includes Clerks of Justiciary and of Session, Clerk of Bills, and Teind Clerk.

SEAL FISHERIES.

CHAP. 21. To Provide for prohibiting the Catching of Seals at certain periods in Behring Sea and other parts of the Pacific Ocean adjacent to Behring Sea, and for Regulating the Seal Fisheries in those Seas. June 27, 1895.

(1-2.) Empowers the Queen by Order in Council,—1. To prohibit, during specified periods, the catching of seals by British ships in the seas specified in the Order, 2. To make regulations for (a) entering particulars of the killing of seals in a ship's official log; (b) prohibiting the use of certain vessels, methods, or implements in hunting seals. Penalties and forfeitures are imposed on vessels contravening such orders.

(7.) Act applies to Behring Sea and other parts of Pacific Ocean north of the 42nd parallel of north latitude. Short Title: Seal Fisheries (North Pacific) Act, 1895. The Seal Fishery (North Pacific) Act, 1893, is repealed.

VOLUNTEERS.

CHAP. 23. To Amend the Law as to the Calling Out of Volunteers for Actual Military Service. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Sections 17-20 of Volunteer Act, 1863, which provide for calling out of volunteers for actual military service in case of invasion, shall apply to part, as well as to the whole, of a volunteer corps.

(2.) When an Order for embodying the Militia is in force, members of a volunteer corps may offer for actual military service; and they may be called out as a whole, or part of a corps, if the services are accepted of a number of the corps sufficient, in Secretary of State's opinion, to be separately organised. This Act and sections 17-20 of Volunteer Act, 1863, then apply.

(3.) Short title: Volunteer Act, 1895.

FRIENDLY SOCIETIES.

CHAP. 26. To Amend the Law relating to Friendly Societies. July 6, 1895.

[The whole Act consists of amendments on the Act of 1875, the sections of which are denoted by figures in special type.]

(1.) (11.) 5. Societies assuring annuities, whether to members or not, must send tables of contributions to Registrar before being entitled to registry.

(2.) Amendments on sects. (11.) 8, (12.) 4, and (29.) 7, as to appeals to Chief Registrar and Court of Session in certain cases.

(3.) Proviso to be added after (14.) 1: (b) The secretary or treasurer of a society or branch may not be also a trustee thereof.

(4.) (14.) 2. Requirement for production of death certificates shall not apply to deaths by colliery or other accidents where the body cannot be found, nor to deaths which are the subject of pending inquiry.

(5.) (15.) 2. Documents exempted from stamp duty.

(6.) Addition to (15.) 3. A nomination under this section of a person to receive money on a member's death is recalled by nominator's marriage. But nominee's receipt for money paid in ignorance of such marriage discharges society.

(7.) Substituted for (15.) 8. Rules of registered societies or branches may provide for admission of members from 1 to 21 years of age. These may, if over 16 by themselves, and if under 16, by parents or guardians, execute all necessary documents, but they may not be members of management committee, trustees, managers, or treasurers of society or branch.

(8.) After (16.) 1, following clause to be added. 1a. Rules of societies with branches and of branches may provide for investment of their funds by their respective trustees, with consent of management committee, or of majority of members of society or branch present at a general meeting.

(9.) Alteration of rates of interest payable under sect. (17) on money invested with National Debt Commissioners.

(10.) 1. (22.) This section is extended to all disputes between societies or their officers, on the one part, and members or persons who have not ceased to be members for six months, or persons claiming through them, on the other. 2. Addition to proviso (d.) of sect. (22.) In case of societies with branches, persons aggrieved may not sue in Sheriff Court till forty days after they have successively applied for a reference under the Rules to all the bodies entitled to determine the dispute. No more than six months' delay allowed between successive determinations.

(11.) Section to be added after (24.) (24a.) Societies or branches whose members are all under 21, may amalgamate by resolutions registered like amendments of rules, or they may distribute the members of a society whose members are all under 21 among several branches. Sect. (24) does not apply to such amalgamation.

(12.) Sub-section to be added to (29.) 8. Branches which wholly secede or are expelled from a society must not thereafter use the society's name, or a name or number identifying them as branches thereof. Officers or members contravening sub-section are guilty of offence under 1875 Act.

(13.) Amendment of sect. (29a.) A resolution to convert a society into a branch may be passed by a majority, instead of three fourths, of the members or delegates at a general meeting.

(14.) Extends sect. (29b) to Registered Trade Unions or their branches, in respect of contributing to funds and government of societies which provide medical attendance and medicine. Withdrawal from such medical societies prohibited, except on three months' notice, and payment of all sums due at expiry of notice.

(15.) "Collecting societies" shall be the last words in the name of collecting societies which fall under sect. (30), and are registered on or after 1st January 1896.

(18.) The words "consequences of non-payment of subscription or fine" shall be added to the matters to be provided for in rules of registered societies specified in Schedule 2, paragraph 2, of 1875 Act.

(19.) 1. Short title: Friendly Societies Act, 1895. 2. To be construed with Friendly Societies Acts, 1875 to 1893, and, 3, 4, to be incorporated in future issues of the 1875 Act.

(20.) Commencement of Act: 1st January 1896.

FALSE ALARMS OF FIRE.

CHAP. 28. To Prohibit the giving False Alarms of Fires. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Persons who knowingly give or cause to be given to the fire brigade of a town or parish a false alarm of fire, by ringing a street fire alarm or otherwise, incur on summary conviction a fine of £20.

(2.) The accused or his wife may give evidence at the trial.

(3.) The above provisions so far as regards street fire alarms do not apply to Burghs or Police Burghs in which the offence is punishable under a general or local Police Act.

(4.) Short Title: False Alarms of Fire Act, 1895. (5.) Act to commence 1st August 1895.

INDUSTRIAL AND PROVIDENT SOCIETIES.

CHAP. 30. To Amend the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Short Title: Industrial and Provident Societies (Amendment) Act, 1895.

(2.) The winding up of a society under the Act of 1893 shall be carried out in the Sheriff Court.

(3.) [Substituted for, and to be printed in future copies of the Act in lieu of, section 7, sub-section 1, of the Industrial and Provident Societies Act, 1893, which provided an appeal only to the Court of Session.] 1. If the Registrar refuses to register a society, or any rules or amendments of rules, the Society may appeal to the Chief Registrar, and if he refuses, to Court of Session.

EXTRADITION OF CRIMINALS.

CHAP. 33. To Amend the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873, so far as respects the Magistrate by whom, and the place in which the Case may be heard, and the Criminal held in Custody. July 6, 1895.

(1.) 1. On a representation to a Secretary of State that the removal to Bow Street of a fugitive criminal, apprehended under section 8 of the Extradition Act, 1870, will endanger his life or health, the Secretary of State may, subject to Order in Council under the Act of 1870 applicable to the case, by order, direct the case to be heard before a magistrate named in the order, at the place where the criminal was apprehended or then is. 2. Such magistrate may be in Scotland a Sheriff or Sheriff-substitute, and shall be deemed to be a Police Magistrate under the Act of 1870. He shall have the same powers, and may commit to the same prison, as a magistrate for the place where the case is heard. 3. On the criminal's committal, if the committing magistrate thinks imprisonment would endanger his life or health, he may order him to be kept in custody where he is, or to be taken to a suitable place. Such custody is deemed legal custody under the Extradition Acts, 1870 and 1873.

(2.) Short Title: Extradition Act, 1895.

NAVAL WORKS.

CHAP. 35. To make Provision for the Construction of Works in the United Kingdom and elsewhere for the purpose of the Royal Navy, and to Amend the Law relating to the Acquisition of Land for Naval Purposes. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Short Title: Naval Works Act, 1895.

FATAL ACCIDENTS INQUIRY.

CHAP. 36. To make provision for Public Inquiry in regard to Fatal Accidents occurring in Industrial Employments or Occupations in Scotland. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Short title: Fatal Accidents Inquiry (Scotland) Act, 1895.

(2.) Act includes all cases of death of persons, whether employers or employed, engaged in industrial employments or occupations in Scotland, due, or reasonably believed to be due, to accident occurring in the course thereof.

(3-4.) 1-2. On receiving information of such death or deaths, Procurator-fiscal of county or district where accident happens must collect evidence, and forthwith present petition to Sheriff, craving public inquiry into circumstances of accident and causes of whole deaths resulting therefrom. Sheriff thereupon fixes convenient time and place for holding inquiry, and grants warrant to cite witnesses and havers at instance of Procurator-fiscal, and of other parties entitled to appear. Procurator-fiscal must send Sheriff-clerk names and addresses of employer, and of the wife or husband, or nearest known relative of each deceased, to which persons, as well as to any Government official or department concerned, Sheriff-clerk must intimate time and place fixed for inquiry. He must also advertise same in a local newspaper, or in two, if there be more than one. 3. If Sheriff is unable to hold inquiry, a person qualified to be a Sheriff-substitute is appointed by Secretary for Scotland to do so, with all Sheriff's powers. 4-5, 10. Inquiry is held by Sheriff and jury. Ten common and five special jurors are cited from Sheriff Court Jury Book as in civil cases, and a jury of five common and two special jurors is chosen. 6, 10. The statutory rules as to fines for non-attendance, and as to swearing of jury apply, but not those as to challenges. But persons interested may object to any juror, and Sheriff may reject him on sufficient cause shown. Neither employer nor fellow-employees of deceased may be jurors. 7-8. After the evidence, speeches, and Sheriff's summing-up, jury shall return a verdict (which after an hour may be by a majority) stating (so far as proved) when and where accident and death or deaths happened, and the cause or causes of death. 9. Jurors empanelled are paid by Sheriff-clerk 5s. a day and travelling expenses. Such expenses are chargeable in counties or police burghs therein against County General Purposes Rate, and in other burghs against Burgh General Assessment, or where there is none such, against Police Assessment.

(5.) 1. Inquiry is public. Procurator-fiscal, or in his absence his deputy, leads evidence, medical, skilled, or otherwise, as to causes of death and circumstances of accident. 2. Sheriff, at or after presentation of petition, may (a) order articles required at inquiry to be taken and kept for production thereat, subject to inspection by parties interested; (b) inspect, by himself with or without jury, or by proper person appointed thereto, premises, machinery, or whatever he thinks material to inquiry. 3. The following persons may appear and lead evidence at such inquiries, either by themselves, counsel, agents, or persons allowed by the Sheriff, viz., wife or husband, relatives, employer and fellow employees of deceased, persons deemed by Sheriff to have an interest; and Inspectors of Mines, or of Factories and Workshops respectively, in cases of accidents therein. 4. Inquiry is conducted like Sheriff Court jury trial, witnesses being examined and cross-examined on oath. Examination of a witness or haver does not bar subsequent criminal proceedings against him, but witness need not answer questions incriminating himself. The evidence is written down under Sheriff's direction at length or in shorthand, and afterwards authenticated. 5. (6.) Verdict is recorded in Sheriff Court Books, but cannot be produced or founded on in subsequent civil or criminal proceedings regarding same accident. Procurator-fiscal must obtain from Sheriff-clerk, and send to Crown agent, along with schedule for Registrar of Deaths, copies of petition and verdict, together with the recorded evidence, reports or productions lodged, or copies thereof; and must send copies of same documents (except verdict and productions) to district Inspector of Mines or of Factories and Workshops respectively, in cases of accidents therein. Persons interested may also obtain copies for fee fixed by Sheriff. 6. Witnesses and havers cited by Procurator-fiscals receive same fees as in Sheriff Court criminal trials.

(6.) Act does not affect Procurator-fiscal's duty of inquiring into accidental deaths, Lord Advocate's power to order public inquiries, or law and practice of criminal proceedings.

(7.) Definitions: "Industrial employment or occupation" means employment or occupation for or in performance of manual labour, or superintendence thereof, or working, management, or superintendence of machinery, appliances, or animals used in prosecuting any work; "Procurator-fiscal" includes those of county of city of Edinburgh and of city and burgh of Aberdeen; "district" means part of a county with separate Procurator-fiscal, or a county, combination or parts thereof, having one Sheriff Court and one Procurator-fiscal.

FACTORIES AND WORKSHOPS.

CHAP. 37. To Amend and Extend the Law relating to Factories and Workshops. July 6, 1895.

GENERAL LAW RELATING TO FACTORIES AND WORKSHOPS.

Sanitary Provisions and Safety.

(1.) 1, 3. Factories for purposes of sect. 3 of 1878 Act, and Workshops for those of Public Health Acts, are overcrowded so as to be dangerous or injurious to health of employees, unless there be 250 cubic feet to each employee in a room, or 400 cubic feet during overtime. Notices to be posted in factories and workshops stating number of persons who may be thus employed in each room.

2. Secretary of State may modify such proportion when artificial (except electric) light is used, or increase it as to particular trades.

(2, 4.) On complaint by inspector, a Summary Court may, under penalty of 40s. a day, prohibit (a) a factory or workshop, or part thereof, from being used for a manufacturing process or handicraft, when there is danger to health, life, or limb, until the danger is removed; (b) the use of a machine, absolutely or till duly repaired or altered, whose condition is dangerous to life or limb. If there is imminent danger to life from such machine, the Court or a Justice may make interim order as to its use.

(3.) 1. Sanitary authority must inform inspector of proceedings taken in consequence of notice given by him under sect. 4 of 1878 Act as to insanitation or nuisance. 2. "Reasonable time" allowed to sanitary authority under sect. 2 of 1891 Act for taking such proceedings shall mean "one month."

(5.) 1-2. Occupier, or contractor employed by occupier, of factory or workshop, or of place from which work is given out, incurs fine of £10 who gives out work to be done in a place used for the business of the factory or workshop a month after inspector has notified it to be injurious or dangerous to health of employees. 3. Secretary of State to specify, by order, the classes of work and areas to which section applies, the latter being only those where there are special risks to health.

(6.) Persons specified in previous section, and occupiers of laundries, incur fine of £10 who, knowingly, or with reasonable cause of knowledge, cause or allow wearing apparel to be made, cleaned, or repaired in dwelling-houses or buildings occupied therewith, in which there is scarlet fever or small-pox.

(7.) Amendments on sect. 5 of 1878 Act: Fencing of "steam engines" extended to "engines worked by steam, water, or other mechanical power." Fencing to be safe for persons "employed or working" in factory. Machinery need not be safely fenced while under repair, or alteration, or when being cleaned.

(8.) Amendment of sect. 9 of 1878 Act: Young persons are forbidden to clean those parts of machinery when in motion by mechanical power which are notified by inspector to be dangerous.

(9.) 1. In factories erected after commencement of Act, the traversing carriage of self-acting machines must not run out within 18 inches of any fixed structure not part of the machine over a space where persons may pass. 2, 3. Employees shall not pass over space between fixed and traversing portions of self-acting machines (except in front thereof), unless when stopped with traversing portion on outward run. Contravention implies breach of 1878 Act.

(10.) 1. On complaint by inspector, a Summary Court may order occupier of factory or workshop to provide movable fire-escape, if necessary for employees' safety. 2. Doors of factories or workshops and of rooms thereof must not be fastened so as not to open easily from inside, while employees are therein for work or meals. 3. In factories or workshops constructed after commencement of Act, the doors (except sliding doors) of rooms containing more than ten employees must open outwards. 4. Extension of sub-sect. 1 of sect. 7 of 1891 Act (as to fire-escapes in factories) to workshops constructed after commencement of Act, and employing more than forty persons; and of sub-sect. 2 thereof to other workshops employing more than forty persons. 6. Penalty on occupier for breach of sect. is 40s. a day. (11.) Applications for arbitration as to notice by sanitary authority respecting fire-escapes under sect. 7 of 1891 Act must be made within a month after dispute.

(12.) Arbitrators under sect. 8 of 1891 Act, as to dangerous processes, may appoint a representative to appear for the class of employees concerned, on his giving security for costs.

(13.) Extension of sect. 82 of 1878 Act, which provides compensation for injury by neglect to fence machinery, to all deaths, bodily injuries, or injuries to health, caused by occupier's neglect of provisions of Factory Acts or of Special Rules under 1891 Act.

Employment.

(14-15.) Amendments on under-noted sections of 1878 Act: 1, 2. No young persons shall be employed overtime under section 53; nor women thereunder for more than three (instead of five) days a week, or thirty (instead of forty-eight) days a year, nor under sect. 56 for more than sixty (instead of ninety-six) days a year. Requirements of sect. 77 as to keeping registers of children and young persons extended to workshops specified under sect. 53. 3. After 1st January 1897, sect. 58 as to night employment shall apply only to male young persons of 14 years or upwards. Under sect. 63 Secretary of State may regulate periods and intervals of night employment of young persons. 4. Sect. 58 shall not authorize night employment of young persons in factories specified in Part 6, Schedule 3, except in processes incidental to the business of the factory as described in Part 1 of Schedule 4. 5. More than twelve hours' continuous employment of young persons of 16 years and upwards in newspaper offices described in sect. 59 is forbidden. 6. After 1st January 1897, sect. 60 (as to glass-works) shall apply only to male young persons of 14 years and upwards, but does not authorize employment on Sunday. 7. Substituted for paragraph 4 of sect. 60: More than five hours' continuous employment of male young persons in glass-works without half an hour for a meal is forbidden. 8. Under Factory Acts there shall be no overtime on Saturdays, or half-holidays substituted therefor. Work for Jewish employers under sect. 50 of 1878 Act is not overtime work.

(16.) Except during period of employment, 1, children shall not be employed both outside and inside a factory or workshop on same day; and, 2, young persons or women, if employed inside factory or workshop both before and after the dinner-hour, shall not be employed outside on same day. 3. Work given or taken to be done outside, is employment outside the factory or workshop on day it is so given or taken out. 4. Same employer may not employ young person or woman on same day both in a factory or workshop and in a shop, longer than time allowed by Factory Acts. 5. Contravention of section implies breach of 1878 Act. 6. Secretary of State may exempt any classes of factories or workshops, or parts thereof, from operation of this section, when necessary.

Accidents.

(18.) Substituted for section 31 of 1878 Act: 1. Notice to be sent to district inspector of all accidents in a factory or workshop, which cause (a) death of an employee or (b) bodily injury preventing him working for five hours at his ordinary work on any of the three working days after the accident. 2. Unless notice to Government Inspector is required by section 63 of Explosives Act 1877, notice must be sent to district certifying surgeon, if accident is fatal, or is caused by any of the means specified in paragraph (b) of said sect. 31. 3. Notices must state injured person's residence, and place he is removed to. 4. Occupier failing to notify incurs fine of £5. 5, 6. Such accidents occurring in iron mills, blast furnaces, or other factories or workshops (including those not employing children, young persons, or women), where occupier is not actual employer of killed or injured person, must be immediately reported by employer to occupier, under penalty of £5.

(19.) A public inquiry as to a fatal accident in factory or workshop may be adjourned till inspector or other representative of Secretary of State is present. Inspector to receive four days' notice of adjourned inquiry.

(20.) 1, 2. Occupiers of factories or workshops must keep register and enter therein, within a week and under penalty of £10, all accidents in their works, which require to be notified under Factory Acts. Register to be always open to inspector and district certifying surgeon.

(21.) Secretary of State may order formal investigation into cause of any accidents in factories or workshops, including those not employing children, young persons, or women. Sections 45 and 46 of Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1887, then applies.

SPECIAL RULES AND REQUIREMENTS.

Laundries.

(22.) 1. In laundries carried on for trade or gain, (i.) Periods of employment (exclusive of meal hours and absence from work) are:—for children, not more than ten hours in any twenty-four, or thirty hours a week; for young persons, twelve hours or sixty hours a week; for women, fourteen hours or sixty hours a week, besides overtime; (ii.) None of these persons may work more than five hours without half an hour for a meal, and (iii.) to have holidays allowed under Factory Acts; (iv.) Provisions of Factory Acts as to sanitation, safety, accidents, notices (so far as applicable), inspectors' powers, fines, legal proceedings under section, and children's education, apply to laundries using mechanical power as if they were factories, and to other laundries as if they were workshops; (v.) Notices in laundries must specify periods of employment and meal times, but these may be varied before day's work begins; (vi.) Sections 17 and 18 of 1891 Act (as to non-employment of women within a month after childbirth, and employment of children under 11 years) apply to laundries. 2. In laundries using mechanical power, (a) there must be a fan or other proper means to regulate the temperature of ironing rooms, and carry away steam in wash-houses; (b) stoves for heating irons must be separated from ironing-rooms; gas irons are forbidden; (c) floors must be properly kept and drained. Contravention of section implies breach of 1878 Act. 3. Laundries are excepted from section which employ only (1) inmates of prison, reformatory, industrial school, or the like, or charitable or religious institution; (2) members of same family, or not more than two outsiders. 4. Women in laundries may work overtime, but (a) not more than fourteen hours a day, or (b) two hours a day of overtime, which (c) must not be worked on more than three days a week, or thirty days a year; (d) sects. 66 of 1878 Act and 14 of 1891 Act notices must be observed.

(23.) 1. The following provisions, viz.—(i.) Sections 68 and 82 of 1878 Act, and 8 to 12 of 1891 Act, (ii.) provisions of Factory Acts as to accidents, and (iii.) provisions of this Act as to dangerous machines—apply as if the word “factory” included (a) docks, wharfs, quays, warehouses, and machinery used in loading and unloading therefrom; (b) premises on which machinery worked by steam, water, or other mechanical power is temporarily used for building. Person actually using or occupying such place or machinery is deemed occupier of a factory. 2. Provisions of this Act as to notice and investigation of accidents apply as if the word “factory” included buildings exceeding 30 feet high (a) under construction or repair by means of scaffolding, or (b) in which more than twenty persons, not domestic servants, work for wages. The employer, or occupier of the building, is deemed occupier of a factory.

Tenement Factories.

(24.) 1, 3, 4. A tenement factory is one where the same building is occupied by different persons for purposes of manufacturing processes or handicrafts, and mechanical power is supplied to different parts thereof, so that these form in law separate factories. Owner and not occupier of tenement factory is liable for observance (with certain modifications) of sections 3, 5, 19, 33, 36, 78, and 82 of 1878 Act, of provisions of this Act as to dangerous premises, and also of sections 8 to 11 of 1891 Act so far as Secretary of State directs these to apply. 2. Where different industries are carried on in a tenement factory, occupier and not owner must affix notices required by sect. 19 of 1878 Act. 5. Summonses, etc., against owners. 6. Buildings within same close or curtilage are deemed one tenement factory. 7. Section does not apply to occupiers paying more than £200 rent.

(25.) 1. Scheduled regulations for grinding in tenement factories, of which the principal are—drumboards, belt-guards or scotchmen, and facilities for removing slush, to be provided. In grinding rooms, constructed after Act, there must be in light grinding, 3 feet, and in heavy grinding, 4 feet, between each pair of troughs, and in latter 6 feet in front of each trough. Sides of drums to be closely fenced. No grindstones to be run before a fireplace or another grindstone unless specially exempted; nor, if constructed after Act, before a door or entrance.

2. Horsing chains and hooks must be properly kept by owner or occupier who supplies them. 3. In tenement factories, where grinding or cutlery is carried on, there must be constant instantaneous communication between each of the workrooms, and both engine-room and boiler-house. 4. Contravention of section implies breach of 1878 Act. 5. Textile factories excepted from section.

(26.) Young person's or child's certificate of fitness for employment is valid in any part of same tenement factory.

Bakehouses.

(27.) 1. Sects. 34 and 35 of 1878 Act extended to all bakehouses, whether in cities, towns, or populous places or not. 2. Sect. 15 of 1883 Act shall apply to bakehouses occupied as such before or after 1st June 1883. 3. No place underground shall be used as a bakehouse, unless so used before commencement of Act, otherwise the 1878 Act is contravened.

Special Restrictions as to Employment.

(28.) 1. Sect. 8 of 1891 Act is extended to include the making of special rules prohibiting or regulating employment of any class of persons in any kind of manual labour which Secretary of State certifies as dangerous or injurious to health or dangerous to life or limb. Rules as to adults must be laid before Parliament for forty days. 2. Extension of sects. 8 to 12 of 1891 Act to workshops not employing children, young persons, or women.

Special Provisions for Health.

(29.) 1-2. Doctors to notify cases of lead, phosphorus, or arsenical poisoning, or anthrax, contracted in a factory or workshop, to Chief Inspector of Factories, London, under penalty of 40s. 3. Notice to be also sent to district inspector and certifying surgeon. Provisions of Factory Acts as to accidents apply. 4. Secretary of State may, by order, extend section to other diseases.

(30.) In factories or workshops using lead, arsenic, or other poisonous substances, suitable washing conveniences must be provided, otherwise, 2, the 1878 Act is contravened.

(31.) Cotton Cloth Factories Act, 1889, is extended to textile factories, in which atmospheric humidity is artificially produced by mechanical appliances, and which do not fall under sect. 8 of 1891 Act, but subject to modifications of scheduled maximum limits of humidity by Secretary of State. 2. Repeal of requirement in sect. 9 of Cotton Cloth Factories Act, 1889, that the ventilating arrangements of such factories must be subject to employees' control.

(32.) 1. Reasonable temperature must be kept up in working rooms of factories and workshops, otherwise, 2, the 1878 Act is contravened.

(33.) Extension of sect. 36 of 1878 Act, which provides for ventilation by a fan, to factories or workshops, where gas, vapour, or other impurity is injuriously inhaled by workers.

Miscellaneous Amendments.

(34.) Return of number, age, and sex of employees for year ending previous 31st December to be made by occupiers of factories and workshops to district inspector by 1st March yearly.

(35.) 1. Sufficient and suitable sanitary conveniences for both sexes must be provided in factories and workshops where sect. 22 of Public Health Act, 1890, is not in force, otherwise, 2, 1878 Act is contravened.

(36.) 1, 2. Addition to sect. 13 of 1878 Act: Young persons and women may be employed in non-textile factories, and young persons in workshops, on Saturdays from 7 A.M. to

3 P.M. or from 8 A.M. to 4 P.M., and on other days from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M. 3. When such persons may be employed from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M., a child's morning set may, subject to sect. 14 of 1878 Act, begin at 8 A.M. and an afternoon set may end at 8 P.M., or 4 P.M. on Saturday. When alternate day system is employed, child's hours may run from and to same times.

(37.) 1, 2. Sect. 53 of 1878 Act shall apply only to non-textile factories or workshops, or parts thereof, and warehouses, except paragraph x of Schedule 3, Part 3 thereof.

(38.) Male young persons to whom sect. 53 of 1878 Act applies may be employed in three shifts of eight hours each with interval of two unemployed shifts between.

(39.) Secretary of State may, by order, direct different branches or departments in same factory or workshop to be treated as different factories or workshops for purposes of Factory Acts.

(40.) 1. Substituted for sect. 24 of 1891 Act: 1. To enable piece-workers to compute wages, occupiers of textile factories must publish certain particulars specified in this section (a-f), as to rate of wages and the work to which rate applies. 2. Penalty of £10 imposed on occupier for contravening section or fraudulently using false indicator, and on workman for fraudulently altering indicator. 3. Workman who discloses such particulars for purpose of divulging trade secret, or, 4, any one who, to ascertain or divulge such secret, solicits or procures workman to make such disclosure, or pays or rewards him therefor, incurs fine of £10. 6. On inspector's report, Secretary of State may, by order, extend section to any non-textile factories or to any workshops.

(41.) All persons in occupation of workshops at commencement of Act shall, within twelve months thereafter, unless they have already done so, serve on district inspector a notice containing certain particulars as to situation and nature of work carried on therein. Penalty for default, £5. Notices to be forwarded to district sanitary authority.

(42.) 1, 2. Occupiers, and contractors employed by occupiers, of factories and workshops, and of places for giving out work of making wearing apparel for sale, must send to district inspector by 1st March and 1st September in each year, a list of outworkers, whether workmen or contractors, with their places of employment, under penalty of 40s.

(43.) Failure to enter prescribed particulars as to lime-washing in register kept under sect. 77 of 1878 Act is prima facie evidence of failure to observe Factory Act requirements as to lime-washing.

(44.) 1, 2. Notices under sects. 66 and 75 of 1878 Act, and 29 of 1891 Act, to be sent to district inspector.

(45.) Sect. 68 of 1878 Act, as to inspectors' powers, shall apply to workshops as well as factories. (46.) 1. Secretary of State may direct certifying surgeon to make special re-examination of young person or child. 2, 3. Fees payable. (47.) Publication of orders by Secretary of State. (48.) Service of documents on owner's agents. (49.) Offenders under Factory Acts may tender themselves as witnesses. (50.) Actual offender convicted, in lieu of occupier, under sect. 87 of 1878 Act, may be found liable in costs. (51.) Inspectors, if authorized by Secretary of State, may prosecute and defend in Factory Act proceedings before Summary Court or a Justice.

(53.) Definitions: "Factory Acts" means Factory and Workshops Acts, 1878 to 1895. (54.) Scheduled Acts repealed.

(55.) Commencement of Act: 1st January 1896.

(56.) Short title: Factory and Workshop Act, 1895. To be construed with Factory and Workshop Acts, 1878 to 1891.

CORRUPT AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES.

CHAP. 40. To Amend the Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883. July 6, 1895.

(1.) It is made an illegal practice under Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883, for a person or the directors of a corporate body or association, before or during a parliamentary election, to make or publish a false statement of fact regarding a candidate's personal character or conduct, for the purpose of affecting any candidate's return.

(2.) Persons are not guilty of such illegal practice who can show that they had reasonable grounds for believing, and did believe, the falsehood to be true.

(3.) Court may grant interdict against repetition of such or similar falsehoods, and prima facie proof of falsity warrants interim interdict.

(4.) A candidate is not subject to liability, incapacity, or avoidance of his election, for the illegal practice of an agent other than his election agent, unless such candidate or his election agent authorized or consented to the other agent's act, or paid for the circulation of the falsehood, or the court find in an election petition that his election was procured or materially assisted by such falsehood.

(5.) Short Title : Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1895. To be construed as one with Corrupt and Illegal Practices Prevention Act, 1883.

LANDS VALUATION.

CHAP. 41. To Amend the Valuation of Lands (Scotland) Acts. July 6, 1895.

(1-3.) Short title: Lands Valuation (Scotland) Amendment Act, 1895. Applies to Scotland only. To be construed with Lands Valuation (Scotland) Act, 1854, and Acts amending same.

(4.) Addition to sect. 6 of Lands Valuation (Scotland) Act, 1854. Erections or structural improvements made or acquired by a lessee on subjects leased, in case of lands for twenty-one years or under, and in case of minerals, for thirty-one years or under, and whose actual yearly value cannot be entered in Valuation Roll under sect. 6 of 1854 Act, shall be deemed lands and heritages under the Act, and the lessee shall be deemed the proprietor thereof. Assessor shall ascertain yearly value of such erections or improvements as a separate subject, by taking the rent, if any, in addition to that of the lease or agreement at which the subjects let and such erections or improvements would together, in their actual state, one year with another, be likely to let annually in consequence of the making of such erections or improvements. He shall make a separate entry thereof in Valuation Roll. This amendment does not apply,

1, to erections or structural improvements made or acquired (a) for agricultural purposes by lessees of subjects wholly or mainly agricultural : (b) solely for working or cleaning minerals leased as aforesaid, for which rent or lordship is agreed to be paid ; 2, to coke ovens or structures for treating coal or other minerals where the rent or lordship is calculated on the coke or other minerals treated therein.

(5.) Without prejudice to procedure in use prior to this Act, the magistrates and council of burghs may annually appoint from their own number a standing committee, to be called the Burgh Valuation Committee, which may hear and determine appeals and complaints under the Valuation Acts, as the magistrates and council could before the Act.

SEA FISHERIES REGULATION.

CHAP. 42. For the better Regulation of Scottish Sea Fisheries. July 6, 1895.

(1.) Short Title: Sea Fisheries Regulation (Scotland) Act, 1895.

(2.) Act applies to Scotland only, and to parts of seas adjoining thereto or within jurisdiction of Fishery Board for Scotland.

(3.) "Sea Fisheries Acts" mean Sea Fisheries Acts of 1868, 1875, 1883, and 1885. "Herring Fisheries (Scotland) Acts" mean the Acts in Schedule 1 of Fishery Board (Scotland) Act, 1882, and amending Acts.

(4.) 1. Reconstitution of Fishery Board. From 1st January 1896, Board shall consist of seven members (of whom four are a quorum instead of three as formerly), appointed for five years by the Queen on Secretary for Scotland's recommendation, viz., a Chairman appointed in terms of section 4, subsection 2, of Fishery Board (Scotland) Act, 1882, a Sheriff, an expert in the habits and food of fishes, and four members representing the "Sea Fishing interests" of Scotland, as after defined. 2. Secretary for Scotland may appoint scientific superintendent, with a salary, to conduct Board's scientific inquiries under Fishery Acts ; and, 4, said Secretary fixes first meeting of new Board, after which present members (except Chairman) retire. 3. Members' personal and travelling expenses are paid out of money provided by Parliament.

(5.) 1. On application of a County or Town Council or Police Commissioners of Police Burgh, and only with consent of such bodies when affected, Secretary for Scotland may, by Order, (a) create, and thereafter unite or dissolve, Sea Fishery Districts within the limits defined in section 2; (b) define limits thereof and area chargeable with expenses; (c) constitute for regulation of sea fisheries therein, Fishery District Committees which (d), subject to Order, become Committees or Joint-Committees of County or Town Councils or Burgh Commissioners, under Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1889. 2. Secretary for Scotland must publish draft Order locally, and if it is objected to, hold local inquiry, the report on which must be submitted to Parliament with Order, if made. 3. An Order takes effect after being laid before Parliament for thirty days, unless either House resolve that the whole or part thereof be not put in force.

(6.) 1-2. Fishery District Committees shall consist of (a) such number of ordinary members as is fixed in Order, who are appointed annually from their own number by the County or Town Councils or Police Commissioners in the district, who have an interest thereto; (b) such number of fishery members as is fixed in Order, but not exceeding half the Committee, who shall be elected in 1898 and every third year thereafter, by persons representing "fishing interests" of district, and shall hold office for three years. When an Order takes effect before 1st November 1898, Secretary for Scotland may nominate fishery members, who hold office till successors are elected, as after-mentioned. The Order may distribute fishery members among portions of counties, and among burghs and police burghs. 3. (a.) Secretary for Scotland may regulate nomination, conduct and mode of defraying costs of elections of fishery members. (b.) In 1898, and every third year thereafter, assessors for counties, burghs, and police burghs shall put a distinctive mark, in their respective Registers of voters, against names of persons included in the expression "fishing interests." Lists shall be published, and the insertion or omission of such marks may be objected to like other entries in, or omissions from, Register. (c.) Voters have as many votes as there are fishery members for the constituency, but they cannot give more than one vote to a candidate. (d.) Elections for fishery members (1) in counties and in Burghs and Police Burghs not divided into wards are held at same time and place, and with same officials as County or Town Council, or Burgh Commissioners' elections, or if there be no such contested elections, as if there were such; and (2) in burghs and police burghs divided into wards, are fixed by Town Council or Burgh Commissioners, and conducted like ward elections. (e) Committee may fill up casual vacancies. (f) No County Councillor representing a burgh or police burgh which sends an ordinary member to Fishery District Committee may vote in County Council in such appointment. No county electors in a police burgh which elects fishery members may vote in election of fishery members for county. 4. Committee elects Chairman for fixed period. 5. Order creating district provides for fixing meetings and appointment of clerk. 6. Committee's expenses, which must be paid to them by 15th January yearly, are levied, so far as sanctioned by County or Town Councils or Burgh Commissioners respectively, as an addition to General Purposes Rate in counties and to Burgh General or other available assessments in burghs and police burghs.

(7.) Fishery Board to convene annual meeting of at least one representative from each Fishery District Committee for consultation on matters relating to Act.

(8.) 1-2. Fishery District Committees may stock and re-stock public fisheries for shell-fish, and may, subject to Board's regulations, impose penalties and make bye-laws for their districts, for—

(a) Restricting or prohibiting absolutely or under regulations, any methods of, or instruments for, sea fishing; fixing size of mesh, form and size of such instruments; (b) Creating districts for oyster cultivation under section 4 of Fisheries (Oyster, Crab, and Lobster) Act, 1877; (c) Taking away exception in section 8 of said Act, which permits edible crabs being taken for bait when under certain conditions and sizes; (d) Repealing or amending Orders made by Board of Trade, under section 10 of said Act, forbidding, under penalty, edible crabs or lobsters being taken within prescribed areas, seasons, or years; (e) Regulating, protecting, and developing shell-fish fisheries; but such bye-laws must provide, inter alia, for—

1. Fixing sizes and condition of shell-fish not removable from fishery, and mode of determining same. 2. Obligation to re-deposit in specified localities, shell-fish whose removal or possession is forbidden. 3. Protection of shell-fish laid down for breeding; and 4, of culch and other material for reception of shell-fish spawn. 5. Obligation to re-deposit such culch, etc., in specified localities.

(f) Prohibiting or regulating deposit or discharge of substances detrimental to sea-fish or fishing; and (g) Repealing or amending such bye-laws.

(9.) 1. Fishery Board may, by bye-laws which they may afterwards alter or revoke, prohibit seine trawling within three miles of low water of any part of Scottish coast, or within the limits specified in Schedule to Herring Fishery (Scotland) Act, 1889, as defined in such bye-laws. [See Almanac for 1890, p. 188.] 2. Contravention of such bye-laws is punishable by fine of £5 for first, and £20 for subsequent offences, and by forfeiture of nets. Failing conviction, nets to be returned, and any damage to nets paid for.

(10.) 1. Fishery Board may, by bye-laws, which they may afterwards alter or revoke, prohibit beam and otter trawling in areas under Queen's jurisdiction, within thirteen miles of Scottish coast as defined in such bye-laws, but excepting all areas within thirteen miles of coasts of England, Ireland, or Isle of Man. Before confirming such bye-laws, Secretary for Scotland must hold local inquiry, at which persons interested, resident or otherwise, shall be heard, and of which all Sea Fishing Districts in United Kingdom shall be notified. 3. No sea area within the thirteen mile limit is deemed under Queen's jurisdiction under this section, unless the powers conferred thereby shall have been accepted as binding on their subjects as to such area by the States signatories of North Sea Convention, 1882. 4-5. [Substituted for section 7, sub-section 2, of Herring Fisheries (Scotland) Act, 1889, hereby repealed, which imposed penalty of £5 for first, and £20 for subsequent offences.] Contravention of bye-laws is punishable by fine of £100, or failing payment, 60 days' imprisonment, or failing imprisonment, execution of poinding or arrestment. Nets may be forfeited. Failing conviction, compensation shall be paid, as in section 9, sub-section 2. Failing timeous payment by convicted person, decree for amount may be taken against offending vessel's owners, and convicted person is thereby relieved.

Mussel Fisheries.

["Mussel Fisheries" in this abstract means "mussel or clam fisheries, beds or scalps."]

(11.) Within six months of Act passing, and after due notice and advertisement, Fishery Board shall draw up, publish, and circulate among owners and others, a List or Schedule of mussel fisheries within area defined in section 2, with their situation, limits, and owners. Board retain principal List for revision and correction.

(12.) For encouragement of mussel cultivation, Board may lease or purchase mussel fisheries, whether in List or not, and for such purpose the compulsory provisions of Lands Clauses Acts are incorporated with the Act.

(13.) Fishery District Committees may, subject to Board's regulations, impose penalties, and make bye-laws for establishing and improving mussel fisheries, and for—

(a) Restricting or prohibiting removal of mussels or clams from such fisheries, or (b-c) prohibiting sale or removal thereof for manure, or when below certain sizes, from Seas adjoining Scotland; (d) Leasing of mussel fisheries on conditions agreed to by Board; (e) Repealing or amending such bye-laws.

(14.) Fishery Board and their tenants, when they have acquired a title under the Act, shall have sole right of depositing, propagating, dredging, and taking mussels and clams within the district, subject to Crown's rights and those conferred by their own leases. (15.) They may, within like limitations, impose tolls and royalties on persons taking mussels or clams, and enforce regulations made by them under the Act. Such regulations, tolls, and royalties must be imposed on all equally, and receipts applied for benefit of fishery. Contravention of regulations and taking of mussels without payment of tolls is punishable by fine of £20, and by forfeiture of mussels taken, or their value if sold, which forfeiture Court may direct to be devoted to improvements on district fisheries.

(16.) With Secretary for Scotland's approval, Board may borrow money for purchasing and maintaining mussel fisheries, from Public Works Loan Commissioners on security of tolls and royalties levied.

(17.) No one except Crown or its grantees, Board, its tenants or servants, may, under penalty of £20 and full compensation, knowingly, on or near a mussel fishery, use, without consent of Board or District Committee, any fishing implement except line and hook, or net for catching floating fish used without injuring fishery; or dredge for, or deposit ballast or anything prejudicial or likely to be prejudicial to such fishery, except for purposes of navigation or anchorage.

(18.) Saving of Orders or proceedings therefor under prior Sea Fisheries Acts, not completed before commencement of Act.

(19.) 1. Fishery District Committee may appoint fishery officers to enforce bye-laws, but neither the provisions of this, nor of the 20th section, relieve coastguard and Admiralty officers from their statutory duties as to sea fishing vessels. 2, 4. Such fishery officers have powers and liabilities of police constables, and may (a) stop and search vessels fishing, or vehicles conveying prohibited fish; (b) search and examine instruments for catching and carrying fish; (c) seize forbidden sea fish or instruments. 3. Resisting or obstructing officers on duty is punishable by fine of £5.

(20.) Without prejudice to their other powers, Fishery Board may, with approval of Secretary for Scotland and of Treasury, employ officers and vessels, and all other means necessary for protecting sea fisheries and enforcing bye-laws.

(21.) On sworn information, a Sheriff or two Justices of Peace may grant a warrant, valid for a week, to fishery officers or police constables to enter suspected premises for purpose of detecting breach of bye-laws, or detecting and seizing forbidden fish or instruments concealed there.

(22.) 1. Bye-laws under the Act must be confirmed by Secretary for Scotland, and 2, may apply to part of district or of year. 3. Board may make bye-laws imposing penalty of £20 for breach of bye-laws not otherwise provided for, or of £10 a day for continuing offence, and in any case forfeiture of sea-fish or instruments forbidden by, or in possession of persons contravening, bye-laws.

(23.) Penalties, offences, and proceedings under the Act or Orders thereunder, may be prosecuted summarily, and appeals taken under Summary Jurisdiction Acts. (24.) Board to assist, and employ their officers, in executing Act. (25.) Saving of rights of Crown and Board of Trade, and, unless expressly affected, of owners of mussel fisheries.

(26.) Where there is no Fishery District Committee, Board has all its powers of making bye-laws and imposing penalties under the Act. (27.) Amendment of Section 1 of Fishery Board (Scotland) Extension of Powers Act, 1894. (28.) Definitions: "Fishing Interests" includes persons engaged in sea fishing, except salmon fishing, either as owners of fisheries, interests therein, fishing boats, or smacks, or as fishermen, fish curers, fish merchants, or otherwise. "Sea fish" does not include salmon.

NATURALIZATION.

CHAP. 43. To Amend the Naturalization Act, 1870, so far as respects Children of naturalized British Subjects in the service of the Crown resident out of the United Kingdom. July 6, 1895.

(1.) [Amendment of Naturalization Act, 1870, section 10, sub-section 5.] Residence of a child of a naturalized British subject with his father while serving the Crown out of the United Kingdom shall have, and be deemed always to have had, the same effect in naturalizing the child, as such residence in the United Kingdom had under the amended section.

(2.) Short Title: Naturalization Act, 1895.

ABSTRACTS OF LEADING CASES IN THE SUPREME COURTS,

*From the Beginning of the Winter Session 1894-95, till the End of the

ARBITRATION.

M'Dougall v. Laird & Sons, Nov. 16, 1894.

A firm of auctioneers lodged defences to an action for recovery of a sum deposited by a purchaser as security for his removing goods sold. Held that a partner of the firm was thereby disqualified from acting as arbiter under the conditions of sale, as he was identified with one of the parties to the dispute.

BANK.

National Bank v. M'Watt and Others,
June 20, 1895.

A stockbroker who held stock in his own name for behoof of clients, transferred it to a bank in security of advances which he obtained in his own name for his clients. The bank knew he acted for clients. On the stockbroker's bankruptcy, held that the securities only covered the specific loans for which they were pledged, and not the balance on the broker's general account, as the surplus belonged to his clients.

CAUTIONER.

Wallace v. Gibson, March 19, 1895.
[House of Lords.]

Held, on the construction of a letter offering an investment as "an excellent security apart from our guarantee," that it was an undertaking to give a guarantee for repayment of the loan when required, and constituted a cautionary obligation which was binding on the undertakers.

CONTRACT.

1. Henderson v. Stubbs Ltd., Nov. 30, 1894.

2. Grierson & Co. Ltd. v. Forbes & Co. Ltd., June 27, 1895.

3. North-Western Bank v. Poynter, etc., Nov. 16, 1894.

[House of Lords.]

4. Scott v. Great North of Scotland Railway Co., Jan. 23, 1895.

5. Carson v. M'Kelvie & Co., March 7, 1895.

1. Purchasers of a company business, who undertook to pay the vendors' present and future liabilities in connexion with the business, held not responsible to a person who was no party to the contract, for a slander published before the purchasers commenced business. 2. The business and contracts of a firm who had undertaken to advertise goods in their trade list were transferred to a limited company, which continued the insertion of the advertisements for the contract period. Held that as the contract involved mutual obligations and, was not assignable, the limited company could not recover under it. 3. A pledgee may redeliver the goods pledged to the pledgor, as his agent for the purpose of sale, without thereby losing his rights under the contract of pledge. 4. A railway company, in regulating its traffic, may assign particular seats to passengers, and though a passenger has taken a seat before one has been allotted to him, the company commits no breach of contract by ordering him to remove to another. 5. A contract to deliver 5000 tons of coal during a period of twelve months, provided for exemption from delivery in case of strikes or unforeseen circumstances. The coalmaster asked his men to accept lower wages than were current in the district, and on their refusal to do so, made no further delivery. Held that he was not relieved, under the exemption clause, from fulfilling his contract.

* These Cases are abbreviated from the ordinary Professional Reports, and are strictly limited to points of general interest and practical importance. The Subjects are arranged Alphabetically in the style of a Digest.

MANSE.

Corke v. Fry, March 9, 1895.

The annual value of an Established Church manse, as a subject which may be turned into money, e.g. by letting, falls to be assessed for income tax as part of the incumbent's income.

PUBLIC COMPANY.

Henderson & Co. v. Stewart, Dec. 7, 1894.

It is the duty of both parties to a compromise between a creditor and the liquidator of a company, which is being wound up under supervision of the Court, to state all facts material to the compromise. A compromise sanctioned by the Court may be reduced, while matters are entire, if such facts be not brought before it.

PUBLIC HOUSE.

Arthur v. Lord Advocate, Feb. 20, 1895.

The Commissioners of Inland Revenue are bound to grant to a holder of a theatre licence, a retail licence to sell exciseable liquors within the theatre, without requiring him to produce a certificate under the Public Houses Acts.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.

1. Elliot v. Purdom, May 7, 1895.

2. Mackenzie v. Mackenzie, May 16, 1895.

[House of Lords.]

3. Purves' Trustees v. Purves, March 16, 1895.

4. Dombrowitzky v. Dombrowitzky, July 16, 1895.

1. An annuity heritably secured by ante-nuptial contract, and payable to a wife during her husband's life for the purpose of defraying his household expenses, is held to be applied for the husband's behoof, and his creditors may claim it preferably to his wife, though it is declared to be her separate estate. 2. A husband's conduct, consisting in menaces of physical restraint, culminating in an act of personal violence, caused his wife such mental distress as to injure her health. Held that she had a reasonable cause for leaving his house, and a good defence to an action of divorce for desertion. 3. Marriage with a deceased wife's niece is illegal, and the issue of such a marriage are illegitimate, though the woman may have believed the marriage legal. 4. A Russian Jew who came to Scotland in 1885, gave evidence in an action of divorce by his wife against him, that he had always intended to return to Russia. It not being proved that he had expressed such intention before the action was raised, the Court held he had acquired a Scotch domicile, and granted decree of divorce.

LEASE.

Mackintosh v. May, Feb. 1, 1895.

A lease of Scotch shootings between a Scotch proprietor and an Englishman, though drawn in English form, is, in the absence of any expressed intention to the contrary, construed according to Scots law, and power to sublet is therefore not implied.

REPARATION.

1. Gardiner v. Main, Nov. 29, 1894.

2. M'Gee v. Anderson, Jan. 19, 1895.

3. Thomson & Co. v. Pattison & Co., March 9, 1895.

4. M'Laughlan v. Orr & Co., Nov. 6, 1895.

1. Three workmen sued their employer, a builder, for damages for injury sustained through the fall of a scaffold, which had been erected by a firm of joiners under contract with a third party. In that action the employer pleaded that the joiners were the only parties in fault, but he compromised the action by a payment to his workmen, after intimation to the joiners. Held that the builder had no action of relief against the joiners for the sums paid to his workmen, as he had not, on his own statement, been bound to pay anything. 2. When a fishing boat is given out "on deal," the proceeds of the fishing are divided among the owner of the boat, the crew, and the owners of the nets. Held that the owner of the boat is a joint adventurer along with the other parties interested, and is liable for damage wrongfully done to a third party by the master and crew to prevent loss to the joint adventure. 3. A charge of fraud is personal to an individual, and in the case of a partnership, it is incompetent to sue for damages for fraud without specifying the names of the partners alleged to have committed the fraud. 4. It is not actionable to hold the public conduct of a person up to ridicule, unless his private character is also attacked, or the criticism of his public conduct is combined with the suggestion of base or indirect motives.

ROAD.

Murray v. Keith, Nov. 23, 1894.

Explosives used in blasting in a quarry are not fireworks in the sense of the Roads and Bridges Act, 1878, and are not forbidden to be let off within 100 feet of a turnpike road.

SALE.

1. Mackirdy's Trustees v. Webster's Trustees, Feb. 1, 1895.
2. Pini & Co. v. Smith & Co., May 29, 1895.
3. Magistrates of Glasgow v. Ireland & Son, June 27, 1895.
4. Valentine v. Reid, June 20, 1895.

1. Right in Security.—The debtor in a security sold the subjects under burden of a bond. The creditor thereafter consented to part of the subjects being feued, and the security restricted to the feu-duties. No intimation was made to the original debtor. Held that before paying under his personal obligation, the debtor was entitled to an assignation of the bond, and as the creditor could not restore the subjects in their entirety, the debtor was freed. 2. Timeous Rejection.—Goods which were sold by pattern, to be delivered at Glasgow, but which were known to be intended to be sent abroad, were rejected at Buenos Ayres. Held they were not timeously rejected, as they should have been examined and the defect discovered before they left this country. 3. Sale by Sample.—A firm of coal exporters obtained from the sellers a sample of coke to send to foreign buyers, who thereafter ordered a shipload of sellers' best coke. On arrival at the port of destination abroad the coke was rejected as disconform to sample. Held that the sale was one by sample, and that the rejection was timeous. 4. Re-sale.—Held, on the construction of an agreement between a farmer and a company who had advanced him the price of cattle bought in their auction mart, that the company became proprietors of the cattle on paying the price, but that they had then committed them to the farmer to fatten and sell for his own behoof. They were therefore barred from recovering them from a purchaser to whom they had been subsequently sold.

SHIP.

1. Carse v. North British Steam Packet Co., March 12, 1895.
2. M'Knight v. Currie, May 24, 1895.
3. Glengarnock Iron, etc. Co. Ltd. v. Cooper & Co., June 12, 1895.
4. Cowdenbeath Coal Co. v. Clydesdale Bank, June 15, 1895.

1. The rule under the Regulations for preventing collisions at sea, 1884, that fishing vessels and open boats must show a white light when anchored at night, does not apply to rowing boats. 2. The principle of maritime lien, which is recognised in England in cases of damage by collision, is unknown in the law of Scotland. 3. Under a contract to deliver goods "free on board" a ship, the duty and expense of loading the cargo falls on the ship. 4. An advance made on the faith of a bill of lading being forwarded when complete is a present debt, and not struck at by the Bankruptcy Acts. A bill of lading is an effectual negotiable instrument, though the amount of cargo shipped is left blank, and when endorsed to a bond fide transferee it defeats the vendor's right to stop in transitu.

TRADE NAME.

Cowan v. Millar, June 28, 1895.

A tenant, who had carried on business for some years in a town within premises well known by a descriptive name, removed his works to a distance from the town. Held that the proprietor of the premises which he had formerly tenanted was entitled to interdict him from using the same name in connexion with his new premises.

TRUSTEE.

1. Carruthers v. Carruthers' Trustees, June 26, 1895.

2. Malcolm v. Goldie, July 19, 1895.

1. Trustees who were directed by the trust deed annually to audit their factor's accounts neglected to do so, and their factor appropriated certain of the trust funds. Held that they were not personally liable to the beneficiaries, as the loss did not result directly from their breach of duty. 2. A body of trustees who had the power of assumption assumed new trustees without consulting one of their number, who had gone to reside in Australia. Held that the assumption was valid.

WILL.

Campbell v. Purdie, March 12, 189

A will signed by a Justice of Peace, for a person who cannot write, is invalid unless the Justice's docquet is holograph, and the defect cannot be remedied after the testator's death.

* Under the "Indian Army Pension Deficiency Act, 1885."

The amount of the revenue of the United Kingdom (Exchequer receipts) for the year 1894–95 adjusted by deduction of charges was as follows:—Total Customs and Inland Revenue, as above, £78,655,000; net revenue from post-office and telegraph service, after deduction of the expenditure of those services, including the packet service (exclusive of payments in aid of local taxation), £3,091,196; Crown lands, £410,000—total receipt of revenue, £82,551,191. The net revenue from the post-office, telegraph, and packet services is given as above by the following statement: Postal revenue, £10,760,000; telegraph revenue, £2,580,000; total revenue, £13,340,000; expenditure, postal, £6,869,000; telegraph, £2,652,804; packet service, £727,000—total expenditure, £10,248,804. The amount of the Exchequer issues to meet the expenditure of the United Kingdom in the same year, adjusted by deduction of extra receipts, was as follows: National Debt services, £24,977,912; naval and military expenditure, under votes, or charged on the Consolidated Fund, and met out of revenue, £35,143,563; civil services charged on the Consolidated Fund, or voted, exclusive of Education and charges transferred from Local to Imperial Funds, and other expenditure of a local character (£8,317,778, less £1,254,290 of extra receipts), £7,063,488; public education, exclusive of portion applied in aid of local taxation (£8,747,279, less £787 of extra receipts), £8,746,492; charges transferred from Local to Imperial Funds (£3,290,898, less £82,418 of extra receipts), £3,208,480,—this, with the two previous items, making the total for the civil services, £19,018,460; Customs expenditure, £835,000; Inland Revenue (£1,811,000, less £85 of miscellaneous receipts), £1,810,915; total Customs and Inland Revenue, £2,645,915; grand total of expenditure, £81,785,850,—so that there was during the year an excess of income over expenditure of £765,341.

THE FINANCIAL YEAR, 1895-96.

The following Table shows the total receipts into and total issues out of the Exchequer to meet payments in the half-year between April 1, 1895, and September 30, 1895, with the Budget estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the financial year ending 31st March 1896:—

The total receipts in the United Kingdom for the purposes of local taxation were £71,140,903 in 1890-91; £76,374,652 in 1891-92; and £82,129,425 in 1892-93. They were £36,496,000 in the year 1867-68, viz., £30,441,000 in England, £3,000,000 in Scotland, and £3,055,000 in Ireland.

The outstanding debts of the Local Authorities in Scotland amounted, at the end of the year 1890-91 to £25,847,588; at the end of 1891-92 to £26,278,154; at the end of 1892-93 to £28,295,797.

LOCAL TAXATION IN SCOTLAND.

In accordance with the wishes of the Secretary for Scotland, Dr Skelton, Vice-President of the Local Government Board (Scotland), has made inquiry into the progressive increase of local taxation in Scotland, with special reference to the proportion of local burdens borne by the different classes of real property. The results are embodied in a long and valuable report, in which, after considering the present and past position of local rating, the growth of taxation, the increase of valuation of real property, the effect of geographical position on rating, and the contrast in the amount of direct local taxation borne by lands, houses, and other property respectively, in 1848 and 1893, Dr Skelton states the general conclusions reached:—

1. The expenditure (excluding loans) of local authorities in 1848 was £1,634,000, and the total receipts (excluding loans) £1,623,000, of which there was obtained from rates—i.e., direct taxation—£903,000; from tolls, dues and other indirect taxation, £475,000; imperial subventions, £15,000; all other sources, £230,000. In 1867 the corresponding figures were, expenditure, £2,854,000; receipts, rates, £1,793,000; tolls, etc., £600,000; imperial subventions, £151,000; all other receipts, £297,000—total, £2,841,000. In 1881, expenditure, £4,664,000; receipts, rates, £2,956,000; tolls, etc., £928,000; imperial subventions, £546,000; all other receipts, £503,000—total, £4,933,000. In 1893, expenditure, £7,593,000; receipts, rates, £3,780,000; tolls, etc., £868,000; imperial subventions, £1,357,000; all other receipts, £1,738,000,—total, £7,743,000. 2. Of the total receipts from rates in 1848, £180,000 were raised in urban districts, £545,000 in parochial districts, and £178,000 in rural districts; in 1867, £555,000 in urban districts, £913,000 in parochial districts, and £325,000 in rural districts; in 1881, £1,208,000 in urban districts, £1,337,000 in parochial districts, £411,000 in rural districts; in 1893, £1,722,000 in urban districts, £1,429,000 in parochial districts, and £629,000 in rural districts. 3. In 1848 the gross valuation of urban districts was estimated from returns made to the Board of Supervision at £3,000,000, and of rural districts at £7,236,000; in 1867, burgh valuation £5,395,000, rural valuation £11,313,000*; in 1881, burgh valuation £10,566,000, rural valuation £13,864,000*; in 1893, burgh valuation £13,078,000, rural valuation £13,299,000.* 4. The average rate per £ of all rates for the whole of Scotland, calculated on the gross valuation, was, in 1848, 1s. 9½d.; in 1867, 2s. 2½d.; in 1881, 2s. 7¾d.; in 1893, 3s. 1½d. 5. Calculated on the same principle the average rates were, in 1848, urban authorities 1s. 2½d., rural authorities 6d., parochial authorities 1s. 0½d.; in 1867, urban authorities 2s. 0½d., rural authorities 7d., parochial authorities 1s. 1½d.; in 1881, urban authorities 2s. 3½d., rural authorities 7d., parochial authorities 1s. 2½d.; in 1893, urban authorities 2s. 7½d., rural authorities 11½d., parochial authorities 1s. 2½d. 6. The average rates were, in 1848, in urban districts 2s. 5d., in rural districts 1s. 6d.; in 1893, in urban districts 3s. 8½d., rural districts 2s. 0½d.; but it must be borne in mind that the indirect road rate (tolls) which was collected in 1848 is no longer levied. 7. The rate per £ of non-remunerative †

* Many police burghs and certain small royal and parliamentary burghs are assessed in the county for police, road, or other purposes, and consequently these valuations include the valuations of the burghs in question, and are much in excess of the valuation of the landward districts.

† Non-remunerative taxes are those from which the ratepayers themselves derive no benefit; remunerative those in return for which benefits are received, e.g. drainage, water supply, paving, lighting, etc.

taxation was in 1848, in urban districts 1s. 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., in rural districts 11 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.; in 1893, in urban districts 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., in rural districts 8 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.; and the rate per £ of remunerative taxation was in 1848, in urban districts 10 $\frac{1}{2}$ d., in rural districts 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.; in 1893, in urban districts 2s. 10d., in rural districts 1s. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. 8. The decline in the rate per £ of non-remunerative taxes in rural districts is attributable to the fall in the rate for relief of the poor. The great increase in remunerative rating in rural districts is mainly due to (1) the transfer of road expenditure from indirect to direct taxation, (2) the new school board rates, and (3) additional rating for sanitary purposes. 9. The diminution in the non-remunerative rates in urban districts is also due to reduced poor law burdens, while the remunerative rating has risen on account of greater expenditure on education, sanitation, roads, and burgh improvement generally. 10. For the higher direct rates in rural districts, therefore, improved roads, a better system of education, and more satisfactory sanitation were obtained. In urban districts also, the increased assessment had been devoted to education, sanitation, and improvements tending to increased health and comfort generally. 11. The average rates are higher both in rural and urban districts at the present time than at any other period for which statistics are available. 12. The local indebtedness in 1848 of urban authorities was £2,594,000, of rural authorities £2,089,000; in 1867, of urban authorities £6,071,000, of rural authorities £1,832,000, of parochial authorities £205,000; in 1881, of urban authorities £15,900,000, of rural authorities £1,240,000, of parochial authorities £3,022,000; in 1893, of urban authorities £23,490,000, of rural authorities £733,000, of parochial authorities £4,073,000. 13. It is estimated that the amount of direct local taxation borne in 1848 by land, as defined in the income tax schedule valuation, was £463,000, and that in 1893 it had increased to £674,000. The valuation of land gradually increased from £5,634,000 in 1848-49 to a maximum of £7,769,000 in 1879-80, from which date it diminished, and in 1892-93 it amounted to £6,291,000, an amount somewhat greater than the actual rent received by land owners. 14. The amount of direct local taxation borne by houses and other property (excluding land) is estimated to have been £440,000 in 1848 and £3,106,000 in 1893; the valuation of the same £4,785,000 in 1848-49 and £17,889,000 in 1892-93. 15. Local taxation burdens press very heavily on Highland and Island counties; and abnormally high rates are borne by several individual areas in that district—more particularly the county of Zetland. 16. The great bulk of the increased rating is raised in urban districts, and as urban rates fall mainly on the occupier, by far the greatest relative increase of local rating is borne by the occupiers of urban property, whose new rates belong mainly, however, to the “remunerative” class. 17. According to the returns of 1892-93 the imperial subventions paid to burgh authorities amounted to £206,000, to county authorities £177,000, to parochial authorities £974,000; representing a rate per £ of 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in burghs, 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in counties, and 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. in parishes. 18. The year 1848 had been taken as a convenient starting point; but it appeared that, for several years prior to that date, the burden of local taxation, which had been comparatively light during the first thirty or forty years of the century, had shown a decided tendency to increase. Since 1848 the increase in local taxation expenditure has been very rapid, and in view more especially of recent legislation, it seems probable that the expenditure in counties, parishes, and burghs will continue to grow.

LOCAL TAXATION, SCOTLAND,* YEAR 1890-91.—The receipts in Scotland for the purposes of local expenditure in the year 1890-91 were: from rates, £3,657,830; from tolls, dues, fees, fines, and rents, £1,083,864; from grants in aid, £1,098,838; from other sources, excluding loans, £397,878—total, £6,238,410; and from loans, £1,759,939: total receipts, including loans, £7,998,349. The total expenditure during the year, not including repayment of debts, was £6,431,045, and the amount of debt repaid was £1,464,472—total expenditure, including repayments of debt, £7,895,517. The debt increased during the year by £295,467, and amounted at the close of the year to £25,772,683. The interest paid during the year amounted to about £913,000. Of the local taxation revenue of Scotland during the year, 58·6 per cent. was obtained from rates; 17·4 per cent. from tolls, dues, etc.; 17·6 per cent. from grants in aid; and 6·4 per cent. from other sources.

Of the amount raised by rates (£3,657,830) parochial boards received £1,336,226 (including school rate, £579,288); burgh authorities, £1,459,661; County Councils, £654,147; Roads and Bridges trusts, burghs, £157,608; heritors for ecclesiastical purposes, £39,494; and district fishery boards, £10,694. The total assessment amounted in parishes to £701,720; in burghs to £2,291,269; and in counties to £664,841.

The rateable value of Scotland for the year was returned by inspectors of poor at £23,924,882; and the population was 4,025,647. The rate of assessment would therefore amount to 3s. 0½d. per £ of valuation and 18s. 2d. per head of population. Of the £3,657,830 raised by rates, the amount imposed upon owners is given at £1,452,084, and the amount imposed upon occupiers at £2,205,746; but these amounts are approximate only.

YEAR 1891-92.—The receipts in Scotland for the purposes of local expenditure in the year 1891-92 were: from rates, £3,675,971; from tolls, dues, fees, fines, and rents, £1,084,555; from grants in aid, £1,305,061; from other sources, excluding loans, £480,131—total, £6,545,718; and from loans, £1,991,850: total receipts, including loans, £8,537,568. The total expenditure during the year, not including repayment of debts, was £6,782,012; and the amount of debt repaid was £1,419,516—total expenditure, including repayments of debt, £8,201,528. The debt increased during the year by £572,334, and amounted at the close of the year to £26,278,154. The interest paid during the year amounted to about £913,000. Of the local taxation revenue of Scotland during the year, 56·2 per cent. was obtained from rates; 16·6 per cent. from tolls, dues, etc.; 19·9 per cent. from grants in aid; and 7·3 per cent. from other sources.

Of the amount raised by rates (£3,675,971), parochial boards received £1,367,148 (including school rate, £586,860); burgh authorities, £1,487,580; County Councils, £614,449; Roads and Bridges trusts, burghs, £163,835; heritors for ecclesiastical purposes, £32,348; and district fishery boards, £10,611. The total assessment amounted in parishes to £707,496; in burghs to £2,343,415; and in counties to £625,060.

The rateable value of Scotland for the year was returned by inspectors of poor at £23,979,566; and the population was estimated at 4,054,654. The rate of assessment would therefore amount to 3s. 0½d. per £ of valuation and 18s. 2d. per head of population. Of the £3,675,971 raised by rates, the amount imposed upon owners is given at £1,449,786, and the amount imposed upon occupiers at £2,226,185; but these amounts are approximate only.

YEAR 1892-93.—The receipts in Scotland for the purposes of local expenditure in the year 1892-93 were: from rates, £3,779,525; from tolls, dues, fees, fines, and rents, £1,111,275; from grants in aid, £1,356,619; from other sources, excluding loans, £1,302,705—total, £7,550,124; and from loans, £2,257,726: total receipts, including loans, £9,807,850. The total expenditure during the year, not including repayments of debt, was £8,119,831, and the amount of debt repaid was £1,533,274—total expenditure, including repayments of debt, £9,653,105. The debt increased during the year by £724,452, and amounted at the close of the year to £28,295,797. The interest paid during the year amounted to about £1,028,459. Of the local taxation revenue of Scotland during the year, 50·1 per cent. was obtained from rates, 14·7 per cent. from tolls, dues, etc.; 18·0 per cent. from grants in aid; and 17·2 per cent. from other sources.

Of the amount raised by rates (£3,779,525), parochial boards received £1,394,009 (including school rate, £615,265); burgh authorities, £1,721,927; County Councils, £618,536; heritors for ecclesiastical purposes, £34,563; and district fishery boards, £10,490. The total assessment amounted in parishes to £722,982; in burghs to £2,427,517; and in counties to £629,026.

The rateable value of Scotland for the year was returned by inspectors of poor at £24,180,483; and the population was estimated at 4,083,661. The rate of assessment would therefore amount to 3s. 1½d. per £ of valuation and 18s. 6d. per head of population. Of the £3,779,525 raised by rates, the amount imposed upon owners is given at £1,496,868, and the amount imposed upon occupiers at £2,282,657; but these amounts are approximate only.

* Included in the expenditure of County Authorities.

The total amount of local expenditure in the United Kingdom was £70,734,168 in the year 1890-91; £76,127,532 in 1891-92; and £81,316,550 in 1892-93. It was £36,132,834 in the year 1867-68, viz., £30,454,523 in England and Wales, £2,580,600 in Scotland, and £3,097,711 in Ireland. The expenditure for police and education in Ireland is almost entirely provided for out of the Imperial taxes.

PUBLIC DEBT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

At 31st March 1895, the Funded Debt of the United Kingdom was—capital of Unredeemed Funded Debt (inclusive of unclaimed stock and unclaimed dividends), £586,015,919; estimated capital of Terminable Annuities, £53,582,722; and the Unfunded Debt was £17,400,300. Total at 31st March 1895, £656,998,941. At 31st March 1894, the Funded Debt was—capital of Unredeemed Funded Debt, £587,631,096; estimated capital of Terminable Annuities, £57,076,898; and the Unfunded Debt was £21,446,300. Total at 31st March 1894, £666,154,294.

At 31st March 1895 there was to be added to the National Debt of

LOANS FOR LOCAL WORKS.

The total amount of the sums advanced on loan for public works between 1792 and 31st March 1895 was £128,116,957. The amount of principal repaid by borrowers between the same dates was £75,090,441; while £12,150,607 of principal had been remitted. ### THE CUSTOMS.

The Thirty-ninth Report of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Customs upon the Customs is for the year ended 31st March 1895.

The gross receipt of Imperial Customs revenue in that year, including £2,093,696 collected by the Inland Revenue Department, but under deduction of £192,034 for drawbacks on goods exported and over-entries, was £20,138,948, in addition to which £74,626 was received for Isle of Man duties, £194,415 (including £34,664 collected by Inland Revenue) to account of Local Taxation, £50,861 for services rendered to the Board of Trade and to the Isle of Man, and from the proceeds of sale of seized goods, £5,519,620 for Inland Revenue duties collected by Customs officers, £538,684 from Board of Trade moneys received in connexion with the shipping offices, wrecks, light dues, etc., and £9283 for Stationery Office for sale of bills of entry, etc. The total payments to the Exchequer not only exceeded those of the preceding year by £408,000, but were higher than those of any year since 1889-90. The charges were equal to £3, 14s. 6d. per cent. on the gross receipt and £3, 15s. 2d. on the net produce thereof. The only changes in the tariff during the year were the additional beer and spirit duties as provided in the Finance Act (1894); but in one important branch of work administered by the department—the registration of shipping—the existing shipping law, from the Merchant Shipping Act of 1854 till 1894, had been consolidated, with such corrections as tended to uniformity of expression and adaptation to existing law and practice, with one or two additions in favour of the subject.

The gross receipt showed an increase of £818 on chicory, and an increase of £3868 on coffee, and the revenue from cocoa and chocolate increased by £16,685. The gross revenue from currants fell by £10,689 to £110,177, a result due to the large and excellent supplies of raisins, and the increased quantities of green and preserved fruits at the disposal of consumers; as well as to the fact that the previous year was one of exceptional activity in the currant trade. Raisins increased from £189,291 in 1893-94 to £217,045.

On foreign spirits the gross receipts showed an increase of £131,166 on rum, but a fall of £91,468 on brandy, the result probably in the former case of the severe cold in January and February, and in the latter of high price owing to a disappointing vintage. In both cases payment of duty had been held back to a considerable extent towards the close of the financial year, in anticipation of the repeal of the additional 6d. per gallon imposed by the Finance Act, 1894. On Geneva and other sorts of spirits there was an increase of £26,877. The gross revenue collected on spirits of all kinds in 1894-95 was £20,841,561 (viz., foreign and colonial spirits £4,392,451, and British spirits £16,449,110).

The revenue from tea showed a substantial increase of £94,445 (£3,594,354, as against £3,499,909 in the preceding year). There is at present no sign of any discontinuance of healthy progress in this important branch of revenue.

On tobacco (the gross revenue being £10,608,934) there was an increase of £296,810. In 1893-94 the great midland coal strike seriously affected the revenue receipts from this source, and rendered the amount abnormally low; but even keeping this in mind, the advance must be considered a very satisfactory one.

The gross receipt from wine (£1,144,853) showed a decrease of £66,478, thus continuing the downward inclination apparent ever since 1876, except during 1890 and 1891. The fall in consumption appeared to have affected every class of wine.

The number of detentions made in the United Kingdom, in terms of the Merchandise Marks Act, in 1894-95 was 7666, of which 1054 were made in the Parcels Post, as against 5516 and 617 in the previous year. The number of detentions of goods entered as being in transit or for re-shipment was 84, as against 64 in the previous year. There had been, during the year, a considerable falling off in the quantities of goods seized in the hands of smugglers, in the total number of persons convicted of smuggling, and in the number and amount of penalties recovered.

Of the gross receipt of Customs revenue in the year 1894-95 (£20,600,029) there was collected at the port of London, £8,823,648; at Liverpool, £3,015,126; at other ports in England, £2,902,180; and by the Inland Revenue in England, £1,739,299—making the total collected in England, £16,480,253; at ports in Scotland, £1,765,049, and by Inland Revenue in Scotland, £190,246—making the total collected in Scotland, £1,955,295; at ports in Ireland, £1,965,666, and by Inland Revenue in Ireland, £198,815—making the total collected in Ireland, £2,164,481.

Excluding the Isle of Man duties (£60,227), the gross receipt of Customs duties in the year 1894-95 was £20,539,802. The net produce was £20,138,948—as against £19,698,698 in the previous year, an increase of £440,250.

224 PARLIAMENTARY PAPERS—THE CUSTOMS, ETC. [PART II.]

INLAND REVENUE.

The Thirty-eighth Report of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Inland Revenue on the Inland Revenue is for the year ended 31st March 1895.

Excluding the receipts transferred to Local Taxation and other accounts, the net receipt for the year 1894-95 amounted to £58,596,750, being an increase of £2,780,155 upon the previous year. There was an increase of £628,765 on excise; of £1,804,051 on stamps; of £18,594 on land tax; of £21,746 on inhabited house duty; and of £306,999 on income-tax. The increase under excise was due to the augmented duties on beer and spirits; under stamps to the new scheme of death duties; and under income-tax to the additional penny imposed, after making allowance for the concessions granted in the Budget.

I. EXCISE DUTIES.

The following Table exhibits the net receipts of the duties of Excise (after deducting duties transferred to Local Taxation account. etc.), in the United Kingdom in the years (ended 31st March) 1894 and 1895. The duty on railways was levied in Great Britain only, and the duty on chicory in England only:—

Spirits.—The number of gallons of spirits charged with duty in the United Kingdom in 1894-95 was 30,033,520 (viz., England, 11,982,512; Scotland, 10,546,318; Ireland, 7,504,690). [These figures show the quantities of spirits used for all purposes on which duty was paid.] The number of gallons consumed as beverage in the United Kingdom in 1894-95 was 29,291,300 (viz., England, 19,231,943; Scotland, 6,019,430; Ireland, 4,039,927). The decrease in 1894-95 in the quantity consumed as beverage was 533,182 gallons (2·69 per cent.) in England; 402,859 gallons (6·27 per cent.) in Scotland; 225,041 gallons (5·27 per cent.) in Ireland; and 1,161,082 gallons (3·81 per cent.) in the United Kingdom.

The quantity of British spirits remaining in bonded stores at 31st March 1895 was 108,195,402 gallons, and 103,313,208 gallons at 31st March 1894. The quantity in warehouse accordingly represented more than three years' consumption. The quantity of spirits distilled in the United Kingdom in the year 1894-95 was 44,870,357 gallons. The number of distilleries at work during the year ended 30th September 1894 was, in England, 11, in Scotland, 132, and in Ireland, 27—a decrease of 1 in Ireland as compared with the previous year; and it is estimated that they used 1,049,815 quarters malt, 1,103,613 quarters unmalted grain, 409,985 cwts. of molasses, 62,286 cwts. rice, 27,867 cwts. sugar, and 43,804 cwts. dari. The quantity of British spirits exported in the year 1894-95 was 3,854,102 gallons. The total quantity of all spirits methylated in the year 1894-95 was 3,587,003 gallons, against 3,543,586 gallons in the previous year. The quantity of plain foreign spirits entered for home consumption was 1,154,263 gallons in 1894-95, as against 1,176,118 gallons in the preceding year. The number of detections of illicit distillation was 1121 (4 in England, 10 in Scotland, and 1107 in Ireland).

Beer.—The number of barrels of beer charged with duty in the year ended 31st March 1895 was, in England, 27,248,804; in Scotland, 1,758,852; in Ireland, 2,670,801; and in the United Kingdom, 31,678,486. The net receipts from the beer duty in 1894-95, deducting the sum repaid in respect of beer exported, was £10,494,329; £560,008 above the net receipt in 1893-94. The amount of duty (3d. on each barrel of beer) surrendered to the Local Taxation account was £392,279, leaving for Imperial purposes £10,102,050. The quantity of beer brought to charge in the United Kingdom showed a decrease of 1·56 per cent. as compared with the previous year. The change was apportioned as follows:—England, decrease 1·93 per cent.; Scotland, increase ·82 per cent.; Ireland, increase 1·19 per cent.

The amount of duty charged on beer brewed for domestic use, included in the gross amount of beer duty given above, was £13,720. The number of licences issued in the United Kingdom in 1894-95 was 17,041 (4791 at 9s. and 12,250 at 4s.), and was 158 below the number in the previous year.

The quantity of beer exported on drawback in 1894-95 was 497,059 barrels, as against 483,964 in the previous year; and there were imported in the year 1894, 1531 barrels spruce, and 41,590 barrels beer, as against 1522 barrels spruce, and 42,241 barrels beer, in the previous year.

A table contained in the Report shows that the consumption per head of the population in the years 1852 and 1894 was, spirits of all kinds, 1·095 gall. and ·966 gall.; foreign wines, ·231 gall. and ·355 gall.; beer, ·610 barrel and ·818 barrel; tea, 1·993 lb. and 5·525 lbs.; coffee, 1·274 lb. and ·685 lb.; cocoa, ·121 lb. and ·578 lb.

Licences.—The numbers of licences issued in Great Britain in the year ended 31st March 1895 were as follows:—Male servants, 190,977 (Scotland, 18,192), duty, £143,459; carriages, whole year licences—hackney carriages, 102,359 (Scotland, 13,117), duty, £76,769; other carriages at 42s., 46,913 (Scotland, 5428), duty, £98,517; at £1. 1s., 76,545 (Scotland, 7636), duty, £80,372; at 15s., 234,856 (Scotland, 27,788), duty, £213,918; licences (part of year)—hackney carriages, 911 (Scotland, 163), duty, £342; other carriages at 21s., 300 (Scotland, 21), duty, £315; at 10s. 6d., 537 (Scotland, 48), duty, £282; at 7s. 6d., 2375 (Scotland, 202), duty, £891: total number, carriages, 514,796

(Scotland, 54,403); total duty, £471,406. Armorial bearings at 42s., 15,140 (Scotland, 1290), duty, £31,794; armorial bearings at 21s., 40,644 (Scotland, 2813), duty, £42,795; total duty, armorial bearings, £74,589. Dog licences, number, 1,293,531 (Scotland, 103,144), duty, £485,151. [The proceeds of all these licences, as well as the gun and game licences in England and Scotland, have been surrendered to Local Taxation.]

The number of game licences issued in the United Kingdom in the financial year 1894-95 was 60,609 (Scotland, 7485), duty, £170,205; and, besides, 6662 occasional licences (Scotland, 819), duty, £6662. The number of licences to deal in game was 3905 (Scotland, 397), duty, £7810. The number of gun licences was 199,450 (Scotland, 17,962), duty, £99,732.

Coffee Mixture Labels.—The number of coffee mixture labels issued in the year 1894-95 was—½d. labels, 520,076; 1d. labels, 245,846. The net amount received for them was £2101.

The total amount of Excise duties levied in Scotland was £5,708,824 in the financial year 1892-93; £5,833,218 in 1893-94; and £6,012,862 in 1894-95; besides £456,954 in 1892-93, £460,559 in 1893-94, and £458,969 for local taxation.

II. STAMPS.

The net receipts from stamps in the year ended 31st March 1895 was £14,587,684, as against £12,783,633 in the previous year—net increase, £1,804,051. The principal items in the year 1894-95 were as follows:—Estate duty (1894), £2,781,579; probate, inventory, and account duty, £1,108,360; legacy duty, £2,808,967; succession duty, £1,350,430; estate duty, personalty, £471,948; realty, £193,658—total, death duties, £8,714,942; deeds and other instruments, £2,867,120; bills of exchange and promissory notes, £626,142; receipt, draft, and other penny inland revenue stamps, £1,202,747; bankers' notes and composition for do., £121,717; licences and certificates, £166,900; patent medicines, £234,881; marine insurances, £136,883; securities to bearer, £127,832; joint stock companies' capital, £159,870.

The result of the great changes introduced into the system of the death duties by the Finance Act of 1894 [Almanac for 1895, pp. 175-183] would be fully appreciated only in the course of a number of years, but the actual outcome (Budget estimate £1,000,000) for 1894-95 was an increase of £960,258 on the total yield. The probate and account duties, no longer payable on the estates of persons dying after 1st August 1894, fell off by £1,254,699, and the temporary estate duty of 1889, which was similarly affected, decreased by £566,622; but, on the other hand, the new estate duty brought in £2,781,579. A very considerable increase under the head of deeds and other instruments arose chiefly from the great expansion of business in mining and other securities on the stock exchange.

III. LAND TAX AND HOUSE DUTY.

The produce of the land tax was £1,021,705 in the year 1894-95, and of the inhabited house duty £1,462,373. The increase on the land tax was £18,594, and the increase on the inhabited house duty £21,746. The annual value of houses charged with house duty was, in Great Britain, in the year ended 5th April 1894, £68,743,530. In the year 1893-94 there was an increase in the annual value of houses charged of £2,812,559 and an increase in the gross amount of duty charged of £60,946. The number of houses charged with duty was 1,342,148, an increase of 59,396. There were 263,334 shops, 85,656 beer-houses, 31,835 farm-houses, 15,048 lodging-houses, and 946,275 dwelling-houses.

IV. PROPERTY AND INCOME TAX.

The net receipts from income tax in the years (ended 31st March) 1894 and 1895, appropriated to schedules, are shown in the following Table:—

Schedule A .....	£4,937,700	£4,752,224	...	£185,476
" B .....	253,550	189,258	...	64,292
" C .....	1,114,900	1,257,539	£142,639	...
" D .....	7,973,629	8,352,451	378,822	...
" E .....	1,062,584	1,097,890	35,306	...
	£15,342,363	£15,649,362	£556,767	£249,768
Net Increase, £306,999.

The foregoing is only an approximate appropriation of the net receipts under the several schedules of the income-tax, based, for 1894-95, on the statistics of the tax in the previous year. The changes introduced by the Finance Act (1894) prevent a fair comparison with the results of the prior year. The assessments for the year ended 5th April 1894 showed a decrease of £6,146,242 in the gross annual value, and a decrease of £2,517,427 in the net annual value—the gross annual value having been £706,130,875, and the net annual value £594,584,537. In the gross annual value there was a decrease of £5,961,262 (0·98 per cent.) in England, a decrease of £417,355 (0·64 per cent.) in Scotland, and an increase of £232,375 (0·61 per cent.) in Ireland. Under Schedule A there was an increase of £3,955,649 in the gross annual value, viz., an increase of £3,562,551, or 2·11 per cent., in England, an increase of £326,532, or 1·63 per cent., in Scotland, and an increase of £66,566, or 0·48 per cent., in Ireland. The gross annual value of lands showed a decrease of £738,788 in England, a decrease of £39,221 in Scotland, and an increase of £803 in Ireland—a total decrease of £777,206. The decline in the value of lands has been continuous since 1879-80, and by 1893 amounted to £13,336,062, as shown by the assessments under Schedule A. Under Schedule B the gross assessments showed a decrease of £1,586,661—a decrease of £1,549,114 in England, a decrease of £38,028 in Scotland, and an increase of £481 in Ireland. The net annual assessments under Schedule B showed an increase of £231,488. It is stated that 485 farmers availed themselves of the option of being assessed under Schedule D instead of Schedule B. Schedule C showed an increase from £38,345,642 to £38,913,492—the change in figures from last year being due to the transference of the “interest of municipal and corporation stocks and loans” entirely to Schedule D. Under Schedule D there was a decrease in the gross assessments of £10,090,643, viz., a decrease of £9,298,576, or 2·95 per cent., in England, a decrease of £883,912, or 2·49 per cent., in Scotland, and an increase of £91,845, or 0·80 per cent., in Ireland. The net assessments under Schedule D showed a decrease of £10,288,119. The gross amount of salaries assessed under Schedule E showed an increase of £1,007,563 as compared with 1892-93, and the number assessed increased by 3714 to 250,503. There were increases under Schedule D in Scotland, under railways, £196,000, or 4·78 per cent.; and ironworks, £87,000, or 22·50 per cent. There were decreases under trades, £715,000, or 3·56 per cent.; public companies, £320,000, or 5·17 per cent.; and mines, £67,000, or 4·30 per cent.

In 1893-94 the abatement of £120 allowed on incomes under £400 a year was granted to 454,981 persons (389,131 in England, 45,811 in Scotland, and 20,039 in Ireland); and the amount exempted from taxation in consequence of the abatement was £54,598,229 (£46,695,895 in England, £5,497,505 in Scotland, and £2,404,829 in Ireland). It is stated that 40,322 persons obtained repayment of duty, making an addition of £4,838,708 to the amount of income relieved from duty. The result of the allowance of £120 on incomes under £400 on the assessments for 1893-94 was therefore to afford to 495,303 persons relief from the incidence of the income-tax to an amount of £59,436,937. It appears, too, that during the year 137,549 persons had the benefit of allowance on premiums for life insurance to the amount of £3,075,752, while 11,008 obtained repayment of duty on account of insurances, the amount allowed being £1,265,520.

The next Table shows the net amount of property and income charged under each schedule of the Income Tax Acts in Scotland and in the United Kingdom for the years (ended 5th April) 1893 and 1894, and the amount of duty charged in the United Kingdom:—

SCHEDULES.	Property and Income charged in year ended 5th April 1893.			Property and Income charged in year ended 5th April 1894.

The total of the land tax, inhabited house duty, and property and income tax levied in Scotland was £1,341,766 in the year 1892-93; £1,535,498 in the year 1893-94; and £1,576,718 in the year 1894-95.

The amount of the Inland Revenue surrendered to Local Taxation accounts for 1894-95, in accordance with various Acts, in lieu of grants previously voted annually by Parliament in respect of dis-turnpiked and main roads, and maintenance of the poor, pauper lunatics, etc., was as follows:—Local Taxation licences and fines, England and Wales, £3,178,448; Scotland, £335,653; beer duty, England and Wales, £313,823; Scotland, £43,151; Ireland, £35,305; spirit duty, England and Wales, £585,923; Scotland, £80,564; Ireland, £65,916; probate duty—a moiety of net receipt—England and Wales, £886,688; Scotland, £121,920; Ireland, £99,752; estate duty, 1894 ( $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on the net capital value of personalty passing under will or intestacy in the United Kingdom), England and Wales, £825,346; Scotland, 113,485; Ireland, £92,851: total, £6,778,827, a decrease on the prior year of £239,840.

THE POST-OFFICE.

The Forty-first Report of the Postmaster-General on the Post-Office is for the year ended 31st March 1895.

The number of post-offices in the United Kingdom had been increased by 254 during the year, and there was a total in the United Kingdom of 20,270. The number of letter-boxes was increased to 26,819. On 31st March 1895 there were 138,738 persons in the service of the department, of whom 57,954 (6489 women) were established officers giving their whole time to official duties; 18,955 (4914 women) were sub-postmasters; and 61,829 (16,877 women) were unestablished officers. Care is now taken to see that the allowances to these last are actually paid to the persons for whose services they are granted. The total increase of officers since the previous year was 2627.

An interesting account is given of the improved position and pay of Post-office officials since 1881, and of the many material advantages they enjoy, the increased annual cost of the benefits conferred since that time being £747,980. There is now on an average one post-office to every 6½ square miles all over the United Kingdom. In January 1895, the privilege of free re-direction was extended to post-cards, book-packets, newspapers, and samples. Except in Huddersfield, where the system was first introduced, the public do not seem to make much use of the letter-boxes attached to tram-cars. For indicating on the post-mark the approximate hour at which letters were posted, Arabic numerals were gradually being substituted for the alphabetical code described last year. The enormous extent to which the public had made use of private post-cards showed how greatly the facility was needed, and the court-shaped card introduced in January seems to meet a popular demand. The use of cycles by rural messengers had tended to cause uncertainty in the hour at which the postman was to be expected, and this prevented their general employment; but the objection did not apply to the delivery of telegraph messages. Since January 1895, provincial post-offices had been open on week days, for all kinds of business, from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M.

Letters, Post-cards, Book-packets, Newspapers, and Parcels.—The estimated number of letters delivered in the United Kingdom in the year ended 31st March 1895 was 1,770,900,000, a decrease upon the previous year of 2·3 per cent.; of post-cards, 312,800,000, an increase of 25·9 per cent.; of book-packets and circulars, 614,600,000, an increase of 7·0 per cent.; of newspapers, 151,800,000, a decrease of 7·9 per cent. on last year; of parcels, 57,136,000, an increase of 5·7 per cent. Grand total carried, 2,907,236,000, an increase of 1·9 per cent. The decrease in the numbers of letters and newspapers was due to the estimates of the number of letters delivered in London in recent years having probably been exaggerated, and partly to the increased use of post-cards. The stimulus given to the book-post in 1893 by the permission to employ open envelopes for book-packets had not yet expended its full force. The number of registered letters during the year was 11,958,264, and of registered parcels, 590,788. Of the total number of letters, etc., delivered, about 85 per cent. were delivered in England and Wales (28·7 per cent. being delivered in the London postal district), 8·8 per cent. in Scotland, and 6·3 per cent. in Ireland. The estimated number of letters, etc., delivered in Scotland during the year 1894–95 was 156,000,000, an increase of 1·4 per cent.; and of post-cards, 28,700,000, an increase of 4·7 per cent.; of book-packets and circulars, 60,800,000, an increase of 8·2 per cent.; of newspapers, 17,300,000, a decrease of 2·3 per cent. The number of parcels by parcels post delivered during the year 1894–95 was—England, 47,215,578 (viz., provinces, 37,189,230; London, 10,026,348); Scotland, 6,082,509; Ireland, 3,837,754.

6,101,950 letters, 1,281,595 post-cards, 10,741,381 book-packets and circulars, 580,860 newspapers, 61,771 patterns, and 143,096 parcels, were received in the Returned Letter Offices during the year. Of the letters, only 473,064 could not be disposed of. 115,697 were reissued to corrected addresses, 5,267,433 were returned to the senders, and 245,756 returned unopened to foreign countries. Of the parcels, 113,977 were reissued to corrected addresses or returned to the senders. 30,691 letters were posted without any address, and 1742 of these contained money, cheques, etc., to the value of over £5000.

The gross amount received for parcels delivered in the United Kingdom was £1,285,367 (as against £1,214,235 in the previous year); and the post-office share of this was £673,902. The number of foreign and colonial parcels despatched during the year was 966,672, and the number received was 591,159, a total increase of 198,431 upon the previous year.

Money-orders and Postal-orders.—At 31st March 1895 there were, in the United Kingdom, 11,377 money-order offices, an increase of 270 on the previous year. Inclusive of 1,662,166 orders for £5,772,070 issued gratis for other Government departments, there were issued in the United Kingdom during the year:—Inland orders, 9,190,804 for £24,953,532—England, 7,658,756 (£21,040,022); Scotland, 994,834 (£2,549,597); Ireland, 536,714 (£1,363,913)—colonial, 123,955 for £427,288; foreign, 322,153 for £786,883: an increase in the total number of 173,247, and an increase in the value of £364,926 as compared with the previous year. 391,607 orders for £1,284,530 were also issued in the colonies, and 654,187 for £1,470,894 in foreign countries, and paid in the United Kingdom. Telegraph money-orders increased 23 per cent. in number, and 24 per cent. in amount. The number of postal-orders issued was 60,681,078 for £22,759,282, as compared with 57,232,939 for £21,768,793, in the previous year.

Post-office Savings Banks.—During the year ended the 31st December 1894, 305 new savings-bank offices were opened in the United Kingdom, so that there were 11,323 offices at which savings-bank business was transacted. Including Government stock, and insurance and annuity business, the deposits in the same year were 10,973,651 for £30,439,449, as against 9,838,198 for £24,649,024 in the previous year, and the withdrawals 3,863,886 for £23,786,927, as against 3,618,721 for £21,764,565 in the previous year. The amount of interest credited to depositors was £2,015,903, an increase of £155,799. The total amount standing to the credit of depositors at the end of the year was £89,266,066,—an increase of £8,668,425. There were 1,135,525 accounts opened during the year and 775,001 closed, as against 1,027,160 opened and 731,237 closed in the previous year. The number of accounts remaining open at the end of 1894 was 6,108,763, as compared with 5,748,239 in the previous year:—England and Wales, 5,610,032; Scotland, 238,861; Ireland, 259,870. In 8834 schools efforts were made, through the machinery of the post-office, to train the young in saving. During the year 752 friendly societies and 2342 trade, provident, and charitable societies opened accounts. 12 trustee savings banks were closed, and from these and others still open, deposits of £493,218 and £41,220 stock were transferred to post-office banks.

The total amount of Government stock standing to the credit of depositors at the close of 1894 was £7,028,197, held by 71,304 persons, against £6,364,494, held by 69,131 persons in 1893. The number of investments during the year was 23,532 for £1,625,674 stock, as against 29,298 for £1,544,506 stock in the previous year. The sales numbered 18,315 for £978,091 stock, as against 15,283 for £711,468 stock in the previous year. 3633 transactions were for amounts under £10. There were 159 transfers of stock, valued at £22,774, to the names of depositors in the books of the Bank of England. The amount paid over to the Exchequer after meeting all expenses, including interest to depositors, was in 1894 only £3836.

Post-office Annuities and Life Insurance.—1128 life insurances, amounting to £56,010, were granted during the year, as compared with 853 for £44,000 in the previous year; and the total number of life insurances in existence on 31st December 1894 was 9781 for £601,745. 1565 immediate annuities, and 164 deferred annuities, of the annual values of £41,495 and £3771 respectively, were granted during the year; and there were in existence at 31st December 1894, of the former 13,564, amounting to £300,976, and of the latter 667 money not returnable, amounting to £11,412, and 948 money returnable, amounting to £19,856.

Telegraphs.—381 post-offices and 70 railway offices were opened for telegraph business during 1894-95, which made the total number of such offices 7409 and 2252 respectively. The number of ordinary inland telegrams sent during the year was 58,907,408, an increase of 733,824; receipts, £1,880,206, an increase of £28,871. The number of press (inland) telegrams was 5,401,783, a decrease of 178,905; receipts, £119,061, a decrease of £6709. The number of foreign telegrams was 5,937,715, an increase of 255,890; receipts, £286,215, an increase of £22,486. The total number of telegrams sent during the year was 71,589,064, an increase on the previous year of 689,566; and the receipts from telegrams amounted to £2,285,896, an increase of £44,642. The free telegrams for Government departments (272,649) showed a decrease of 5·4 per cent., and free railway telegrams (1,048,064) a decrease of 9·0 per cent. To the 18 railway companies that had formerly agreed to limit the number of telegrams to be sent without charge 4 more had been added. During the year 19 additional lighthouses and lighthouse stations had been connected, and cables laid to the Hasborough and Shipwash light-vessels, and to the Tuskar lighthouse. While the cable to the Island of Mull was interrupted, communication was successfully carried on by induction between a wire on the mainland and a parallel wire on the island, even a long press telegram being transmitted. The charges for telegrams to East and South Africa had been reduced, and arrangements connected with the extension of the telephone system were being actively pushed on. An interesting historical account of the telegraph system for the last twenty-five years is also given.

Expenditure and Revenue.—The following Table shows the expenditure in relation to postage, money-orders, and postal-orders, in each of the years ended 31st March 1893, 1894, and 1895:—

Year.	Cost of Collection, Delivery, Management, and Money-Order and Postal-Order Business.		Cost of Conveyance of Mails.				Total Cost of Post-office Service.
	Salaries, Wages, Allowances, etc.	Total Cost of Collection, etc.	By Coaches, Carts, & Omnibuses.	By Railways.	By private Ships and by Packets.	Total Cost of Conveyance.
	£	£	£	£	£	£	£
1892-93	4,762,575	5,442,557	343,805	951,909	722,082	2,127,340	7,518,597
1893-94	5,018,417	5,622,697	354,296	998,884	710,585	2,169,826	7,738,602
1894-95	5,223,907	5,842,449	361,536	995,894	747,408	2,201,707	7,978,284

In the year ended 31st March 1895 the cost (included in the totals given above) of the manufacture of postage stamps, post-cards, and stamped newspaper wrappers, was £150,179; of stationery, £79,928; of buildings and repairs, rents, rates, taxes, fuel, and light, £388,435; of supply and repair of mail-bags and boxes, tolls and ferryage, and other charges, £89,140; of the conveyance of mails over the Isthmuses of Suez and Panama, and in other foreign parts, £7729. From the total cost of conveyance given above is to be deducted the cost of conveyance of savings bank correspondence—£65,872 in 1894-95—so that the net cost of conveyance in that year was £2,135,835.

The next Table shows the gross and net revenue of the post-office, from postage, money-orders, and postal-orders in the years ended 31st March 1893, 1894, and 1895:—

Year.	Gross Revenue from Letters, Newspapers, Books, etc.	Money-Order Commission.	Postal Orders.	Total Postal Revenue.	Total Cost of Post-Office Service.	Net Revenue.
	£	£	£	£	£	£
1892-93	9,971,073	131,184	242,096	10,344,353	7,518,597	2,825,756
1893-94	10,094,366	131,593	246,916	10,472,875	7,738,602	2,734,273
1894-95	10,355,464	131,772	260,778	10,748,014	7,978,284	2,769,730

During the five years 1885-90 the average net revenue of the post-office from postage, money-orders, and postal-orders was £2,858,967; and during the five years ended 31st March 1895 it was £2,908,489.

The gross earnings of the Telegraph Service in the year ended 31st March 1895 amounted to £2,598,985,—an increase of £64,721 upon the previous year. The expenditure during the year charged to the Telegraph vote was £2,675,339. This gives a deficit for the Telegraphs in 1894-95 of £76,354. Adding to the telegraph revenue as given above the value of the work done without payment for other departments, and the amount realized by the sale of waste paper and old materials, it is found that the total telegraph revenue for the year 1894-95 was £2,646,414; and, on the other hand, adding to the telegraph expenditure as given above expenses incurred on account of the telegraphs by other departments, the total telegraph expenditure for the year was £2,800,329. Adding to the expenditure as thus shown the annual interest on the capital invested in the Telegraphs, £298,888, there was a deficit for the year of £452,803.

The total postal revenue for the year 1894-95 showed an increase in round numbers of £276,000, while the expenditure showed an increase of £240,000. The total telegraph revenue for 1894-95 showed an increase of £65,000, while the expenditure showed an increase of £34,000. Taking the postal and telegraph services together, there was an increased revenue of only £341,000, and an increased expenditure of £274,000. The proportion of salaries and wages to the total revenue has increased from 35·40 per cent. in 1883-84 to 47·03 per cent. in 1894-95; and to the total expenditure in the same period from 48·76 to 59·80 per cent.

EDUCATION.

The Twenty-second Annual Report of the Committee of Privy Council on Education in Scotland is for the year ended 30th September 1894. In the year ended at that date the inspectors visited 3054 day-schools in Scotland to which annual grants were made, containing 3460 departments under separate teachers, and furnishing accommodation for 770,244 scholars, or more than one-sixth of the estimated population. There were on the registers the names of 686,335 children, of whom 137,551 were under seven years of age; 496,587 between seven and thirteen; 36,157 between thirteen and fourteen; and 16,040 above fourteen. Of these scholars, 643,458 were present on the day of the inspector's visit to their respective schools, while 567,442 were, on an average, in daily attendance throughout the year; while the average attendance on which the grant was claimed under the Code of 1893 (Art. 19, B.), was 569,748—70,016 in infant departments, 309,247 under Standard III., and 190,485 above Standard III.; and on the total average attendance, the "fair" teaching grant was earned by 4·76 per cent., the "good" by 58·43, and the "excellent" by 36·81. These figures, and especially the last item, showed that the improvement the department had previously recorded from year to year was well maintained. The local contributions to the support of the system from which these results were obtained consisted (1) of voluntary subscriptions (£29,188); (2) of rates amounting to £296,045 for the maintenance of schools, apart from the interest or repayment of loans (an increase upon the previous year of £5750); and (3) of school-pence. The income from the last source has, by the grants under the Parliamentary Vote and the Local Taxation Act, 1890, undergone considerable modification. The total amount representing this source of income for the year under consideration was £384,514, but of this £334,910 was contributed from the Fee Grant and under the Local Taxation Act. The sum above mentioned, of course, does not represent the full expenditure from the rates on education. The total amount raised from the education rate in 1893-94 was £644,432, or £1, 5s. 11d. per head on the average attendance in public schools, the average rate being 7·57 pence (as against 7·30 pence in the previous year). On the other hand, the Parliamentary grants to day-inspected schools increased from £570,678 to £597,417, the rate of grant increasing from 21s. 0½d. to 21s. 0½d. for each scholar in average attendance. The night-schools examined during the year were 669; 32,934 scholars above twelve years of age were, on an average, in attendance; and 36,818 scholars were present at H.M. Inspector's visit. The increase from last year fully showed the stimulating effect of the new Evening Continuation School Code, and afforded proof of the usefulness of such schools in rendering permanent the work begun in the day schools. The seven training colleges (which are also under the supervision of the Department) were attended in 1894 by 939 students, 409 of whom, along with 259 graduates and acting teachers, were examined for certificates in December 1894.

The number of schools on the annual grant list was, in 1872, 1902 (many of these schools have been discontinued or transferred to School Boards); in 1892, 3108; in 1893, 3105; and in 1894, 3119. Of the 3119 schools aided in 1894, 2700 were public schools, 44 Church of Scotland schools, 15 Free Church schools, 74 Episcopal schools, 179 Roman Catholic schools, and there were 107 undenominational and other schools.

There might be 824,607 (1 in 5) on the registers, and 687,173 (1 in 6) in average daily attendance, but only 699,716 are on the registers, and 578,455 in average attendance—or for every 100 children (for whom 95 places have been provided), 84 on the registers, and 70 in daily attendance. The number in average attendance is now more than keeping pace with the larger number on the registers, but might, without unduly straining the compulsory clauses, be considerably increased. By the provisions of the Local Government Act (1889) fees were relieved, in all but exceptional cases, for scholars in the compulsory standards of the Code, and by the Local Taxation Act (1890) a further sum of £40,000 has been applied to this purpose. For fee grant in Scotland to be distributed for relief of fees the sum of £286,000 was voted in 1893-94, and £10,357 was available under the Education and Local Taxation Account (Scotland) Act, 1892. These sums are now distributed on an age limit (3-15) instead of for scholars who had not passed the fifth standard, the capitation grant being in 1894-95 at the rate of 12s. The number of scholars between 3 and 15 was, for the year, approximately 695,086, or, deducting the approximate number in fee-paying schools and in schools not claiming the grant in relief of fees (20,315) 674,771, and for these the payments under the Acts named amounted in 1894-95 to £348,799.

The statistics of the year show the following results:—For every 100 scholars in average attendance—i. 52 were boys, and 48 were girls; ii. 20 were infants, i.e., below seven years of age, 39 were between seven and ten, 41 were above ten; iii. 84 were paid for at Excellent rate for organisation and discipline; 16 were paid for at Good rate; iv. 37 were paid for on examination in Standard subjects at Excellent rate; 58 were paid for at Good rate; 5 were paid for at Fair rate; v. 79 secured grants under Art. 19, C.; and vi. 8 were presented for examination under Art. 21 (specific subjects).

The relief of scholars below the third standard from individual examination, introduced as an experiment in 1886, has now been carried out on a wider scale, so that individual examination does not now form the basis of any payment for the ordinary standard work of the school. This important change has been fully justified by the results, and has contributed greater freedom and elasticity to the instruction without lessening its efficiency.

The grant under Article 19, C., of the Code now in force, which is for the encouragement of class subjects, representing something beyond the bare requirements of the Standard examination, and which are tested by the efficiency of the classes as a whole, and not by the knowledge attained by individual scholars, had received greater importance, owing to the range of the class subjects having been considerably increased, and a more important place assigned to them in the work of the schools. Of 3063 departments (exclusive of infant's departments) examined during the year, class subjects had been taken in 3055—one subject only in 51; two subjects in 705; three subjects in 2299; and (while no payment had been recommended in 19 cases) grants were awarded in 3036 departments, representing an average attendance of 449,669 scholars over seven years of age, the average sum earned being 5s. 6d. per scholar. English was taken in 3040 cases; 2990 departments took geography, 2132 history, 100 elementary science, and 251 needlework. Specific subjects, which represent the amount of individual higher instruction, tested by individual examination, sought to be given in the schools, were taken during the year by a large number of pupils—in 1787 out of a total of 3063 departments. 47,332 scholars were presented in specific subjects; and 3686 passed in three subjects, 11,606 in two, and 26,258 in one. School managers have now the most complete freedom in suggesting subjects suitable for the requirements of their respective localities, as well as in drawing up for approval schemes under which such instruction may be given. Military drill is now systematically taught in 441 schools, and cookery in 607; while savings banks have been established in 196 schools, and libraries in 341.

The number of certificated teachers in the schools inspected in 1894 (8706 as against 2406 employed in 1869) gave 1 certificated teacher for every 65 of the average attendance. The training colleges, which constitute the chief source of the teaching supply, can at present furnish a yearly supply of rather more than 450 teachers who have been trained for two years, which is not quite sufficient to fill up the waste (calculated at 6 per cent.) in the staff now employed.

The average salary of a schoolmaster, whether principal or assistant, is £138, 3s. 0d.; and that of a schoolmistress, £65, 13s. 1d.; while 1687 masters and 458 mistresses are also provided with residences.

Payments by School Boards under the Education of Blind and Deaf-Mute Children (Scotland) Act of 1890, of from £10 to £15, have been sanctioned in respect of 173 children (103 deaf-mute, 68 blind, and 2 both blind and deaf-mute); and in the 38 schools under inspection with special provision for blind and deaf-mute children, grants of £3, 3s. were, during the year ended 30th September 1894, paid on account of each of 505 scholars whose attainments in elementary or class subjects were found to be satisfactory, and of £2, 2s. on account of each of 459 who had made satisfactory progress in some course of manual instruction.

The conditions required for an increased grant in Highland schools were fulfilled during the year by 621 out of 668 schools inspected in the specified counties, and extra grants amounting to about £7948 had been paid to those schools. Moreover, under the provision for a higher grant for specific subjects in certain central schools in these counties (10s. instead of 4s.), £959 had been paid in respect of 3198 passes. Under this provision, special encouragement is offered to the use of Gaelic as a means of instruction, and to the training of Gaelic-speaking teachers.

The number of secondary schools under inspection during the year was 73—30 being higher class public schools, 24 endowed schools, and 19 schools under voluntary managers, who had invited an inspection. By the liberality of Parliament additional resources are now available for secondary education in Scotland, and schemes for the distribution of the sums had, with one or two exceptions, been approved of. The leaving certificate examination, which was instituted in 1888, had been participated in by 68 higher class schools and 202 state-aided schools (higher departments); the candidates numbered 13,173, and 39,966 papers were taken. Of the merit certificates granted in ordinary schools for the ordinary subjects, 6177 had already been issued.

The School Boards were still hesitating about making use of the provisions of the Technical Schools (Scotland) Act of 1887; but the Committee believed that the subject was attracting considerable attention.

The expenditure from the Parliamentary grant in Scotland during the year ended 31st December 1894 was—on public schools, £558,396 (an increase of £36,316); on schools connected with the Established Church, £21,126 (a decrease of £616); on schools connected with the Free Church, £18,963 (an increase of £55); on undenominational and other schools, £17,570 (an increase of £270); on schools connected with the Episcopal Church, £13,539 (an increase of £2406); on Roman Catholic schools, £49,096 (an increase of £3994); on administration (viz., offices in London and Edinburgh, and inspection), £46,733; grants to School Boards under section 67 of the Education Act, £12,096; special grants to schools in Highlands and Islands, £191; fee grants for day scholars, £285,449 (an increase of £36,852)—total, £1,023,164, being an increase of £81,118 upon the previous year.

The Report of the Committee of Council on Education in England and Wales is for the year ended 31st August 1894. The proportionate growth of the number of children at school was greater than the estimated growth of the population, and also evinced a gratifying improvement in the regularity of attendance. An important change in the Code for 1895 was the partial substitution (in the case of schools that had reached on the whole a good educational standard) of occasional visits of inspection for the annual examination on which the Government grant had hitherto been awarded. The results of the first year's work under the Evening Continuation Schools Code were decidedly encouraging. Up to 31st March 1895, 78 schools had been certified as qualified to earn special grants for the education of blind and deaf children. They had accommodation for 226 blind day scholars and 115 boarders, and 1155 deaf day scholars and 1600 boarders. Out of 19,709 schools inspected, 19,592 had accepted the fee-grant, and 16,289 were free schools. The total number of free scholars on the registers of all schools was 4,377,741, and the total number of fee-paying scholars 821,000. Under the new Evening Continuation Schools Code, 3742 separate departments were inspected. On 31st August 1894 there were in England and Wales 19,756 day-schools on the list for inspection, and claiming annual grants. These schools contained 30,169 departments under separate teachers, and furnished accommodation for 5,873,098 scholars. 19,709 of the schools, having 30,033 separate departments, and accommodation for 5,832,944 scholars, were inspected during the year. There were on the registers of the schools actually inspected the names of 5,198,741 children, of whom 1,635,794 were under seven years of age, 3,334,482 were between seven and thirteen, 181,136 were between thirteen and fourteen, and 47,329 were above fourteen. 4,802,209 scholars were present on the day of inspection, while 4,225,834 were, on an average, in daily attendance throughout the year. The figures showed, as compared with those for the preceding year, an increase in accommodation of 1·22 per cent. (the increase in the population being estimated at 1·11 per cent.), in scholars registered of 1·41 per cent., and in the average attendance of 3·07 per cent. The evening schools visited during the year were 3318 in number, with 266,683 scholars on the registers, as against 115,582 in the preceding year. Of these, 32,342 were under 14 years of age, and 37,043 were over 21. Drawing was taught in 1213 of these schools, cookery in 468, laundry work in 26, dairy work in 2, and housewifery in 23, while manual or technical instruction was given in 281. The Government grant to elementary day-schools was 18s. 7d. per scholar in average attendance, as against 18s. 5½d. in the previous year, and amounted to £3,926,641, as against £3,783,237 in the previous year. The total expenditure in England and Wales from education grants in the year ended 31st December 1894 was £6,586,266, an increase upon the previous year of £192,114.

The expenditure by the Commissioners of National Education in Ireland from Parliamentary grants and rates, in the year ended 31st March 1895, was £1,220,656 (of which the rates contributed £5868 net, £17,304 being paid to Poor Law Guardians under the Customs and Excise Act). The number of schools in operation at the close of the year 1894 was 8505. The average daily attendance of children for the year was 525,547; while the average number of pupils on the rolls in the year ending 31st December was 832,821. The number who had made any attendance within the last fourteen days of the month preceding the school examinations was 720,977. There was accommodation for 815,539 scholars. Of the total number (1,028,281—children who had left school and gone back again being, however, counted more than once) who made even a single attendance, 11·7 per cent. were Episcopalians, 11·2 per cent. were Presbyterians, 75·3 per cent. were Roman Catholics, and 1·8 per cent. of other persuasions. The average attendance was less by 1513 in 1894 than in 1893. Various obstacles had been put in the way of the working of the Compulsory Act of 1892; but in the 43 out of the 118 towns affected in which it had been put in force, the attendance during the year had increased by 12·1 per cent. There were, at the end of 1894, 2471 schools vested in trustees, and 1029 vested in the Education Board, but 291 of the whole 8965 on the roll were not completely built, and 158 were on the "suspended list." There were 5465 non-vested schools. The teaching staff at the end of 1894 consisted of 8280 principal teachers and 3513 assistant teachers, besides 858 work-mistresses, 22 junior literary assistants, 52 temporary assistants, and 7 temporary work-mistresses. These numbers do not include the conductors of 261 convent and 3 monastery schools paid by capitation.

THE SCIENCE AND ART DEPARTMENT.

The Forty-second Report of the Science and Art Department of the Committee of Council on Education is for the year 1894. In 1894 there were examined 2602 science schools, with 9433 different classes and 183,120 pupils under instruction, of whom 99,818, and in addition 3578 others, came up for examination in May. The schools decreased during the year by 152, those under instruction decreased by 10,311, and those examined by 6782. The number of papers worked by the 103,396 students examined was 188,773; of which 144,368 (including 18,620 in geometrical drawing) were in the elementary stage, and 40,828 in the advanced stage; the number of first classes in each stage being respectively 43,632 and 6358; while the number of papers in the honours division of the examination was 3577, of which 343 passed in the first class, and 599 in the second. The number of papers passed was 82,406; and 46,999 of the candidates were successful in one or more subjects—20,328 for the first time. In the previous year 53,099 were successful, and 23,018 for the first time. The examinations were held at 2205 centres in the provinces, and at 145 centres in London. The total amount paid to teachers on results in 1894 was £140,391, as against £130,009 in the preceding year. The amount paid averaged for each student under instruction 15s. 4d.; and for each student examined, £1, 7s. 1½d. Of the schools examined, 2072 were in England and Wales, 347 in Scotland, and 183 in Ireland. The fees received from students in science classes, irrespective of some which were included with the Art School fees, amounted to £36,097—£9300 more than in the previous year. The smaller number of papers worked and passed was due to the abolition of the second class in the Elementary Stage of Science subjects.

50 training colleges were examined during the year (the same as in the preceding year), and the number of separate classes in different branches of science in these colleges was 246, as against 221 in the previous year. The payments on results amounted to £10,248, being £2, 1s. 7d. for each student under instruction.

The number of students in the Royal College of Science (with which is incorporated the Royal School of Mines) in the session of 1893–94 was 294, of whom 158 were Government students—royal exhibitors, national scholars, etc.,—and 136 private students paying fees. The number of students at the Royal College of Science, Dublin, was 111, of whom 29 (15 of these Government students) were prosecuting the full three years' course, and 81 were occasional students.

In elementary schools instruction in drawing was given in 20,206 schools (872 in Scotland) with 2,155,311 children—an increase of 329 schools and 74,365 scholars on the previous year. The numbers include 559 evening schools with 15,887 pupils. Besides these, 16,842 (7473 successful) pupil-teachers and ex-standard scholars were examined in drawing. The grants on results in these schools amounted to £159,072, as against £152,860 in the preceding year. The number of elementary schools in which classes for manual instruction have now been established is 1021. 575 were examined in the year ended 31st August 1894, and earned grants amounting to £8041 on account of 30,059 scholars.

Examinations were held in 59 training colleges, and the grants made amounted to £2658, as against £2318 in the previous year. The elementary drawing certificate (1st class) was gained by 491 students.

In 1894, 136,324 students were instructed in 1758 art schools and classes (including 112 science schools), as against 135,807 students and 1909 (97 science schools) schools and classes in the previous year. There sat for examination 75,932 students, who worked 135,261 papers, of which 47,718, or 42·66 per cent., were successful in the elementary stages; 14,193, or 61·42 per cent., in the advanced stage; and 99, or 32·78 per cent., in the honours stage. In addition 11,706 papers were worked by external candidates, of which 4865, or 41·56 per cent., were successful. 22,358 students submitted 97,943 works for examination at South Kensington, as against 21,535 students and 93,397 works in the previous year. The amount of fees paid in schools of art and art classes was £54,222; while the payments on results amounted to £56,746. The average payment per student under instruction was 8s. 3½d.; and per student examined 14s. 11½d.

37 students in training to become art teachers, and 17 national scholars in training to become designers or art workmen, studied in the National Art Training School during the year ended 27th July 1894. The total number of students was 540 (24½ males and 294 females); and the fees received amounted to £1675.

The area surveyed in Scotland for the Geological Survey in 1894 amounted to 584 square miles, with an aggregate of 4222 linear miles of boundary.

The expenditure of the Science and Art Department during the financial year 1894-95 amounted to £698,522, and the total number of persons receiving instruction from teachers holding certificates granted by the Department of Science and Art was 2,518,359 (Science 187,351, and Art 2,331,008).

REFORMATORY AND INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

The Thirty-eighth Report of the Inspector appointed to visit the certified Reformatory and Industrial Schools is for the year 1894. The schools of detention were going on well and improving year by year. The several short Acts recently passed affecting reformatories and Industrial Schools should be embraced in one new Act, and the recovery of parents' contributions, especially in Scotland, should be rendered more summary.

Reformatory Schools.—The Reformatory at Buxton, near Norwich, had ceased to hold a Reformatory certificate, and was now carried on as an Industrial School. Seeing that reformatory schools were gradually decreasing in numbers, it might be worth while to provide by fresh legislation that one or more of the existing schools should receive lads over 16 years of age only. Many boys of 17, or even 18, would profit much by a limited detention, and there were at least one or two schools willing to fall in with the idea.

The number of reformatory schools in Great Britain at the close of 1894 was 50 (41 in England and 9 in Scotland), of which 43 were for Protestants (27 for boys and 8 for girls in England, and 5 for boys and 3 for girls in Scotland), and 7 for Roman Catholics (4 for boys and 2 for girls in England, and 1 for boys in Scotland). 3 of the reformatories are training ships.

The number under detention in reformatories in Great Britain at the close of 1894 was 5587—4895 boys and 692 girls (in England, 3175 boys and 451 girls Protestants, and 902 boys and 133 girls Roman Catholics; in Scotland, 555 boys and 108 girls Protestants, and 263 boys Roman Catholics). But of those, 653 boys and 79 girls were out on licence, 8 boys were in prison, 24 boys and 2 girls had absconded; and the numbers actually in the schools only amounted to 4821—4210 boys and 611 girls. The number actually in the schools at the close of 1893 was 5443—4768 boys and 675 girls. The admissions in 1894 were 1487, viz., 1287 boys and 200 girls, which showed an increase of 17 boys and an increase of 7 girls on the previous year. There was an increase of 95 in those sent to English, and a decrease of 71 in those sent to Scotch reformatories. The number of new admissions in the Scotch schools in 1894 was 207 (boys, Protestant, 114, Roman Catholic, 64; girls, Protestant, 29). Of the 1287 boys received in 1894, 19 were under 10 years of age, 118 between 10 and 12, 429 between 12 and 14, and 721 from 14 to 16 years of age. Of the 200 girls received, none were under 10, 9 were between 10 and 12, 71 between 12 and 14, and 120 between 14 and 16 years of age. 356 boys and 153 girls had not been convicted before; 523 boys and 37 girls had been once previously convicted, 244 boys and 8 girls twice, 112 boys and 2 girls three times, and 52 boys four times and upwards. Of the numbers admitted to Scotch reformatory schools, 4 had lost both parents, 6 had been deserted, and 9 were known to be illegitimate. In about 66 cases the parents had been placed under contribution, and 121 were excused on account of poverty. The number of discharges in 1894 was 1342 (boys 1159, girls 183). 615 were placed in service or employment in Great Britain, and 464 were placed out with the aid of relatives, 44 emigrated, 121 went to sea, 23 enlisted, 32 died in the schools, 30 were discharged on account of disease, and 5 as incorrigible. 8 had absconded and had not been recovered.

The total admissions to reformatory schools to 31st December 1894, excluding transfers from one school to another, amounted to 58,351, viz., 48,104 boys and 10,247 girls. The total discharges to the same date amounted to 52,763, viz., 43,208 boys and 9555 girls.

Of 3659 boys and 503 girls discharged from reformatories in the three years 1891-93, 73 boys and 15 girls had died, leaving 3586 boys and 488 girls to be reported on. 2700 boys and 344 girls were doing well, 59 boys and 35 girls were of doubtful character, 576 boys and 27 girls had been convicted, 251 boys and 80 girls were unknown. The number of persons in prison in 1894 who were found to have been trained in a reformatory school was, in England, 687 (653 males and 34 females), and in Scotland, 223 (209 males and 14 females)—total, 910.

The total receipts of reformatory schools in Great Britain in 1894 amounted to £110,218 (Scotland, £17,507); made up as follows:—Treasury payments, £72,677 (Scotland, £11,945); subscriptions, legacies, etc., £2013 (Scotland, £284); contributions from rates, £22,316 (Scotland, £1945); from voluntary associations, £458 (Scotland, £315); sundries, £2093 (Scotland £482); profit on industrial departments, including hire of labour, £10,661 (Scotland, £2536). The amounts received from parents of juvenile offenders in reformatory schools were, England and Wales, £4549; Scotland, £352—total, £4901; an increase of £265 upon the previous year's receipts.

The total expenditure upon reformatories in Great Britain for 1894 amounted to £109,874 (Scotland, £17,426). This included rent, £3928 (Scotland, £1688); cost of disposal, £4192 (Scotland, £498); food and clothing of inmates, £40,412 (Scotland, £6769); furniture, rates, etc., £33,278 (Scotland, £4604). The average net cost per head for maintenance, including rent and expenses on disposal, and setting off the profit from labour, was, boys' reformatories in England, £20, 1s. 1d., and in Scotland, £18, 1s. 10d.; girls' reformatories in England, £20, 17s. 11d., and in Scotland, £22, 4s. 11d.

Industrial Schools.—The number of certified industrial schools on 31st December 1894 was 141. There were also 14 truant schools and 22 day industrial schools. Of the industrial schools 8 are ships. In August 1894 a very useful Act came into force, giving managers powers of supervision till former inmates reached the age of 18, thus making it possible to afford protection against the influence of parents of indifferent character.

Of the 141 schools in actual operation at the close of 1894, 107 were in England and 34 in Scotland. In England there were 47 Protestant and 12 Roman Catholic schools for boys; 33 Protestant and 11 Roman Catholic schools for girls; and 4 Protestant schools for boys and girls. In Scotland there were 14 Protestant and 3 Roman Catholic schools for boys; 11 Protestant and 3 Roman Catholic schools for girls; and 3 Protestant schools for boys and girls. (The United Industrial Schools in Edinburgh, some of the school ships, and two or three others, receive children of both denominations, while provision is made for Jewish boys at the East London School at Lewisham.)

The number of children under order of detention at the close of 1894 was 18,923—14,367 boys and 4556 girls (in England, 8524 boys and 2172 girls, Protestants, and 2329 boys and 1010 girls, Roman Catholics; in Scotland, 2979 boys and 963 girls, Protestants, and 535 boys and 411 girls, Roman Catholics). But of these, 1293 boys and 263 girls were out on licence, and 24 boys and 4 girls had absconded and not been recovered. The number actually in the schools at the close of 1894, therefore, was 17,339 (13,050 boys and 4289 girls—a decrease of 104 boys and an increase of 58 girls as against the previous year), with 18 boys and 36 girls whose sentences were expired, and who were retained until employment could be found for them. The admissions for the year 1894, excluding transfers, were 3990—3071 boys and 919 girls—a decrease of 78 boys and an increase of 26 girls upon the previous year. The admissions in the Scotch schools in 1894 were 955 (boys, Protestant, 624, Roman Catholic, 86; girls, Protestant, 177, Roman Catholic, 68). Of the 3990 children admitted in 1894, 189 boys and 164 girls were from 6 to 8 years old; 456 boys and 202 girls between 8 and 10; 1257 boys and 289 girls between 10 and 12; and 1169 boys and 264 girls between 12 and 14 years old. 393 of the children were illegitimate; 187 had lost both parents; 707 had lost the father, and 671 the mother; 186 had been deserted by their parents; and one or both parents of 172 were destitute or criminal; 1674 had both parents alive and able to take care of them. Of the 3035 children sent to English industrial schools in 1894, 1875 were sent at the instance of school boards (654 at the instance of the London School Board). The discharges for the year amounted to 4069—3206 boys and 863 girls. 1370 boys and 557 girls were placed in service or situations, 1114 boys and 187 girls were assisted to employment through their relatives; 64 boys and 36 girls emigrated, 382 boys were sent to sea, 114 enlisted, 48 boys and 39 girls were discharged on account of disease, 36 boys and 15 girls were committed to reformatory schools, 52 boys and 25 girls died, and 26 boys and 4 girls had absconded and not been recovered.

The total number of admissions to industrial schools up to the close of 1894, excluding transfers, was 103,341—81,490 boys and 21,851 girls; and the total number of discharges up to the same date was 84,355—67,096 boys and 17,259 girls.

The number discharged from industrial schools during the three years 1891–93, omitting deaths, transfers, and committals to reformatory schools, was 11,344, and deducting those since dead, there were 8936 boys and 2185 girls to be reported on. 7589 boys and 1844 girls were doing well, 214 boys and 156 girls were doubtful, 415 boys and 24 girls had been convicted or recommitted, and 718 boys and 161 girls were unknown.

The total expenditure upon industrial schools in 1894, including rent, disposal, cost of building, and industrial loss (£480), (Scotland, £22) was £369,318 (Scotland, £80,531). The receipts amounted to £376,398; (Scotland, £85,905); of which £188,884 (Scotland, £55,719) was derived from the Treasury; £31,758 (Scotland, £12,144) from subscriptions, legacies, etc.; £47,857 (Scotland, £8960) from rates; £66,984 (Scotland, £33) from school boards; £2197 (Scotland, £185) from parochial authorities; £3121 (Scotland, £258) as payment for voluntary inmates; £8248 (Scotland, £2943) from sundries; and £27,349 (Scotland, £5663) from industrial profit, including hire of labour (£5643; Scotland, £1572). The net average cost per head for maintenance, allowing for the results of the industrial departments, was, in English schools for boys only (on 51 schools), £18, 0s. 3d.; in English schools for girls only (on 44 schools), £17, 17s. 0d.; in English industrial training ships (6), £23, 13s. 7d. In Scotland the average cost per head was, for boys' schools (on 13 schools), £13, 17s. 1d.; girls' schools (on 12 schools), £13, 18s. 1d.; and in Scottish industrial training ships (2), £16, 12s. 3d.

The sums received by the Treasury during the year from parents and in Scotland from parents and parochial boards, were—England and Wales, £10,827; Scotland, £5182—total, £16,009—£273 more than the amount in the previous year.

In truant schools there were at the close of 1894 under sentence of detention 5760 boys; but only 1141 were actually in the schools, 4619 being out on licence. The admissions to these schools in 1894 numbered 2112. The discharges were 1851. The average cost per head was £19, 19s. 6d. and the total expenditure £31,132, towards which the Treasury contributed £7338, and school boards £23,875. The total admissions to 31st December 1894 had been 20,771, of which 11,262 had been licensed and not readmitted, 5059 licensed and once readmitted, and 3446 recommitted twice or more. The average length of first-admissions was about 83 days. The new model rules would ameliorate the condition of the younger truants, and still probably be quite effective.

The total receipts of day industrial schools for the year was £30,462, of which £7713 was contributed by the Treasury, £15,813 by school boards and local authorities, £4315 by parents and guardians of the poor. The total expenditure was £29,854. At the close of 1894 there were 2318 boys and 933 girls attending school, and 385 boys and 141 girls were out on licence. The number admitted in 1894 was 1922 (1413 boys and 509 girls), and the number discharged was 2080 (1506 boys and 574 girls). Of the total number admitted to the schools up to the close of 1894—30,867 (19,957 boys and 10,910 girls)—273 (265 boys and 8 girls) had been drafted into reformatories, and 2801 (2368 boys and 433 girls) into ordinary industrial or truant schools. Day industrial schools were, without exception, going on well, and doing good work.

BIRTHS, DEATHS, AND MARRIAGES.

The Fortieth Annual Report of the Registrar-General contains statistics of the Births, Deaths, and Marriages registered in Scotland during the year 1894.

The following Table shows the number of Births, of Deaths, and of Marriages registered in each Registration County, and in each Group of Registration Counties, in Scotland, in the year 1894, and also in the years 1892 and 1893, distinguishing the number of males and the number of females, and also the number of illegitimate births, for the year 1894. For the population of the Registration Counties according to the Census of 1891, see the Almanac for 1893, page 290. In most cases it differs somewhat from the population of the civil or proper counties, by reason that parishes which lie partly within one county, partly within another, are held, for the purposes of the Registration of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, to lie wholly within the county in which the parish church is situated.

The proportion of illegitimate births to all births in 1894 (7·3 per cent. for all Scotland) varied from 2·3 per cent. in Shetland to 14·9 per cent. in Elgin. In eleven counties it was over 10 per cent.; the highest being 12·7 per cent. in Kirkcudbright, 12·9 in Kincardine, 13·2 in Banff, 13·4 in Caithness, 14·6 in Wigtown, and 14·9 in Elgin. It was highest (9·5 per cent.) in the mainland-rural districts, and lowest (5·3 per cent.) in the insular-rural districts.

The following Table shows the number of births, of deaths, and of marriages in eight of the principal towns of Scotland during the year 1894, with their proportions to the estimated population at the middle of the year; also the estimated number of unmarried women and widows between 15 and 45 years of age, the illegitimate births, and their proportion to the total births, and to the number of possible mothers:—

Of 46,099 children born in the eight towns, 23,625 were males, and 22,474 were females, so that 105·1 boys were born for every 100 girls. The highest birth-rate was that of Glasgow (330 per 10,000 persons), the lowest those of Edinburgh and Perth (267 and 253 per 10,000 persons). 6·6 per cent. of the births (3427) were illegitimate. Aberdeen and Dundee showed the largest proportions of illegitimate births—9·5 and 9·3 per cent. respectively; while Paisley with 6·2, and Leith 4·9 per cent., showed the lowest.

The death-rate of the eight towns in 1894 was 191 per 10,000 of the estimated population. Compared with the rate for the previous year there is in Aberdeen a slight increase, and in the other towns a decrease. As compared with the mean death-rate for the preceding ten years—which was, for Glasgow, 2·38, Edinburgh, 1·98, Dundee, 2·10, Aberdeen, 2·00, Leith, 1·95, Paisley, 2·32, Greenock, 2·15, and Perth, 2·00 per cent.—there is a decrease in the ratio in all cases. Of 28,110 persons who died in 1894 (as against 31,806 in the previous year), 14,145 were males, and 13,965 were females.

Out of every 1000 children under five years of age at the middle of 1894, there died in Glasgow, 61; Paisley, 49; Dundee, 64; Greenock, 58; Edinburgh, 50; Leith, 47; Aberdeen, 59; and Perth, 53. The proportion of the deaths at ages under five to the deaths at all ages was, in Paisley, 36·1; Greenock, 38·0; Dundee, 39·6; Glasgow, 38·9; Leith, 36·1; Aberdeen, 39·2; Edinburgh, 30·6; and Perth, 30·7 per cent.

The following Table shows the connexion between certain atmospheric phenomena, especially temperature, and the deaths from certain diseases and classes of disease, in eight of the principal towns of Scotland, during each month of the year 1894:—

Appended to the Report on Births, Deaths, and Marriages is the Thirtieth Report by the Registrar-General on Vaccination in Scotland, being for the year 1893. The number of children whose births were registered in Scotland in 1893 was 127,155, but 12,781, or 10·051 per cent., died under the age of six months before vaccination. Of the remainder (114,374), 108,117, or 94·529 per cent., were successfully vaccinated, the average of the preceding ten years having been 94·834 per cent.; 2474 had their vaccination postponed; 509 were found constitutionally insusceptible of vaccination, one insusceptible from having had small-pox, 273 from previous vaccination by persons not qualified to give a certificate, and 3000, or 2·623 per cent., had been removed from the district in which they were born, or were otherwise unaccounted for—the average of the preceding ten years having been 2·619 per cent. The proportion of cases successfully vaccinated of children who lived to six months of age was therefore 1·202 per cent. below the average for the previous ten years, and the proportion of postponed cases (2474) was 0·054 per cent. above the average for the same period (2364). The proportion of children constitutionally insusceptible, and that of those who died before vaccination, were considerably over the average for the preceding ten years.

The number of deaths from small-pox was, during the ten years (1855–64) before the Vaccination Act came into operation, 10,548; during the first ten years after (1865–74) it was 7136; and in the period 1875–84, 222; while since then the total, estimated to the end of 1894, has been 246, viz.:—39 in 1885; 24 in 1886; 8 in 1887; 3 in 1888; 8 in 1889; 0 in 1890 and 1891; 11 in 1892; 40 in 1893; and 113 in 1894. In the eight principal towns, from the ascertained small-pox deaths in which the totals have been estimated since 1874, the mortality from this cause was in 1855–64, 5415; in 1865–74, 3657 (the deaths of children under 5 years of age having fallen from 4062 in the first period to 1039 in the second); in 1875–84, 104; in 1885–94, 186; and in 1894 itself, 113.

The next Table shows for England and Wales, and also for Ireland, the estimated population at the middle of each year, for the three years 1892–94 (exclusive of the army and navy and merchant seamen abroad), and also the number of births, deaths, and marriages registered during each of these years:—

The population of the United Kingdom, as estimated to the middle of the year 1895 (exclusive of the army, navy, and merchant seamen abroad), was 39,134,166—viz., England and Wales, 30,394,078; Scotland, 4,155,654; Ireland, 4,584,434.

POOR LAW AND PUBLIC HEALTH.

The Forty-ninth and final Annual Report of the Board of Supervision for the Relief of the Poor, and of Public Health in Scotland, covers the proceedings of the Board from the date of the last report down to the 26th September 1894—the day on which its powers and duties were transferred to the Local Government Board constituted under the Local Government (Scotland) Act, 1894. The following Table shows the mean numbers of the paupers of all classes and their dependants relieved in each county on three given days of that period (viz., 14th September 1893, 14th January 1894, and 14th May 1894), also the amount of receipt under the Poor Law Acts from poor rates and from all sources, the amount of expenditure on the maintenance of the poor, and the total ordinary expenditure, the latter including the sums spent on medical relief (£47,011), management (£135,586), law (£4990), repayment of loans (£21,191), interest on loans (£12,001), buildings (£18,239), and miscellaneous purposes—feuduties, interest, vaccination, etc. (£10,884), but now excluding the cost of collecting rates other than the poor rates:—

The mean numbers of paupers and dependants include 136 vagrants and 39 dependants who were relieved during the year, as well as 2948 orphans and 1364 deserted children, and 11,362 lunatics; while, exclusive of lunatics, 21,071 of the paupers and 1492 of the dependants were 65 years of age and upwards. In 1894 there were 4716 pauper children boarded out, 1879 with relatives, and 2837 with strangers.

Paupers in the United Kingdom.—The following Table shows—(1.) the number of paupers (exclusive of vagrants) in receipt of relief (distinguishing out-door from in-door) in the unions and parishes under boards of guardians in England and Wales, on the 1st of January in each of the three years 1893–95; (2.) the number of paupers in receipt of relief (distinguishing out-door from in-door) in unions in Ireland at the close of the first week of January in each of the same years; and (3.) the total number of poor of all classes (including vagrants) and their dependants in receipt of relief in parishes in Scotland, on the 14th of January in each of the same three years:—

The Public Health Act.—The total receipts by Local Authorities under the Public Health and Local Government Acts were in the year ended 14th May 1894, £380,973 (£135,941 by county, and £245,032 by burgh authorities), of which £301,323 was derived from assessment, and £79,650 from other sources. The total expenditure amounted to £389,589 (£148,656 by county, and £240,933 by burgh authorities). £10,833 had been expended upon drainage; £40,976 on water supply; £102,862 on hospital accommodation; £52,491 on salaries; £49,814 for interest on money borrowed; £60,842 in repayment of debt; and £71,771 on other purposes, including vaccination, burials, disinfectants, and heads of miscellaneous expenditure. The sums stated do not represent the whole receipts and expenditure in Scotland for sanitary purposes, as in many places important sanitary operations have been carried on under the provisions either of local Acts or of the General Police Acts. In addition to the above, £185,212 was borrowed by county, and £81,132 by burgh authorities; and £146,092 was expended out of loans by county, and £71,448 by burgh authorities. The total expenditure under the Public Health Act, from the passing of the Act (15th August 1867) to the 14th May 1894, amounted to £4,881,875; of which £515,109 was expended upon drainage, £1,468,432 upon water supply, and £1,014,602 upon hospital accommodation.

The aggregate amount of loans proposed by local bodies for the approval of the Board from 11th August 1875 was £1,856,596, and the total amount of loans recommended by the Board was £1,790,027. Of this amount, £1,210,849 was for the construction of water-works, £359,173 for sewage and drainage works, £167,293 for the erection of hospitals, and £52,712 for water and drainage combined.

An appendix shows that the funds “given, mortified, or bequeathed” for the use of the poor, that have become vested in parochial boards, amount to £73,269 capital value in English money, 24,070 merks capital value in Scots money, 276 acres of land, and annual revenues (capital value not stated) amounting to £1055. There are also some bequests, etc., paid in kind.

LUNACY.

The Thirty-seventh Annual Report of the General Board of Commissioners in Lunacy for Scotland is for the year 1894.

The numbers and distribution of insane persons in Scotland at 1st January 1895 (exclusive of unreported lunatics maintained in private dwellings from private sources, of whom the Commissioners have no official cognizance or control), is shown in the following Table:—

	Male.	Female.	Private.	Pauper.	Total.

In Training Schools for Imbeciles...	200	109	142	167	309
Totals.....	6504	7348	2138	11661	13852

The increase of registered lunatics during 1894 (not including the inmates of training schools for imbeciles and of the lunatic department of the General Prison, these being registered separately) was 539, there being an increase of 87 private and 452 pauper patients. There was an increase of 422 in the number in asylums and other establishments, consisting of 82 private and 340 pauper patients, and an increase of 117 in the number in private dwellings. The average annual increase in the number of private patients in the five years 1891-95 was 49, and in the number of pauper patients 206.

The number of private patients admitted to asylums in 1894, deducting transfers, was 515—16 fewer than the number in the preceding year, and 19 fewer than the average for the quinquenniad 1890-94. The number of pauper patients admitted was 2661—148 more than the number in the preceding year, and 233 more than the average of 1890-94. The total number admitted (3176) was 132 more than in 1893, and 213 above the average of the years 1890-94. The number of transfers from one establishment to another was 458—31 of private and 427 of pauper patients; and was 86 more than in 1893, and 64 above the average of the years 1890-94. 63 were by order of the Sheriff, and 395 by order of the Board.

The number of private patients removed from asylums in 1894, excluding transfers, was 442, and the number of pauper patients 2312. 197 private and 1130 pauper patients were removed recovered; 139 private and 470 pauper patients were removed unrecovered; 106 private and 712 pauper patients died. The total number removed (2754) was 107 fewer than the number in the preceding year, and was 45 above the average of the five years 1890-94. [These figures apply to registered lunatics only.]

63 voluntary patients were admitted to asylums in 1894, and there were 64 such patients at 1st January 1895—the average number admitted yearly during the ten years 1885-94 having been 69. 83 patients were absent from asylums on probation at 1st January 1894, and of these 34 were afterwards finally discharged as recovered, while 13 had to be sent back. 172 patients were discharged on probation in course of 1894, of whom 21 had been finally discharged as recovered, and 31 had had to be sent back. The number on probation at 1st January 1895 was 110.

Between 1st January 1858 and 1st January 1895, the number of lunatics officially known to the Board rose from 5824 to 13,852. There was an increase of 5577 in the numbers in royal and district asylums, a decrease of 593 in the private asylums, an increase of 1750 in the parochial asylums and lunatic wards of poorhouses, an increase of 986 in the number left in private dwellings, an increase of 28 in the lunatic department of the Central Prison at Perth, and an increase of 280 in the schools for imbecile children. These figures show an increase of 8621 in the number of patients in public establishments, and that of this 593 may have arisen from the decrease in private asylums; while they show a net increase of 8028, or 138 per cent. (the increase of the population during the same period having been only 36 per cent.).

The proportion of private lunatics in establishments in 1894 was 45 per 100,000 of population (one more than last year), and the proportion of pauper lunatics in establishments was 214 per 100,000 (the highest figure yet recorded). The proportion of pauper lunatics in private dwellings in 1894 was 65 per 100,000—the highest proportion ever recorded. The proportion of all pauper lunatics per 100,000 of population has shown an almost steady increase since 1858, and in 1894 it attained its highest figure—279.

During the five years 1890-94 there had been an average of 12,633 registered lunatics in Scotland, or 314 for every 100,000 of the population. The average annual number placed on the register was 2972, or 74 for every 100,000 of population, and the average annual number removed from the register by recovery, death, or otherwise, was 2674, or 66 in every 100,000 of population. Of the total increase of 399 over the average annual number of the previous quinquenniad 339 were pauper patients, and only 60 private patients.

Of the total increase of 452 pauper patients in 1894—the largest that had ever taken place—253 (10 per 100,000 of population) were contributed by the counties of Aberdeen, Edinburgh, Forfar, Lanark, and Renfrew, all with large urban centres; 67 (13 per 100,000) by Ayr, Dumbarton, Linlithgow, Selkirk, and Stirling, with smaller industrial communities; and 82 (33 per 100,000) by Argyll, Inverness, and Ross and Cromarty. In the first two, with increasing populations, the greater numbers were to some extent due to this increase: but in the last, with a decreasing population, the cause must be different. In these thinly populated and remote districts a large body of the community was not far removed from pauperism, and many insane persons previously maintained by relatives might in consequence be thrown upon the rates. People in such districts were now ready to acquiesce in, or even to urge, the removal to asylums of persons whose mental state would not formerly have been thought to justify interference, and whose removal would have been looked on with disapproval, or perhaps actively opposed. The contribution from State funds towards the maintenance of pauper lunatics has enabled this change of sentiment to be given effect to, and the great body of the people in the Highlands, with a growing tendency to look to the State for help in every difficulty, have often erroneous ideas of the extent of this aid, and of their "right" to share in it. This may give rise to evil if it has not already done so, but the cost to the ratepayer is still sufficiently great to put a check upon the willingness of the Local Authorities to accept burdens unnecessarily.

The subjoined Table (in continuation of similar Tables in former Almanacs) shows for each county, and for the whole of Scotland, the number of pauper lunatics chargeable on the 1st January 1895, and the total expenditure on account of pauper lunatics, and the average daily expenditure (inclusive of the costs of medical certificates, of transport to asylums, etc.), for each pauper lunatic during the year ended 14th May 1894:—

Of the £259,585 spent upon pauper lunatics in the year ended 14th May 1894, £115,789 was contributed from local taxation account, and £11,829 by relatives. £191,591 was cost of asylum treatment, £16,570 was for maintenance in lunatic wards of poorhouses, £12,339 was for boarding in private dwellings, and £9035 for certification, transport, and other expenses. The total number of pauper patients relieved during that year was 13,436 (6324 males and 7112 females), and the number of days for which relief was granted was 4,074,145; of which 69·1 per cent. was given in asylums, 7·6 per cent. in licensed wards of poorhouses, and 23·3 per cent. in private dwellings. In 1858 the expenditure on pauper lunatics was £80,652. The cost of pauper lunatics, as stated above, does not include interest on the outlay for land and buildings. The average cost per patient in 1893-94 was slightly less than last year, a result which must be chiefly attributed to a general fall in the price of provisions.

A supplement to the thirty-sixth Report, issued early in 1895, dealt with the alleged increase of insanity in Scotland. Memoranda by Sir Arthur Mitchell, Dr Sibbald, and Mr Spence treat the matter from three different standpoints. The first looks on the problem as exhibited in a special area under one management—the Barony Parish, Glasgow—and comes to the conclusion that, though during the past ten years there has been no increased production of pauper lunatics, there has yet been a steady and considerable increase in the number chargeable; and this has been due to the number of recoveries, deaths, etc., being every year less than the production of pauper lunatics. Dr Sibbald, from consideration of the action of the Act of 1857, the various changes that have followed, and the death-rate of the insane, comes to the conclusion that there is no evidence that mental unsoundness is to-day more prevalent in Scotland than it was in 1858. Mr Spence, dealing with the class sufficiently wealthy to maintain its insane at its own cost, concludes that in this section of the community no increased production of mental disease has taken place within the last fifteen to twenty years. The Commissioners, while of opinion that the statistics at present existing do not make a positive statement possible as to increase or non-increase of insanity in Scotland as a whole, think that such figures as have been already collected afford no ground for a belief that lunacy is now more prevalent than it was thirty-six years ago.

EMIGRATION AND IMMIGRATION.

The following Table shows the numbers, nationalities, and destinations of passengers leaving the United Kingdom for places out of Europe (and not bordering on the Mediterranean) in 1894, in vessels under the Passenger Acts, and in other vessels so far as the numbers were recorded:—

A small portion of the emigration from the United Kingdom (additional to the above) has of late years gone by way of Antwerp and other Continental ports. This consisted in 1894 of 1792 persons of British and Irish origin, and 342 foreigners.

The next Table shows the number of persons that arrived in the United Kingdom from places out of Europe, so far as recorded, showing their nationality and the countries whence they came, in 1894:—

The figures given above do not include the passenger movement between the United Kingdom and the Continent and Mediterranean ports, in which there was in 1894 a considerable increase, due partly to the disappearance of dread of the recurrence of cholera, and partly to the large number of persons who visited the Antwerp Exhibition. The great falling off in the number going to America was accounted for by the unsettled condition there of financial and industrial affairs. Scotch emigration fell off relatively somewhat more and Irish emigration somewhat less than the English element. The total figures, of course, include the increasing number of persons who travel for business or pleasure, and return. The cabin passengers again showed a decrease, having fallen from 69,986 in 1893 to 68,829 in 1894.

The gross emigration (which is to be taken subject to the explanations given above) of persons of British and Irish origin, which had decreased in 1893 (from 210,042 to 208,814) again decreased to 156,030; while the immigration of persons of British and Irish origin, which had increased in 1893 (from 97,780 to 102,119), increased to 118,309: so that the net emigration, or excess of emigrants over immigrants, decreased by 68,974.

The number of emigrants sent back to the United Kingdom from the United States in 1894, on the ground that they were likely to become a public charge, was 307—179 British and Irish, and 128 foreigners.

Greenock), and 32,983 from ports in Ireland. Of the English emigrants (99,590), 61,710 were males, and 37,880 were females; of the Scotch emigrants (14,432), 8282 were males, and 6150 were females; of the Irish emigrants (42,008), 18,133 were males, and 23,875 were females. Of the English emigrants, 12,939; of the Scotch, 2053; of the Irish, 3334, were children under twelve years of age. Of the total number of emigrants of British and Irish origin, 64 per cent. were English, 9 per cent. were Scotch, and 27 per cent. were Irish.

The number of emigrants of British and Irish origin from the United Kingdom to places out of Europe from 1853 (when the nationality of emigrants was first distinguished) to 1894, both inclusive, was 7,915,359; of whom 5,298,931 (67 per cent.) went to the United States; 820,639 (10 per cent.) to British North America; 1,366,393 (17 per cent.) to Australasia; and 429,396 (6 per cent.) to all other places. 4,084,448 (52 per cent.) of those emigrants were English, 792,942 (10 per cent.) were Scotch, and 3,037,969 (38 per cent.) were Irish.

The result of the whole movement of foreigners into and out of the United Kingdom was to leave the foreign population unchanged, or with slightly reduced numbers; and as regarded newcomers of the "destitute alien" class who were not known to have left this country within the year, their numbers would seem to have been about the same as in 1893, viz., about 5000 for the whole country, of which somewhat less than 2500 settled in London.

SAVINGS BANKS UNDER TRUSTEES.

The following Table shows, for each division of the United Kingdom, the number of Savings Banks under Trustees, the number of accounts remaining open at such Banks, and the total amount owing by them to depositors at the 20th November 1894; also the total number and amount of life annuities granted from the commencement; and the average cost of each transaction for the same year:—

The expenses of management of the Banks for the year ended 20th November 1894 amounted to £134,568 (Scotland, £29,765), being at the average rate of 6s. 5d. per cent. (Scotland, 5s. 1d.) per annum on the capital of the Banks. The average rate of interest paid to depositors was £2, 9s. 9d. (Scotland, £2, 9s. 10d.). The total amount received by the Banks during the year, including sums received for Government stock sold for depositors, was £10,354,449 (Scotland, £3,473,213); the amount of interest credited, including dividends on Government stock, was £1,053,894 (Scotland, £263,469); and the total amount paid to depositors, including sums paid for Government stock purchased for depositors, was £10,177,039 (Scotland, £2,824,964). The total amount invested with the National Debt Commissioners, at 20th November 1894, was £43,350,246 (Scotland, £11,384,177), besides the separate surplus fund, which amounted to £364,952 (Scotland, £35,176), and the balances in the hands of treasurers at the same date amounted to £274,459 (Scotland, £61,233). The total amount of Government stock standing to the credit of depositors at the same date was £1,350,614 (Scotland, £139,620).

The number of Savings Banks which, under the provisions of 26 Vict. c. 14, or otherwise, had been closed in the United Kingdom, and had transferred their funds or any part thereof to Post-Office Savings Banks, up to 20th November 1894, was 400 (347 in England and Wales, 13 in Scotland, and 40 in Ireland). The number of accounts transferred to Post-Office Savings Banks from such closed banks was 253,206. The amount of the accounts transferred (viz., by transfer certificates, excluding £565,239 estimated to have been paid in cash by about 26,264 of the depositors in these closed banks) to the Post-Office Savings Banks, was £6,727,402; and, besides, £110,248 in Government stock. The amount of compensation paid to officers of the closed banks, under the Act 26 Vict. c. 14, was £101,772.

RAILWAYS.

At 31st December 1894 the amount of railway capital authorized was, in England and Wales, £911,299,716 (£647,820,132 by shares and stock, and £263,479,584 by loans and debenture stock); in Scotland, £143,849,446 (£110,131,397 by shares and stock, and £33,718,049 by loans and debenture stock); in Ireland, £43,864,623 (£30,592,361 by shares and stock, and £13,272,262 by loans and debenture stock); in the United Kingdom, £1,099,013,785 (£788,543,890 by shares and stock, and £310,469,895 by loans and debenture stock). At the same date the amount of paid-up stock and share capital was, in England and Wales, £581,177,819 (ordinary, £293,771,961; guaranteed, £85,510,145; preferential, £201,895,713); in Scotland, £104,194,873 (ordinary, £50,112,141; guaranteed, £13,626,198; preferential, £40,456,534); in Ireland, £27,563,076 (ordinary, £16,202,582; guaranteed, £3,193,116; preferential, £8,167,378); in the United Kingdom, £712,935,768 (ordinary, £360,086,684; guaranteed, £102,329,459; preferential, £250,519,625). The amount of capital raised by loans and debenture stock at the same date was, in England and Wales, £230,636,646 (by loans, £11,975,071; by debenture stock, £218,661,575); in Scotland, £30,223,186 (by loans, £1,044,682; by debenture stock, £29,178,504); in Ireland, £11,591,755 (by loans, £925,228; by debenture stock, £10,666,527); in the United Kingdom, £272,451,587 (by loans, £13,944,981; by debenture stock, £258,506,606). The total of stock and share capital paid up and of capital raised by loans and debenture stock at 31st December 1894 was, in England and Wales, £811,814,465; in Scotland, £134,418,059; in Ireland, £39,154,831; in the United Kingdom, £985,387,355. The amount of subscriptions made by railway companies to other companies at the same date was, in England and Wales, £32,672,713; in Scotland, £2,495,927; in Ireland, £284,011; in the United Kingdom, £35,452,651.

In the year ended 31st December 1894, the total gross receipts of railway companies from all sources were, in England and Wales, £71,934,167 (passenger traffic and mails, £31,024,900; goods traffic, £36,867,298; miscellaneous, £4,041,969); in Scotland, £8,981,077 (passenger traffic and mails, £3,701,477; goods traffic, £4,943,258; miscellaneous, £336,342); in Ireland, £3,395,587 (passenger traffic and mails, £1,769,111; goods traffic, £1,568,522; miscellaneous, £57,954); in the United Kingdom, £84,310,831 (passenger traffic and mails, £36,495,488; goods traffic, £43,379,078; miscellaneous, £4,436,265). The total working expenditure (including all expenses) was, in England and Wales, £40,662,660; in Scotland, £4,701,120; in Ireland, £1,844,533; in the United Kingdom, £47,208,313. The net receipts were, in England and Wales, £31,271,507; in Scotland, £4,279,957; in Ireland, £1,551,054; in the United Kingdom, £37,102,518. The number of miles of railway open at the end of 1894 was, in England and Wales, 14,536; in Scotland, 3328; in Ireland, 3044; in the United Kingdom, 20,908. In the United Kingdom the total capital received by railway companies, including loans and debenture stock, up to the end of 1894, was at the rate of £47,180 per mile of railway constructed. In 1894 the gross receipts from passenger traffic in the United Kingdom were 43·29 per cent., and the gross receipts from goods traffic 51·45 per cent., of the total gross receipts; the gross receipts, exclusive of the miscellaneous receipts, were at the rate of £3820 per mile of railway constructed, and at the rate of 4s. 9½d. per train mile; the total working expenditure was 56 per cent. of the total receipts; and the net receipts were 3·77 per cent. of the total capital received (including loans and debenture stock). The total expenditure was 57 per cent. of the total receipts in England, 52 in Scotland, and 54 in Ireland.

The following Table shows, for the year 1894, for each of the principal railways of Scotland, the amount of paid-up stock and share capital, the amount of ordinary capital, the amount raised by loans and debenture stock, the total of paid-up stock and share capital and capital raised by loans and debenture stock (all exclusive of lines leased to and worked by each company), and the total receipts from all sources, including those from lines worked by each company, and the net receipts, after deduction of all working expenses from the same, for the year 1894-95:—

The total number of persons killed in the working of railways in the United Kingdom during the year was 1115, and of injured 4120, of whom 117 of the killed and 1168 of the injured were passengers. Of these 16 were killed and 347 injured in consequence of accidents to or collisions between trains. 35 accidents (involving the deaths of 23 passengers and 2 railway servants, and injuries to 317 passengers and 35 railway servants) were reported on by the Board of Trade Inspectors. Of these 5 (causing the death of 1 passenger, and injuries to 18 passengers and 10 railway servants) were on Scottish lines; and 4 were attributed to negligence, want of care, or mistakes on the part of railway officials and servants.

LICENSED BREWERS AND VICTUALLERS.

In the year ended 30th September 1894, the number of persons licensed as common brewers (not being victuallers or persons licensed to sell beer by retail) was, in England, 1812; in Scotland, 96; in Ireland, 36; in the United Kingdom, 1944. The number of victuallers licensed as brewers for sale was, in England, 4754; in Scotland, 41; in Ireland, 1; in the United Kingdom, 4796. There were licensed as brewers for sale, 2317 persons in England who were licensed to sell beer to be drunk on the premises; and 183 who were licensed to sell beer not to be drunk on the premises. The total number of persons licensed as brewers for sale was 9066 in England; 137 in Scotland; 37 in Ireland; 9240 in the United Kingdom. 4224 persons in England, 10 in Scotland, and 1 in Ireland—4235 in the United Kingdom—were licensed as private brewers liable to beer duty; and 12,931 persons in England, and 278 in Scotland—13,209 in the United Kingdom—were licensed as private brewers not liable to beer duty.

There were licensed during the same year as victuallers 73,154 persons in England; 11,528 in Scotland; 17,783 in Ireland—in the United Kingdom, 102,465. There were also in England 30,787 persons licensed to sell beer to be drunk on the premises, and 12,393 licensed to sell beer not to be drunk on the premises. The materials used by brewers for sale in the United Kingdom in the same year were, 54,776,749 bushels of malt and corn, and 2,193,746 cwt. sugar (including the equivalent of syrups); whereof there was used by common brewers 50,543,245 bushels of malt and corn, and 2,122,084 cwt. of sugar. The materials used by brewers not for sale, liable to beer duty, in the United Kingdom, were 90,710 bushels malt and corn, and 304 cwt. of sugar. Of the 9240 brewers for sale, 7490 brewed less than 1000 barrels; and two, who used 5,613,843 bushels of malt and corn and 15,692 cwt. sugar, brewed over one million barrels.

There were exported from Scotland, in the year ended 30th September 1894, 119,693 barrels of beer, declared value £401,331. The whole export from the United Kingdom in that year consisted of 396,942 barrels, declared value £1,419,449.

AGRICULTURAL RETURNS.

The number of separate returns—furnished by occupiers of land or obtained by estimate—provided for the Agricultural Returns in Great Britain in 1894 was 518,764 (378,312 in England, 60,515 in Wales, and 79,937 in Scotland), and there were 16,847 returns besides from owners of live stock only. For only 4·36 per cent. of the entire acreage accounted for, was it necessary to resort to estimates. In Scotland estimates were practically only necessary in a few remote Highland districts where there were difficulties of language.

Of the 32,629,855 acres (excluding nursery ground, woods, heath, and mountain land) occupied in Great Britain in 1894, 27,986,707 acres were rented and 4,643,148 acres were owned by the persons to whom, as occupiers, the schedules were sent. There was a slight general decrease of owner-farmed land in England and Scotland, and a continued apparent increase in Wales, ascribed, at least in part, to the purchase of land by tenants.

Beyond the surface under all forms of crops, bare fallow, or grass, there was also an area of mountain and heath land used for grazing, but not reckoned as cultivated, and sometimes incapable of very exact measurement. This formed an important section of the provision available for sheep and cattle, especially in the north of England, in Wales, and in Scotland, the hill farms of the last-named country furnishing more than three-fourths of the 12,450,684 acres returned under this class of pasture for the whole of Great Britain. The woodlands of Great Britain appeared to cover 2,694,575 acres; and 12,716 acres were occupied as nursery grounds.

In Great Britain in 1894 the surface was still nearly equally divided between arable land and permanent pasture, the former covering 16,164,786 acres and the latter 16,465,069 acres—the change from the figures of the previous year being of no statistical importance. In Scotland and in Wales the arable area returned was greater and the permanent pasture less, while in England the proportion of arable land continued slightly to decline, not only by reversion to pasture, but by the absorption of farmed land for building purposes, for planting, or for allotments. The growth of the acreage returned as under permanent pasture, from 12,736,000 acres in 1869 to 16,465,000 acres in 1894, is due to more exact returns, and to the reclamation and enclosure of hill lands, as well as to transfers from the arable area. The last cause probably accounts for nearly two-thirds of the increase since 1874. This transfer has occurred in two forms: when the cost of labour was rising and high prices for stock and dairy produce were current, arable fields were carefully laid down in grass, with due preparation and outlay; and in districts where the cost of tillage was heavy, considerable tracts would also seem to have been left, as unprofitable under the plough at present values of grain, to the growth of such herbage as nature might provide. If an exact period of twenty years were taken, it would be found that for Great Britain as a whole the arable area had been restricted to less than 50 per cent. of the cultivated surface, in place of nearly 58 per cent. twenty years ago. Arable land, however, still formed 69 per cent. in the eastern division of England, against a percentage twenty years ago of over 75. In the north and north-west the arable land was now 33 per cent. of the cultivated area, a fall of 6 per cent. since 1874; while in Wales, with a closely corresponding surface distribution, the figures were 31 as against 39. In Scotland the disuse of the plough was much less extensive, and the arable ratio was maintained at 72 per cent. as against 76 in 1874. In the eastern group of Scottish counties 81 per cent. of the cultivated area remained arable.

Wheat, contrary to recent experience, showed an increase of 30,000 acres, larger areas in the North Riding of Yorkshire, Durham, Northumberland, Essex, Kent, Bedford, Perth, and Forfar having more than counterbalanced large decreases in Norfolk and Suffolk, and less striking reductions in Wilts, Salop, Hants, Cambridge, Gloucester, and Dorset. This, so far as it represented a general movement, was due to the special circumstances of the seed time, to the exceptional breadth of fallow entailed by the long drought of 1893, and perhaps to the earlier ploughing up of clover and rotation grasses left in bad condition after that nearly rainless season. Another influence was the demand for wheat-straw, for which very high prices were paid in 1893. There was also a demand for rye straw, and this crop, always a small one in Great Britain, showed an acreage increased by 62 per cent. Peas covered an area greater by 15 per cent., and in Scotland the extent of barley was larger by 3 per cent. Potatoes were grown on 23,367 fewer acres than in 1893, and this combined with the reduced yield had materially affected the supply. In the grass area cut for hay—as was to be expected after the exceptional drought of 1893—there was a considerable recovery. The areas under orchards and small fruit had again increased.

The returns of horses showed generally a small increase, but a decline in the number used in agriculture. With regard to cattle, the effects of the drought of 1893 were seen in an aggregate diminution of 354,000 head, though in Scotland there was a gain of 3700 in those of two years old and over. The proportion of cows to every 1000 of the population fell from 76 to 72, and of other cattle from 123 to 114, which would appear to explain some part of the growth of our imports of dairy produce and meat. Sheep again showed a decline of 5 per cent. on the reduced flocks of the preceding year.

The detailed returns for 1895 had not been issued when this sheet of the Almanac had to go to press, but a Statement prepared by the Board of Agriculture gives the figures contained in the tables below.

A separately issued Report on Agricultural Education in 1894-95 shows that the Scottish Dairy Institute, Kilmarnock, received a grant of £300, and the Glasgow and West of Scotland Technical College, as providing a suitable centre for the south-western counties, received a grant of £650. In Edinburgh, a joint administrative Board representing the University, the Highland and Agricultural Society, the Town Council of Edinburgh, and County Councils contributing to the funds, had the management of a systematically organised Edinburgh School of Rural Economy with a grant of £450. Pending the completion of local arrangements for establishing at Aberdeen a fully equipped centre for the north-eastern counties, the grant has been reduced to £100. The experiments of the Highland and Agricultural Society, over a large number of counties, and the work conducted in the neighbourhood of Aberdeen by the Agricultural Research Association for the north-east counties, received £150 and £100 respectively. In conjunction with the Commissioners of Works, the Board of Agriculture continued the courses of lectures to practical foresters and gardeners employed during the day on the staff of the Royal Botanic Gardens and in private nurseries at Edinburgh,—thus providing instruction for persons not in a position to avail themselves of the regular forestry courses: grant £250. The total amount of grants for 1894-95 was £7400, of which Scotland received £2000.

The following Table shows the total area and the acreage under each kind of crop, bare fallow, and grass, and the number of horses, cattle, sheep, and pigs, as returned upon the 4th June 1895, in each division of Great Britain, with similar particulars for Ireland, and with totals for the United Kingdom, including the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands.

ROYAL COMMISSION ON AGRICULTURE.

Connected with the Scottish inquiries of the Royal Commission on Agriculture, reports have been issued in which Mr James Hope, as assistant commissioner, deals with the counties of Roxburgh, Berwick, Selkirk, Peebles, Haddington, Edinburgh, Linlithgow, Perth, Fife, Forfar, Aberdeen, Banff, Elgin, and Nairn; and Mr John Speirs in the same capacity, with the more purely dairying counties of Ayr, Wigtown, Kirkcubright, and Dumfries. In all districts the complaints and suggested remedies are much the same. Large and small farmers have probably suffered nearly alike, though in the south there was agreement that the most profitable farm, from a landlord's point of view, was one of from 100 to 300 acres. Everywhere depression during the last ten years had been very acute, and circumstances never more adverse than now. In no district of the area investigated, however, had there been an abnormal number of changes of tenancy, nor more than the usual number of unoccupied farms or farms taken into the hands of the owners, proprietors having in many cases granted such abatements of rent, or an equivalent, as enabled the pinch of the bad times to be warded off. Alleged causes of the depression were:—

1st. Bad Seasons, Low Prices, and Foreign Competition.—The weather must, of course, be taken as it comes, but to remedy the other causes an import duty was suggested on all foreign goods directly competing with the products of the British farmer. As against this it is, however, pointed out that the benefit of any rise of prices thus brought about would soon be balanced by increase of rents. The real solution of the difficulty seemed to be in fixing the rent of a farm at what might be expected to be left over after making due allowance for working expenses, interest on capital invested, and a fair return for the skill and labour of the farmer. In Mr Speirs' district a most potent cause was the unwarrantable competition among farmers themselves. Ayrshire reared twice as many farmers as there were farms for, and hence unnatural competition at home, and a material effect on the rental of the other three counties, as well as of several in the east of Scotland and south of England. On all hands it was felt as a hardship that foreign imports were admitted free and allowed to compete on equal terms with home produce, while articles exported from this country were not so treated abroad. Among farmers the opinion was universal that sellers of foreign meat should be licensed, and that it should be made penal for railway companies to convey foreign produce from the port of landing to its destination at smaller rates than those charged for the carriage of home produce.

2nd. Increase of Working Expenses, and Incidence of Taxation.—During the period embraced in the report, working expenses had risen from 10 to 15 per cent., largely through increase in wages, and to a slight extent through increase in tradesmen's accounts, and no relief was to be expected in this direction. As to poor-rates and income-tax, the opinion is expressed that the former should become a national tax levied on "means and substance," while the latter, instead of being assessed on one-third of the rental, should be charged on sums returned in the same way as the incomes of those engaged in professional or mercantile vocations. The transfer of tax from malt to beer rendered it no longer advantageous for the brewer to use only the best quality of home-grown barley, and had so, without benefit to the consumer, reduced the price of one of the mainstays in the farm revenue.

3rd. Want of Freedom of Sale and Cropping.—The antiquated rotation clauses usually appearing in leases should be abolished, and practical freedom of cropping and sale of produce given; the landlords being protected against abuse of such powers by imposing obligation on the tenant to clean and manure the farm properly, and to leave it in a specified rotation at the end of the lease.

4th. Landlords' Questions.—There was a general consensus of opinion that the law of entail should be entirely abolished, and the transference of land simplified. Where jointures to widows or husbands of deceased heirs, and allowances to younger children, had been fixed twenty years ago, in the height of agricultural prosperity, the present proprietor of the lands was paying away an amount which, instead of representing one-third or one-half of the actual rent, as was originally intended, was now often so large as to leave a balance barely sufficient to keep the property in a fair state of repair. In all such cases periodical readjustments should be made, and the allowances based on the actual rental drawn in each year. A government loan at interest of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., and with capital repayable over a period of fifty years, might be made to landlords, to enable them to carry out much needed permanent improvements.

The Agricultural Holdings Act (1883) should be carefully revised, amended, and simplified. The number of those in favour of a land court and fixity of tenure was comparatively small. Protection should be given only to winged game, and tuberculosis (the prevalence of which, especially among highly in-bred pedigreed cattle, was greater than might be expected), should be stamped out by compulsory slaughter, with compensation accordingly. Light railways were desirable in some districts.

HIGHLANDS AND ISLANDS COMMISSION.

The Commissioners appointed in 1892 to inquire "whether any, and if any what, land in the counties of Argyll, Inverness, Ross and Cromarty, Sutherland, Caithness, and Orkney and Shetland, now occupied for the purposes of a deer forest, grouse moor, or for other sporting purposes, or for grazing, not in the occupation of crofters or other small tenants, is capable of being cultivated to profit, or otherwise advantageously occupied by crofters or other small tenants," have presented their report. They found lands both in deer forests and on grazing farms suitable for profitable cultivation or advantageous occupation; but, while this was so, large tracts of land presently under deer were unsuitable for such purposes, as they lay high, were rocky and sterile, were often remote and inaccessible, or, from configuration of surface or other circumstances, were not fitted for crofters' holdings. Certain areas, also, now afforested, had at one time dwellings on them, but these were only summer sheilings, and the lands could not now be profitably occupied as crofters' holdings. The former occupants of such lands had, probably, to be satisfied with a more precarious subsistence than was to be met with generally nowadays in the crofting counties, and though it might be that there were still some individuals desirous of settling in such places, the Commissioners were satisfied the desire was not widespread. Notwithstanding the suggestion that parts of these lands might be brought under sheep, they were not prepared to declare that any part of the area which had not been scheduled was available for crofters' grazings, with reasonable prospect of profit and advantage. In the case of grazing farms they found large areas of old arable land not under crop, and hill grazings of a much more promising kind for occupation by crofters.

As to profit and loss, the problem for consideration was,—had the result of their inquiries been to enable them to schedule any lands, and if so what lands, which, with a due combination of old arable, or land suitable for cultivation, along with pasture land or hill grazings held in common, might reasonably be deemed capable of rearing a profitable stock, or of profitable occupation by an industrious tenant possessed of the means requisite to equip and stock the holding, which stock could be summered on the grazing, and entirely wintered, or almost entirely wintered, on the produce of the holding? They had been able to schedule such lands, but the occupants must be selected with care, and must only be called on to pay a "fair rent," these words being used in the statutory sense. Three separate and distinct kinds of lands had been scheduled and marked with different colours on the maps that accompanied the Report.

1. Land suitable for new holdings, with corresponding pasture, coloured yellow.
2. Land that might be advantageously occupied as extensions of grazings by neighbouring crofters, coloured pink.
3. Portions of deer forests and large sheep grazings suitable for occupation as moderately-sized holdings at rents exceeding the statutory limit of £30, coloured brown.

The number of acres of each of these different kinds is shown for each county in the following table:—

Except as to certain lands in Caithness and Orkney, and possibly in one or two other quarters, the Commissioners had not contemplated the formation of a croft from land wholly arable, because in many districts the soil and climate forbade the formation of such a holding with adequate prospects of success, and because crofters themselves entirely confined their evidence, except in the counties named, to a demand for holdings partly arable but mainly pastoral. The holdings suggested are of three different kinds—(1) self-sustaining; (2) small, affording a home but not occupying the crofter's whole time; (3) fishermen's holdings. With reference to size and amount of arable land, special regard must be had to the circumstances of each locality. The Island of Lewis, owing to the unwarrantable way in which the crofters have persisted in subdividing their crofts, required separate treatment, and the Commissioners were of opinion that were the whole forest and farm land* made available for crofters this step would not effect a permanent remedy, and would only relieve the urgency for a limited number of years.

The Commissioners did not consider and offered no opinion as to the effect of assigning scheduled lands. While mere extensions of existing holdings, or extension of grazings, might be obtained without difficulty and without raising serious questions, the transference of tenants to, and their establishment in, new holdings might raise questions of public policy. The Report is signed by all the Commissioners, Messrs Brand, M. H. Shaw Stewart, A. Sutherland, J. N. M. Forsyth, G. Gordon, Rev. M. MacCallum, J. M'Leod, and H. Munro; but Messrs Stewart, Forsyth, and Gordon have an addendum expressing the opinion that the lands scheduled can only be advantageously occupied by small tenants under a well-considered scheme of land purchase by a representative body possessed of full powers for the selection of tenants and the regulation of the occupation of all grazings, otherwise serious loss to the present owners of the lands would result, large areas of the Highlands be rendered valueless, and existing evils be aggravated. Mr MacCallum thought nothing could be accomplished without a land court, and Mr Munro that the Commissioners had not gone far enough in scheduling lands.

The Report is accompanied by two bulky volumes of evidence and 72 maps photolithographed from one inch Ordnance Survey sheets, with the scheduled areas marked in colour.

THE CROFTERS COMMISSION.

The eighth report of the Crofters Commission is for the year 1894. The area of proceedings included all the counties within the scope of the Commission. Details are given of a considerable number of cases the circumstances of which required the issue of special Orders; but the points in dispute were mostly legal, or connected with the application of special sections of the Act.

The following Table shows, according to counties, the number of applications to fix fair rents made to the Commissioners which were outstanding at 31st December 1893, and the number of such applications made between 31st December 1893 and 31st December 1894, with the number of applications disposed of between these dates, and how they were

There are besides awaiting disposal 26 appeals connected with applications from the county of Argyll, 60 from Inverness, 104 from Ross and Cromarty, 123 from Sutherland, 5 from Caithness, 1 from Orkney, and 97 from Shetland. Of the 475 applications from Sutherland to fix fair rents, 32 were from crofters for revaluation of holdings. 10 rents in Argyll and 45 in Inverness were fixed by agreement of parties under section 5 of the Act.

The next Table shows, according to counties, the number and the extent of the holdings for which fair rents were fixed between the 31st December 1893 and the 31st December 1894; also the amount of the previous rents, and the amount of the fair rents fixed; and the amount of the arrears, and how these were disposed of:—

The net decrease in rent following on the awards of the Commissioners made during the year 1894 was, in Argyll, £43 (17·377 per cent.); in Inverness, £160 (25·835 per cent.); in Sutherland, £10 (0·791 per cent.); in Caithness, £6 (21·698 per cent.); in Orkney, £16 (10·492 per cent.); and in the five counties taken together, £235 (10·277 per cent.). The arrears cancelled were 62·272 per cent. of the total arrears in Argyll; 62·756 per cent. in Inverness; 29·068 per cent. in Sutherland; 59·102 per cent. in Caithness; 40·216 per cent. in Orkney; and 53·183 per cent. in the five counties taken together. The average rent fixed for each holding was £5, 5s. 11½d. in Argyll; £4, 16s. 9½d. in Inverness; £3, 4s. 6½d. in Sutherland; £2, 19s. 3½d. in Caithness; £7, 15s. 5½d. in Orkney; and £3, 16s. 2d. on the average of the five counties taken together.

The Commissioners received during the year 3 applications by landlords for resumption of holdings, of which and of former applications 4 were granted; 10 applications for compensation for improvements; 1 application to fix marches; 1 application by a landlord for payment of arrears; and 28 applications for the regulation of common grazings. These, with 19 standing over from the previous year, made 62 applications; and of these 35 were disposed of, and 27 (exclusive of 7 appeals waiting disposal) remained to be dealt with.

At the 31st December 1893, 2 of the applications which had been made to the Commissioners to sist proceedings for removal in respect of non-payment of rent remained to be dealt with, and 4 such applications were received during 1894. In 1 of the applications a sist was granted; while 5 applications had been dismissed.

9 applications had, during 1894, been made for orders to prohibit the sale of a crofter's effects upon his holding by virtue of a decree for payment of rent; while there had been 6 outstanding at the beginning of the year. In 6 cases the sale had been prohibited, while in 1 case a temporary order was pending, and 7 had been dismissed.

5 applications to enlarge holdings were received during the year 1894, and the number of such applications pending at 31st December 1893 was 35, so that the total number of applications to be dealt with during the year was 40. The number of applicants was 422. 2 holdings were enlarged; number of applicants, 32; 1 application was withdrawn or conjoined; and 11 were dismissed—14 applications being thus disposed of, in which 160 applicants were concerned; while 26 applications (number of applicants, 262) remained to be dealt with. Of the 5 applications received during 1894, 1 proposed to take land from a farm occupied by the proprietor; 3 from a farm let to a tenant; and 1 from a deer forest. Waiting disposal on appeal were 5 applications, affecting 87 applicants.

JUDICIAL STATISTICS OF SCOTLAND.

The Twenty-seventh Report on the Judicial Statistics of Scotland is for the year 1894.

The number of persons apprehended or cited by the police in Scotland in 1894 was 155,291 (44,668 in counties and 110,623 in burghs)—the average number apprehended or cited in the five years ended 1894 having been 151,690. Of these, 2481 (934 in counties and 1547 in burghs) were apprehended or cited for offences against the person; 18,091 (7157 in counties and 10,934 in burghs) for offences against property, etc.; and 134,719 (36,577 in counties and 98,142 in burghs) for miscellaneous offences. 119,132 (35,699 in counties and 83,433 in burghs) were tried at the instance of the police; 2368 (823 in counties and 1543 in burghs) were committed by the Sheriff till liberated in due course of law, and 33,793 (8146 in counties and 25,647 in burghs) were not tried. Of the persons tried at the instance of the police, there were convicted 33,885 in counties and 78,207 in burghs, and 1814 in counties and 5226 in burghs were acquitted. In the five years ended 1894 the average number tried at the instance of the police was 114,403; the average number of these convicted was 106,502; and the average number acquitted was 7901. The disposal of those not tried in that year was:—Proceedings dropped, 6252; pledges, etc., forfeited, 25,437; otherwise disposed of, 1480; standing over untried at end of year, 624. Of those tried at the instance of the police in 1894, 98,086 were tried in police and burgh courts; 8350 in Justice of Peace courts; and 12,696 in Sheriff courts.

Of a total of 41,037 offences in counties and 98,231 in burghs made known to the police in 1894, one or more persons were either apprehended or cited in 34,301 instances in counties and 85,964 in burghs; while in 6756 cases in counties and 12,267 in burghs no one was apprehended or cited. One or more persons were apprehended in 1894 in connexion with 399 offences committed in the former year (305 in counties and 94 in burghs).

Of the persons apprehended or cited at the instance of the police in 1894, and not committed by the Sheriff, there were, in counties, 36,667 males and 7178 females; and in burghs, 75,931 males and 33,149 females. Of the persons convicted at the instance of the police in 1894, there were, in counties, 28,195 males and 5690 females; and in burghs, 50,775 males and 27,432 females.

The number of criminal offenders disposed of in 1894 (2380) was distributed among the counties of Scotland as follows:—Aberdeen, 82; Argyll, 65; Ayre, 88; Banff, 7; Berwick, 3; Bute, 13; Caithness, 7; Clackmannan, 2; Dumbarton, 73; Dumfries, 20; Edinburgh, 266; Elgin, 33; Fife, 56; Forfar, 151; Haddington, 14; Inverness, 32; Kincardine, 10; Kinross, 1; Kirkcudbright, 7; Lanark, 965; Linlithgow, 31; Nairn, 0; Orkney, 4; Peebles, 56; Perth, 107; Renfrew, 129; Ross and Cromarty, 72; Roxburgh, 15; Selkirk, 5; Stirling, 45; Sutherland, 2; Wigtown, 14; and Zetland, 5. Of a total of 2142 criminal offenders called for trial in 1894, 1937 were convicted, 16 were outlawed or had their bail-bonds forfeited, 2 were acquitted on the ground of insanity, 58 were found not guilty, and in 129 cases the verdict was "not proven." No criminal was sentenced to death; 83 were sentenced to 3 years' penal servitude, 24 to 5 years, 2 to 6 years, 10 to 7 years, and 4 to 10 years. In 1894, 286 juvenile offenders were ordered to be whipped (170 to be whipped only, and 116 to be imprisoned if the whipping were not inflicted).

The total expenditure for current expenses in the prisons of Scotland (exclusive of Peterhead Convict Prison, but including the General Prison at Perth), in the year 1894 was £49,965. The net profit on the labour of the prisoners during the same year was £4784. The average cost per prisoner for the year was £22, 1s. 0d.; while the average annual earnings per prisoner were £2, 2s. 3d. The net average cost per prisoner for the year 1894 was, therefore, £19, 18s. 9d. The expense of Peterhead Convict Prison in 1894 was £12,046. The average daily number of criminal prisoners was in 1892 (year ending 31st December), 2473; in 1893, 2650; in 1894, 2647; the civil prisoners in the same years were so few that no daily average could be recorded. Of the total number of criminals committed to prison in 1894, 698 were under 16 years of age, 1435 between 16 and 18, 4403 between 18 and 21, 39,823 between 21 and 50, and 6299 at or over 50. 4659 had been previously imprisoned in the same prison once, 2734 twice, 1844 thrice, 1397 four times, 931 five times, 2270 between six and ten times, 1721 between ten and twenty times, 981 between twenty and fifty times, and 291 fifty times and upwards. The remainder were in prison for the first time.

Before the Outer House of the Court of Session in 1894, 1316 causes were disposed of by final judgment, 335 were taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment, and 724 were in dependence at the end of the year. Before the Inner House, 605 causes were disposed of by final judgment, 258 were taken out of Court otherwise than by final judgment, and 291 were in dependence at the end of the year. In the Sheriffs' Ordinary Courts in 1894, 6932 causes were disposed of by final judgment, 1198 were taken out of Court otherwise, and 1377 were in dependence at the end of the year. In the Sheriffs' Debts Recovery Courts, 3602 causes were disposed of by decree, 1553 otherwise than by decree, and 316 were in dependence at the end of the year; while 130, in which there had been no proceedings, had been taken off the roll. In the Sheriffs' Small Debt Courts 38,785 causes were disposed of by decree, 13,954 otherwise than by decree, and 1530 were in dependence at the end of the year; while 759, in which there had been no proceedings, had been taken off the roll. In Justice of Peace Small Debt Courts, 15,107 causes were disposed of by decree, 1916 otherwise than by decree, and 58 were in dependence at the end of the year; while in no causes had there been no proceedings.

The number of bankruptcies in dependence in Scotland at the commencement of the year ended 31st October 1893 was 3878; the number awarded during the year, 367—total, 4245. The number disposed of in that year was 322, viz., recalled, 4; wound up by final division and discharge, 211; by composition, 42; by deed of arrangement, 15; otherwise wound up, 50. The time between awarding and discharge in 19 cases was 6 months and under a year; in 43, a year and under 18 months; in 34, 18 months and under 2 years; in 34, 2 years and under 3; in 23, 3 years and under 4; in 15, 4 years and under 5; and in 43 it was 5 years and upwards. Of the 367 bankruptcies awarded during the year, 83 were awarded by the Court of Session and remitted to Sheriffs, and 273 were awarded by Sheriffs of counties. Eleven sequestrations reported closed were re-opened during the year, and fall to be added to those awarded. The number of the bankrupts was 387—326 in sole sequestrations, and 61 in joint or partnership sequestrations. Of the bankrupts, 225 were traders, 46 manufacturers, 52 farmers, 7 lawyers, 3 medical practitioners, 23 were persons not acquiring income by any occupation, and 31 were of other descriptions.

In the bankruptcies concluded by final division and discharge in 1893, the amount of gross estates, per inventory and valuation by trustees, was £544,033; the amount of the debts was £918,390; the amount of the sums recovered by the trustees during the period of the sequestration was £386,980. The amount of expenses was £80,388 (viz., allowances to bankrupts, £376; trustees' commission, £16,469; law expenses, £19,775; miscellaneous expenses—ordinary, £8365; extraordinary, £35,402); the amount divided among the creditors was £303,156 (viz., secured creditors, £152,804; unsecured, £150,351). There was no overpayment by trustees; but surpluses were paid to bankrupts or their representatives to the amount of £3435. In 23 cases the value of the estate realized was under £100; in 98 it was of £100 and under £500; in 32, of £500 and under £1000; in 44, of £1000 and under £5000; in 7, of £5000 and under £10,000; in 5, of £10,000 and under £50,000; in 2, of over £50,000. In 28 cases there was no dividend; there were 37 dividends not exceeding 1s.; 44 of from 1s. to 2s. 6d.; 50 of from 2s. 6d. to 5s.; 39 of from 5s. to 10s.; 9 of from 10s. to 15s.; 1 of from 15s. to 20s.; and 3 of 20s.

HABITUAL OFFENDERS, Etc., SCOTLAND.

The Report of the Departmental Committee appointed to consider whether habitual offenders, vagrants, beggars, and inebriates in Scotland were increasing in number, and, if so, as to the cause of increase; to suggest such remedies as were likely to prevent further additions, and to lead to reformation; and to consider also the whole question of dealing with male and female juvenile offenders,—states that the members of Committee had come to the conclusion that (1) the percentage of convictions to population for graver offences in Scotland had for many years shown a continuous decrease; (2) the number of convictions for petty offences had within the same period increased at a rate considerably in excess of that of the increase of population; (3) the number of habitual offenders, as indicated by those imprisoned more than once within twelve months, had increased, but the ratio of increase was less than that of the population generally, or that of convictions for petty offences; (4) there had been a disproportionately large increase in the number of confirmed petty offenders, as indicated by persons recommitted to prison ten times and upwards; (5) the increase in the number of convictions, etc., for petty offences was due not to any falling off in the character of the population, but (a) to the effect of legislation in increasing the number of petty offences, (b) to the adoption of the Burgh Police Acts in populous places, and (c) to increased vigilance on the part of the police. They considered further that a judicious management of the police tended to diminish the percentage of arrests to population, and that, therefore, the Inspector of Constabulary should, after inquiry into local peculiarities of police administration, report on all such as seemed to call for notice to the Secretary for Scotland. By much the greater portion of the apparent excess of crime in Scotland over that in England was due to the very great difference in the law and in the practice of the police in the two countries in dealing with drunkenness and offences arising therefrom. In London, for example, only one case of drunkenness "out of a hundred, or ten or a dozen, as the case may be," was brought to trial, while in Edinburgh in 1893, of 2206 persons arrested as drunk, drunk and incapable, or drunk and disorderly, all were convicted except 15.

The great diversities of the law as to petty offences in burghs, and the still greater diversity of the methods of police administration in both burghs and counties, afforded an exceptional opportunity of judging of the efficacy of a number of different systems for the repression of the class of offences which the Committee had to consider, and the conclusions come to were that (1) penalties much smaller than the maximum of those competent under existing laws were sufficient, in the great majority of cases, to deter from repetition of the offence, and therefore any general increase in the severity of penalties was uncalled for, and to be deprecated; (2) although the number of confirmed petty offenders appeared to have increased, the number of recommitments to prison had decreased coincidentally with the shortening of the average term of imprisonment. To the first conclusion there is only one exception. In counties and in one or two burghs, 24 hours' imprisonment is the highest penalty competent for the offence of being drunk and incapable, and as the Committee considered it very undesirable that any person should be sent to gaol except with a view to a substantial punishment, they thought increased powers were needed in this particular instance, and therefore recommended further that the sections of the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act, 1892, relating to drunkenness (modified, inasmuch as considerably smaller penalties would sufficiently meet the case) should be extended to counties, and that in all cases prisoners whose sentences did not involve a night's detention should not be sent to prison, but detained in police cells. As to the option of fine or imprisonment, changes in the law should be made so as (1) to enable police magistrates to inflict, in all cases of drunkenness, disorderly conduct, breach of the peace, petty assault, begging, or solicitation, aggravated by previous conviction, short sentences, and sheriffs full sentences of imprisonment, without the option of a fine in all cases where they thought imprisonment deserved; (2) to do away with the invidious anomaly under which inveterate offenders possessed of money or monied friends, though meriting in the opinion of the judge 30 days' imprisonment, could go free on payment of 40s., while the casual but moneyless offender, whose friends may have to starve themselves in order to raise a 7s. 6d. fine, may have, while the money is being scraped together, to undergo 4 or 5 days' imprisonment, in addition to the payment of the whole fine imposed; (3) to prevent the possibility, except on the responsibility of a trained sheriff, of sentences of 60 days for begging or vagrancy or repeated drunkenness, or 30, 40, or 60 days for importuning, hurriedly proved by the uncorroborated evidence of two police witnesses. These long sentences might be necessary now, but if, as the Committee proposed, three committments to prison within twelve months sufficed to bring such a habitual offender before a sheriff armed with full powers, there would no longer be any reason or excuse for them.

As regarded habitual offenders and their treatment, the Committee proposed that all those who, having been imprisoned three times within twelve months, were again within that period brought before a magistrate, should no longer be dealt with summarily, but should be remitted to the sheriff, who should be empowered to inflict imprisonment without the option of a fine, and should, besides, if he considered it proved that the prisoner was an habitual offender, order his name to be recorded in a register of habitual offenders for, say, thirty months. If at any time while his name remained on the register he was again charged with an offence, no fine should be permitted, and, in addition to imprisonment, the sheriff should order his detention, after discharge, in an adult reformatory for a period of not less than twelve nor more than thirty months. Habitual offenders apparently of weak intellect or not able-bodied should be ordered to be detained in a poorhouse, subject to the same conditions as in a reformatory. The sheriff should have power instead of committing an habitual offender to release him on his entering into a recognisance, with or without securities, during such period of the thirty months as may be directed, to appear and submit to the sentence when called on. The institutions for the reception of habitual offenders should be designated Labour Settlements, and the inmates should be put to such labour as they are capable of, as far as possible in the open air. Every effort should be made to encourage the co-operation of charitable and temperance associations. The whole control and the power to frame rules for inmates and officers should lie with the Secretary for Scotland. Any additional burden thrown on the poor-rate through the prolonged detention in poorhouses of weak-minded, feeble, and aged habitual offenders, would be made up for by the relief of the rates from the support of many persons at present chargeable who would be dealt with in the Labour Settlements. By grouping contiguous poorhouses, and transferring inmates of some to vacant accommodation in others within the same group, 23 poorhouses, with accommodation for 2400 persons, might be made available for other purposes; and every effort should be made to obtain possession of these vacant buildings for adaptation for Labour Settlements, for which purpose vacant prison accommodation was not to be recommended if other provision could be made.

The necessary expense might be met by a grant of £10,000 a year from the Imperial Exchequer, £7000 or thereby from the fines now paid by prisoners after their admission to prison, an addition of say £3000 to poor rates (which would be probably saved by the abolition of the habitual offender pauper), and the labour of the estimated 250 male and 650 female offenders, which is valued at £14,000. The initial capital outlay should be advanced by the Imperial Exchequer as a loan, amply secured, and to be rapidly repaid.

As to vagrants and beggars:—1. The vagrancy clause of the Burgh Police Act (with limitations of penalties) should be made applicable to counties. 2. School Board districts and parishes in a county or adjoining counties should have power to unite in enforcing the attendance at school of the children of nomadic parents. 3. The Local Government Board should (under extended powers if necessary) authorise the detention in poorhouses, for a week or ten days after they have notified their intention of leaving, of pauper vagrants known to have been inmates of poorhouses, say more than twice or three times during the preceding six months. 4. The police authorities should have power to grant temporary relief (a labour equivalent being exacted if thought right) to the extent of a night's lodging and food to the necessitous, homeless, and travelling poor.

As to juvenile offenders:—1. No child under 14 years of age should be committed to prison before trial, unless charged with a crime punishable by penal servitude. 2. No person under 14 years of age should be sentenced to imprisonment, except by a sheriff or superior judge. 3. It should be made clear that whipping may be ordered as a substitute for any fine in default of payment of which the prisoner would have to go to prison. 4. For offences corresponding to those for which boys would be birched, girls should receive strokes on the hand with a leathern strap or "tawse." The necessity for either whipping or imprisonment might in very many cases be avoided by a judicious use of admonitions (public or private) addressed to the offenders or their parents, and by a free use of the First Offenders Act.

Habitual inebriates were of two kinds—(a) those who came into the hands of the police and to prison, and (b) those who were, as defined by the Habitual Drunkards Act, 1879, "by reason of habitual intemperate drinking of intoxicating liquor, at times dangerous to themselves or others, or incapable of managing themselves and their affairs." Cases of the first class would be fully met by the establishment of Labour Settlements. For the second the definition should be extended so as to cover the abuse of opium and other drugs as well as alcohol, and sheriffs should have power to order (at the instigation of either friends or the procurator-fiscal) those falling under the definition to be committed to a retreat—licensed and under the control of the Secretary for Scotland—for any period not exceeding two years. It should be made an offence for a licence-holder to supply drink to, or for any person knowingly in any way to assist in giving drink to, or obtaining it for, any inmate of a retreat or labour settlement, or (under sheriff's order) of a poorhouse.

The Report, which is signed by all the members of Committee—Sir Charles Cameron; Lieut.-col. M'Hardy, one of the Prison Commissioners for Scotland; Dr Farquharson; Sir Colin Scott Moncrieff, Under-Secretary for Scotland; Professor Dove Wilson; Dr J. F. Sutherland (who acted as secretary); and Miss Flora Stevenson—is accompanied by full minutes of the evidence received.

POLICE.

The Thirty-seventh Report upon the Constabulary of Scotland is for the year ended 15th March 1895. The Inspector recommends that certificates of efficiency be granted for the 31 county forces, and for the 34 separate city and burgh forces, which numbers include all the constabulary of Scotland except the Orkney and Shetland police, these being still not under Government inspection. The Inspector states that of the 31 county forces there are five with less than 20 men in each, in counties of under 20,000 inhabitants; two of the five having each less than 10 men, and two being in counties of under 10,000 inhabitants; and that there are still a number of county and burgh forces numerically weak in proportion to area, population, and the extent and nature of the police duties. There are at present 23 burghs, with estimated populations ranging from 1615 to 19,000, policed by counties; 16 as separate police districts, and 7 with over 7000 inhabitants each consolidated with their respective counties under 20 and 21 Vict. c. 72.

The total police force in Scotland (excluding Orkney and Shetland) consisted of 4795 officers and men, viz., the authorized strength of the forces recommended for the Government grant, 4589 men (in counties 1675, in cities and burghs 2914), and 206 additional constables who are privately employed and paid (in counties 70, in cities and burghs 136); and this gave one officer to every 853 of the estimated population. The authorized changes of the police during the year resulted in an increase of 12 in county and an increase of 46 in city and burgh forces. There had been 431 changes in the forces during the year—197 by resignations, and 21 by discharge. Of the men actually in the forces at the date of the Report (4535 in number, not including the additional police), 4196 were Scotch, 63 were English, 270 Irish, and 6 of other nations. 127 of the men belonged to the Army Reserve. In counties, during the year, 10 new and 7 altered, and in cities and burghs 7 new and 2 altered, stations, all of a very satisfactory kind, had been provided, or were about to be completed. The small sub-stations erected in the city of Aberdeen, and the telephone signal-boxes adopted in the city of Glasgow, should be introduced in other large towns. Mounting officers and constables on bicycles had been found most serviceable; and advantage would result from the introduction of a "Police Gazette" for Scotland, the extension of the telephone to all important stations, and the granting of powers to sheriffs and magistrates to deal with habitual offenders (who at present monopolise too much of the time of the police) by sentencing them for lengthened periods to suitable places provided for the purpose.

The total cost for pay and clothing during the year of the forces recommended for the Government grant was £363,820 (£128,931 for counties, and £234,889 for cities and burghs). The average annual pay per officer was £71, 16s. 5d. in counties, and £75, 10s. 2d. in cities and burghs, or, adding the cost of clothing, £76, 8s. 2d. in counties, and £80, 12s. 1d. in burghs. The aggregate cost of the police in Scotland, excluding the additional force, together with rents, taxes, buildings, and all other expenses, amounted to £447,246—£164,935 in counties, and £282,311 in cities and burghs. All the forces are now wholly or in part paid on the Government model scales.

During the year, 2869 pedlars' licenses were granted in counties, and 2314 in cities and burghs—total, 5183. The number of licenses for the sale of excisable liquors was, in counties, 4722, and in burghs, 6736—total, 11,458 (1 to every 426 of the estimated population in counties, and 1 to every 308 in burghs, and 1 to 357 in the whole of Scotland—excluding the Orkney and Shetland Islands). The number of vagrants, as ascertained by census taken on the Sundays following the longest and the shortest day, was, on 24th June 1894, 9873, viz., 6513 (3·15 per 1000 of the population) in counties, and 3360 (1·66 per 1000) in burghs; and on the 23rd December 1894, 8193, viz., 5093 (2·46 per 1000 of the population) in counties, and 3100 (1·53 per 1000) in burghs. Of the whole number at the former date, 6343, or 64 per cent., were Scotch; 2158, or 22 per cent., were Irish; 1240, or 13 per cent., were English; and 132, or 1 per cent., were foreigners. 6302, or 64 per cent., were male adults; 2064, or 21 per cent., were female adults; and 1507, or 15 per cent., were children under fourteen.

The following Table shows, for each of the counties of Scotland, the numbers of the authorized police force in the year 1894–95, the amount of population to each, their cost during the year for pay and clothing, rents, rates, buildings, etc., and miscellaneous expenses, and the yearly pay of the chief constable (exclusive of travelling allowance):—

Taking county and burgh forces together, the authorized police forces certified for the Government grant consisted of 65 chief constables (two having charge of two counties each, one of four, and one chief constable of a county also charge of a burgh force), 54 superintendents, 45 lieutenants, 159 inspectors; with 1 lieutenant, 19 inspectors, 7 sub-inspectors, 16 sergeants, and 82 officers, detective department; and 3 superintendents, 1 lieutenant, 11 inspectors, 15 sergeants, and 28 constables employed as clerks; 397 sergeants, and 3686 men—total, 4589.

The strength of the police force in England and Wales was 40,609 in 1894, and in Ireland in that year it was 13,331.

PRISONS.

The Seventeenth Annual Report of the Commissioners appointed under the Prisons (Scotland) Act, 1877, is for the year ended 31st March 1895.

The number of criminal prisoners of all classes at 1st April 1894 was 2517 (1899 males and 618 females); 49,275 were received during the year (31,153 males and 18,122 females)—which made the total number in confinement during the year 51,792; 49,574 were disposed of during the year

(31,382 males and 18,192 females); and 2218 remained in custody at 31st March 1895 (1670 males and 548 females). The daily average throughout the year was 2556 (1927 males and 629 females). The daily average in the previous year was 2686 (2015 males and 671 females).

The gross total population of the prisons, as given above, consisted of 399 convicts (371 males and 28 females), 1759 ordinary prisoners (1259 males and 500 females), and 60 criminal lunatics (40 males and 20 females) at 31st March 1895; against 431 convicts (397 males and 34 females), 2032 ordinary prisoners (1462 males and 570 females), and 54 criminal lunatics (40 males and 14 females), at 1st April 1894. The gross average daily population in 1894-95 consisted of 405 convicts (375 males and 30 females), 2096 ordinary prisoners (1513 males and 583 females), and 55 criminal lunatics (39 males and 16 females); while in 1893-94 it consisted of 436 convicts (400 males and 36 females), 2196 ordinary prisoners (1575 males and 621 females), and 54 criminal lunatics (40 males and 14 females).

During the twelve months from 1st January to 31st December 1894, 52,658 persons were committed to prison—a number exceeding all previous records. The causes could not be easily determined, but it seemed that the increase occurred among persons guilty of drunkenness, or charged with being drunk and incapable; explanation of which would probably be found in the prosperous state of the country, and the activity of the police. In strong contrast with this large influx were the committals for the first three months of 1895, when, the temperature being extremely low, outdoor labour impossible, and considerable distress prevalent among the poorer classes, the prison population fell to the lowest recorded point, the difference being in the number of prisoners sentenced for one month or less. The decrease of sentences of penal servitude had been quite marked, and in the case of male convicts had been acutely felt at the Peterhead Harbour works. Of the few female convicts still in custody many were old women more fit for treatment in a poorhouse. A new cell block had been constructed at Barlinnie General Prison, and the alterations at Glasgow, involving the reconstruction of more than half the prison, were practically finished.

102 male convicts (78 freshly sentenced and 24 with licence revoked) were admitted during the year, while 128 were liberated. Only 14 female convicts (including 8 who had forfeited their licences) were admitted, a large decrease since 1851, when 171 women were sentenced to transportation.

Taking the male and female convicts together, it appears that of the whole (399), 81 have been sentenced to the minimum term of three years, while 125 are under sentence for five, 106 for seven, and 42 for ten years; that, of the total, 297 had been convicted of robbery or theft; and that 201 had previously served sentences of penal servitude. The record of previous imprisonments showed that 37 men and 225 women had been imprisoned for fifty times and upwards, and a departmental committee had, during the year, considered the treatment of such habitual offenders, who formed the great bulk of ordinary prisoners. It seemed hopeless to affect them for good unless they were submitted during some lengthened period to systematic reformatory treatment.

There were 4 civil prisoners in custody during the year—1 in Glasgow, 1 in Edinburgh, 1 in Ayr, and 1 in Perth.

Of 2218 persons in custody at the end of the year, 1317 were Scots, 764 Irish, 117 English, and 20 foreigners; 1257 were Presbyterians, 820 Roman Catholics, 138 Episcopalians, and 3 of other denominations; and that nearly half of the males called themselves labourers, while a large proportion of the females were domestic servants and mill-workers.

Education was given to 723 prisoners during the year.

The Secretary for Scotland had approved of the partial introduction of the anthropometric system into Scotland, for criminals who travel beyond the Border.

MINERAL STATISTICS OF SCOTLAND.

The returns connected with the minerals of Scotland show that in 1894 the total number of mines at work under the Coal Mines Act was 538, that the total number of persons employed thereat (including those employed on private branch railways, and washing and coking coal) was 93,818, and that the total number of tons of mineral wrought was 24,613,070, while under the Metalliferous Mines Acts the number of mines was 26, the persons employed 958, and the tons of minerals wrought (including both "dressed" and "undressed" minerals, which differ widely in value) 242,798 tons. Total: 564 mines, 94,776 persons, and 24,855,868 tons. Of the total number of persons under the Coal Mines Act, 77,743 were employed underground, and, including those on sidings at the pit, on private branch railways, and washing and coking coal, 16,075 (1320 boys and 159 girls between 12 and 16 years of age, and 13,783 men and 761 women above 16) above ground. Of those employed under the Metalliferous Mines Acts, 604 were employed underground, and 354 (70, all males, under 18 years of age, and 284, including 1 woman, over 18) above ground. The total number of fatal accidents in Scotland in 1894 was 114, resulting in 121 deaths, of which 19 were in connexion with the surface operations, the rest being underground; but only 6 were due to explosions of fire-damp. The quantities of the principal minerals raised in 1894 were, in tons:—Coal, 21,481,554; Fire-clay, 469,251; Ironstone, 631,304; Oil-shale, 1,982,409; other minerals, 48,552. ### THE FISHERIES.

The Thirteenth Report of the Fishery Board for Scotland is for 1894.

In 1894 the capture of fish round the Scottish coasts was engaged in by 13,297 fishing boats and beam-trawlers, with an aggregate tonnage of 118,608. The value of such boats was £1,042,740, of the fishing-gear belonging to them £753,790, the area of the nets 161,020,837 square yards, the length of the lines (including buoy ropes, etc.), 84,941,555 yards, the number of crab and lobster creels 75,195, and the number of men and boys engaged 44,534. Of the whole vessels, 44 fishing boats, of 1036 tons, valued at £67,506, and manned by 309 men and boys, were propelled by steam, and 13,059 boats, of 113,321 tons, valued at £636,580, and manned by 43,145 men and boys, depended on sails or oars; while 115 beam-trawlers, of 3770 tons, valued at £334,670, and manned by 891 men and boys, were steamers, and 79, of 481 tons, valued at £3984, and manned by 189 men, were sailing vessels. Of the steam trawlers, 77 were Scottish, of which 42 belonged to Aberdeen, 27 to Leith, 5 to Montrose, 2 to Anstruther, and one to Fraserburgh; while the 38 vessels not Scottish all sailed from Aberdeen. Of the 79 sailing vessels, 58 belonged to Ballantrae, 16 to Greenock, 3 to Rothesay, and 2 to Campbeltown. Of the steam line-fishing boats, 17 belonged to Aberdeen, 13 to Leith, 12 to Anstruther, 1 to Peterhead, and 1 to Orkney. Of the total area of nets, Buckie, with over 29 million square yards, was considerably ahead of any other district, and it also took the first place for length of lines—over 12 million yards. The capital invested in fishing on the East Coast (including Orkney and Shetland) was £1,606,657 against £189,873 on the West Coast, the tonnage of boats 96,132 against 22,476, and the number of men and boys 29,598 against 14,936. The capital invested in trawling had increased by £10,000.

The total quantity of fish (exclusive of shell-fish) landed in Scotland in 1894 was over 6,188,775 cwts., valued at £1,565,821, a decrease of 19,243 cwts. and a decrease of £59,075 in value compared with the previous year. Fish taken by net decreased by 136,759 cwts. (£40,561); those taken by line increased by 94,834 cwts., but decreased in value by £5816, owing to a large catch of small-sized haddocks; and those taken by trawl increased by 22,682 cwts., but diminished in value by £12,698. 70 per cent. of the catch was landed by net, 23 by line, and 7 by trawl. 5,307,401 cwts., valued at £1,314,839, were landed on the East Coast (including Orkney and Shetland), and 4,333,925 cwts. of the total consisted of herrings, which realised £770,511. The herring catch showed a decrease of 90,665 cwts. and a decrease in value of £35,806 compared with the previous year. Of haddock, 812,414 cwts., valued at £372,175, were taken, an increase of 127,631 cwts. and a decrease of £15,272 in value compared with the previous year. The total quantity of cod and ling landed in 1894 was 618,193 cwts. valued at £212,509, an increase of 200 cwts., and a decrease of £2457 in value compared with the former year. A large increase in the cod trawl-fishing was nearly counter-balanced by a decrease in the number of ling caught. Of flounders, plaice, and brill, 81,179 cwts., valued at £67,802, were landed, an increase of 5678 cwts. and £4991 in value compared with the previous year. Of skate, 49,239 cwts., valued at £11,728, were landed, a decrease of 8770 cwts. and a decrease of £12 in value. Of lemon sole the catch was 17,880 cwts., valued at £30,591, an increase of 613 cwts. and £1764 in value: of halibut, 31,471 cwts. were landed, valued at £31,425, a considerable increase over the previous year: of turbot the catch was 3194 cwts., valued at £10,075, a decrease of 1066 cwts. and £3319 in value compared with the previous year. 14,013 cwts. of conger eel, valued at £73.2, were landed in 1894, a considerable decrease compared with the previous year; five-sixths of the total came from the West Coast districts. Of "other kinds" of white fish (including hake, bream, gurnard, cat-fish, and sillock) the total quantity landed was 56,347 cwts., valued at £13,853, a decrease of 33,048 cwts. and a decrease of £6979 in value compared with the previous year.

The net-caught fish (herring, sprat, sparling, and mackerel) contributed 4,352,944 cwts. (valued at £774,854) of the total catch. Beam trawling had, during the year, proved in some cases unremunerative; but steam line-boats, which were increasing in number, had been very successful, especially at Anstruther, where the local fleet was being constantly added to. The number of English trawlers fishing from Scottish ports was decreasing from year to year, while that of Scottish trawlers was increasing. The quality of the herrings caught during the great summer fishing had never been excelled, but the abundant supply had reduced prices to a moderate, and in some cases even to an unremunerative amount. Attempts were being made to develop the mackerel fishing, and seeing the shoals of fine quality to be found outside the Hebrides, and the brisk demand in the American markets for the fish in a pickled state, some enterprising curers should be tempted to give the trade a fair trial. The value of the herrings landed at English ports by Scottish fishermen was about £65,000, and at Irish ports £3400, Anstruther and Buckie crews being the principal contributors to this total.

The total value of shell-fish taken fell to £69,888, a decrease of £5466. The falling off was chiefly on mussels and crabs, the quantity of the former taken in Anstruther being only one-half of that landed in 1893. Oysters showed a slight decrease in both quantity and value; while lobsters, though almost the same in quantity, realised lower prices.

Of the herring taken, 734,717 cwts. were sold for use in a fresh state—a diminution of 327,514 cwts., due to a shortcoming in the catch in some of the West Highland Lochs. Haddocks, on the other hand, showed a large increase. A large quantity of the haddocks are cured as "Findon," "Moray Firth," or "Eyemouth." Aberdeen contributed £282,575 of the total value (£734,800) sold for use fresh on the East Coast, while Campbeltown and Inveraray accounted for £111,101 of the total value (£214,359) on the West Coast. The total quantity of herrings cured was 1,518,077 barrels, of which 26,520 (21,825 gutted and 4695 ungutted) were cured on board vessels, and 1,491,557 (1,382,590 gutted and 10,376 ungutted) on shore. 72,405 barrels were kippered, 5373 barrels prepared as bloaters, and 20,813 barrels preserved in tins—a total increase of 108,538 barrels. The total number of cod, ling and hake cured was 3,903,043 (138,131 cwts. dried and 4600 barrels pickled) against 3,960,734 (141,725 cwts. dried and 3458 barrels pickled) in the previous year. Shetland, with 1,877,812 fish (59,209 cwts.), still maintained the foremost place in the dry curing branch. The largest quantity pickled was in the Wick district (2075 barrels).

During 1894, 524,848 barrels of herring were branded—32,179½ large full, 320,212½ full, 67,846 mattie full, 97,131 spent, and 7479 mixed. No herrings were branded on the West Coast. The amount of fees received was £8747, an increase of £1393 on the previous year.

In 1894, 1,203,156 barrels were exported, against 1,045,186 in the previous year; 535,408 barrels, or 44·5 per cent., being Crown branded, as against 40·0 per cent. for the previous year. The total quantity of cod, ling, and hake dried and exported was 64,747 cwts., a decrease of 42,096 cwts. The greatest decrease was in the quantity exported from Orkney and Shetland to Ireland, but the prices obtained for fresh cod and ling were more remunerative than those realised for the fish in a cured state.

During the year a mussel fishery Order in favour of the municipality of Cockenzie was confirmed by the Secretary for Scotland and approved by Parliament. The total coast was only £2.3s. 1d., which should stimulate other localities in the direction of obtaining protection of valuable beds.

452 fishing boats and vessels (9 steam line boats), valued at £73 332, and 17 trawlers (3 sailing), valued at £60,960, were built in Scotland in 1894, 8 of the trawlers being for the prosecution of the fisheries off the English coast. During the year 112 boats, valued at £12,357, were totally wrecked, and 35<sup>1</sup> damaged to the amount of £3098; while nets and other fishing material suffered injury to the extent of £34,821. The total number of lives lost was 67—43 through boats foundering at sea, and 3 in collisions; while 26 men were washed or knocked overboard. An Act passed in 1894 gave power to offer the annual statutory grant of £3000 for the construction and improvement of fishery harbours, in security for loans to be obtained by the local harbour authorities with the approval of the Board. The total amount advanced by the Board under the Crofters' Holdings (Scotland) Act, 1886, s. 32, was, up to the end of 1894, £30,111; instalments (principal and interest), amounting to £27,735, had fallen due, and £18,802 had been paid. Of the amount deemed irrecoverable, exclusive of interest, amounting to £5065, £4689 has been written off as against the Local Loans Fund.

The number of boxes of salmon, each weighing about one cwt., sent by rail from Scotland in 1894 was 15,489; but this does not include single fish sent by rail, nor does it take any account of the salmon consumed in the neighbourhood where caught.

The following Table gives for the various districts the number of fish-curers, the number, tonnage, and value of the boats and vessels employed, the value of their complete gear, the number of the resident and non-resident fishermen and boys, the number of persons engaged (including fishermen and boys, fishmongers, hawkers, curers, coopers, gutters and packers, clerks, carters, bait-gatherers, boat-builders, net-makers, stave-makers, and seamen on vessels curing and carrying), and the total value of the fish landed:—

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Army Estimates.—The number of officers, non-commissioned officers, and rank and file of Her Majesty's land forces (exclusive of Her Majesty's British forces on the East Indian establishment, 73,168 in number) provided for in the Army Estimates for the year ending 31st March 1896, was 155,403 (viz., officers 7501, warrant officers 1044, sergeants 16,020, drummers and trumpeters 3682, rank and file 127,156). This includes the general and departmental staff (viz., general staff, including headquarters staff, 332 officers, 36 warrant officers, 88 sergeants, and 5 rank and file; army pay department, 209 officers; veterinary department, 68 officers, 1 warrant officer, 5 sergeants, and 1 rank and file; chaplain's department, 88 officers; medical department, including headquarters staff, 619 officers—in all, 1453 men); 239 officers, 163 warrant officers, 335 sergeants, 2 drummers and trumpeters, and 159 rank and file—in all, 898 men—employed in various establishments connected with the army, and not included in regimental establishments; and the staff of the Hon. artillery company (1 officer and 4 sergeants—5 men); the staff of the yeomanry cavalry (19 officers and 146 sergeants—165 men); the staff of the light horse volunteers (1 officer and 3 sergeants—4 men); the staff of the militia artillery (56 officers, 513 sergeants, and 181 drummers and trumpeters—750 men); the staff of the volunteer artillery (65 officers and 329 sergeants—394 men); the staff of the militia engineers (80 sergeants and 24 drummers and trumpeters—104 men, in addition to 3 officers included in establishment of Royal Engineers); the staff of the volunteer engineers (69 sergeants—69 men, in addition to 18 officers included in establishment of Royal Engineers); the staff of the militia infantry (246 officers, 2615 sergeants, and 1025 drummers and trumpeters, and 10 rank and file (and now also including the Channel Islands and Colonial militia)—8896 men); of the volunteer infantry (210 officers and 1184 sergeants—1394 men); and of the volunteer medical staff corps (1 officer and 14 sergeants). The strength of the regiments on the British establishment, provided for in the estimates, including the depôts in the United Kingdom of regiments in India, and the commissariat, transport, and ordnance store departments (formerly reckoned with the general and departmental staff), was 146,249 (viz., 5347 officers, 843 warrant officers, 10,628 sergeants, 2450 drummers and trumpeters, and 126,981 rank and file). The number of horses provided for (exclusive of officers' horses) was, for regiments on the British establishment, 14,650, and for regiments on the Indian establishment, 12,180. The whole number of men on the establishment of the regular army (155,847 in 1894-95) was 155,403 in the year 1895-96; and the number of men of the regular army serving in India (73,125 in 1894-95) was 73,168 in 1895-96. The number of officers, non-commissioned officers, and rank and file of the reserve forces, for which provision was made in the Army Estimates for 1895-96, was, army reserve, 1st class, 85,000; 2nd class, 100; militia (including permanent staff and militia reserve), 134,872; Channel Islands militia, 3996; Malta and Bermuda militia, 1362; yeomanry cavalry (including permanent staff), 11,678; volunteers (including staff), 262,396. The net estimated charge was, for effective services, £15,014,200 (gross estimate, £17,020,146, less appropriations in aid, £2,005,946), and for non-effective services, £3,039,600—total, £18,053,800—as against £18,005,900 in 1894-95. The net estimated charge for pay and allowances for the several branches of the reserve forces was as follows:—Militia, £560,000; yeomanry cavalry, £73,000; volunteer corps, £824,200. The estimates for the year 1895-96 showed a net increase of £47,900 upon the estimates for the year 1894-95; and this was also the total increase (the net estimate for ordnance factories showing neither increase nor decrease). The estimate for the volunteer corps for 1895-96 was made up as follows:—Pay, etc., of 296 adjutants of volunteer corps, £76,000; pay, etc., of 1603 sergeant-instructors, £97,600; capitation grant on number of efficient volunteers, 226,413 men (225,531 of them at 35s. each, and 882 at 10s.), £395,120; additional allowance, at £3, 5s. for 1161 engineers efficient in submarine mining, £3773; special capitation allowance of £2, 10s. for 19,693 proficient officers and sergeants, £49,232, and of 30s. each for 1598 officers passed in tactics, signalling, etc., £2397; special capitation at 2s. for 111,678 men in possession of a great-coat, £11,168; and at 1s. for miscellaneous expenditure of engineer corps, £570; to aid equipment of batteries and companies to be added to establishment, £390; travelling allowance for attendance at united drill and shooting practice, £20,000; special capitation grant at 1s. for each efficient volunteer, exclusive of officers, in possession of a complete equipment, £10,850;—total, capitation grants and travelling, £493,500; allowances in aid of volunteer camps, £115,000; miscellaneous charges for volunteer corps, £42,500. Total, pay and allowances, £824,600; and deducting appropriations in aid, £400, £824,200. Charges on account of the volunteer force are also included in other army votes, for deferred pay, transport, provisions, clothing, etc., for the permanent staff and for stores. [The total efficient volunteers for 1894 were: light horse, 175; artillery, 40,240; engineers (including submarine mining companies), 12,721; rifles, 169,949; medical staff corps, 1440.]

The Militia.—The militia force of the United Kingdom at the time of the training in 1894 consisted of 2981 officers, exclusive of the permanent staff; the permanent staff consisting of 157 adjutants, 132 quartermasters, 3057 sergeants, and 1195 drummers; and 2311 sergeants, 4994 corporals, and 106,840 privates, gunners or sappers—or 121,667 of all ranks. The numbers present at the training of 1894 were, 2591 officers, exclusive of the permanent staff; 154 adjutants, 129 quartermasters, 2998 sergeants, and 1165 drummers of the permanent staff, and 2159 sergeants, 4516 corporals, and 89,970 privates, gunners or sappers—or 103,682 men of all ranks. There were 15,087 men of all ranks (including 551 officers) wanting to complete the establishment of the regiments as authorized by army circulars of 1894; and there were 1915 men of all ranks (including 14 officers) supernumeraries in certain regiments. There were 16,135 of the men enrolled absent from training—5900 with leave and 10,235 without leave. Of the numbers enrolled of all ranks, 16,487 men were in artillery regiments (7652 in English, 2861 in Scotch, and 5974 in Irish regiments); 2053 engineers (all in England); and 102,846 in infantry regiments (71,817 in English, 12,070 in Scotch, and 18,959 in Irish regiments). There were 81,803 men in English, 14,931 in Scotch, and 24,933 in Irish regiments. The total number of men of the militia reserve effective at inspection, and included in the foregoing numbers, was 31,313, viz., in England 20,469, in Scotland 3706, and in Ireland 7138; 5305 were in artillery regiments, 398 were engineers, and 25,558 in infantry regiments. The number of men enrolled for the militia reserve during the year was 5662.

The Navy Estimates.—The number of officers, seamen, boys, and marines proposed to be voted for the service of Her Majesty's Navy for the year ending 31st March 1896 (the number to be borne on ships' books) was 88,850 (including 262 for Indian troop ships), viz., 61,945 officers, seamen, and boys available for sea service, 4200 men for the coastguard service, and 15,363 marines; and 2599 officers and seamen, 4601 boys, and 142 marines—7342 persons—borne on ships' books, or at Royal Marine headquarters for various services. The corresponding number of officers and men voted in 1894-95 was 83,400—net increase, 5450. The estimates also made provision for 94 officers on salary for various services; for 1400 officers and 23,700 men of the Royal Naval Reserve; and 5512 men of the seamen and marine pensioners' reserve—which made the total number provided for 119,556. The net estimated charge was £18,701,000 (gross estimate, £19,613,821, less appropriations in aid, £912,821), made up as follows:—For effective services, £16,554,200; for non-effective, £2,086,500; annuity payable for additional naval force for service in Australasian waters (gross, £95,300), £60,300. The navy estimates for 1895-96, as compared with those for 1894-95, show a net increase of £1,334,900. The number of ships in commission at 1st November 1894 was 290, as against 300 expected to be in commission at 1st November 1895, viz., 230 steamships, 25 sailing vessels, and 35 stationary ships, as against 244 steamships, 25 sailing vessels, and 31 stationary ships, at 1st November 1895, viz., 48 armour-plated ships (17 battle-ships, first class, 7 second class, and 2 third class); 4 coast defence ships, and 14 cruisers, first class; and 196 unarmoured ships, all steamers (17 cruisers, second class; 33 cruisers, third class; 3 cruisers in lieu of drill ships; 10 sloops; 2 gun-vessels, first class, and 2 second class; 29 gun-boats, first class, 5 second class, and 20 third class; 6 torpedo gun-boats; 13 torpedo-boat destroyers; 14 torpedo boats, first class; 2 torpedo boats, second class; 16 special service vessels, 1 torpedo ram, 1 torpedo dépôt ship, 2 despatch vessels, 7 surveying vessels, 6 tenders for coastguard service, 2 troop and store ships (Imperial), and 1 troop ship (Indian), and 4 royal yachts); and of sailing vessels, 7 training brigs, 2 miscellaneous, and 16 coast-guard tenders (late revenue cruisers); while of the stationary ships, 13 would be flag, receiving, steam-reserve, and store ships, and 18 training and drill ships. It is stated that, in addition to the ships and vessels in commission above specified, there would be a larger number of torpedo boats in the navy in 1895-96 than there were in 1894-95. Adding to the estimated expenditure for the navy in 1895-96 the estimated expenditure on account of the navy of other departments during the year, the total estimated expenditure is found to be £18,916,721—as against £17,592,154 in the previous year. The total estimated expenditure upon new construction without armaments in 1895-96, under the further programme of 1893, was £5,393,642 (£2,834,786 for the ships building and completing in H.M. dockyards, and £2,558,856 for the vessels constructing by contract). £730,000 was also provided for armaments.

Contributions to Imperial Expenditure.—To the total revenue for the year 1893-94 (£96,855,627), England contributed £78,781,329, or 81·34 per cent.; Scotland £10,505,649, or 10·85 per cent.; and Ireland £7,568,649, or 7·81 per cent. Of this total England received for local expenditure £26,766,423, or 73·90 per cent; Scotland £3,852,163, or 10·63 per cent.; and Ireland £602,555, or 15·47 per cent.; and of the balance of £60,634,486 left for imperial expenditure, England contributed £52,014,906, or 85·79 per cent.; Scotland £6,653,486, or 10·97 per cent.; and Ireland only £1,966,094, or 3·24 per cent.

Crofters and Cottars Colonisation—The Sixth Report of the Commissioners appointed to carry out a scheme of colonisation in the Dominion of Canada of Crofters and Cottars from the Western Highlands and Islands of Scotland, and from the congested districts in Ireland, is dated April 1895. In Killarney the indebtedness incurred, through want of proper economy, to storekeepers and implement-makers, continued to retard progress. That it was unnecessary was shown by the fact that of the settlers remaining at Saltcoats only two were due money to storekeepers, and only three (including the same two) to implement-makers. The larger proportion of the new stock, being held in the names of the wives or younger members of the household, cannot be seized by creditors for debts contracted by the heads of families. Thirty-five homesteads in the municipality of Turtle Mountain had been sold for taxes, and unless they were redeemed before May the Board would lose all claim on the land. Though the first of the repayments to the Board became due in some instances in November 1892, money had been received from only one settler. The prosperity had not been what was expected, and was quite possible had advantage been taken of the opportunities afforded, the causes of failure having been indebtedness recklessly incurred, indifferent farming, and the low prices of agricultural produce. To this last is to be attributed the smaller area of wheat and oats sown; and in all consideration of the position of affairs, the general agricultural depression must be distinctly remembered. If the settlers at Killarney could dispose of their indebtedness other than that to the Board they should be in as good a position, to say the least, as any other farmers in the country, but the further expenditure of Imperial funds on the settlement would not be justified. At Killarney there were, in 1894, 55 homesteads with 1957 acres under wheat, 298 under oats, and 27 under potatoes; while 1237 were being broken up for crop in 1895. 890 tons of hay had been cut, and the live stock amounted to 49 horses, 65 oxen, 75 cows, 44 heifers, 14 steers, 10 bulls, 138 pigs, and 1221 fowls. 55 of the oxen, 71 of the cows, and all the horses had been acquired by the crofters themselves. At Saltcoats, 23 homesteads had 41 acres under wheat, 67 under oats, 13 under potatoes, and 150 were being broken up for crop in 1895. 666 tons of hay were secured, and the live stock was 9 horses, 35 oxen, 86 cows, 67 heifers, 62 steers, 6 bulls, 6 pigs, 7 sheep, and 538 fowls. Of the oxen 8, and of the cows 55, had been acquired by the crofters themselves.

Licences refused for Sale of Intoxicating Liquors.—A return dealing with this shows that in Scotland, in 1893, the justices in counties refused 11 licences for inns or hotels (7 appeals against refusals afterwards sustained), 19 licences for public-houses (6 appeals sustained), and 8 grocers', etc., licences (1 appeal sustained); in 1894, 14 licences for inns or hotels (8 appeals sustained), 20 licences for public-houses (10 appeals sustained), and 10 grocers', etc., licences (3 appeals sustained). In neither year was any licence for the sale of table beer refused. In three of the cases refused in 1893, and in five of those refused in 1894, licences of a lower class were granted; while in 1894, 2 applications were refused on account of the death of applicants. In burghs, in 1893, 14 licences for inns or hotels were refused, 62 for public-houses, 32 for grocers', etc., licences, and 1 for the sale of table beer; while in 1894 there were 7 for hotels, 59 for public-houses, and 19 for grocers', etc. Out of the total of 109 refusals for 1893 and 85 for 1894, 46 appeals in the first year and 32 in the second (details of different kinds not given) were sustained and the licences granted; while in 2 cases in 1893, and 2 in 1894, the licences were reduced to a lower class. In one case in 1893 the refusal was due to the death of the applicant; and in 3 cases in 1893, and 2 in 1894, though licences were refused for certain premises, they were granted to the same applicants for new premises.

Paupers, Ireland and Scotland.—A return has been issued showing that, on 31st December 1893, 72 persons (including children) born in Scotland were receiving relief in Ireland in workhouses, 11 were receiving out-door relief, and 11 were patients in district lunatic asylums; while on 30th June 1894 the corresponding numbers were 66 in workhouses, 14 out-door, and 13 in district lunatic asylums. In Scotland, on the other hand, the number of persons born in Ireland who were receiving relief in poorhouses on 31st December 1893 was 2122 (including 250 dependents), out-door 7311 (including 3213 dependents), under detention as lunatics or imbeciles 738; on 30th June 1894, 1886 (including 229 dependents) were receiving relief in poorhouses, 7341 (including 3205 dependents) out-door relief, and 771 were under detention as lunatics or imbeciles.

Poorhouses, Consumption of Spirits, etc., in.—A return dealing with the quantity of spirits, wine, and malt liquors consumed in each poorhouse in Scotland in the years 1892 and 1893, shows that, in 1892, 287 pints of spirits, costing £29, were consumed in ordinary wards, and 5031, costing £551, in hospital or sick wards; 82 pints of wine (£8) in ordinary wards and 1549 (£126) in hospital or sick wards; 35 gallons of malt liquor (£2) in ordinary wards, and 116 (£8) in hospital or sick wards. In 1893 the corresponding figures were:—Spirits, 428 pints (£47) in ordinary wards, 4906 (£531) in hospital or sick wards; wine, 73 pints (£6) in ordinary wards, 1684 (£135) in hospital or sick wards; malt liquor, 23 gallons (£1) in ordinary wards, 116 (£8) in hospital or sick wards. The average daily number of inmates in 1892 was:—Ordinary wards 6686, hospital or sick wards 2546; total, 9232; total cost, £724; in 1893, ordinary wards 7036, hospital or sick wards 2659; total, 9695; total cost, £728. For England and Wales the total cost for similar supplies was £35,635 for 182,000 inmates in 1892, and £32,911 for 190,772 inmates in 1893; and for Ireland £9419 for 40,648 inmates in 1892, and £8660 for 40,574 inmates in 1893.

CHRONICLE, 1894-95.

December 21, 22, 1894. A terrific storm of wind and rain swept over the United Kingdom, occasioning vast loss both of life and property, and an exceedingly serious breakdown of the telegraph system.

22. A great disaster occurred at Chelford, near Crewe, on the London and North-Western Railway, by a passenger train colliding with some luggage waggons; thirteen persons were killed on the spot, and between fifty and sixty were more or less seriously injured.

28. Four French cruisers opened fire upon the fortified posts of the Hovas situated outside Tamatave, Madagascar, and caused heavy loss to the Hovas.

January 3, 1895. The funeral of the late Right Hon. Sir John S. D. Thompson, K.C.M.G., Premier of the Dominion of Canada, took place at Halifax, Nova Scotia; it was one of the grandest pageants ever seen in British America, and was attended by the Right Hon. the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor-General, and by many public representative men from all parts of the Dominion.

7. The independence of Corea was solemnly proclaimed at Seoul, the capital.

8. A riotous outbreak of distressed people took place at St John's, Newfoundland, on account of their starving condition, caused by the financial troubles that existed in the colony.

13. Severe weather prevailed throughout the United Kingdom, causing a large number of shipping casualties, with loss of life.

January 14. By the flooding of the Audley Coal Pit, North Staffordshire, 78 lives were lost.

14. In an engagement between a body of Abyssinians and Italian troops at Coatit, the former were defeated, with much loss in killed and wounded. The Italians lost in killed and wounded about 340 officers and men.

15. A strike of the men employed on the cars at Brooklyn, U.S.A., having taken place, a mob of about 10,600 persons attacked and wrecked a car that was being started. A body of mounted police prevented the destruction of others. For several days afterwards the traffic was completely paralyzed by the violence of the rioters, and troops had to be called out to preserve order.

15. An official note was issued to the newspapers of Paris announcing the resignation of M. Casimir-Périer, President of the Republic.

17. The National Assembly of France met at Versailles, and elected M. Félix Faure to be President of the Republic.

18. The Right Hon. the Earl of Rosebery addressed an audience of 10,000 at Cardiff on the policy of the Government.

19. The Earl of Wemyss and March was presented with the freedom of the Royal Burgh of Haddington.

19. The Chinese stronghold Weihai-wei was invested by the Japanese. The land batteries were captured on Jan. 30, and the remaining positions on Feb. 12, when several Chinese war vessels were sunk by means of torpedoes, and an admiral, a general, a commodore, and two captains were said to have committed suicide through grief and shame at having to surrender.

January 23. A considerable portion of the municipal buildings, Perth, was ruined by fire, and several historical portraits and busts were destroyed.

30. The North German Lloyd's steamer Elbe, plying between Bremerhaven and New York, was run into by the trading steamer Orathie, and foundered in the North Sea, about 50 miles from Lowestoft. 335 lives were lost.

31. H.R.H. the Princess Louise (Marchioness of Lorne), accompanied by H.R.H. the Princess Henry of Battenberg, performed the ceremony of naming and launching the new line of battle ship Majestic at Portsmouth.

February 5. The fourth session of the thirteenth Parliament of the Queen's reign and the twenty-fifth of the United Kingdom was opened by Royal Commission. In the House of Lords an Address in reply to the Queen's speech was moved by Lord Welby, and seconded by Lord Battersea. In the House of Commons the Address was moved by Mr C. E. H. Hobhouse, and seconded by Mr W. H. Holland. The debate on the Address was closed on the 18th inst., after the House had divided on an amendment by Mr Joseph Chamberlain, for which 283 voted, and 297 against it.

6, 7. Severe storms of snow, accompanied by intense frost, experienced in many parts of Scotland.

21. Sir Henry James moved the adjournment of the House of Commons for the purpose of discussing the recent imposition of duties on the importation of cotton manufactures into India. When the House divided, the motion was supported by 109 votes; against it, 304.

24. The ex-Queen of Hawaii was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of five thousand dollars for complicity in a Royalist revolt against the Republican Government of the country. She was subsequently released.

25. In the House of Commons, Mr Asquith, Home Secretary, moved for leave to introduce a Bill to terminate the Establishment of the Church of England in Wales and Monmouthshire. The second reading of the Bill was passed on April 1 by a majority of 44.

February 26. The following motion (moved by Mr Everett) was agreed to by the House of Commons:—

"That this House regards with increasing apprehension the constant fluctuations and the growing divergence in the relative value of gold and silver, and heartily concurs in the recent expressions of opinion on the part of the Government of France and the Government and Parliament of Germany as to the serious evils resulting therefrom. It therefore urges upon Her Majesty's Government the desirability of co-operating with other Powers in an international conference for the purpose of considering what measures can be taken to remove or mitigate these evils."

28. As a train on the Inter-oceanic Railway, Mexico, was rapidly descending a steep part of the line, it ran off the rails and was precipitated over a precipice; 104 persons were killed and 85 others seriously injured.

March 1. The Theatre Royal, Glasgow, was destroyed by fire.

1. A Bill to amend and extend the law relating to factories and workshops, introduced by the Home Secretary, was read a first time in the House of Commons. The second reading took place on April 22, and the third on July 3. The Bill passed the third reading in the House of Lords on July 5.

3. The sixth snow-block for the season took place on the Caithness Railway.

3. The siege of Chitral, N.-W. India, was commenced by Umra Khan, and was raised on the 18th April by the flight of the enemy on the approach of a small British force under Colonel Kelly.

4. "A Bill to further amend the law relating to the occupation and ownership of land in Ireland, and for other purposes relating thereto," was read a first time in the House of Commons on the motion of Mr John Morley. It passed the second reading without a division April 5.

4. Mr Bryce, President of the Board of Trade, asked leave of the House of Commons to introduce a Bill to make better provision for the settlement of trade disputes.

4. A large body of delegates from the Irish Unionist Alliance, headed by the Marquess of Londonderry, K.G., P.C., visited Edinburgh, and attended an important gathering of Unionists and others in the Music Hall, presided over by the Marquess of Tweeddale.

March 6. The town of Niuchang, Manchuria, was captured by Japanese forces. Next day its port, Ying-Kow, was also captured.

9. A great lock-out began in the boot and shoe trade at Northampton and elsewhere in England. By the intervention of the Board of Trade, the dispute was settled on April 19.

10. A detachment of the 14th Sikhs, numbering sixty men, under the command of Captain Clave Ross, while on the march between Gilgit and Chitral, was surrounded by a large body of tribesmen, and forty-five of them were slain, together with their commander.

10, 11. A great gale prevailed on the coast of Morocco, and the Spanish cruiser Reina Regente foundered. All the officers and crew, numbering 420, were drowned.

13. Her Majesty the Queen, accompanied by H.R.H. Princess Henry of Battenberg, left Portsmouth en route for Nice, where the Royal party arrived two days later. Her Majesty left Nice on April 23 for Darmstadt, and returned to England on April 30.

16. The junction of Chinese and Burmese telegraph lines was effected, thus establishing telegraphic communication through India and China.

23. The German Imperial Diet rejected, by 163 votes to 146, a proposal to empower the President to convey the congratulations of Parliament to Prince Bismarck on his 80th birthday on 1st April. On being informed of this result, the German Emperor sent the following telegram to the ex-Chancellor:—"Allow me to express to your Serene Highness my deepest indignation at the decision just taken by the Imperial Diet, which is diametrically opposed to the sentiments of all German Princes and their peoples." Throughout the whole of Germany the Prince's birthday was celebrated on a scale of unusual magnitude.

23. An attempt was made at Simonoseki, by a young Japanese fanatic, to assassinate the Chinese peace envoy, Le Hung-Chang. The culprit was subsequently sentenced to imprisonment for life.

March 24. A storm of extraordinary violence raged over the greater part of England, and caused loss of life and much damage to property. The telegraph system was deranged, and everywhere trees were rooted up.

24, 25. A Japanese fleet bombarded and captured the chief places of the principal Chinese islands known as the Pescadores.

27. The British East Africa Company agreed to surrender their charter of incorporation and assets to Her Majesty's Government for the sum of £250,000.

29. In the House of Commons, on the motion to go into Committee, Mr Dalziel moved the following amendment:—

"That, in the opinion of this House, in order to give speedier and fuller effect to the special desires and wants of the respective nationalities constituting the United Kingdom, and with a view to increase the efficiency of the Imperial Parliament to deal with Imperial affairs, it is desirable to devolve upon Legislatures in Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and England respectively, the management and control of their domestic affairs."

After some discussion, the House divided, when 128 voted for the resolution and 102 against it.

April 2. The first election of Parish Councillors in Scotland, under the Local Government Act of 1894, took place.

3. The Malakand Pass, N.-W. India, was captured by a British force (the advance of the Chitral Expedition), after a stubborn resistance by the Swatis.

3. The notorious Jabez Spencer Falfour, ex-M.P., was surrendered to the British authorities by order of the Argentine Government. He and three others were charged by the Crown with fraud in connexion with what is known as the Balfour group of Companies. ## HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Alphabetically arranged according to the Places represented.

In the subjoined lists the italic figures after the names of places denote the numbers of registered electors according to a Parliamentary Return. Those for Scotland have been supplied by the Sheriff and Town Clerks. The figures after the names of Candidates in contested elections show the number of votes polled by each, the names of unsuccessful Candidates being printed in italics. n. c. indicates there was no contest. The political parties to which Members and Candidates belong are distinguished by C for Conservative, UL for Unionist Liberal, L for Liberal, P for Parnellite, and AP for Anti-Parnellite.

Ladies generally take the same rank as their husbands; but a lady, noble by birth, does not lose her rank or title if she marries a commoner. Should she, however, marry a Peer of lower degree than her own, her precedence becomes that of her husband. Widows of Peers and Knights, on marrying commoners, continue by courtesy to retain their titles and precedence. The widow of a Baronet retains by patent her precedence for life. A Peeress in her own right retains her rank in marriage or widowhood. Daughters of Peers, Baronets, and Knights rank next immediately after the wives of their eldest brothers. Maids of Honour to the Queen rank after Barons' daughters, and are allowed the prefix of Honourable.

THE MOST ANCIENT AND MOST NOBLE ORDER OF THE THISTLE.

The Most Ancient Order of the Thistle appears to have been projected by King James V. about 1540, but he died before the design could be carried out. It was renewed by King James VII., who created eight Knights in 1687. After an abeyance of fifteen years, the Order was restored by Queen Anne in 1703. It consists of the Sovereign and sixteen knights. The badges are, The Star, of silver, inscribed with the motto, Nemo me impune lacessit; The Jewel, or figure of St Andrew, suspended from a green riband; and The Collar, of gold.

THE MOST HONOURABLE ORDER OF THE BATH,

Established in 1399, was revived by King George I. in 1725, enlarged in 1815, and enlarged and remodelled in the month of April 1847. It consists of the Sovereign, of a Great Master (being a Prince of the Blood Royal, descended of the body of King George I., or other exalted personage named by the Sovereign), and of one thousand two hundred and eighty-two Companions or Members, divided into the three classes following, each class being subdivided into two sections, Military and Civil: 1st, Knights Grand Cross, eighty-two in number, of whom not more than fifty-five shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Major-General in the army, or Rear-Admiral in the navy; 2d, Knights Commanders, two hundred and thirty-one in number, of whom not more than one hundred and forty-five shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Colonel in the army, or Captain in the navy; 3d, Companions, nine hundred and sixty-nine in number, of whom (except under special and temporary exigencies) not more than seven hundred and five shall belong to the military division, being officers of or above the rank of Major in the army, or Commander in the navy, whose services shall have been marked by the especial mention of their names in despatches. The qualification of members of the civil divisions of each of these three classes is no otherwise limited than that, by their personal services to the Crown or by the performance of public duties, they shall have merited the Royal favour; and that no person shall be appointed to one class who is not qualified for the other and higher classes. Honorary members, being foreigners, may be appointed in such numbers as the Sovereign shall think fit. For each class and division, appropriate insignia are appointed by the Statutes of the Order, enacted by Her Majesty the Queen, and published in the Edinburgh Gazette of 1st June 1847. Enlarged June 1861 and 20th June 1887.

THE VICTORIA CROSS, OR ORDER OF VALOUR.

This naval and military decoration was instituted by an instrument under the sign-manual of the Queen, dated the 29th of January 1856, "for the purpose of rewarding individual instances of merit and valour." It is ordained that the distinction shall be styled "The Victoria Cross;" that it shall consist of a Maltese cross of bronze, with her Majesty's royal crest in the centre, and, on an escroll underneath, the inscription "For Valour;" that the Cross shall be suspended from the left breast by a blue riband for the navy, and by a red riband for the army; that the names of those upon whom her Majesty may be pleased to confer the decoration shall be published in the London Gazette; that any one who, after having received the Cross, shall again perform an act of bravery, which if he had not received such Cross would have entitled him to it, shall have such farther act recorded by a Bar attached to the riband by which the Cross is suspended, an additional Bar being added for every additional act; that the Cross shall be awarded to those officers or men only who have served the Queen in the presence of the enemy, and have there performed some signal act of valour or devotion to their country; that with the view of placing all persons on a perfectly equal footing of eligibility for the decoration, neither rank nor long service nor wounds nor any other circumstance or condition whatsoever, save the merit of conspicuous bravery, shall be held to establish a sufficient claim to the honour; and that every warrant officer, petty officer, seaman, or marine, or non-commissioned officer or soldier who shall have received the Cross shall be entitled to a special pension of ten pounds a year, each additional Bar carrying with it an additional pension of five pounds a year.

THE MOST EXALTED ORDER OF THE STAR OF INDIA.

This order of knighthood was instituted by the Queen in February 1861, and enlarged and remodelled in March 1866, by letters patent under the Great Seal, in order to afford to the princes, chiefs, and people of the Indian Empire, a public and signal testimony of Her Majesty's regard; to commemorate Her Majesty's resolution to take upon herself the government of the territories in India; and to enable Her Majesty to reward conspicuous merit and loyalty. The order is to be called "The Most Exalted Order of the Star of India." It is now to consist of the Sovereign, a Grand Master, and two hundred and forty-six Ordinary Companions or Members, divided into three classes: 1. Thirty Knights Grand Commanders; 2. Seventy-two Knights Commanders; 3. One hundred and forty-four Companions; together with such Extra and Honorary Knights as the Sovereign may appoint. The Sovereign shall be the King or Queen regnant of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. The Grand Master, first and principal Knight Grand Commander of the Order, shall be the Viceroy and Governor-General of India for the time being. The Sovereign may confer the dignity of a Knight Grand Commander of the Order upon such native princes and chiefs of India as shall have entitled themselves to the Royal favour, and upon such British subjects as have, by important and loyal services rendered by them to the Indian Empire, merited such Royal favour. No person shall be nominated a Knight Commander, or a Companion, who shall not, by his conduct and services in the Indian Empire, have merited the Royal favour.

THE MOST DISTINGUISHED ORDER OF SAINT MICHAEL AND SAINT GEORGE

Was instituted in 1818, for natives of the Ionian Islands and of Malta, and for such other British subjects as should be distinguished in connexion with the said islands, or with H.M. service in the Mediterranean. By certain statutes, bearing date 4th December 1868, Her Majesty was pleased to enlarge and reorganize the Order, so as to extend it to such natural-born subjects of the Crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland as might be persons of conspicuous merit, or have rendered important services to the Crown, within or in connexion with any of Her Majesty's colonial possessions; and a supplementary statute, bearing date 3d April 1869, ordains that naturalized foreigners may be admitted in like manner as if they were natural-born subjects of the British Crown. A supplementary statute, of date 6th May 1879, and one dated 19th March 1887, increased the number of Members of the Order, which consists of the Sovereign, of a Grand Master (being a Prince of the Blood Royal descended of the body of King George I., or other exalted personage named by the Sovereign), and of six hundred and seven Members, divided into three classes, viz.: 1st, Knights Grand Cross, sixty-five in number, in addition to such Extra or Honorary Members as the Sovereign may appoint; 2d, Knights-Commanders, two hundred in number; 3d, Companions, three hundred and forty-two in number, and provides for admission into the Order for important and loyal service in relation to the foreign affairs of the Empire.

THE MOST EMINENT ORDER OF THE INDIAN EMPIRE.

The Order of the Indian Empire was instituted by the Queen on the 1st January 1878, to commemorate the event of the proclamation of Her Majesty's style and title of "Empress of India" in the Indian Dominion, and for the reward of important and useful service rendered to the Indian Empire. By Letters Patent under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, dated 2nd August 1886 and 1st June 1887, certain changes were made in the constitution of the Order, as well by altering the designation of the Order as by adding thereto an additional class. It is now styled "The Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire," and consists of the Sovereign and a Grand Master (Viceroy of India for the time being), and Members or Companions, divided into three classes, the first or highest of which is limited to twenty-five Members, styled Knights Grand Commanders; the second class, designated Knights Commanders, is limited to fifty Members; and the Members of the third class are styled Companions. Her Majesty may also from time to time appoint Extra or Honorary Members. Persons who, by their services, official or other, to the Empire in India, and such distinguished representatives of Eastern Potentates as Her Majesty may think fit, are eligible for appointment.

THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE ORDER.

This naval and military Order was instituted by the Queen on November 6, 1886, for the purpose of rewarding individual instances of meritorious or distinguished service in war. It is styled the "Distinguished Service Order," and shall consist of such Members or Companions as the Queen or her successors shall appoint. No person shall "be nominated unless his services shall have been marked by the especial mention of his name by the Admiral or Senior Naval Officer commanding a squadron or detached naval force, or by the Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in the Field, in despatches for meritorious or distinguished services in the field, or before the enemy." This Order ranks next to and immediately after the Order of the Indian Empire. The badge of the Order—which consists of a gold cross enamelled white, edged gold, having on one side thereof, in the centre, within a wreath of laurel enamelled green, the Imperial Crown in gold, upon a red enamelled ground; and on the reverse, within a similar wreath and on a similar red ground the Imperial and Royal Cipher V.R.I.—shall be suspended from the left breast by a red riband edged blue, of one inch in width. The names of those upon whom Her Majesty may be pleased to confer the decoration shall be published in the London Gazette.

Secretary and Registrar, George Murray Farquharson.

THE ROYAL RED CROSS.

This decoration was established by Royal warrant, on 23rd April 1883. It consists of a cross, enamelled crimson edges with gold, having on the arms the words "Faith, Hope, and Charity," with the date of the institution of the decoration, the centre having thereon the effigy of Her Majesty the Queen. On the reverse side the Royal and Imperial Cipher and Crown are shown in relief on the centre. The cross is attached to a dark blue riband, edged red, tied in a bow, and worn on the left shoulder. It may be worn by the Queen, and conferred upon any of the Princesses of the Royal Family, as well as upon ladies of any nationality recommended by the Secretary of State for War for special exertions in providing for the nursing or for attending to sick and wounded soldiers and sailors.

SOVEREIGN,

ENTRY OF OFFICERS TO THE ROYAL NAVY.

Appointments to naval cadetships will be made by limited competition, with the undermentioned exceptions:—Four cadetships given annually to sons of gentlemen in the Colonies, on the recommendation of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Service cadetships, the total number of which is not to exceed five in any one year, selected by the Board of Admiralty, to (a) sons of officers of the army, navy, or marines who have been killed in action, or who have been lost at sea on active service, or killed on duty, or who have died of wounds received in action or injuries received on duty within six months from the date of such action or injury; (b) sons of officers of the navy who have performed long or distinguished service, and who hold or have held rank or relative rank on the active list not lower than that of commander; not more than two such latter service cadets will be nominated annually. Colonial and service cadets will be entered on passing a test examination.

The educational examination of all candidates will be conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners (addressed Cannon Row, Westminster). Except in special circumstances, not more than one-third of the number of candidates actually presenting themselves before the Civil Service Commissioners will be entered.

All nominations of candidates for naval cadetships are made by the First Lord, with the exception of a limited number which are at the disposal of individual members of the Board and of the Secretaries to the Board of Admiralty. A flag officer or a commodore first class appointed to the chief command of a station or to a separate command, and a captain on first appointment as such to the command of a ship, will be allowed to nominate one candidate, provided the privilege is exercised within six months of appointment, and that the candidate is not less than 12 years of age when nominated. No captain will be entitled to nominate more than one candidate during the time he holds the rank of captain, but a flag officer or a commodore first class may claim the privilege each time he is appointed to a command as above. The nominations will be made half-yearly, as soon as convenient after the report of the last examination has been received. The examinations will be held in London, and will commence on the second Tuesday in June and the first Tuesday in December in each year, and the appointments will date from the 15th July and 15th January following respectively. No candidate will be eligible for the June examination, who is under 13½ or over 14½ years of age on the 15th July following, nor for the December examination, who is under 13½ or over 14½ years of age on the 15th January following. Every candidate must be in good health, free from any physical defect of body, impediment of speech, defect of sight or hearing, and also from any predisposition to constitutional or hereditary disease or weakness of any kind, and in all respects well developed and active in proportion to his age. Before being examined by the Civil Service Commissioners he will be required to pass the medical examination according to the prescribed regulations, and must have been found physically fit for the navy; rejection at such examination will finally exclude him from the navy.

A candidate who passes the test examination, but does not succeed in the competition, will be entitled to compete at the next examination, provided he is within the limits of age at that time. No candidate will be allowed to compete more than twice. A candidate who fails to pass the test will not be entitled to another trial, but he will be allowed to compete at the next examination if he receives a fresh nomination and is still within the limits of age.

For all cadets entered under the regulations, the payment will be at the rate of £75 per annum for the period in the "Britannia," to be paid half-yearly in advance to the cashiers of the Bank of England on receipt of claims from the Accountant-General of the Navy. But the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty reserve the power of selecting, from among the cadets entered at each half-yearly examination, a number, not to exceed eight, being sons of officers of the navy, army, or marines, or of civil officers under the Board of Admiralty, with respect to whom the annual payment will be £40 only. In this selection their Lordships will have regard solely to the pecuniary circumstances of the cadet. The parent or guardian will also be charged with the personal expenses incurred by the cadet for washing, repairing boots and clothes, hair-cutting, pocket money, etc. The period of training on board the "Britannia" will be four terms; there will be two terms in each year. The first terms of each year will be from February to July, the second from September to December. Examinations in seamanship and study will be held at the end of each term. Cadets who pass an unsatisfactory examination at the end of either of the first three terms will be "warned," and they will be liable to be discharged at the end of the following or any subsequent term should they again be reported as failing to obtain the proper number of marks. The requisite standard of marks to be 40 per cent. in the Mathematical subjects and also in the total. Cadets who fail at the final examination to obtain 40 per cent. in the mathematical subjects, including the theory of navigation and nautical astronomy, and 40 per cent. in the technical subjects, combined with physics and French, will be ordered to be withdrawn. Cadets reported for unsatisfactory conduct, or who fail to obtain half marks in seamanship, will be "warned;" and should they be again reported, or again fail to pass in seamanship, they will be discharged. Any cadet, however, who is reported for unsatisfactory conduct during his final term will be discharged without being allowed to present himself at the examination for passing out of the "Britannia." Any cadet who shall at any time appear to their Lordships to be unfit for the service, for any reason whatever, will be removed from the "Britannia," and it must be understood that this rule will apply to those who are considered unfit from insufficient physical development or weakness of constitution, although no actual organic disease may have been developed. It is to be distinctly understood that the period of training on board the "Britannia" is a time of probation, and the parent or guardian of every cadet will be required to sign a declaration (on the admission of the cadet to the "Britannia") to the effect that he shall be immediately withdrawn on the receipt of an official intimation of his being considered unfit for the navy. Cadets will, on passing out of the "Britannia," rank according to the amount of sea time they obtain at their final examination, and those who obtain equal amounts of sea time will rank in the order of merit in which they pass out of the "Britannia." The parent or guardian of every cadet will be required to provide outfit under the regulations in force. No pay will be allowed by Government to cadets in the "Britannia." The pocket money allowed will be charged to the parents. It is important that cadets be taught to swim before joining the training ship.

ROYAL NAVAL COLLEGE, GREENWICH.

Governor, The Right Hon. George J. Goschen, M.P.

President, Admiral Sir Walter James	Captain, Capt. John Durnford,
Hunt-Grubbe, K.C.B.	D.S.O., R.N.

The College is organized to provide for the education of naval officers of all ranks above that of midshipman in all branches of theoretical and scientific study bearing upon their profession, and is intended to give to the executive officers of the Navy every advantage in respect of scientific education; but no arrangements exist at all prejudicing the important practical training in the active duties of the profession.

Practical gunnery and torpedo instruction is given in the training establishments at Portsmouth and Devonport.

Private Students of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering.

Facilities are afforded for the admission of persons unconnected with the Naval Service to follow the course of study laid down for the Government students of naval architecture and of marine engineering. Such persons may include foreigners (not exceeding two of the same nationality) on a request from the Representatives of the respective Governments.

The Fee, payable in advance, is £30 for each session.

Facilities for visiting the dockyards during the vacation are afforded to private students, being British subjects.

At the examination at the conclusion of the full course of three years, professional certificates are granted in three classes on the result of the examination.

These students reside outside the College.

NAVY MEDICAL SCHOOL, HASLAR.

Every approved candidate for admission into the Medical Department of the Royal Navy must be not under 21 nor over 28 years of age, and must pass a qualifying examination. Appointments announced for competition will be filled up from the list of qualified candidates arranged in the order of merit. Successful candidates will receive commissions as surgeons in the Royal Navy, and will undergo a course of practical instruction in naval hygiene, etc., at the Royal Hospital, Haslar.

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE, SANDHURST.

(Postal address, Camberley.)

The Royal Military College is maintained for the purpose of affording a special military education to candidates for commissions in the cavalry and infantry. The limits of age are 17 to 22, according to circumstances, and candidates who pass the examinations specified are admitted so far as there are cadetships vacant. They join the college for one year, at the close of which those who pass a satisfactory examination become entitled to commissions in the army as lieutenants.

ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

Governor and Commandant, Major-gen. C. J. East, C.B.

Assistant Commandant and Secretary, Lieut.-col. M. Wynyard.

ROYAL MILITARY ACADEMY, WOOLWICH.

The Royal Military Academy is maintained for the purpose of affording a preparatory education to candidates for the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers; this education will be chiefly technical, and will in no obligatory subject be carried beyond the point useful to both corps alike. Admission as cadets will be granted to the successful candidates at an open competitive examination, so far as there are cadetships vacant. The limits of age are from 16 to 18, and the number of trials do not exceed three. The length of the course of instruction is two years and a half, and commissions as lieutenants in the Royal Artillery or Royal Engineers are conferred upon cadets who qualify in accordance with the regulations.

Governor and Commandant, Lieut.- | Assistant-Commandant and Secretary,
Gen. E. O. Hewett, c.m.g. | Lieut.-col. F. A. Yorke

ARMY MEDICAL SCHOOL, ROYAL VICTORIA HOSPITAL, NETLEY.

Every candidate for a commission in the Army Medical Staff must be 21 years and not over 28 years of age. An approved candidate must pass a competitive examination. If successful, he will be nominated Surgeon on probation, and will be sent to some large station for instruction in ambulance and medical staff corps duties, until the commencement of the next course of study at the Army Medical School. He will then proceed to Netley and attend one course of instruction in Hygiene, Clinical and Military Medicine, Clinical and Military Surgery, Pathology of Diseases and Injuries incident to Military Service. After passing a qualifying examination, and being otherwise approved, the Surgeon on probation will be commissioned as Surgeon.

PAY OF ARMY MEDICAL OFFICERS.

Surgeon-Major-General, £2, 15s.; Surgeon-Colonel, £2; Brigade-Surgeon Lieutenant-Colonel, £1, 10s., after five years in the rank, £1, 13s.; Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel, £1, after twenty years' service £1, 5s., after twenty-five years' service £1, 7s. 6d.; Surgeon-Major or Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel, £1, after fifteen years' service £1, 2s. 6d.; Surgeon-Captain or Surgeon-Lieutenant, £200 a year, after five years' service £250, after ten years' service 15s. daily. Surgeon on probation, 8s.

ENGLAND AND WALES.

EXTENT, &c.—The length of England and Wales, from Portland Bill, Dorsetshire, in lat.  $50^{\circ} 31' N.$ , to Berwick-on-Tweed, in lat.  $55^{\circ} 46' N.$ , is 363 miles; the extreme breadth, from the North Foreland, Kent, in long.  $1^{\circ} 26' E.$  to the Land's End, Cornwall, in long.  $5^{\circ} 41' W.$ , is 320 miles. The area of England is 50,841 square miles, or 32,538,560 acres; that of Wales, 7442 square miles, or 4,779,325 acres; that of England and Wales, 58,309 square miles, or 37,317,885 acres. Of the 52 geographical counties into which they are divided, England contains 40, Wales 12. The annual value of real property assessed under the Property and Income Tax Act in 1875 was, in England and Wales, £132,720,684; in 1877, £142,888,539; in 1879, £147,921,687; in 1880, £152,553,738; in 1882, £157,505,467; in 1885, £161,116,643; in 1886, £162,207,189; in 1887, £163,375,121; in 1888, £163,830,583; in 1889, £163,582,024; in 1890, £164,541,187; in 1891, £165,956,061; in 1892, £167,863,900; in 1893, £169,107,193; in 1894, £172,669,744. The rateable rental of property in England and Wales assessed to the Poor's Rate was £112,392,362 in 1873; £119,079,589 in 1875; £127,948,380 in 1878; £131,021,019 in 1879; £133,769,875 in 1880; £141,407,686 in 1883; £143,222,438 in 1884; £145,527,944 in 1885; £147,350,562 in 1886; £148,907,797 in 1887; £149,334,624 in 1888; £149,696,812 in 1889; £150,485,974 in 1890; £152,116,008 in 1891; £155,896,383 in 1892; £157,722,913 in 1893; £159,469,468 in 1894.

POPULATION, &c.—The population of England and Wales (exclusive of the Channel Islands, and of soldiers and sailors abroad) from 1821 to 1891, as ascertained by decennial census, is shown in the following Table:—

1831..13,896,797	1851..17,927,609	1871..22,712,266	1891..29,002,525

There emigrated from England and Wales 1,571,856 persons between the census of 1881 and the census of 1891.

The next Table shows the rates of increase per cent. in each decennial period:—

	1821-31.	1831-41.	1841-51	1851-61.	1861-71.	1871-81.	1881-91.

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.

This ancient University consists of a union of Colleges and Halls devoted to the purposes of study and education and incorporated under the style or title of "The Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford." There are at present twenty-one Colleges, each having a mansion for the residence of members of the foundation, and for the reception of students. These Colleges may be said to be an institution peculiar to England, as none exist in foreign universities, nor even in Scotland. They are bodies corporate, independent of the University, being governed, as to their own concerns, by their respective statutes; and each has in connexion with it numerous valuable Fellowships, Scholarships, and Exhibitions. The two remaining Academical Halls at Oxford are places in which students reside, under discipline and instruction, and pass through the curriculum to their several degrees in precisely the same manner as the student inmates of the Colleges. The term Hall, however, implies also a Society, and in this sense there is an important difference between Halls and Colleges, inasmuch as the former are not incorporated, have no endowments for Fellows, and have all their property held in trust for them by the University. Magdalen Hall was constituted Hertford College in 1874, St Alban Hall was absorbed into Merton College in 1883, and New Inn Hall was absorbed into Balliol College in 1887. The recent foundation of the Keble College was established in 1870 from funds collected by private subscription, and suitable buildings have been erected. In pursuance of the Oxford University Act, 1854, Private Halls have been instituted for the purpose of affording a cheaper education than is to be had at the Colleges. The scholars are subject to the laws of the University, partake of its privileges, and are admissible to its degrees in the same way as the other students.

By a statute passed in the year 1868, students may be admitted members of the University without belonging to any College or Hall. Such students are called Scholares non ascripti, or non-collegiate students, and keep terms by residing at Oxford, either with their parents or in licensed lodging-houses. They are under the control of certain delegates.

There are four terms for academical exercises in each year, but for many Professors' lectures and some other purposes, the third and fourth together count as only one. Two of the four can be kept by six weeks' residence, and two by three weeks'. The ordinary residence in the College extends to twenty-six weeks in the year. Candidates for admission to the University are required to pass a preliminary examination at their respective Colleges or Halls.

The degrees conferred by the University upon students are those of Bachelor and Master in Arts, and of Bachelor and Doctor in Music, and in the three superior faculties of Civil Law, Medicine, and Divinity. Twelve terms of residence are required for the degree of B.A. No further residence is necessary for any degree. Thus the education of a young man at Oxford is spread over about three years; but in the case of candidates for the higher honours, a degree is seldom taken in less than four years.

Candidates for the degree of B.A. are required to pass three distinct examinations—viz., 1. Responsions before the masters of the schools; 2. First Public Examination before the moderators; 3. Second Public Examination before the public examiners. For this last there are now eight schools of honours, called the schools of Literæ Humaniores, Scientiæ Mathematicæ et Physicæ, Scientia Naturalis, Jurisprudentia, Historia Moderna, Theologia, Oriental Studies, and English Language and Literature, and one mixed school for passmen, divided into several groups of subjects. At the responsions, candidates are examined in Latin and Greek grammar, one Latin and one Greek author, arithmetic, and either Euclid or algebra. The examination is conducted partly in writing, partly vivâ voce.

Candidates at the first public Examination are examined either in logic or in algebra, together with three books of Euclid, in Holy Scripture (but candidates not members of the Church of England may substitute an equivalent amount of other matter for examination), and in portions of three classical authors, there being a higher examination both in Classics and Mathematics for candidates for honours.

In the mathematical school candidates are examined either in the first six books of Euclid or in the first part of algebra. In the school of Natural Science they are examined in the principles of mechanical philosophy, chemistry, physiology, and further in some one of the particular sciences dependent on mechanical philosophy. In the schools of Law and Modern History every candidate must offer himself for examination in English history and law. In all the schools there are examinations for honours as well as the ordinary or "pass" examination. A fifth school of Theology was instituted in 1870, and the school of Law and Modern History was, in 1873, separated into two distinct schools. A school of Oriental Studies was added in 1886, and a school of English Language and Literature in 1894. Oriental candidates are also permitted to substitute certain work in pass examinations.

For the degree of M.A., no further examination or exercise is required; a B.A. may proceed to the degree of M.A. on the expiry of the twenty-sixth term from his matriculation, provided he has had his name on the books of some College or Hall during that period. For degrees in the faculties of Law and Medicine there are annual examinations. For degrees in the faculty of Theology certain exercises have to be performed. For certain degrees for a special course of study or research the regulations are not yet issued.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

This University, like that of Oxford, is a union of Colleges or Societies devoted to the study of the liberal arts and sciences. There are seventeen such Colleges at Cambridge, each being a body corporate, maintained by the endowments of benefactors, and governed by its own laws, but controlled by the paramount statutes of the University.

The terms of the academical year are three,—viz., 1. Michaelmas, beginning on the 1st of October and ending on the 19th of December; 2. Lent, extending from the 8th of January to 27th March, if Easter* falls between 30th March and 16th April; and 3. Easter, commencing on 18th April, and closing on the 24th of June. Students are admitted, either by examination, or by sending to the tutor a recommendatory certificate from some M.A. of the University stating the qualifications, etc., of the person applying for admission, and at the same time transmitting the caution-money, which is £15 in the case of an ordinary student intending to join a college, and £2 in the case of a non-collegiate student. If this certificate be deemed satisfactory, the student is admitted, and his name placed on the boards which hang in the butteries of the several Colleges. Matriculation, i.e., enrolment of the student's name in the University books, takes place on the day following the last day of the first quarter of each term. At Cambridge, as at Oxford, persons may be admitted as students, and have degrees conferred upon them, without the necessity of their being members of any College or Hall.

Undergraduates are required to give a constant attendance on lectures, and, yearly or half-yearly, undergo an examination in those subjects to which their attention has been devoted. By this course they are prepared for those public examinations which must be passed before the degree in Arts can be obtained. What is called "The Previous Examination" is held in the Michaelmas and Easter terms, and is open to students in their first term of residence. Exemption from this examination may be gained by students who have shown sufficient merit in the University Local Examinations, or in an examination at school conducted by the Oxford and Cambridge Schools' Examination Board. The subjects of this examination are, one of the four Gospels in Greek, Paley's Evidences of Christianity, Latin and Greek Grammar, one Greek and one Latin author, the Elements of Euclid, Algebra, and Arithmetic. No student is admitted to the final examination for the B.A. degree who is not in his eighth term at least, having previously kept seven terms by residence; or to the B.A. degree who has not kept nine terms; and a B.A. "may be admitted ad incipiendum in artibus at any time after three academical years have passed from the completion of his Bachelor's degree. The inceptors in every year become complete Masters of Arts by creation on the Commencement Day, i.e., on the last Tuesday but one in June." No one has a vote in the Senate until after creation.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON.

Unlike other universities, this confers its degrees upon the results of its examinations only. It was founded in 1836 "for the purpose of ascertaining, by means of examination, the persons who have acquired proficiency in literature, science, and art, and other departments of knowledge," by the pursuit of a regular and liberal education at University College and King's College, London, or at any of the other colleges and houses of learning named in the royal charter; "and of rewarding them by academical degrees and certificates of proficiency, as evidence of their respective attainments, and marks of honour proportioned thereto." But by later charters, students from any or no college are admissible to all examinations but those in Medicine and Surgery. All Examinations for degrees, with the prizes, scholarships, etc., attached thereto, are open to women on precisely the same conditions as to men.

There are two examinations for matriculation in each year; one commencing on the second Monday in January, and the other on the second Monday in June; they are held at the University Buildings, Burlington Gardens, London, W., and also, under special arrangement, in various cities, towns, and colleges of the United Kingdom and the Colonies. Candidates must produce a certificate showing that they have completed their sixteenth year. The subjects of the examination which they must pass are—Mathematics, Mechanics, Latin; one of these five languages:—Greek, French, German, Arabic, Sanskrit; English Language, English History and Geography, and one of the following branches of Experimental Science:—Chemistry, Heat and Light, Electricity and Magnetism, and Botany. The matriculation fee is £2.

For each of the degrees of B.Sc. and B.A., two examinations besides the matriculation must be passed—the intermediate examination beginning on the third Monday in July, and the B.Sc. on the third, and B.A. on the fourth Monday in October. The fee payable at each examination is £5. No candidate is admitted to the examination for the degree of M.A. until after the expiration of one academical year from the time of his passing that for B.A., nor unless he has completed his twentieth year. A fee of £10 is exacted for the M.A. examination.

The highest degree in the Faculty of Arts in this University is D.Lit., or Doctor of Literature. Candidates for this degree must have passed the M.A. examination in Branch I., and in either Branch III. or Branch IV. (but for Branch III. or IV. certain B.A. Honours may now be substituted); they must present a Thesis, and must give notice of their candidature on or before 1st October in each year. The examination (which is based on the Thesis) commences on the first Tuesday in December. The fee is £10.

The degree of D.Sc. (Doctor of Science) is also dependent on a Thesis, and is open to all Bachelors of Science of two years' standing. The fee is £10.

Degrees of Bachelor and Doctor are also conferred in Laws, Medicine, and Music.

The University of London returns one member to serve in Parliament; the constituency (nearly 4000) is composed solely of "Members of Convocation;" which comprises all graduates of certain standing who have chosen to secure their privileges by payment of a trifling fee.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, LONDON, FOUNDED 1826.

The purpose of the foundation of this College, as expressed in the Act, is "To afford, at a moderate expense, the means of education in Literature, Science, and the Fine Arts, and in the knowledge required for admission to the Medical, Engineering, and Legal professions; and, in particular, for affording the means of obtaining the education required for the purpose of taking the degrees now, or hereafter to be, granted by the University of London." The subjects taught are at present classed under (I.) The Faculty of Arts and Laws, including the department of the Fine Arts; and the Indian School (classes chiefly in aid of preparation for the periodical examination of selected candidates for the Indian Civil Service); (II.) The Faculty of Science, to which belongs the department of Engineering, applied Science, and Technology; and (III.) The Faculty of Medicine; and are specified below. Students are admitted without previous examination; and female students are admitted to the classes in the Faculties of Arts and Laws, and of Science, but not to those in the Faculty of Medicine. The session commences early in October, and terminates towards the end of June. In connexion with University College, and occupying portions of its buildings, there is a school for boys under sixteen years of age.

KING'S COLLEGE, LONDON,

Was founded in 1828, upon the following fundamental principle:—"That every system of general education for the youth of a Christian community ought to comprise instruction in the Christian religion as an indispensable part, without which the acquisition of other branches of knowledge will be conducive neither to the happiness of the individual, nor to the welfare of the state." The subjects taught are enumerated below, and are comprised under the following departments:—I. The Faculty of Theology.—1. Morning Course; 2. Evening Course. II. The Faculty of Arts (including General Literature, Secondary Teachers' Training Course, Normal Studies, and Oriental Studies. III. The Faculty of Science—consisting of: 1. The Division of Engineering and Applied Sciences (including Electrical, Mechanical, and Civil Engineering, Architecture, Chemical Manufactures, and Metallurgy); 2. The Division of Natural Science. IV. The Faculty of Medicine (including the Hospital, Bacteriology, and Public Health). V. The Department for Ladies (carried on at 13 Kensington Square). VI. The Evening Class Department (including the First and Second Divisions, and Technical Classes). VII. School of Art. VIII. The Civil Service Department—including: 1. Men Clerks; 2. Female Clerks; 3. Boy Clerks; 4. Boys' Day Classes (carried on at 91A Waterloo Road). IX. The School. The whole course occupies three years. Candidates for admission as students in theology must be twenty-one years of age, and be recommended by the clergyman of their parish; they must also pass the entrance examination arranged by the Bishop in Greek, Latin, English, the Church Catechism, etc. The course must be continued for at least six terms (two years) before students can offer themselves for final examination. No degrees are conferred by King's College, but its students are privileged to graduate at the University of London.

The academical year consists of three terms; and students are admitted at the commencement of each term.

There is accommodation within the walls of the College for only a limited number of matriculated students.

Classes for evening instruction are conducted from October to March and from April to July in each year.

King's College School (for boys from eight to sixteen years of age) consists of two divisions—viz., the division of Classics, Mathematics, and General Literature; and the division of Modern Instruction.

THE UNIVERSITY OF DURHAM.

This University was founded in 1832, and incorporated by royal charter in 1837, for the purpose of securing to the inhabitants of the north of Eng- land a sound, yet not expensive education. The system of uniting domestic discipline with efficient lectures and instruction is maintained here in some- what the same manner as at Oxford and Cambridge. With the view of placing the advantages of such a system within the reach of persons of limited means, a Hall, named after Bishop Hatfield, was opened in 1846. All the arrangements of this Hall are made on an economical scale, and students in each Faculty are received in it as in University College, are sub- ject to the same discipline, under the same tutors, and, for the most part, are eligible to the same endowments. In the year 1870 a regulation was passed by which students are admitted to be members of the University without becoming members of any College, Hall, or House. The house or lodging in which they reside must be approved by the Warden and Proctors, and in all matters of University discipline, tuition, and eligibility to endowments, they are placed upon the same footing as students of the College or Hall.

The academical year at Durham consists of three terms, viz., Epiphany, Easter, and Michaelmas. The qualifications of students to enter on the course of education pursued in the several Faculties of Arts, Theology, Physical Science, and Medicine, are ascertained by examination before admission.

For the degree of B.A., or the license in Theology, a residence of two years is required, the period of residence in the year being six months in both cases. A graduate may proceed to a license in Theology after one term's residence, and a Licentiate may proceed to a Degree after one term's residence, the term, in either case, being of eight weeks; but this may also be done by keeping two short terms of five weeks each. Terms kept by students in Theology are allowed to count in part towards the degree of B.A., and vice versa. A graduate may proceed to the degree of M.A. when he is of the standing of nine terms from his admission to that of B.A.

No student is obliged to attend the services of the Church of England unless he belongs to that Church; and no religious test or subscription is required from any member of the University except he be studying in the Faculty of Theology.

The Faculty of Medicine is located in the College of Medicine at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, where costly new buildings have been erected. Degrees of M.B., B.S., M.D., and M.S., B.Hy., D.Hy., and a Diploma in Public Health may be obtained after five years medical curriculum, one of the five years being spent in attendance at the College of Medicine, Newcastle-upon-Tyne. Full particulars as to the Regulations for the Medical Degrees may be obtained from the Secretary at the College.

A College of Physical Science was founded at Newcastle-upon-Tyne in 1871 by the joint co-operation of the University and the leading landed proprietors and employers of skilled labour in the north of England. It represents the Faculties of Science and Engineering in the University, and the degrees of the University in Science and its diplomas in Engineering are open to the regular students of the college, and to them alone. It is also recognised by the Education Department as a Day Training College for School-masters and Mistresses. Professors of Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Mineralogy, Crystallography, Natural History, Mining, Engineering, Agriculture, Latin, Greek, French, German, Literature, and Botany have been appointed. All information respecting the College may be obtained from the Secretary, H. F. Stockdale.

In order to obtain a degree in Music, a candidate who has not graduated at some University in the United Kingdom must have passed the examination for the certificate of Proficiency in General Education.

In 1895 a supplementary charter was granted enabling the University to confer all degrees, with exception of degrees in Divinity, upon women.

MANSFIELD COLLEGE, OXFORD, FOUNDED 1886.

This College is purely theological, and non-residential. It will consist, when fully constituted, of five Professors, as many Fellows, and several Readers or Lecturers. Meanwhile its staff consists of five Professors and Tutors—Rev. Dr Fairbairn, John Massie, M.A., J. Vernon Bartlet, M.A., G. B. Gray, M.A., G. W. Thatcher, M.A., B.D., and the Bursar and Secretary, Mr Norman H. Smith, M.A.; but its students attend the lectures of certain Theological Professors, and the classes of certain Tutors, in the University of Oxford, of which all the students of Mansfield College, even when graduates of other Universities, must become members. The College has two classes of scholarships: 1st, Arts—£60 a year, tenable for three years, in any one of the incorporated Colleges of the University of Oxford; also Exhibitions of £50 and under. 2nd, Theological—£60 a year, tenable for three years, with tuition free; also Exhibitions of £50 and under. There are 33 students.

All applications to be made to the Principal—the Rev. Dr Fairbairn.

GIRTON COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE, INCORPORATED 1872.

This College is designed to hold, in relation to girls' schools and home teaching, a position analogous to that occupied by the universities towards the public schools for boys. The Students' fees are fixed on such a scale as to secure that, the building having been provided, the institution shall be self-supporting. The Memorandum of Association contains the following clauses:—

The objects for which the Association is established are to erect, maintain, and conduct a College for the higher education of women; to take such steps as from time to time may be thought most expedient and effectual to obtain for the students of the College admission to the Examinations for degrees of the University of Cambridge, and, generally, to place the College in connexion with that University.

Religious instruction and services, in accordance with the principles of the Church of England as by law established, shall be given and held in the said College or in connexion therewith, but attendance on such instruction or services shall not be required from any student who, being of full age, or whose parents or guardians, if such student be not of full age, may object thereto in writing.

No person shall be admitted as a student of the College who shall not have passed such an examination as to knowledge and ability as shall from time to time be required.

The College course occupies three years, half of each year being spent in residence. The academical year is approximately thus divided,—Michaelmas term, beginning in October, nine weeks; Lent term, beginning in January, eight weeks; Easter term, beginning in April, eight weeks. The charge for board, lodging, and instruction is £35 per term, paid in advance. This sum covers the whole of the University and College charges. There are possibilities of assistance by loan on easy terms to students unable to meet the whole expenses. Students who desire to continue their studies at Cambridge during the long vacation may reside at the College in July and August at a charge varying in accordance with the number of weeks for which they may wish to stay.

Students may enter either in the Michaelmas or Easter term. Three months' notice is required previous to withdrawal. Except in special cases, students are not received under the age of eighteen.

Scholarships and exhibitions are awarded for proficiency in either classics, mathematics, natural science, or modern languages.

Secretary and Bursar, Miss Kensington, 83 Gloucester Terrace, Hyde Park, London, W.
Mistress, Miss Welsh

Vice-Mistress, Miss E. A. M'Arthur

THE ROYAL INDIAN ENGINEERING COLLEGE, COOPERS HILL, ENGLEFIELD GREEN, SURREY.

The College is primarily maintained under the orders of the Secretary of State for India in Council, in view to the education of candidates for the service of Government in the Indian Public Works, Telegraph, and Forest Departments; but it is open, to the extent of the accommodation available, to all persons desirous of following the course of study pursued in it.

Candidates for the Indian Forest Department are selected under special arrangements. Nominations to the Indian Telegraph Department are made from among the engineer students at the College at the end of their first year of study. About 50 engineer students are admitted yearly to the College. Approved candidates, of ages between 17 and 21,* must pass the required examination in June, and will enter in the latter part of September. The College course in both Engineering and Forestry extends over three years, and that in Telegraphy over two years. The appointments to the Indian services offered by the Secretary of State for India are awarded on the completion of each course to duly qualified successful candidates, subject to conditions as to physical fitness. An annual charge of £183 is made for each student, which must be paid in advance to the Bank of England, in three sums of £61 per term. The College fees include all charges for tuition, board, according to the College tariff, and lodging, with washing to extent of 2s. weekly, and for ordinary medical attendance. Students are required to provide their own class books and drawing instruments. A final examination will be held during the last year of the course. Engineer students, not exceeding three in number, and Forest students, not exceeding two in number, in any year, who pass out of the College with special distinction, may be appointed "Honorary Fellows of Coopers Hill." The diploma of "Associate" will be granted to all others who pass out in the first class in one at least of the branches. All others who come up to the prescribed standard of qualification will receive the ordinary diploma of the College.

Indian Public Works Appointments.—The Secretary of State for India offers annually a number of appointments in the Indian Public Works Department for competition among the students of the College. The passed students thus selected will be appointed Assistant Engineers, third grade, at Rs. 350 per mensem, from the 1st October in the year of their passing out of the College, from which date also their service for pension will count. They will be provided with free passages to India, either on leaving the College or after the completion of a course of practical engineering in England, as may be arranged. Certain prescribed departmental and language examinations have to be passed in India, according to the regulations of the service, as a necessary condition for obtaining promotion to a higher grade. Every Assistant Engineer may be required to go through a course of Practical Engineering, under a civil or mechanical engineer, before proceeding to India. While so employed he will receive pay at the rate of £150 a year, to commence from the date of entering on the practical course, and in addition will be eligible to receive a premium of from £10 to £25 in each half-year during the course, according to the degree of proficiency and diligence shown.

Indian Telegraph Appointments.—Nominations to the Indian Telegraph Department will also be made from the College, previous notice of the number available being given by advertisement as early as practicable. The students thus selected will go through a second year's course of special training at the College, on the satisfactory completion of which they will be appointed to the public service as Assistant Superintendents, Telegraph Department, the commencing salary of which grade is at present 3600 Rupees a year. They will be provided with free passages to India, and their salaries will commence from the date of embarkation.

Indian Forest Appointments.—The candidates selected by the Secretary of State for India for the Indian Forest Department are received into the College for about three years' instruction, and are required to conform to its rules.

General Rules.—The College authorities, on application from students, will endeavour to arrange for placing those who pass out of the College with a diploma, but do not enter the Indian service, as pupils for one or two years with civil or mechanical engineers of standing, at moderate rates of premium, payable by the students. Each student is provided with a separate room, and with fuel and light, also with the necessary attendance. Furniture and bedding are supplied by the College, but each student is required to provide his own towels and bed linen. Meals are taken in Hall. Wine and beer are not included in the ordinary fare, but can be obtained from the College cellar at fixed prices. Every student selected for any of the Indian services is required, before proceeding to India, to furnish to the President satisfactory evidence of his competency in riding.
